Chapter 2411 Shameless Raysonians

Despite Hirai being in the top thirty of the Divine Leaderboard, Levi had easily disposed of him.

Even though he didn't use the Iron Golem Technique, he was still a formidable opponent whom Queenie couldn't kill after unleashing more than ten attacks.

However, everyone was shocked when Levi obliterated him with just one punch.

Queenie shivered when she saw Hirai decimated in front of her.

That was when she recalled her father's words about Levi being special.

All he needed was one punch. And that punch definitely belongs to the top end of the Divine Leaderboard. So, that's what Father was talking about. Levi actually has the power equivalent to a top-tier warrior on the Divine Leaderboard. Evidently, I was mistaken about him by not realizing how strong he is. However, is that enough...

But now, he is facing Kuroki, who is on par with the top-ranked fighter of the Divine Leaderboard and Divine Brigadier. Moreover, Kuroki has just defeated everyone on the Divine Leaderboard with his Iron Golem Technique. No matter how strong Levi is, he might just fall within the top one hundred of the Divine Leaderboard. Unfortunately, the gulf between their strength is simply too great...

Actually, Levi's skills might be even far behind Hirai too. It was just that Hirai wasn't prepared and had underestimated Levi. Hence, he was killed before he could attack with the Iron Golem Technique. If he had managed to do it, Levi would undoubtedly have been killed. Unfortunately, nothing has changed. Even though I was pleasantly surprised, Levi would still end up dead.

Chapter 2412 Level Seven Of The Iron Golem Technique

He wanted to make sure that he killed Levi without leaving anything to chance.

“Level Seven...”

Queenie gasped while fear filled her eyes.

Level Six was enough to beat Edmund into depression. How much stronger is Level Seven? I simply can't imagine it.

Many had commented that when Kuroki unleashed Level Seven of the Iron Golem Technique, he was able to stand toe to toe with the top-ranked warrior of the Divine Leaderboard and Divine Brigadier.

In fact, the odds were even in his favor to win.

Levi really knows how to provoke someone given how furious Kuroki is.

Queenie could already imagine how Levi was going to die.

Boom!

The moment Kuroki released Level Seven of the Iron Golem Technique, a terrifying aura filled the surroundings.

The clear blue sky suddenly turned dark with storm clouds gathering.

As a violent gale began to blow, it threw sand and stones into the air. In fact, it looked as if North Hampton was about to be swallowed by a disaster.

Next, a thunderstorm descended upon the city.

As for Kuroki, his clothes were shredded off when every muscle in his body began to pump up, turning him into a ripped muscle-bound figure.

"This is impossible! The composition of Levi's body doesn't make sense. How can he remain unscathed under such brutal attacks? Is his body even more powerful than that of an indestructible Golem?"

Queenie formed a conclusion.

What is his body made of? Why isn't he dead yet? This is impossible! I must be dreaming! There's nothing that the Iron Golem Technique cannot break. Even Dragofriar's Impregnable Body couldn't withstand it. And that was considered the most extreme of armor techniques! Even Edmund's secret armor technique from The Cardinal Hall was broken through. So how is Levi doing it? This is impossible!

Before Queenie could recover from her shock, Levi had made his move.

"Huh?"

By the time Kuroki sensed Levi's impending attack, he was in a panic and looked at Levi in disbelief.

It seems Levi is a master in defense. His defensive attributes are stronger than that of Dragofriar's Impregnable Body. In fact, it seems to outshine my Golem body meaningfully.

Kuroki backed away at once to make changes to his strategy.

The rays of light emitting from his body began to glow with greater intensity.

At the same time, metallic clangs rang out incessantly.

As a fearsome aura enveloped his body, the seven rays of light he emitted began to sparkle. It looked as if he was exuding waves of gold.

He was trying to maximize the defensive potential of his Golem body.

“What... Ah... Erm...”

Utterly shocked, Queenie was spewing gibberish.

Unbelievable! Just unbelievable!

She had seen with her own eyes Levi shatter a Level Seven Golem with a single punch.

His true power is actually unimaginable!

Finally, she understood why her father wanted to marry her off to Levi by hook or by crook.

It wasn't because Levi was just a tool to have talented children.

In truth, it was simply because of how powerful he was.

He was so strong that he just had no opponent.

No wonder my father sent me here to observe how special he is. Also, both Levi and Mia had mentioned that Father was badly beaten by Levi. Looks like that is also true. Considering Levi could obliterate Kuroki with a single punch, he must definitely be stronger than Father. It's now clear that the one invincible isn't Father, but Levi.

Finally, Queenie could connect all the dots and realized that Levi was telling the truth the entire time.

Other than the matter regarding the ruins, he has always been right. In fact, what he said about the ruins was probably correct. It was just that he made a wrong judgment call. Back then, he even declared that everything would be fine, and he would deal with any problem that arose as Erudia's protector. However, no one took him seriously. Evidently, he was telling the truth. Father must have known about Levi's true strength, that's why he insists that I marry Levi for my own good! With such power, it's unbecoming of Levi to just have a wife and a daughter. In fact, someone as domineering as he is should be polygamous. I'm the one that's not worthy of him!”

Chapter 2415 Levi Killed Them

"What?"

The moment Queenie's words fell, everyone was stunned.

In fact, her proclamation had them all close to losing their minds.

Dead? Kuroki and Hirai are dead? And they even died a gruesome death with nothing remaining of them? That's impossible! It's absolutely outlandish! How could they possibly die?

That was something they simply couldn't believe.

They only went to eliminate this mere slip of a girl, yet they ended up dead? She's already heavily injured right now, making it evident that she was defeated in a single move. As such, she couldn't possibly have killed them! How could that be possible?

Therefore, no one believed her.

But then... if they're not dead, where are they? The entire world's attention is firmly riveted on North Hampton and Levi's manor. Ever since Kuroki and his disciple came, they never left. So, where have they gone?

"Find them! Hurry up and look for them!"

Everyone started searching in Levi's manor, turning the place inside out.

Zoey even hunted in the hidden areas in the manor.

Everyone there didn't believe that Levi was the one who killed the two men.

No one believed that even the slightest bit.

"Oh! I understand now! Everyone, come over here and listen to me!"

Edmund proceeded to gather everyone around him.

"What's happening here, Sir? Don't tell me it was really Levi who killed them?" someone questioned.

“That’s a stupid question, for it’s simply impossible! How could he possibly kill him? Haha! It’s makes far more sense that my sister killed him than Levi having done so!” Edmund denied it right away.

Chapter 2417 Level Nine Of Iron Golem Technique

At the end of the day, Kuroki’s death became a fig leaf to Erudia and helped to safeguard its final shred of dignity.

However, Queenie’s attitude toward Levi changed drastically after that incident.

After all, she witnessed the might of his blow.

She didn’t leave but stayed at Levi’s place and even took the initiative to serve him.

That frightened Levi, and he did his best to keep his distance from her.

“Next is to impart the Iron Golem Technique, and the candidate... has already been decided!”

Levi went to The Cardinal Hall and sought Daxon out.

“Mr. Garrison, I just knew that the Iron Golem Technique is no match for you!”

Exhilaration was etched on Daxon's face.

In the past few days, he had been studying how he could thwart Level Seven of the Iron Golem Technique.

Well, I can probably grasp it by now...

"Would you like to try it?" Levi inquired out of the blue.

Chapter 2418 Levi Takes Edmund As A Disciple

Daxon asked Levi that question in an uncertain tone.

After witnessing the true power of the Iron Golem Technique, he felt that his son wasn't worthy of it.

Nevertheless, Levi nodded. “Yup. I've compared the possible candidates repeatedly, and he should be the most suitable person!”

Firstly, Edmund had been training in The Cardinal Hall's orthodox techniques that had nothing to do with the new era's fast-track techniques.

Secondly, the techniques he had been training in were suited for direct and aggressive combat. It just happened to be a perfect fit with the Iron Golem Technique, so it would take much lesser effort to master and had even more potential. In fact, he might be able to break through to Level Seven or even Level Eight.

And thirdly, the position of The Cardinal Hall General was mainly to defend Erudia. Therefore, it was far better to impart such a technique to him than to anyone else.

After turning it over in his mind, Levi felt that imparting the Iron Golem Technique to Edmund was the best choice.

“This is simply too great!”

Despite feeling that his son was undeserving, as the father, Daxon was naturally over the moon if his son were the chosen candidate.

“In that case, please accept my thanks on behalf of my son, Mr. Garrison!”

He then bowed slightly.

Everyone was instantly staggered.

The moment Levi's words fell, Edmund was completely stunned.

The words that were right on the tip of his tongue screeched to an abrupt stop, and he gaped at the man incredulously.

How did he know about that? It only happened a short time ago, and no one knows about it other than my father. Don't tell me he's actually... that elder and my master?

With horror written all over his face, he continued staring at Levi in disbelief.

No, that's not right! I remember now! Queenie knows about it! I just told her a moment ago.

When it came to such joyous news, he would definitely share it with his family member at once.

As such, Queenie was aware of it.

Ah, he must have heard it from her since he knows about it now! Otherwise, there's no other explanation for it.

After having made sense of things, Edmund put it at the back of his mind.

“Yes, exactly! The good news is that I’ve procured the Iron Golem Technique!”

He excitedly whipped out the secret manual for everyone to behold.

“Well, it’s nothing much. It’s just that we’re friends after experiencing a life-and-death situation together! What’s wrong with making some soup for a friend?” Queenie fibbed.

After all, she had her own agenda.

Hah! I won’t confess the truth! Otherwise, Zoey definitely won’t allow me to have any contact with Levi anymore! Besides, it’s only natural for a powerful fighter like him to have a few women to cater to his needs!

When Edmund had finally finished bragging, he left to train.

Following that, others also gradually dispersed.

Despite harboring suspicions within her, Zoey left with them as well.

This time, news of Kuroki having been killed took the world by the storm.

In Raysonia, especially, the matter was all the more explosive.

After all, Kuroki’s goal was to rank first on the Divine Leaderboard.

Alas, he was now dead for no apparent reason, and they didn’t even know who took him out.

Therefore, they were inexorably livid and demanded an explanation from Erudia.

However, no one entertained them at all.

At that particular moment, the fighters in Raysonia had gathered together to discuss that matter.
