"I..." Tony floundered, not quite knowing what to say.

Because he had no idea at all.

"How could you disqualify them when you don't even know what they are? Aren't you abusing your power here? Listen, Morris Group has even sent their products for quality checks at the Defense Research And Development Centre. They're more than qualified! This is First Lieutenant Samson Yelder from the Quality Inspection Department of DRDC. He's here to send us the quality inspection report in person!"

Thud!

Tony fell to his knees.

"Please forgive me, Master. I got carried away by lust and greed! I was wrong! I was really wrong! Please give me another chance, Master!"

Tony groveled at his master's feet.

"I'd expect better of you as my disciple! But you've completely let me down!" Cameron was ruthless. "Go talk to the relevant authorities if you have something to say."

Immediately after he spoke, the authorities arrived and Tony was taken away for investigation.

Chapter 272

It turned out that the Lopez family had been keeping a close watch on Zoey's activities.

Harry and the others were against the idea of Zoey breaking off relations with the Lopez family.

Therefore, they were one step ahead when they learned that Zoey was going to rent this office building.

The poor lady was dumbstruck when she saw the agreement in Shaun's hands.

She quickly got on the elevator with Levi and came to the office of the person-in-charge of Elysium Plaza.

"Ms. Lopez, you're here!" Barney Geller, the person responsible for the negotiation of the contract, greeted her warmly.

"I'm here to sign the contract, Mr. Geller." said Zoey. "We were on the phone, remember? I'm renting Block B for five years at thirty million."

Barney looked confused. "Didn't the Lopez family just sign the contract, Ms. Lopez? They said they had already discussed with you and even paid the remaining ten million."

Zoey and Levi exchanged glances and immediately thought of Henry and Shaun.

"Mr. Henry signed the contract on behalf of the Lopez family." Barney said, handing over the contract to Zoey.

Zoey's expression took on a drastic change after reading the contract.

"Can you help me find out if there are any commercial buildings for sale in the city center?" Levi asked.
"Huh? What are you up to?" Chloe replied with a question of her own.
"Zoey wants to set up a new company and I need to find her an office building." Levi replied.
Chloe was green with envy.
How nice would it be if I'm the heroine?
"Okay, I'll ask around for you."

Chloe first reached out to her connections, then contacted the director of Bayview Garden Real Estate.
Finally, after a few hours, there was a response from an old client of Chloe.

He was the owner of Union Square around North Hampton Center, where there was a building that was vacant and could not be more suitable to be used as an office building.

Chloe brought Levi to Union Square to meet the owner, Emmett Browne, who had been waiting for a

Chloe looked surprised. "My attitude?"

"Yeah, your attitude will determine the price!"

Emmett put on a wicked grin. "I'll be straightforward with you then, Ms. Macy. Just sleep with me for one night and I'll reduce the price to eighty million."

"What?" Chloe's expression changed.

She immediately understood that Emmett had deliberately raised the price.

I knew it! It's only eighty million at most.

He raised the price to two hundred million just so he could coerce me into sleeping with him.

Emmett got up and walked closer to Chloe. "Think about it, Ms. Macy. You are worth one hundred and twenty million! Isn't that a great deal? You're definitely the most expensive woman in the world!"

"Emmett Browne! You did this on purpose! Do you think I'm blind? You know what, that's a big fat no!" Chloe retaliated.

"So what if I did it on purpose? If you don't agree, I swear your friend can never rent an office building in North Hampton! It's a matter of my words with my connections and reputation. Think wisely before you answer me." Emmett laughed cunningly. He couldn't hold back any longer.

While Chloe wore a blank, flabbergasted expression, Glenn disregarded them as he handed a contract to Levi with a smile. "Union Square belongs to you now, Mr. Garrison!"
Emmett's face lit up with surprise when he heard that.
Who on earth is this man to have the Rogers family hand over Union Square in less than ten minutes?
"Mr. Garrison," Leo said. "I swear this trash, Emmett, will have one hell of a life from here on!"
Then Emmett was thrown out of here.

The Lopez family was blindsided by the news.

Does that mean they have found a new location?

“W-Where are they moving to?” Harry’s voice quavered.

“I’m not sure where specifically, but I think they’re moving to the city center!” Shaun said.

“Come on, let’s go take a look! We must stop them!”

Shortly after, they arrived at Union Square, which was one street away from North Hampton Center.

This place was the legit city center!

They were surprised to see that the people of Imperial Meadows Limited were actually unloading their things to Union Square with Zoey and her family in command at the entrance.

Harry and the others hurried over to them.

“Zoey, what are you guys doing here?” Harry asked.

“We’re moving.” Zoey smiled. “What’s wrong, Grandpa?”

Morris Group had been very busy these two days, so much that Iris had slept for only seven hours a day at most.

When Levi arrived at the office, Iris was still in a meeting and he was called to sit in.

The main topic of the meeting was the publicity and endorsement of the product launch.

There was definitely no problem with the reputation of the product. All they needed to work on was the advertisements.

“As for the ambassador and spokesperson, I’ve chosen a few celebrities and influencers. Lil Lacey especially, has a record of bringing in millions of sales from her broadcast. It would be great to have her to promote our products. Does anyone have any comments?” Iris said.

“Nope. With our marketing efforts, nothing will go wrong.” Someone replied.

Levi was about to doze off from listening.

“What’s the matter, Levi? Do you have something to say?” Iris purposely called him out.

Most of the people in the room scoffed at this technical advisor as they didn’t expect him, a once brilliant man, to be muddling along.

But for the sake of Iris and Isaiah, they kept a cool head.

“I disagree.” Levi yawned.

“Disagree???”

Everyone gaped at him.

Right then, a few men in suits arrived.

The salesperson immediately went up to greet him, “Mr. Olsen, you’re here?”

“Yeah, I’m here to buy a car. What’s wrong? Do I need to make an appointment for that?” One of the men asked.

The salesperson smiled obsequiously, “No, sir! Please, come in. You’re always welcomed here.”

Marshall Olsen smiled.

That’s another hundreds of thousands order there, perhaps even a million.

“Hmm? Hold up! Why are they allowed to enter?” Levi asked quizzically.

“Hmph, because they can afford to buy a car and you can’t!” Marshall said straightforwardly.

Several other salespersons looked at Levi with a mocking face as well.

Why should we waste our time on people who have no intentions to buy a car?

Levi drew out a black card directly and handed it to her. "I want all the cars in your store!"

Wendy froze, asking uncertainly, "Can you repeat that, sir?"

"I want all the cars in your store! Immediately! Now!"

Wendy accepted Levi's black card with unsteady hands.

"Is this the world's limited edition American Express Black Card?"

Wendy was thunderstruck when she saw the card.

Not only did the black card have an unlimited quota, but it also came with many privileges.

Wendy was completely convinced that she had met the legendary zillionaire.

She quickly informed the manager of the store who ran out shortly after with a few other employees.

"Greetings, sir! Our store has two hundred and forty-eight vehicles in stock and the total price is one hundred and eighty million." The manager faltered.

Corey followed. “I’m coming with you. I need to apologize to him. If not, I wouldn’t know how I’ll die for messing with such a big shot.”

The two general managers then left for Coastal Street at full speed.

Meanwhile, Levi was enjoying tea at the VIP lounge with about seven to eight people serving him.

Someone even offered to massage his leg.

In the Mercedes Benz 4S dealership store, Mandy asked, “Is the poor bastard out yet?”

“Nope! It’s been more than half an hour.” Marshall said. “He must be here just to check out the cars.”

Mandy chuckled, “Isn’t that so? I’ve been in this industry for so long. A genuine buyer will never stay more than ten minutes. Only those poor losers will dawdle for half a day and wind up not buying anything.”

“Yeah, I knew it at first glance that he’s too poor to buy a car.” Marshall laughed.

Just then, several staffs of the Mercedes Benz 4S dealership store came in noisily.
