Chapter 2761 Elterton Star

Indeed. The external factor that would affect the battle would be Zarain.

As a matter of fact, Zarain might be the decisive factor.

It made Levi wary, and it made the Lab of Gods wary.

Mr. X had been fearful of revealing his true power because he was afraid of Erudia's Esoteric Guild and Ecclesiastic Order, but it was also because he was wary of Zarain.

After the negotiation, Zarain would not help Erudia and would not form an alliance with Erudia.

However, Zarain was undoubtedly an enemy of the Lab of Gods.

If the Lab of Gods wanted to gain control over the whole world, Zarain would be its target as well.

Therefore, the Lab of Gods was afraid of Zarain.

Mr. X, in particular, knew that the start of the war meant the revealing of his trump card; Zarain would know all about his weak point.

In that case, they would be an easy target for Zarain.

Gabriel, Eustace, and the others were about the same level as Lucifer.

Moreover, Lucifer was a being above most in Diviniteria.

Therefore, although there were few people on Gabriel’s side, those who were with Gabriel were like a one-man-army.

Furthermore, they had the support of The Cardinal Hall, Sacred Organization, Elterton Star, and Celestial Guards.

They began launching their counterattacks against Diviniteria.

Soon, they were making a dent in Diviniteria’s army.

That success inspired the members of the alliance.

Finally, they caught a glimpse of hope.

In fact, even Titan Lord had personally gone on the battlefield.

In good spirits, not only had the alliance defended their base, but they even manage to force their enemies back.

On the other side, Zarain, who had been observing the battle, was thrilled upon noticing that.

Could this be the moment? Are we going to launch our attacks now? But we’ve received no orders. We have to continue with mere observation!

Meanwhile, Mr. X was quiet in Primo Stella.

He was not at all anxious about the counterattacks from their opponents.

In fact, he had a smile on his face.

Finally, the people realized what it felt like to exchange blows with a “god.”

It was impossible for them to defend themselves.

They never found it tough to go up against Lab of Gods' fighters, but the appearance of Mr. X and the other fighters by his side taught them otherwise.

They were crushed as if they were ants under an elephant's foot.

No one and nothing they wielded was of any use.

Not even Death Fiend's divine tools were of any use against Mr. X.

That was what frustrated them the most, for that was the trump card of many members of the Sacred Organization.

Yet, those trump cards were useless against their opponents.

Death Fiend and the others had reached a dead end.

They're not feigning their calmness! They're really unsurprised by this! Could it be that...

Recalling what he had observed in the past few days, Black Hawk realized that Zarain seemed much more powerful than anyone imagined them to be.

Diviniteria doesn't faze them at all? Moreover, it seems like Zarain has some kind of powerful being supporting them. It's just that someone like me won't be able to find out who's behind Zarain. Yes, with how calm they are right now, my guess must be right. Maybe they're powerful enough to sit by idly while the Lab of Gods is fighting against the alliance. There's no need for them to intervene at all because they're not afraid!

It was at that moment Black Hawk was glad that he had not said anything about Levi's true power.

Otherwise, he would be dead by now.

That information would be something that would keep him safe in the future.

It seemed like there was more to the one behind Zarain than he thought.

Black Hawk was curious to find out more.

In the meantime...

The alliance was forced to keep retreating as they suffered terrible losses.

Gabriel and the others were all injured.

Fortunately, they had miracle drugs and various ways to recover, so they managed to treat the injured.

Mr. X's roar shook the earth.
It had cut through the air like the sound of thunder.
The very sound of it commanded attention as if it was a message from god.
Indeed, to them, they were the gods.
Normal people could only get on their knees and submit to god. They could only become slaves and beg for god's forgiveness.
"In the face of god, you are all but mere ants! Bow and become the slave of god!" the other fighters from Diviniteria shouted.
Even more powerful pressure crashed into them.
The kneeling legs of the people on the ground were starting to sink into the ground.
The weaker ones even had their entire bodies in the ground.

A god shall never be crossed!

The power they unleashed was as if the sky had collapsed onto them.

“Ah!”

Gabriel and the others struggled with all their might to rise.

He wanted to let Diviniteria know that he would never submit and that he would never kneel to them.

He was going to stand up and faced them like a man!

In fact, he wanted to show the others that all were equal!

The “gods” saw red.

They were simmering in rage.

To the “gods,” Eustace’s actions were a blatant insult.

He was mocking them.

Eustace was the only one rising to his feet, but it was as if thousands were also rising to their feet.

They did not see Diviniteria as a threat at all.

It was utterly humiliating for Divineteria.

“Don’t let him stand!” Mr. X bellowed.

The fighters then released more of their power to keep him down.

However, Eustace did everything to keep himself from kneeling.

Nevertheless, the bloody tears on his body were spreading.

“Kneel! Kneel before me!” Mr. X cried out like a madman.

He kept letting out more and more of his power, wanting Eustace to kneel before him.

Chapter 2767 Forlevia Descends

The combatants watched in shock as a giant crossbow was wheeled out, having thought that the crossbow would have been taken away along with Levi’s departure.

Unexpectedly, it was left behind to be used at the moment when it was needed the most.

They recalled that Levi had mentioned before that gigantic crossbows were handy against the fighters of Diviniteria.

The only drawback was that there was only enough material for ten arrows which was too few against an army that vast.

As the ammunition had to be large enough to fit the weapon, the amount of timber and steel used to produce the arrows had depleted Levi's resources.

Deducting the three that they had used before, only seven remained.

At that critical juncture, the simultaneous use of three arrows was justified.

It took two dozen men to pull the bowstring laden with triple the tension.

"Let loose on three! One, two, three!"

Chapter 2768 Formidable Forlevia

Having heard of and having seen the extent of a legendary warrior's abilities on full display were two different experiences altogether.

As nobody had ever witnessed the true extent of Forlevia's power, only speculations formed the basis of discussion regarding her potential.

As varied as the tales surrounding her upbringing were, whispers of a group of elders watching over her remained an undeniable fact.

Back then, she had almost lost her life whilst training in the indigenous forest if not for the Dark Emperor.

To some, the tales were so fanciful that they were convinced that it was propaganda conceived by their enemies.

There was never a circumstance before that was deemed as dangerous as the battle between the alliance and Diviniteria which required The Cardinal Hall and Eragon to rely on Forlevia for her help.

At the moment when we needed her the most, she has appeared and reignited the flame in our hearts to fight for our cause. The immensity of her power fills us with hope!

To the alliance, her appearance was a symbol of hope in the face of imminent annihilation.

Their cheers and cries of adoration for their messiah echoed throughout the battlefield.

She is even capable of facing these Gods of Diviniteria! We are saved!

Chapter 2769 Feel The Wind In Your Hair

By this juncture, all of the Gods present were hungry to prove their immortality. They desired nothing more than to charge at Forlevia in a group as a means of exuding their dominance to crush any rebellion.

The only thing stopping them from doing so was the fear of looking desperate and weak on their part to gang up on their young adversary.

We are Gods! We take on armies on our own! We certainly do not form an army to fight a single opponent! A little girl at that!

It was with that embarrassing notion at the forefront of their mind that cause them to decide to charge one at a time.

After a hasty conference, the Gods decided to send the Destroyer to go against Forlevia.

Being the latest and most sophisticated production of the Lab of Gods, its abilities and appearance were modeled after Mr. X's with the idea of deploying a martial force of a commander without his personal involvement in the battleground.

In fact, the Destroyer's abilities almost matched Sacroria's.

It was impractical for it to be much stronger. Otherwise, its overlords would not be able to control it. The machine would control them instead.

As a safety feature, only Sacroria would be able to tame the Destroyer.

The Destroyer headed for Forlevia with a stride as natural as Mr. X's.

Chapter 2770 Person Of Interest

Though she had initially managed to hold her own against the Destroyer, Forlevia quickly found herself overwhelmed by five opponents.

Despite steadily gaining their advantage, Mr. X and his comrades felt terrified at her ability to still hold her own.

The alliance had intended to rush forth to aid her but found themselves being held back by the relentless assault of the Diviniteria troops who had formed a dense wall to separate the alliance from reaching Forlevia.

Besides, the ordinary soldiers would not be of much help as their martial level was too far beneath Mr. X and his comrades.

As a result, the troops of the alliance could only watch in horror as their savior struggled to hold her ground.

"Capture her!" Mr. X snarled. "By orders of Sacroria!"

If the Gods were not ordered to refrain from claiming her life, Forlevia might not have been able to survive.

Despite being a child prodigy in forging her own path, Forlevia had not yet had the time to allow her skills to fully mature and blossom to their full potential.

As a result, she found herself no match for five opponents of a similar skill level to hers.
