Chapter 2801 Secret Mission

Scindere and the other agents also chimed in, "He must be a doctor in Zarain! I assume he's likely to be a well-known doctor with relatively high social status."

All of them quickly came around after receiving Levi's guidance.

They have confirmed the plan to scout out every doctor in Zarain.

"Actually, Dr. Erebus may not necessarily be in Zarain, but he's certainly hiding somewhere near Zarain or a place that is related to Zarain!" Black Hawk added.

Levi nodded. "You will most probably locate him following this direction."

"Yes. However, checking the background of every doctor is not an easy task. Moreover, Dr. Erebus is a highly vigilant man. He will realize what we are doing very soon. That's why we need to formulate a plan and carry out this mission in secret." Black Hawk had to take extra precautions because he was wary of Dr. Erebus' great power.

They had to be extra careful. Otherwise, Dr. Erebus would notice their plan before they even began their hunt.

Everyone was exhilarated after having a clear objective in their minds.

They could not wait to begin their search at once.

"This is all thanks to Mr. Garrison!" Black Hawk said with a smile.

Chapter 2802 The Reason Project Atlantis Is Terminated

For example, Levi could not wrap his mind around the purpose of initiating a magnificent project such as Atlantis.

He would not have known about the existence of that project if not for the dire situation caused by the Leviathans previously.

Levi was truly curious to know the aim of the project.

Besides, Levi was reminded of the groundbreaking news fifteen years ago about the 99 Sea Construction. Eight hundred thousand people involved in the project had vanished, and the project was terminated halfway through.

Levi wanted to know the reason behind the sudden termination of the project.

He wondered if the construction team had stumbled into something or if the project was canceled because of other unforeseen circumstances.

Someone had given a statement to inform the public that the project was abandoned because of limitations in technology advancement and a shortage of funds and resources.

However, Levi had visited that training base in person.

He did not notice any issue with the advancement of technology, or shortage of funds and resources, judging by the progress of construction in the Atlantis base because more than ninety percent of the infrastructures there were completed.

Zephyr was shocked to his core after reading the reason written in the archive.

Something terrible happened when those involved in the Atlantis project dug deeper into the ocean.

The completed buildings at the training base were merely basic infrastructures.

However, the Dragon Palace Project's focus was naturally the Dragon Palace.

The construction of Dragon Palace required the personnel to excavate deeper parts of the sea.

Unfortunately, they discovered something forbidden as they dug deeper.

Project Atlantis itself was already established at a deeper and secluded part of the ocean, extending further below than when Xypheria attempted to connect two opposite ends of the world by digging a tunnel through the Earth.

That location was probably by far the deepest part of the ocean exploited by humanity worldwide.

The place was not explorable even with the aid of modern technology.

The Atlantis project had dug deeper into the ocean floor far beneath the location of the training base Levi and the others had seen.

The Exclusion Zone

After they were done digging, they immediately sealed the pin-sized hole. They also sealed the entire Dragon Palace Project beneath the training base and locked it up with multiple locks.

They did that because they were afraid that the spiritual ley line might explode!

To completely conceal the spiritual ley line, they had no choice but to abandon the Atlantis project.

This incident was also classified as an official secret.

The explosion of the spiritual ley line could thoroughly destroy the world.

Not only the spiritual ley line will raze all the buildings to the ground, but it would also wipe the entire human race off the face of the earth.

Even the contour of the mountains and the course of the rivers would change drastically. Some landforms and water forms might even vanish for good.

All in all, the explosion of the spiritual ley line would mark the beginning of Armageddon.

Zephyr heaved a sigh of relief after learning about the cause.

"Hopefully we'll be able to harness the power of the spiritual ley line for generations to come!" Zephyr said.

We'll keep this a secret as long as we live and take it to the grave! No one should ever find out about it!

"Crown King's here," someone announced Levi's arrival.

Gary immediately kept the file away. "All right. Bring him in!"

Soon Levi arrived at the meeting room.

"What brought you here, Crown King?" Everyone was surprised to see him here.

Levi smiled. "I came over because I've nothing to do since someone has gone after the rest of the people from the Lab of Gods."

Everyone Was Looking For Doctor Erebus

The constant pestering by Smythe and the anxiousness portrayed by Levi made Black Hawk realize the threat posed by Dr. Erebus.

It was simply too immense.

If Dr. Erebus chose to take revenge, the severity would far exceed that of Sacroria's.

Besides, Smythe did mention that everyone around the world was looking for Dr. Erebus, including the Ancient Clan.

After all, Dr. Erebus had in his possession many secrets and treasures that were invaluable.

Hence, it was not surprising that everyone wanted to get hold of him.

Even though Diviniteria was destroyed, Zarain still wanted to control Dr. Erebus, the only human being that got into Sacroria.

The prized secrets that he possessed were simply too valuable to pass up on.

Everyone was keen to have him!

Hence, Smythe wanted to locate Dr. Erebus as soon as possible.

Even if he was just a body.

He did not want anyone else to capture Dr. Erebus first, as it would pose significant risks and threats.

“Huh?” Everyone looked in the same direction.

“Forlevia, Levi’s daughter, when fighting against Diviniteria, unleashed a technique that belonged to Erudia’s ancient cultivation skills! That is something that we have expended significant efforts to acquire!”

Hiss! Everyone held their breath in shock.

It was as if the whole place experienced an explosion.

Cultivation skills?

Everyone in the clan had their eyes wide in amazement!

Their clan specialized in the research of ancient cultivators and species.

Ancient cultivator was a general term, referring to, but not limited to, wizards from Adrune and martial artists from Bayview. It also included ninjas from Raysonia, Xenhall clerics, masters of magical techniques, and theurgists from Erudia.

If Zephyr and the others heard the conversation, they would be terrorized.

It was because Dr. Erebus’ revenge plan had something to do with the spiritual ley line! That was groundbreaking news!

Would that be the same as the spiritual ley line that they found in Atlantis? If that was the case, then it would be over!

Besides, Digital God seemed to be inventing something to locate the spiritual ley line.

However, no one had any idea what the spiritual ley line was about.

Even Zarain was clueless. They were only familiar with the Lab of Gods.

But they were oblivious to the secrets hidden in the Lab of Gods.

Shield’s priority was to investigate all the information contained there. It was narrowed down to everyone’s daily lives, interactions, and relationships.

Hence, to err on the side of caution, their investigations were extremely meticulous. It involved significant workloads and posed insurmountable hurdles.

But the direction was wrong!

If they continued, they would not be able to find Dr. Erebus even if they managed to go through every single coffin!

Dr. Erebus was not there!

The direction was utterly wrong!

If Dr. Erebus was able to stay hidden for over a century, he would not leave behind trails that easily!

It would be absurd to even think that Shield could identify his trails that easily!

Even if they did it a few more times, there would not be any progress. It was near impossible!

Upon learning that many people were nearing him, Dr. Erebus sent out several substitutes without hesitation to fool the masses, at least for the time being.

In the blink of an eye, five days had passed.

After eliminating over eighty thousand documents of the problematic ones, Shield had tremendously reduced the gap between their progress and Levi's.

Since Black Hawk also had exceptional intelligence, it was no doubt he was capable of thinking of anything that Levi could.

It was just a matter of time.

Their speed was basically as fast as Levi.

Aside from the aforementioned two teams, the Ancient Clans had utilized their abilities to hasten their search for Dr. Erebus.
