Chapter 281

The stinging slap across the face jolted Mandy.

She covered her face and looked at Corey incredulously. "Mr. Stone, how have I offended you?"

Slap!

Corey gave her another tight slap across the head. "You stupid b*tch, don't you know what you've done wrong?"

"W-What have I done wrong?" Mandy repeated in puzzlement.

Marshall and the others were burning with curiosity as well.

What did we do?

Slap!

Corey slapped her again.

"I really don't know what I did wrong, Mr. Stone," Mandy cried, her face swelling up.

Everyone was scared silly!

Can his gaze be any more frightening?

Why is a zillionaire like him keeping such a low profile?

Why isn't he decked out in designer brands?

Who would have thought that he is the zillionaire?

Is it too late to say that we regret our actions?

Marshall and the others regarded Mandy with resentment. If it weren't for Mandy's vicious mockery towards Levi, they wouldn't have followed suit and acted so badly.

Mandy was scared out of her pants.

Right then, Levi's voice was heard. "I don't accept apologies!"

Corey panicked.

Shit! Is the end of me for offending such an invincible zillionaire?

"Mr. Garrison, I swear I'll fire Mandy, Marshall, and the eight other staff at once," he said hastily. "And any company or 4S dealership store related to Mercedes Benz will never hire them, ever again!"

"I've also heard that the big boss has plans to reward you guys with houses and mansions in the future.
As long as you make profits for the company, the company will give you a future."

"Yes, Sir!"

The entire Morris Group seethed with excitement at Kirin's announcement. The reward system had struck exactly the right note with the employees.

Rewarding a car that costs at least four hundred thousand is too posh! We must work harder! Only then can we enjoy a brighter future in this company!

"Not many departments have shown outstanding achievements as the company has just been established," Kirin continued. "But we are all witnesses to the achievements of the technical department, aren't we? With that, the big boss has decided to reward fifteen cars to the technical team!"

The technical team went wild.

Isaiah was so exhilarated that his eyes brimmed with tears.

The others looked on enviously, vowing to work even harder.

Zoey and Damian stood frozen as they looked at the car.

It was an Audi RS7 that cost almost two million, and it was much classier than Damian's Tesla!

The car window rolled down, revealing a face familiar to Zoey.

"Honey, get in. Don't just stand there," Levi said.

Zoey came back to her senses and quickly hopped on.

Damian was stunned, malice flashing in his eyes.

Just how rich is this woman's husband to drive a car that costs two million?

And she's married?

But it's okay. I'm going to sleep with her no matter what!

In the car, Zoey was full of curiosity.

Even though the cars were in their hands, it wouldn't feel pleasant to drive.

After all, Levi didn't buy them with his own money.

How suffocating would it if they had to drive in secret and not tell anyone about this!

"Uncle, Aunt, don't be mad. Levi did it with the best of intentions, after all. Just feel free to drive them. You have my word," Iris said.

"Thanks, Iris."

Aaron and Caitlyn felt much more relieved at that, but they were still dissatisfied with Levi.

How humiliating would it be if words get out!

Luckily, Iris has reminded us.

Levi, who was eating, didn't know what had happened. When he saw them coming back, he even asked them, "Mom, Dad, don't you guys like it?"

"Don't you ever do such humiliating things again!" Aaron roared.

"Yeah, we appreciate your kindness, but let this be last time. I don't want to lose face!" Caitlyn raged as well.

Just as the security guards were about to fly off the handle, Lil Lacey, the influencer behind, suddenly slapped one of the four men who carried her in the face with a crisp sound.

"Is your brain filled with shit or something? What the hell are you doing? You almost dropped me!" Lil Lacey screamed.

This particular staff quickly apologized, "I'm sorry. My foot slipped. I'm really sorry..."

But Lil Lacey slapped the staff in the face again, despite his apologies.

The people around burned with anger at her treating her staff with such brutality.

How unkind of her to slap him just because his foot slipped!

A few people even took out their phones to film as they wanted to expose what this influencer was truly like.

Lil Lacey's anger spiked when she caught them in the act, then she turned toward her manager and said, "Amelia, look at

"Hmm?"

The security guards and Lil Lacey gawked.

What's wrong with these dogs?

"What are you people standing there for? Get him!" Lil Lacey and Amelia chorused.

The security guards sprinted toward Levi.

Pow!

Crash!

...

With blows from Levi's fists and kicks from his feet, all the guards lay wailing on the ground thirty seconds later.

The onlookers applauded.

"Nice one, man!"

Amelia nodded. "I'll seek help through our connections and we'll put him to death! What a disgrace today!"

Meanwhile, Iris had just arrived at the office and was having a regular meeting when her secretary suddenly came running in.

"Ms. Anabelle, we're screwed! Everest Entertainment had just called to say that Lil Lacey wants to terminate her contract with us and will no longer be the ambassador and spokesperson for our product!"

A heavy silence fell upon the room.

"Hurry up and patch me through to Lil Lacey's manager, Ms. Mackie!" Iris said instantly.

"What can I do for you, Ms. Anabelle?" Amelia sniggered once the call connected.

"Ms. Mackie, may I know why exactly are you terminating the contract with us?" Iris asked mildly.

"Didn't we come to an agreement already?"

"Haven't you heard, Ms. Anabelle? Someone from Morris Group has terminated our contract! We can't work with Morris Group anymore, so we can only make it official from our side first," Amelia laughed grimly.

"I'm going to beg her!" Iris answered.

Levi disregarded her and went to the office of the technical department, drinking tea and smoking cigarette while Iris went to Everest Entertainment personally to negotiate with them.

However, the other party was adamant about terminating the contract.

"Unless you fire him after he kneels before me and apologizes to me or end of discussion!"

Lil Lacey gave Iris only one way out.

"Yes, that bastard must come and apologize on his knees!"

They were firm in their decision.

Iris's face paled.

"I can make the decision to fire him, but I need to ask him about the apology. I'll go back and figure this out!"

No sooner was Iris out of earshot than Lil Lacey and the others burst into laughter.

"You dare to challenge us, Levi Garrison? You're dead meat!"

Iris stayed in the conference room, rubbing her temples. She was brainstorming solutions with everyone when her phone suddenly rang.

Her face changed dramatically, and her phone almost slipped out of her hand when the call ended.

We're screwed!

We're totally screwed!

It turned out that the caller was the manager of the popular star, Wanda, from Everest Entertainment, who was also one of the signed ambassadors.

The manager had called to inform Iris that they would be terminating their contract as well.

Thereafter, her phone rang again.

"Hello, Ms. Anabelle. I'm the manager of Sean Hanks from Everest Entertainment, and we are requesting to terminate our contract with your company."

"Hello, I'm Lil Jasmine's manager from King Entertainment and we want to cancel our contract with you."

"Hello, nice to meet you. I'm from Star Media. We would like to dissolve our contract regarding the promotion of your product."
