Chapter 2871 Prepared For A Massacre

Powerful fighters that had been exposed to the spiritual energy's radiation were everywhere.

Although none of them were on the level of Deities, Dr. Erebus felt intimidated simply by looking at them.

Although he had understood the changes that had taken place in the world ever since Forlevia got poisoned, he had been staying in Erudia and Zarain the whole time.

Those two countries were the only ones that avoided the effects of the spiritual energy blast, so this was Dr. Erebus' first time encountering fighters that had been exposed to the spiritual energy's radiation.

Dr. Erebus was somewhat confident in his own abilities. After all, he was able to hold his own for quite a while during his previous fight with Levi.

When battling the Ancient Clan, Dr. Erebus forced them into a corner by boosting his strength through special means. That was what drove them into poisoning Forlevia.

However, the sight of the fighters that were exposed to the spiritual energy's radiation left him petrified.

These guys are all surging with spiritual energy! My strength is average at best when compared to theirs! If this is the strength of ordinary fighters strengthened by the radiation, then just how powerful are Deities? Now I see why everyone wanted to ask Deities for help! They're basically gods in human form! This is way too terrifying! Spauria only has a few Deities and is ranked very low in the world. I can't imagine how things would be in more powerful countries like Xyperia! I hear they have tons of Deities there... No, now isn't the time to be worrying about this!

With that in mind, Dr. Erebus stared at the fighters surrounding them and asked, "What do you guys want?"

Even Dr. Erebus’ blood began to rush all over his body. He was already prepared to fight.

In an instant, he calibrated his strength to where he was strong enough to battle against the fighters.

Dr. Erebus had studied various races and unknown creatures. Hence, he effortlessly raised his combat abilities to match his opponents.

Apart from the crushing strength of Levi, there was no one else in the world who could stop Dr. Erebus from increasing his powers.

At that point, Levi was already insanely furious. “I will kill anyone who stands in my way!”

At that critical moment, a few of the high-rank officials from Spaunia exclaimed, “We have no interest in fighting someone who poses no threat. We are here to meet Dr. Erebus!”

They didn’t even bother to look at Levi, let alone be threatened by him.

Levi was a little puzzled.

Chapter 2873 The Desperation Continues

Levi had the urge to say something, but he held it back in the end.

He decided to follow along to see if there was another method that wouldn't be based on the spiritual energy of a Deity because it wouldn't work.

Dr. Erebus didn't place all his hopes on the Deities and began to ask the high-rank officials of Spaunia about extraordinary individuals.

They all agreed to Dr. Erebus' demands and immediately gathered talented individuals and experts all over the country.

Shortly after, Levi and the others were led to the secret base of Spaunia to isolate themselves from the outside world.

At that time, all the countries didn't dare to disclose the number of Deities and candidates they had.

They wanted to keep it a secret, except for Xyperia, who had a large number of Deities.

They had so many, and there was no need to hide them at all.

Only the countries with less than a few Deities or countries with an average number of Deities would keep it a secret to gain a potential advantage in the future.

Otherwise, if any country were found only to have a small number of Deities, they would end up as prey.

Therefore, they would try to hide it as much as they could.

Chapter 2874 Ancient Clan Refuge

At first, the people of Spaunia thought that it was just some poison and that Deities could cure it with ease.

However, they finally understood how terrifying the poison was.

Even Deities couldn't handle it.

They assumed that Levi's daughter could only face certain death.

“Don’t worry, Mr. Garrison. We’ll search all over the world, and we’ll definitely find a way to cure Forlevia’s poison! If Spaunia can’t help, there are still other places that can. There’s one more thing you must know. According to my research, all beings of nature have their systems. Everything has its weakness! For example, if there is a poison, there must be an antidote that could neutralize it! It’s just eighty-seven types of poison. We just have to find eighty-seven antidotes to cure it!”

He continued, “I have analyzed the eighty-seven types of poison. All there is left to do is to find the antidote! For now, all you have to do is to stabilize Forlevia’s condition!” Dr. Erebus desperately said.

Although Levi knew that Dr. Erebus was comforting him, his words sounded somewhat encouraging.

Additionally, his theory was right!

If there was a poison, there would be an antidote.

He would kill whoever dared to protect Ancient Clan.

He would also kill all of Xyperia's Deities, no matter how many.

Whichever country dared to oppose him, he would kill all the country's Deities.

Dr. Erebus asked, "What should we do now? Do we pay Xyperia a visit?"

Dr. Erebus wasn't worried about going to Xyperia.

Along with Digital God, he was already honored as an esteemed guest, and Xyperia was the first to propose the idea.

If they were to negotiate with Xyperia, they might contribute some people to help Levi.

Even if Levi were to get into trouble, they would be able to deal with it.

That was the benefit of being regarded as Erebus Angel.

The Titan Lord said, "There is no need to debate anymore. We are the strongest in the world. The news of how we have over a thousand deities is just rumors, though. We have so, so many more with us."

Everyone gasped upon hearing that because it was simply too terrifying.

Having over a thousand of them was a scary thought. It would put that country at the top.

Spaunia only had about ten Deities, and that was enough to get its citizens to behave that arrogantly.

Having over a thousand Deities meant they could overwhelm just about anybody.

Now that they learned how there were ever more than that...

Oh my gosh, that is nerve-wrecking. I can't believe there are over a thousand of them. How many more are there? Two thousand? Ten thousand?

The crowd didn't even want to imagine what would happen next.

That was how powerful that nation was.

When everyone else was hiding away from the previous disaster, they faced the challenge head-on, with no armor or protection.

That was why the citizens of their country were exposed to more spiritual energy than anyone else had.

They might actually have more enemies than him.

Back then, the clan had to hide and work in the shadows.

Things had changed so much that they could now share their location freely.

They were practically waiting for their enemies to attack.

Infuriated, many were tempted to attack immediately after learning how the Idrae were out in the open.

However, their trigger finger halted upon learning that the Idrae were in Xyperia.

That was a ridiculously powerful country, so no one dared to challenge it.

Things were especially difficult with the Idrae listed as Xyperia's honored guests.

The Titan Lord himself had made the announcement of how the country would keep Idrae safe.

That further discouraged Idrae's enemies from making a move.

All they could do was to glare from a distance... Or at least that was what most did.

Chapter 2878 Who Would Not Want To Be A Deity

As promised, Dr. Erebus heard a commotion after they went deeper in.

It was the sound of battle.

The spiritual energy exuded from that fight was overwhelming, and its scary effect had spread out.

A battle as intense as that would get any animal in the forest to stay far, far away.

Nothing would want to get close.

Even from a distance, Dr. Erebus and Levi could see how hundreds of fighters had surrounded three mutated wolves.

The spiritual energy had turned the wolves into unstoppable beasts that were stronger than anyone could imagine.

Unfortunately, the three wolves were fighting more than a hundred young fighters. They were reasonably wounded and bled endlessly as though they were on the verge of dying.

The young fighters, on the other hand, were laughing boisterously.

They were celebrating the fact that they were given extraordinary power and were going to accomplish their mission of killing the wolves.

Levi looked a little upset as he wondered what they were doing.

There, sitting at the side of the cliff, was a yellow flower that exuded powerful waves of spiritual energy. It also gave off a pleasant scent.

It was obviously much stronger than the herbs that had grown before the spiritual energy changed them.

That particular flower was born from the spiritual energy revival, and it was incredibly strong.

Even a deity greatly influenced by the spiritual energy could benefit from a flower like that.

A regular fighter would get so much more from the plant.

Hence, if anyone saw that flower, they would go crazy and do anything to get their hands on it.

The youngsters from Jeradus finally took care of the wolves.

They were quick to divide the wolves up among themselves, and they were all delighted to receive their prize.

One of the youngsters is Gideon, who is the son of a deity in Jeradus.

He was well-respected and was known as the Son of Deity.

His identity, paired with his incredible skill, made him one of the more promising youngsters in Jeradus.

In fact, he did most of the heavy lifting when they fought the mutated wolves.

Gideon shifted his gaze and looked in the direction Levi and the others had left in.

Someone whispered, "There are only two possibilities. The first one is that there is a Deity-level beast around here, and the weaker creatures had to flee to survive. The second one is that there aren't any beasts here at all. All four countries made a mistake, and this is not supposed to be marked as a restricted area in the first place."

"Yeah, those are the only possibilities. Let's venture deeper in. We'll know the truth soon enough."

Everyone else nodded in agreement.

Gideon nodded as well. "That makes sense. After all, the unknown is scary, but it doesn't necessarily mean there's danger. It'd be best if there is no danger at all, but let's be careful, anyway."

Everybody inched forward carefully, ready to flee at a moment's notice.

However, they encountered nothing dangerous, even as they ventured deep into the restricted area.

The silence was surreal.

It seemed that the beast they were all worried about never existed.

Better still, beasts of other levels weren't present as well.

That calmed everyone else down.

They checked the map and realized that they had pretty much covered the entire Rank Three restricted area.

Despite that, no unknown danger or beasts showed up.

That suggested that the government's calculations were off, and there was never any danger.
