And so he left the company.

Iris had gathered her employees for a meeting again, and the theme was simple—change nothing and minimize the damage as much as possible.

She also made it a point to tell her employees to keep this matter from Neil, as she didn't want the big boss to find out. It would only reflect badly on her as an incompetent leader.

Azure Dragon had arrived to pick Levi up after he left the company.

"Did you manage to reach out to Benny Quinton?" Levi asked Azure Dragon, who had come to pick him up from the company.

Azure Dragon nodded. "Yes, Sir. Mr. Quinton was so happy to hear from you. He would love to meet you too."

Levi smiled, "Tell Mr. Quinton to come to North Hampton three days later. Just tell him that Levi Garrison needs a favor from him."

Azure Dragon guffawed, "That is wonderful! You, Sir, are the nation's God of War, and Mr. Quinton is the nation's greatest doctor! You both are the nation's greatest treasures!"

"Is that any of your business?" Levi looked up, a grim smile on his lips.

"No, I mean, I thought you're doing well. How did you wind up eating steamed buns on the street?"

Una felt an irresistible urge to laugh.

In her heart, Levi was nothing but a rotten person and it felt good to see him in a wretched state.

"Did your wife kick you out of the house, Mr. Garrison?" Jamie asked.

"Hahahaha..."

Una burst out laughing. "I supposed you can survive with your salary right now if you're still single, but you have a family to feed. Your wife is so brilliant, don't you think you're too far behind?"

"It's none of your business. Get out of the way!"

Levi looked irritated.

Next second, Una took out a stack of cash from her purse and threw them at Levi. "Dinner's on me then!"

“I can’t believe we get to meet the two great gods of Erudia!”

“Benny Quinton has unparalleled medical skills. I want him to see what’s wrong with me!”

In particular, the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce accounted for a large proportion of the pharmaceutical business in North Hampton.

It would guarantee the reputation of their pharmaceutical business if they had an acquaintance in Benny.

With the many benefits that they could stand to reap, their plan was simple—they must invite Mr. Quinton for tea at the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce.

The next day, the news that the Great Doctor, Benny Quinton, was coming to North Hampton had spread across the entire North Hampton.

Only God knew who spread the word.

Everyone respected Benny as God, and they couldn’t wait to meet him.

This only went on to prove the reputable status of Benny Quinton!

Everyone in Morris Group was also discussing this matter today.

After all, a Great Doctor like Benny was looked up to by many.

Chapter 294

Everyone was dismissive of Morris Group's arrival, as too many influential people were present.

In their opinion, no one else was qualified to pick up Benny, but the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce and the richest man, Winston Gonzales.

But there again, who else had the power to invite Benny to North Hampton all the way from Vermont?

Una was waiting at the side with Winston when she caught sight of Levi and Isaiah.

"Hmm? Grandpa, look! Isn't that Levi Garrison?"

The Gonzales family looked over.

"What is he doing here? Is he trying to pick up Mr. Quinton too?" Winston wondered.

"Dad," Clint said. "Levi's a man of no scruples when it comes to achieving his goals. He must be trying to take advantage of Mr. Quinton."

Winston snorted, "I'm standing here. He'll never get this chance."

The crowd knew that if it weren't for Benny's arrival today, Levi would be dead for sure.

At this time, a large group of media reporters had arrived, holding cameras while waiting in silence.

The arrival of the media reporters made it clear to everyone that Benny would be landing soon.

Levi took out his phone and made a call. "Azure Dragon, bring your men over!"

In the conference room of Everest Entertainment, Noah McCormick, the president of the company, was having a meeting with Lil Lacey, Amelia and a few others.

"How's it going with Morris Group?" he asked.

"Sir, Morris Group's new products are listed on the market today and there are zero sales so far," his assistant replied.

Thousands of people had gathered outside the private passageway of North Hampton International Airport, and the numbers were still increasing.

Right then, the insiders of the airport sent news that the private jet Benny was on had landed and he would be coming out shortly.

The Gonzales family was so shaken that their eyes never left the private passageway.

Levi, on the other hand, had lit up a cigarette and was smoking, as if he could care less about the Great Doctor’s arrival.

A few minutes later, accompanied by noisy footsteps, Benny and the cabin crew came out from the VIP passageway.

Benny Quinton might be in his eighties, but he was still hale and hearty and going strong.

Not only was he the leading figure in the medical field, but he was also athletic. He was skilled in basketball, swimming, sprinting and other sports.

He was an all-rounder, and the healthier he was, the greater the blessings for Erudia.

Benny was extremely down-to-earth. He was only wearing casual clothes and had only brought along an assistant with him.

Most importantly, he was carrying his own bag and pulling his own luggage.

Could this be compared to those conceited celebrities? No.

Azure Dragon came before Benny and gave a military salute. "Welcome to North Hampton, Mr. Quinton!"

Benny's knitted brows became smooth again as he smiled, "Sorry for the trouble, Azure Dragon."

"No worries, Mr. Quinton," Azure Dragon smiled. "Even if it's not on the God of War's orders, I would have come to pick you up myself. You're one of the people I respect."

"Hahaha, that's my honor then!" Benny gave a chortle.

It was at the moment that everyone realized it was the God of War who had invited Benny to North Hampton, and that the old friend that he spoke of must be the God of War himself.

Upon hearing that, everyone heaved a sigh of relief.

Aside from the God of War, who else in North Hampton had the right to invite Mr. Quinton?

They were both Erudia's national treasures!

"Mr. Quinton," said Azure Dragon, suddenly remembering something. "The God of War has asked you to stay for a few more days, as he would like to invite you to attend the North Hampton Warzone commander-in-chief's appointment ceremony. The new commander-in-chief is one of the God of War's men."

"A-Are... you M-Mr. Benny Quinton?" she stammered, her body trembling.

As his popularity was known to all in Erudia, Iris could recognize him at one glance.

"Yes, I am," Benny smiled. "Are you here to pick me up?"

Iris noticed that there were many people looking at her and that many reporters were filming.

She faltered, "You're mistaken, Mr. Quinton. I-I'm not here to pick you up."

In fact, Iris wished she could just send him back to Morris Group.

He could have solved their crisis with just his presence alone.

But how was she going to do that when she had nothing to do with Benny at all?

“Aren’t you from Morris Group, miss?” Benny asked.

“Huh? Um...” What does he mean? Is he going to Morris Group?

Levi shot a look at her, then said, “Yes, we’re here to pick you up, Mr. Quinton! Let’s get going.”

“Just call me Levi. It’s actually for my own selfish reasons that I called you here, Mr. Quinton. I want you to advocate for my company’s products,” Levi stated directly.

“No, don’t say that!” Benny waved his hands frantically.

"I've studied your company's products with my students in the past few days. They are by far the best on the market in Erudia and are even comparable to those from overseas!

They can stop the foreigners from monopolizing our market and most of all, the price is not even a third of theirs! This is a great thing for the country and the people, and I'm honored to be your ambassador."

Levi was a little moved.

As expected of the national treasure...

He thinks about the country and the people all the time!

"I'm ashamed of myself, Mr. Quinton," Levi giggled. "I have selfish motives in manufacturing these products. I want to overthrow the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce."

"Of course, I'm aware of this. The North Hampton Chamber of Commerce has completely plagiarized your core technology and monopolized certain products, selling them at sky-high prices. I'd even talked about this with some experts. But there was nothing we could do. Only the North Hampton Chamber of Commerce has such product technologies. But it's all good now since you're back. The products are much better than theirs and the prices are much lower."

Noah, Lil Lacey and the others quickly turned on their phones and were petrified when they saw the news.

The Great Doctor has become the spokesperson of Morris Group's products?

"T-T-This..."

Noah blanched, Lil Lacey's blood froze, and Amelia's jaw dropped.

It was then that the market dynamics on Noah's laptop suddenly changed, showing that the first batch of Morris Group's new products was sold out!

That was a one billion order!

...

"Mr. Quinton, Ms. Anabelle, nice to meet you," a stout man greeted. "I'm Teddy Fords, the owner of Stardust Medical Equipment Corporation, and I've just purchased all of the first batch of Morris Group's products"

Iris was taken aback. Did he just buy a billion worth of products in one breath?

Benny nodded. "Thank you for your support! I can guarantee with my reputation that these are the best products you can ever get."
