Chapter 2981

Is Your Name Written Down

“Huh?” Levi and the rest were utterly confused.

He had always been the one snatching resources from others, not the other way around.

Are they so domineering? They came all the way here to announce that everything will belong to Terrandya! Isn't that equivalent to snatching the resources away from me? Wait, this is worse than just snatching the resources. They're already implicitly saying that everything is theirs! That's even worse than robbers. They've forcefully claimed possession of the resources after an internal discussion.

“Hahaha!”

Dr. Erebus and the rest burst out laughing.

Why are there so many shameless people? They come one after the other! We've been meeting too many of such people recently. They just keep getting more shameless! One can't even imagine the methods that they'd resort to. There are seriously no limits to how outrageous they can be!

Firstly, Kuro Dragon requested an exorbitant price. At the last minute, he even added conditions and backed out.

Those in Erudia tried to coerce him by using moral blackmail.

A Bunch Of Thugs

Levi burst out laughing once again.

“Do you listen to yourself when you talk? Do you actually believe what you’re saying? If you put it that way, maybe you should offer your wife to the men as well. It’d be your honor to have her serve Terrandya, no? Heck, your ancestors would probably jump for joy in their graves when they find out what you’ve done!” mocked Levi.

“How dare you speak to me like that, Levi!” roared the Deity of Terrandya in response.

“Somebody’s mad, huh? If this isn’t a double standard, I don’t know what it is! You’re nothing but a hypocrite; that’s what you are. You had no problem taking advantage of other people, but when the same is done to you, you’ll probably flip.” Without much effort, Levi almost managed to goad the Deity into a fight.

suddenly before sneering, “So you’re not planning to hand them over, are you, Levi? In case you have no idea how we do things, I’m going to explain it to you. Whenever we see something we want, we’ll declare it ours. If the owner knows what’s good for them, they’ll hand it over without questions and be in our good graces. The envoy was not bluffing, for that was just the way they had always done things.

While others like Hawen made sure nobody knew that they planned to attack Levi, Terrandya could not care less about other people's opinions.

Since they commanded close to nine hundred Deities, if not more, Terrandya was convinced that it had more than enough strength to reap whatever they did not sow.

Killing All Of Your Deities

Dr. Erebus and the Digital God both held their breath as they waited for Levi to continue.

"If it's not too far away, I'll go there and save us some time," added Levi.

"And what do you plan to do when you get there?" questioned the two.

"They think they're all that because of the Deities, don't they? Then I'll kill all their Deities!" answered Levi calmly as if he was about to do something as easy as a walk in the park.

Dr. Erebus and the Digital God were stunned when they heard Levi's plan. Terrandya's done it now, huh? They'll pay for flaunting their Deities like that because Mr. Garrison's going to make sure they have none left. After that, they'll probably go from the top three to the last three.

Then, Levi, who did not think much of the envoy's threat, returned to his daughter's side.

The Golden Saints

The Terrandyan fighters could not help but wonder what was going through Levi's head. What the heck is going on? Has he given up hope completely, or is he not afraid of us at all? Maybe he's smart enough to realize that there's nothing he could do to escape us. Levi probably knows that there's no point in resisting because, one way or another, we will have his resources!

Meanwhile, Levi paid the Terrandynes no mind at all as he continued trying to figure out a way to help Forlevia.

All of a sudden, Dr. Erebus informed Levi that a trio had arrived to see him.

Levi assumed the three were quite bold since they requested to meet him even when he was under the Terrandynes' watchful eye. If nothing else, these people have piqued my interest. Let's see who they are.

It turned out that three Deities were waiting outside for him, and they had an intense aura about them that only battle-hardened warriors possessed.

With just one look, Levi could tell that they were much stronger than an average Deity.

The Golden Saints only offered Levi what they thought was a fair price even though they knew the man was in quite a predicament.

"For your situation, maybe hiring the strongest mercenary group isn't such a bad idea. The price they ask for is indeed quite steep, but they'll be able to protect more of your resources, so it's not a bad deal," suggested one of the Golden Saints.

Because of the reward Levi offered, the Golden Saints and the other mercenary groups had been meaning to contact the man.

However, they could not be of much help when it came to searching for magical medicine or other ways to cure Forlevia.

What they excelled at was shedding blood, so when they heard how Terrandya had threatened Levi, they knew it was finally time to approach the man.

After some discussion, the groups decided to send three members of the Golden Saints to meet with Levi.

The three stared intently at Levi as they waited for the man to give them a solid answer.

Chapter 2987

The Most Powerful Mercenary Group

Levi, who was sitting by Forlevia’s bedside, suddenly got on his feet and had a fierce look in his eyes.

His murderous intent was so strong that beasts in the restricted areas nearby scattered away in fear.

Even Dr. Erebus and the Digital God were shocked by the aura.

“Inform the mercenaries and have them stand by for my command outside of Tayhaven!” ordered Levi.

“Understood!” replied Dr. Erebus before hurrying to make the arrangements.

The major mercenary organizations were still a little hesitant and did not go there immediately. After all, that goal was too big. Besides, it was not well defined.

To go directly to Tayhaven would likely result in facing more than nine hundred Deities and countless fighters.

Was there anyone who did not fear this?

Even though they were professional warriors, it was much simpler to escort Levi on an escape plan instead of a direct attack on Tayhaven. The probability of death was too high.

As a mercenary organization for hire, they were not directly related to those parties.

They would only attack if they were unable to evade.

At this moment, Levi had tasked them with going directly to Tayhaven. That meant that he was asking them to attack.

Everyone feared that.

There was a high probability that the entire mercenary organization would fall.

Taking risks was not the same as going on a suicide mission. Hence, all fourteen mercenary organizations came together.

All the thirty Deities of the Armageddon Mercenary Army were present too. Everyone was concerned.

Levi At Tayhaven

Inside Tayhaven, the public heard that Levi was about to surrender.

They were filled with excitement.

Not only would all that Levi owned be theirs, but even the secret source of his treasures would be theirs as well.

At this very moment, all fourteen mercenary organizations were lurking outside Tayhaven, awaiting Levi's order to take action.

When they saw Levi arriving alone in an aircraft outside Tayhaven, they were all nervous.

Their next task was possibly to rush into Tayhaven.

How courageous of Levi to come here directly!

Soon the aircraft landed inside the city.

The fighters of Terrandya did not attempt to stop him. After all, they had presumed that Levi and his envoy had come to surrender.

Hence, they did not stop him.

The mercenary organizations lying in ambush outside the city began asking, "Are there any instructions? We are all in place. If Levi has any tasks, we can go ahead!"

"That's right. Let's ask Levi what exactly he wants us to do."

The mercenary organizations did not leave!

Levi did not surrender!

"Mr. Garrison, this way, please! His majesty is waiting for you!"

When Levi and his party got off the aircraft, the messenger of Terrandya was there to greet them in person.

In contrast to the arrogance of the previous encounter, this time it was a warm welcome.

It was a total reversal of the previous situation so much so that Levi felt as if he had landed in the wrong country.

"Haven't we met before?"

Dr. Erebus asked instinctively.

The change in their attitude was so quick that it was quite startling to others.

However, Levi was the picture of calmness. They understood the reason for the change. Levi was thought to be here to surrender...

That was the reason for the warm welcome. They were waiting for him to reveal the secret of his resources.

Hence, there was definitely a warm welcome.

At the very instant Levi came in, Godric III immediately gave the order. "Seal the entire city of Tayhaven! I don't want anything that happens next to be leaked to outsiders, especially the secrets of the resources."

Godric III made the same decision that the crown prince of Hawen had made before.
