Chapter 3061 The Faction Behind Zarain

Dr. Erebus and the rest were utterly shocked by what had unfolded before them.

How can someone like this exist? Who is he? Where is he from?

Everyone present, including Levi, began to speculate, for they had not heard of someone like that before.

It just doesn't make sense! I would certainly have heard about someone who owns such a frightening amount of resources. On top of that, those resources can only be obtained from the restricted areas. Therefore, I would have certainly run into him there. But now, I have not even heard of him before. So where did all his resources, which are now placed right in front of everyone, come from? I just can't believe this! No matter how hard I rack my brain, I just have no idea. Who the f*ck is he?

Unable to arrive at an answer, Levi simply categorized him as a strange being that could have been unleashed by the spiritual energy revival, somewhat like the Ecclesiastic Order.

That was the only explanation he could come up with.

Since he didn't know who they were, he was baffled as to why they seemed to be targeting him with a vengeance.

Damn it, why does it feel like there are enemies everywhere! F*ck!

Actually, Levi's speculation wasn't far from the truth.

If the Ecclesiastic Order was considered as strange beings, the mysterious person fell into the same category, for they were from Zarain.

"This..." Everyone's blood boiled in excitement the moment the box was brought on stage.

This magical medicine is amazing! No wonder it could be comparable to Ten Millenium Snow Lotus!

Back when Chad mentioned that it was slightly more potent than an ordinary one, he was actually understating the truth.

He wasn't really sure what the magical medicine was nor its age.

However, once it was identified as the Ten Millenium Snow Lotus, it suddenly became extremely valuable.

As a result, everyone got to their feet and stared intently at the wooden box.

If not for the knowledge that it was an exquisite-looking secret lock box, everyone would have sprung forward to grab it.

Even Levi felt the urge to do the same.

At that moment, there was no need to authenticate the magical medicine, for the fragrance it emitted alone was proof of its veracity.

Subsequently, Levi's breathing began to quicken.

"As for the final item, I'm sure it needs no introduction at all. However, if any of you have dishonest intentions, remember that the secret lock box won't open without its key. On top of that, the lock on it is Erudia's ancient heavenly lock, where a specialist is needed just to open it. Therefore, stealing the box itself is useless, for you will still need the specialist's assistance."

No sooner had the host spoke than everyone present was stunned.

Not only could one not open the box, but one had to also deal with the heavenly lock.

At that moment, Levi and Bruno exchanged glances, for the latter's earlier comments about the lock had come true.

Thus, they were even more certain that this faction was from Erudia.

After sweeping his gaze across the crowd, the host announced, "In that case, let's begin now! The starting bid will be a thousand pieces of high-grade spiritual energy crystals. However..."

The moment he changed his tact, the audience looked at him in suspense.

Is something going to happen?

"What's wrong?" Everyone gave him a curious look.

Surprise Revelation

“I am sure all of you know this magical medicine is highly treasured by Dr. Holden and considered his most beloved possession,” the auctioneer said.

Everyone nodded, as it was no secret that Dr. Holden highly valued that magical medicine, more than anything else.

“You must have also heard that Dr. Holden had refused to treat Forlevia, right?” he asked.

The crowd again nodded in unison.

“All of the items available for auction today belong to Dr. Holden, and we are only the agent acting on his behalf. As the owner, he has the final say, and he has given specific instructions to ban Levi from the bidding of this magical medicine. As such, please understand that we are not discriminating against Levi, but we do have to abide by our customer’s order.”

Identity Exposed

When Dr. Erebus heard the updates from his sources, he found it incredulous.

How is that possible? How can it be them?

“Huh? Is it Hydron?” Levi frowned in puzzlement and speculated.

Levi had no idea why, but the name just popped up in his mind.

However, Hydron had never confronted Idrae since their establishment.

Levi had killed quite a number of Idrae’s men, yet Hydron called him a coward, and he was mocked for being a sissy for not going all out against Idrae.

Inhumane

It was simply inhumane!

It was unbelievable that they resorted to coming up with the lie about Ten Millenium Snow Lotus.

What infuriated Dr. Erebus most was that he was the one who went about deploying all the resources they requested as per their instructions.

That meant he was conned too, and it was a grave insult to him, for he had always taken pride in his intelligence.

To be conned in such a manner had wounded his pride and ego.

He could never forget the scene where they open the box of Ten Millenium Snow Lotus, only to find a dry twig in it!

The resentment he felt over that incident was comparable to the hatred he had toward Idrae!

The men from Idrae protested to the organizer and those from Hydron joined in to ask for a nullification of the bid from the Waldan man.

The mysterious man also couldn't help but voice his objection. "This doesn't seem to be appropriate, is it? I thought Levi was barred from the bidding. He is running afoul of the regulations, isn't he?"

He wanted to get his hands on the magical medicine and thought that without Levi's involvement, he could get it at a good price.

He was secretly pleased that Levi was barred from the bidding, and thus was greatly annoyed by the sudden appearance of an unexpected competitor.

The auctioneer shouted out at Levi and chided, "What are you doing, Levi? Did we not make it clear that you are not allowed to bid for this? If you insist on interfering in this bid, then we may have to remove the magical medicine from the auction. You will have to face the wrath of all those present!"

No one could agree to that threat of withdrawing the magical medicine from the auction, so everyone turned to put pressure on Levi.

"What proof do you have that I interfered in the bidding? Did I make that bid? He was the one who shouted out the bid!" Levi protested.

"That's right! I was the one who made that offer! It had nothing to do with him!" The man from Waldan concurred.

They had not expected such a crazy move by Levi and were caught off-guard.

They immediately put their heads together and tried to come up with a plan to foil Levi.

After a long while, they finally nodded their head and looked toward Levi with sly smiles on their faces. Obviously, they had come up with a solution!

The atmosphere in the auction hall was tense and the mysterious man was getting a little irrational.

"Come on! Let's get serious! Three hundred and fifty thousand pieces of spiritual energy crystals! I don't believe you can match me for that!" he shouted crazily.

The Waldan man had nothing to fear since Levi had openly given his word in front of everyone that he would give him unconditional support.

Moreover, just a moment ago, Levi had indicated he could go to at least a million pieces of spiritual energy crystals! So he knew he still had plenty of resources to continue.

He confidently raised his hand and said, "Then let me offer four hundred..."

However, before he could finish his sentence, the auctioneer chipped in and said, "Great! Going once, going twice, and sold for three hundred and fifty pieces of spiritual energy crystals!"

With the bang of the gavel, the deal was sealed!

He spoke so quickly and closed the deal so rapidly that no one had a chance to make a counteroffer.

Chapter 3069 Watching Helplessly As Hope Fades

"Hahaha..." Levi couldn't help but laugh out loud at the antics of those opposing him.

He wasn't surprised they would come up with all sorts of despicable moves in order to achieve their goal.

True to their sly nature, they would do anything to stop him from getting his hands on the magical medicine.

They wanted to make him fall into despair as he watch the magical medicine slip from his reach and lose all hope of saving his daughter.

However, Levi was not in distress at all.

He had no intention of bidding for the magical medicine as he had already set his mind on snatching it instead.

Everyone thought he would not resort to stealing as the magical medicine was protected by the heavenly lock, which they assumed he could not break open.

Little did they know he had someone who knew about the heavenly lock and there was a chance he could open it!

That prompted him to decide on the risky move of stealing the magical medicine.

Chapter 3070 Making Up To Levi

The auctioneer’s demand created an uproar among the people present in the auction hall.

He might have worded it nicely, but the fact remained that he was keeping them in temporary captivity.

No one had foreseen that move, and saw no valid reason for it.

However, their disgruntle was short-lived, and they quickly accepted the inconvenience imposed on them. They understood all the restrictions were imposed because of Levi. They wanted to deny him and his compatriots a chance to threaten the buyer and get their hands on the magical medicine.

In order to hold Levi and his men in captivity, they had to hold everyone else back as well.

Much to everyone’s surprise, the auctioneer landed his gaze on Levi and smilingly said to him, “We are apologetic we had to bar Mr. Garrison from the last round of bidding. In order to make up for that, we would allow Mr. Garrison to leave earlier. However, the special exemption is for Mr. Garrison only. All the rest of the people would still have to stay back for a little while longer!”

It was an intentional act to allow Levi to leave without his compatriots. They wanted to frustrate Levi further. They thought that by letting him go, but without his men, he would have to bear with the helplessness of wanting to do something to retrieve the magical medicine but unable to do so as he did not have his fighters with him.

He would not have the power to do anything by himself, and could only watch his daughter’s last hope of a cure disappear together with the buyer. They wanted him to go into deep despair and regret!
