Chapter 3661 Floyd Has Changed Too Much

Just moments ago, Forlevia was able to sense the change in Floyd's mood. It almost feels as though he wanted to devour me... Just then, Bruno broke the silence. "Don't you guys feel that Floyd's cultivation level has been increasing like crazy recently?"

Realization dawned on everyone when they heard his words. Bruno's right! Although he was never Floyd's match, at the very least, he was always able to leave the fight without sustaining any life-threatening injuries. But judging from the fight earlier, Bruno was practically powerless fighting against Floyd.

Phoenix and the others also noticed that when Floyd said he could take them all on at once, the aura he released was terrifying. In fact, they couldn't help but feel that it would be a one-sided fight where Floyd would emerge as the victor.

Floyd's combat prowess is probably at the same level as when Xylas first came to seek trouble at the base. But how exactly did he become so powerful? It's weird that he's able to advance his capabilities by leaps and bounds in such a short period of time.

Phoenix asked, "Evie, how did you feel after exchanging blows with Floyd earlier?"

Forlevia mulled over it for a moment before saying, "Floyd's cultivation level has indeed advanced rapidly, but there's something off about his cultivation technique."

"What's off about it?"

Something is definitely wrong with Floyd. "Moreover, it's likely that Gloria's the one behind Floyd's challenge to Bruno. Tactics like these are common for her, and a lot of men are more than willing to let her use them. This is definitely a dangerous sign. We have to be careful."

Every word Phoenix said was so shocking that it struck the people like a sledgehammer. "What's most important right now is Floyd's power. It's impossible for us to observe him from the shadows anymore," Kirin muttered gloomily.

Phoenix said, "If watching him from the shadows doesn't work, we won't do it from the shadows."
"What if Floyd makes a move again? Who will be able to stop him then?" Black Tortoise uttered.

"Can't you think of a different way?" Phoenix chuckled. "For example, having Zoey keep Floyd in the base by saying that we need an elite to stay there. In fact, we can even have him stay by Zoey's and Evie's side. In that case, the two of them will be able to keep an eye on everything Floyd does. Most importantly, no matter what Floyd wants to do, he won't do anything to Zoey and Evie."

"I think that's a good idea." Forlevia was the first to agree.

After all, not only would they be able to keep an eye on him by doing that, but they could also not alert him to their plan.

Azure Dragon and the others felt the plan was a good one as well.

"I'm just wondering when Boss will be back. Master Thundera and the others will be coming back soon."

“What do you think about how I treat you?” Xylas was initially taken aback by her question, but quickly, he answered, “Master, you’re extremely good to me. Not only did you save my life, but you even taught me techniques.

After establishing the Glorian Order, you even gave me the title of commissioner in the order. I was only able to exact my revenge because of your support, Master. I owe you much, and I am extremely grateful to you.”

Xylas was sincerely thankful to Gloria for what she had done for him. It was all thanks to Gloria that he could do as he pleased on the base and kill the many fighters in the Five Pavilions.

If she had not taught him the devouring technique, he would not have been able to upgrade himself so swiftly in such a short time.

“It is my duty.” Gloria sighed. “However, Master Thundera is about to return with Kenfort’s mighty beings. I don’t feel confident about that.”

Although Gloria did not say it out loud, what she meant was clear—she needed support.

“Be at ease, Master. I’ll try my best to persuade my father to work with you. With the cooperation of two powerful forces, I’m certain that Master Thundera will know not to cross us without any good reason,” Xylas said.

Chapter 3664 The Return Of Thundera

The day that the Ecclesiastic Order members had been waiting for had come. The Minister, Thundera, had finally returned with several mighty beings from Kenfort.

Everyone in the Ecclesiastic Order came out to greet them, and it was a grand sight to behold. Thundera was dressed in a long grey robe and a pair of black boots.

Although his hair and beard were white, his skin was exceptionally smooth. In fact, it was as smooth as a baby's bottom. Furthermore, it was as if icy stars had been trapped in his eyes, as there was a cold glint in them that made others dare not look him in the eye.

On Thundera's back was an ancient sword, and his entire appearance made him seem like a deity.

"This way, please."

Thundera politely gestured them toward the inside.

The Ecclesiastic Order members turned and saw that there were a total of seven who had come with Thundera.

The leading person was a young man in his early twenties.

It would not be an exaggeration to say that he was a dashing young fellow.

However, his clothing style was ancient and lavish; it was as if he was a prince who had traveled forward in time.

Upon finding out that Thundera was going to impart his knowledge about Kenfort to them, the members of the Ecclesiastic Order cheered. Like students preparing for their classes, they all kept their focus on Thundera, waiting for him to teach them new knowledge.

"The people in Kenfort, even those who never cultivated before, will reach the level I was in back when I first started off on my journey the moment they're born," Thundera started.

His opening speech struck the people like a bolt from the blue. Instantly, the crowd went wild. "As expected of the holy land of cultivation!"

"These people are born at the same level as Master Thundera was back then! This is insane!"

"Is this what they mean by winning from the start?"

Thundera waved his hands, and the people slowly fell silent. However, they could not keep their admiration for Kenfort away from their faces.

Thundera wasn't exaggerating. Based on his understanding, divine ley lines and holy ley lines held terrifying power. Once their spiritual energy was unleashed, an ordinary human being would not be able to bear its load.

Even though the explosive rush of spiritual energy would allow talented warriors an opportunity to drastically increase their skills, most people in the mundane world were just ordinary humans.

The constitution of their body wasn't geared to accept the pure rush of spiritual energy. Even the energy brimming from the borders of a divine ley line was sufficient to kill someone instantly.

As a result, there was no way a divine ley line would appear in the mundane world, let alone a holy ley line.

"There are also other rare spiritual ley lines that possess special characteristics," Thundera continued to elaborate about Kenfort. "The remedial ley line, for example, can nourish one's body and nurture magical herbs at the same time. Also, there are spiritual ley lines that are based on the elements. Fire-based spiritual ley lines can be used to nourish and forge weapons. As for the other elemental spiritual ley lines, they are so beneficial to the warriors who cultivate the corresponding elements that it feels like cheating. For example, a swordsman like me can use a metal-based spiritual ley line to nourish my sword and accelerate my cultivation."

The crowd suddenly realized that there were all kinds of different spiritual ley lines.

Kenfort is truly amazing.

Chapter 3667 Those Who Are Eligible To Enter Kenfort

As the explosive force overwhelmingly covered the members of the Ecclesiastic Order, the weaker ones were sent flying by the whirlwind of energy that had formed.

Even those who could still stand their ground felt the blood within them rage. To them, it was as if bearing the weight of an invisible mountain on their shoulders to the point of not being able to breathe properly.

Thud! Thud! Thud! One by one, the crowd fell helplessly onto their knees. Even Thundera was not spared in the end.

Blown away by Hansel's terrifying power, the crowd instinctively worshipped him as if he was an angel who descended from heaven.

Watching the scene before him, Hansel curled his lips in satisfaction, for he enjoyed the feeling of being revered.

"Master Hansel, please dial down the release of your power. I'm afraid many may not survive if this continues," Thundera pleaded, his voice trembling.

"That's true. Ordinary humans are no different from insects. There's no way they can bear the weight of the divine," Hansel sneered.

With that, the powerful force instantly disappeared as he retracted his aura.

Thundera was outraged. How dare a monkey like him lord it over the Ecclesiastic Order? He deserves to die for his actions!

"For acting with impunity, Levi will be punished with death. Everyone, all you need to do is to take orders from me now."

Thundera's voice, which sounded like the toll of a heavy bell, brought an inexplicable sense of reassurance to the crowd.

"I agree with you. Since you're a branch master of the Bluesky Sect, I will not stand idly by when the sect you have founded is being humiliated by someone else," Hansel said flatly.

"Master Hansel is right. You should go ahead and do what you need. I have your back in this," Jasper Xanadu, the head elder, added.

"Thank you, Master Hansel and Mr. Xanadu for standing up for me," Thundera said with utmost sincerity.

Now that both Hansel and Jasper had made their stand clear, Thundera was filled with courage.

After all, their words represented the Bluesky Sect's stance.

With the support of a sect from Kenfort, Thundera had no doubt that victory was secured.

Chapter 3669 The Return Of Wade

Even though her reaction was pessimistic, it wasn't unfounded at all. Previously, she wasn't aware of the true extent of how powerful warriors from Kenfort were, but now, plenty had seen it with their own eyes.

Based on her spy's report, Hansel had reached a state where she wasn't confident that she could beat him. On top of that, there's still Mr. Xanadu and the five Paladins from the Bluesky Sect.

"If only I have a holy ley line as an energy source, I will definitely be able to establish a foothold in Kenfort."

Gloria was obsessed with the super-spiritual ley lines that were described by Thundera.

"Xylas, take all the Fatalis Warriors and monitor the Ecclesiastic Order's movements. Report to me once they are about to attack the Glorian Order. Also, gather all the forces from our vassals. If a battle cannot be avoided, I will simply overwhelm them with our numbers. That aside, when is your father returning? I would like to meet him when he does," Gloria said in a deep voice.

Xylas agreed, "Don't worry, Master. Once I have news of Father, I'll let you know at once."

"Very well. You may go back to work," Gloria dismissed Xylas.

Upon leaving the altar, Xylas went off to execute Gloria's orders.

He had barely put in place the spies within the Ecclesiastic Order when he suddenly received news from Wade.

Delighted by it, he followed his instructions and headed to the agreed meeting point.

In the end, Xylas chose to speak candidly. Even though denying it wasn't difficult, it might end up backfiring on him.

Also, he was cognizant that admitting his mistake was the best way to win the respect of others.

"It's fine."

Grant was not the least bit offended. In fact, there was even a glint of approval in his eye.

At the same time, Wade was proud of his son's ability to observe and resolve the situation accordingly.

"Now, you can tell me how our two clans got wiped out."

Wade's voice took a grim turn.

Xylas related the entire episode—without leaving out a single detail—to him.

"Father, it was all the Ecclesiastic Order and Levi's fault. You must exact revenge on behalf of Mother and everyone who was brutally slaughtered!"
