God Of War Pinnacle

Chapter 3751 The Mystery Of Kenfort Levi walked for around thirty meters before he felt that same force. This time around, it was many times stronger than the one he felt when he came in. Are they trying to make it difficult for people to leave?

Levi released his powers to fight against the force. True enough, he had to expend much more strength before he could escape the shield. Boom!

The rumbling of the energy could be heard within the vacuum. After breaking through the powerful shield, Levi could feel his body relaxing.

Swoosh! Finally, Levi managed to escape. Once again, he was surrounded by the desert again. "That was incredible!" Levi exclaimed. At the same time, he reached a certain hypothesis.

If fighters from the mundane world wanted to enter Kenfort, they would have to get through the barrier. However, once they entered, they would not be able to exit immediately.

In order to go in and out of Kenfort freely, their cultivation level would have to surpass that of the barrier's force. Obviously, that would explain why it had taken Thundera and Wade so many years before they could return to the mundane world.

Back then, both of them must have attained the bare minimum level to enter the Celestial Gate, but it was impossible for them to come out immediately.

It was after several years of cultivation that they met the required strength to exit. After all, one would require more strength to exit than to enter.

In response to Xylas' question, Santino explained, "The Crystal Pill is also made by Quatrino and is capable of neutralizing all poisons created by him. Obviously, I'm talking about residual poisons. If the poison was injected into the body some other way, the most the Crystal Pill can do is delay death."

"I see!" Xylas gulped. These Emphyreans of the Void Sect are really amazing. For example, Santino practices Stoneheart Swordsmanship, where he has to sever all romantic ties, just like the palace eunuchs in ancient times. As for Duontino, he loves dabbling in magic spells and is buried in his books all day. Quatrino, on the other hand, specializes in poison and poison techniques.

Moreover, he has no qualms about poisoning those on the same side as him. As for Pentino and Sextino, both of them have a passion for forging weapons. In fact, more than half the weapons within the Void Sect were created by them. It's just that one is deaf, while the other is mute—earning the eccentric pair the moniker "Senseless Duo."

On top of forging weapons, both of them are capable of nourishing weapons too. In fact, they are responsible for nourishing all of the Void Sect's weapons with the energy from the holy ley line—which significantly elevates the weapons' power and swiftly restores them to battle-ready condition.

As for Heptino, although he is still young, he is the most talented of them all. Rumor has it that he is within the top three most powerful among the seven and is close to becoming the strongest of them all. During battles, he is capable of merging with spiritual ley lines to increase his power exponentially.

"Don't worry, Santino. I'm aware of the risks." Instead of feeling any hesitation, Gloria was looking forward to meeting Primo.

He loves women? The Hedonistic Sword Technique? That makes him my perfect target. Without a doubt, my Charm Technique can finally be of use.

Holding that thought, she subconsciously curled her lips into a slight smile. The excited Gloria then followed Santino to where Primo lived.

After an hour's walk, both of them arrived at a bamboo forest. Within it was a building made out of purple-colored bamboo. Due to the nourishment of the rich spiritual energy in the area, the bamboos growing in the forest were so thick that one could wrap one's arms around them and barely touch one's fingers.

"Primo is inside there. No matter what, be mindful of your words regardless of what you hear," Santino reminded sternly.

The few of them responded in unison, "Understood!"

At that moment, everyone began to feel nervous.

Gloria, in particular, couldn't hold back her excitement to meet the future sect leader of the Void Sect.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

When Santino knocked on the bamboo door, a crisp metallic sound was heard. Evidently, the door had been specially reinforced.

"Is that you, Santino? Come in quickly. I heard that you were injured."

"Primo, Santino is Lord Earkenhait's favorite disciple, so why isn't he seeking revenge for the former?" Gloria probed.

After spending a few days together, Gloria and Primo's relationship improved by leaps and bounds. Except for the final stage, they had done every intimate act possible.

Consequently, Gloria—no longer as cautious as before—behaved in an increasingly relaxed manner in front of Primo.

Instead of being annoyed, Primo enjoyed the way both of them interacted. Thus, he was in no hurry to pressure Gloria into giving herself to him.

"Gloria, you might not know this, but if Lord Earkenhait personally battles a cultivator from the mundane world, it would be seen as a disgrace. On the other hand, if no one deals with Levi, he, too, would be utterly humiliated," Primo explained in a deep voice.

Gloria declared audaciously, "Once I become strong enough, I'm willing to resolve Lord Earkenhait's dilemma."

"Gloria, I'll convey your intentions to Lord Earkenhait then."

After patting her on the shoulder, Primo conveniently wrapped his hand around her waist.

Chapter 3755 Gloria Offers Up God Crusher

However, I can't deny that there's one other possibility—God Crusher wasn't forged by Levi. Instead, he stumbled upon it by coincidence and tried to cover the matter up by claiming to have forged it himself so that he could avoid others from coveting it.

Despite his lies, all the council members of the Ecclesiastic Order agreed that the sword was considered to be an ultimate weapon. I'm afraid that's the most likely explanation. Levi probably knows that a person's treasures will arouse the envy of others. Hence, this conclusion is the most logical.

"Primo, if the material isn't of the finest grade, does it mean that the sword isn't considered perfect?" Gloria probed further. Having placed all her hope in God Crusher, Gloria felt extremely nervous.

After all, it was supposed to be her ticket into the Void Sect. If this fails, everything I have done would be all for naught.

Consequently, an indescribable sense of nervousness descended upon her, for the answer could deal a devastating blow to her plan.

"It doesn't work like that."

Waving his hand, Primo explained, "Exceptional forging technique can make up for the inferior materials. After nourishing the sword with spiritual energy, it will definitely become an ultimate weapon. Gloria, you have done well. I'll take this weapon to Lord Earkenhait so that he can validate it with his own eyes."

Consequently, Gloria was delighted by Primo's words.

“We can appropriately shorten Santino’s solitary training duration as well. Is there anyone who opposes this?” Geraint asked in a low voice.

The rest chorused, “All hail the wise Lord Earkenhait!”

As Gloria had established good relationships with the others, the seven Emphyreans had nothing but good words to say about Gloria. Furthermore, Gloria had an ambiguously romantic relationship with Primo.

Even without the God Crusher, no one would say a thing about Gloria becoming a nethermost elder.

“I shall be the one to safe keep God Crusher for now, and I’ll be going to the holy ley line to nourish it. Dismissed.”

It was as if Geraint had received the greatest treasure he had ever laid eyes on. He was certain that the revival of Void Sect would be in no time.

Primo was delighted as well, and Gloria had become an elder and part of the council members as she wanted to.

Primo could also show off how cool he was.

Primo returned to the house, he spotted Gloria pacing in the

"I want the forging technique that Levi has as well. By then, sects like Void Sect will be mine to manipulate!" Once she made up her mind, Gloria devoured with renewed intensity.

On the other side, ever since Levi stopped Floyd's suicide, something had changed in his demeanor. He had also made a promise to Levi and the others.

"What happened before was my fault, but I can't die now. I must kill Gloria myself to take revenge. Once I end her life, I'll end mine too. It'll be to fix the mistakes I've made all this while," Floyd uttered in determination.

The people tried to persuade him otherwise, but Floyd had already made up his mind. There was nothing they could do to change his mind, so they could only heed his words.

The truth was that Floyd actually had other plans as well—he was going to interrogate Gloria.

She was already mine, but why did she treat me this way still? If not for love, how could she have given her entire being to me? After I get the answer to all these questions, I'll kill Gloria myself. Once my revenge is exacted, I'll kill myself.

Hence, Floyd began cultivating in a maniacal manner.

fact, Levi even brought him to the divine ley line to metamorphose.

He found it strange how no energy fluctuations appeared within the vicinity. It was as though that surge of energy was naturally occurring. "Trying to stop me, eh?"

Mustering up his basic technique, Levi unleashed terrifying energy to counter it. Only then was he able to continue his advancement.

Hum! A mysterious sound suddenly reverberated around. It was as though he had suddenly arrived at an exclusive space that he should not have intruded upon.

Levi, too, felt that in his body. Although there were no discernible changes in his surroundings, the flow of time there seemed to have somewhat slowed down. "What's going on here?"

Confounded inside, Levi tried dashing. Sure enough, he found himself to be moving much slower than usual. "Something is definitely off about this area."

Levi embarked on a search for any type of entrance similar to the bronze gates, but ultimately, nothing came of it. Although he was not able to locate a corresponding entranceway, that area increasingly reminded him of the legendary realm of Kenfort.

"Bluesky Sect's strength would surely be bolstered tremendously if we could convince someone like him to join us." "Agreed, but I'm afraid that line of thinking isn't very realistic."

"I'm more interested in those secrets that Levi possesses. It's been said that the swords he forged are held in high regard by the Void Sect itself." "That's right. Even their fifth and sixth Empyrean is in awe of his forging technique."

The other elders of Bluesky Sect engaged each other in a lively discussion before Zerach raised a hand to call for silence. "Levi and the others must be dabbling with some form of advanced technique to be able to elevate their prowess within such a short time the way they did. Bluesky Sect would be able to become exponentially stronger should we be able to gain knowledge of it.

Coupled with that supreme forging technique, who is to say that we won't be able to attain greater heights than ever before? Hence, I think it might be best for us to capture Levi's family members and use the lives of his wife and daughter to threaten him into surrendering his skills and forging technique. What do all of you think?"

Zerach's words received widespread support, but there was a minority who expressed the need to exercise caution so as to avoid inviting calamity onto themselves. "Your proposal is a fine one, Father, but I fear that Bluesky Sect might not be strong enough to pull this off!"

Hansel's words spoke to his contemporaries' gravest concern. That drew a laugh from Zerach. "For us to attempt this alone would surely prove challenging, but what if we were to seek collaboration with a few other sects?"

that which was not. By making the value of what Levi possessed public knowledge, how could the other seek to enter an alliance with other sects that are comparable to ourselves in strength. That way, we a boisterous guffaw. "Great minds do think

"What do you guys think?" Zerach asked. Gunther Stanfield, leader of the Order of the Witching Star, spoke up. "I think it's doable. Even though Santino was defeated, I am a lot stronger than him. I have no doubt we will capture Levi alive with everyone's help."

Thaddeus Stroud, leader of the Order of the Sacred Saber, chimed in, "You're right, Gunther. I am very much interested in Levi's forging technique."

"That's right. We, the Ironfist Clan, focus mainly on body refinement. Who would have thought that Levi is a pure physical cultivator? His technique must be out of this world," Akain Krebs, leader of the Ironfist Clan, said as greed brimmed in his eyes.

Locklen Ocasio, leader of the Aether Sword Clan, didn't even try to put on a facade as he spoke with a smile. "I will lead the elites into battle as long as we're sharing our resources."

"Don't worry, everyone. It has never crossed my mind to take everything for myself. Otherwise, I wouldn't have disclosed Levi's value. Since everyone is in agreement, we will meet again in five days with our armies and march into the mundane world!" said Zerach.

"Deal!"

The four sect leaders clinked glasses before toasting each other, sealing the deal to form an alliance against Levi.

Meanwhile, at Levi's base, the five thousand sets of battle suits made by Digital God were delivered to the base as planned.

Levi distributed the battle suits to five thousand elites he had handpicked. Thus, a strong army equipped with elite combat gear was born.
