Chapter 3961 Knowing When To Pick A Fight

Levi forged many ultimate weapons in the core area of Dragon's Grave Valley within a month, but the most outstanding ones were ten premium ultimate weapons.

The best ultimate weapons required optimal conditions. In retrospect, the other forty ultimate weapons paled in comparison.

Of course, no matter how meticulous the blacksmith was, they couldn't guarantee every ultimate weapon that was forged would meet the standards.

Forging ultimate weapons under such circumstances would consume various natural forces continuously. Therefore, the resources and forces would slowly deplete.

However, these premium ultimate weapons were no different and belonged to the first tier of ultimate weapons.

Besides, there were a plethora of other ultimate weapons.

"It fits you perfectly!" Levi commented, stroking his chin. Thunder Qilin twirled around and hopped with its eyes closed, seemingly pleased with the new suit.

He howled in enthusiasm and delight as if asking everyone, "Do I look cool? Do I look bad*ss?" The corners of mouth twitched as he thought to himself that Qilin had a smug side.

"It's time for us to leave," he said in a low voice. The premium ultimate weapons, ultimate weapons, and Boots of Hermes had all been completed. It could be said that he outperformed all expectations.

Larissa and Cheriette were similarly ecstatic. They could finally show off after being bored out of their minds after so long.

Furthermore, they felt all the pent-up fear and worries they had accumulated over time were abruptly unleashed, like the bursting of a dam.

"Master, I've had the pleasure of flying a cloudship before, and while I'm not particularly skilled, I can familiarize myself given some time," Larissa proposed.

"Remain calm, everyone. If the people of Cordierite Association refuse to abide by the rules, we'll fight them!" announced Sylvan solemnly.

Although Cordierite Association was overall more powerful than Prime Association, this was still Prime Association's turf. There was no way they would keep succumbing to their opponents.

Clang! Clang! Clang! The fighters of Prime Association unsheathed their swords as if ready to confront a formidable enemy.

They knew very well that if Cordierite Association had truly discovered premier magical herbs, they would assume that the Prime Association was there to compete with them.

It was almost inevitable that a huge battle would break out between both of them. Cordierite Association was renowned for its superior fighting skills. If they fought, it was unpredictable what the outcome would be.

A deafening silence enveloped the space, with not a single person daring to breathe loudly.

Everyone was stunned once again. They could clearly sense how powerful Thunder Qilin was. In fact, it was probably stronger than the leader of a prominent faction.

However, such a ferocious beast obeyed Levi's instructions so docilely. Furthermore, Thunder Qilin's eyes obviously revealed a look of fear. It was easy to imagine how harshly Levi had bullied it.

Even Sylvan was similarly surprised. However, as he recalled how Levi was powerful enough to eliminate the strong team from Cordierite Association, his doubts were instantly resolved.

"Mr. Garrison, are you willing to collaborate with Prime Association?" asked Sylvan earnestly. Smiling, Levi threw a question back at him. "How do you plan on collaborating with me?"

"I'd like to invite you to become the principal blacksmith of Prime Association." Sylvan revealed his aim directly.

Not refusing Sylvan's kind gesture, Levi kept Prime Association's highest-level badge directly.

“Go back first, Mr. Webber. Otherwise, news about this might spread, causing Cordierite Association to seek trouble with you,” prompted Levi in a deep voice.

A serious expression immediately crossed Sylvan’s face. He understood what Levi meant. Since so many fighters from Cordierite Association had been killed, they would not let it go so easily.

Prime Association would inevitably be dragged into this matter if Cordierite Association discovered its relationship with Levi. By then, it would be impossible for them to deny it.

“Thanks for your reminder, Mr. Garrison. We’ll leave first.”

After a short pause, Sylvan quickly added, “If you need anything, feel free to contact me with the badge. Even if it’s Cordierite Association, Prime Association will still go up against them whenever logical. After all, it’s our turf.”

After some thought, Levi uttered, “Let’s go to Astre Lune Sect first.” With the sect in his control, Levi planned to use it as the foundation to develop his sectarian forces and gain a firm foothold in Kenfort as soon as possible.

The reason he did not turn down Prime Association was so that he could make an ally of them. After all, Levi knew he could not always defend the sect and not leave.

“Sir, you probably don’t know what happened to Astre Lune Sect, do you?” inquired the leader of the bounty hunters in a shaking voice.

“What do you mean?” questioned Cheriette immediately. Since she grew up in Astre Lune Sect, Cheriette was more sentimental about it than anyone else.

“Eclipse found out that the thug, who murdered countless Paladins, had a close relationship with Astre Lune Sect, so they sent the new Empyrean...” The leader of the bounty hunters stopped mid-sentence because he suddenly realized how much Levi seemed to fit the characteristics of the thug he mentioned. No matter which Astre Lune Sect branch, buildings were reduced to ruins, corpses were found everywhere, and blood flowed into rivers.

As an Empyrean, Gloria led numerous fighters from Eclipse to invade their target and maintained battling in the front line to solidify her position.

Eclipse already had an absolute advantage in terms of power, so the fact that Gloria personally led the assault only further increased her army’s morale.

In just one day, Eclipse managed to take down more than ten branches with overwhelming strength.

Even though the members of Astre Lune Sect tried their best to defend themselves, they were ultimately outmatched by their enemies. The countless deaths in such a short time were enough to dishearten the entire sect.

It's we're not the ones who killed those at Eclipse Academy. Like them, of Eclipse will listen to you? If we're ready for a truce, Eclipse might not be. The new members of Astre Lune Sect fell into despair, and the hall was dead to bet on when one was more than spirited already reached the Gloria sneered, "They are a bunch of thick-headed bozos. Everyone, join me to tear down Astre Lune Sect!" "Affirmative," all the fighters of Eclipse responded in unison.

Gloria fought at the head of the troops. Her brave feat had won her the respect of all the council members and disciples of Eclipse.

"Wipe them out!" With Gloria's order, the army of Eclipse yelled their battle cry and attacked the main helm gate of Astre Lune Sect.

The voice boomed through the battlefield like deafening thunder, causing a dizzying effect on anyone on the scene. All of the Eclipses' disciples who were charging forward stopped suddenly and looked in the direction of the sound.

Swoosh! There was a glaring incandescent light that blinded most temporarily. "Retreat! That's sword energy!" the elder of Eclipse warned.

The blazing sword energy was already close at hand before he even finished his words. Many fighters were caught off-guard and failed to dodge the attack.

Swoosh! Everyone lost their senses temporarily at the overbearing pressure of the terrifying electric arc.

Crack! Crack! The electric arc flashed, and in an instant, more than a dozen fighters of Eclipse were burned into ashes. Immediately afterward, the ashes were blown away by the undertow of the violent sword energy and dissipated in the air.

"Ahhhh!" Agonizing screams echoed throughout the area. Obviously, the ensuing sword energy was far more lethal than the arc.

"You're unworthy to know my identity. I suggest that you leave before I change my mind. If not, you better not blame me for being ruthless."

The cold voice rang out again, making Gloria feel as if she had fallen into an ice ditch. Despite not knowing why the other person had spared her life, Gloria knew that the very fact that she had survived was a miracle.

She did not consider herself the opponent of this person, who was as powerful as a deity. She could not help but ask, "Are you really letting me go?"

There was no reply. Gloria, however, left as planned, wasting no more time. In the blink of an eye, she unleashed her technique and vanished.

After a moment of deathly silence, everyone present went wild. "Has Lord Garrison returned?"

"It really is Le... Lord Garrison." "I can't believe Lord Garrison had managed to become so strong in only such a short period!" "We're saved, aren't we?"
