Chapter 3971 Everyone Is Shocked

Three days after Astre Lune Sect's rescue, the news about the robber coming back alive became the talk of the town, causing havoc in the forces between each sect.

There was an uproar at the meeting hall of Wind Blade Sect. "How could it be that the robber is still alive? Lord Slabey declared the robber's death, didn't he?"

"It's incredulous that even the terrifying Heavenly Thunder was unable to make a mark on him!" "We did join Eclipse to Dragon's Grave Valley to kill the robber. Would we still be spared if he were to find out that we were a part of it?"

"I suggest we give up on the sect and momentarily avoid the limelight!" The words spoken were laced with terror as everyone in the meeting hall was on edge.

Chapter 3972 The Fury Of Cordierite Association

In Cordierite Association in Willowbank, Albert had a bad premonition. The feeling was getting more intense. They had already waited for close to two months, but Gavin and the rest had yet to return.

It had been five to six days since they last heard from them, and the thought filled Albert with great unease. Albert had sent many messages, but they remained unanswered.

“Form a group of ten to go to Dragon’s Grave Valley to investigate.” Albert finally gave a command to investigate the matter. The person who led the team was an elder who assisted Cordierite Association.

Although the combat prowess of the team was not as strong as that of Gavin’s group, they were still relatively strong.

Gavin and sixteen other elites had been killed. Such an incident had been previously unheard of in Cordierite Association.

Albert was furious. Not only did he deploy elites from Cordierite Association and subordinate states to investigate the incident, but he also offered a bounty for the murderer’s capture in Kenfort.

As a result, many clans were eager to catch the murderer. “Have you heard? Cordierite Association has offered magical herbs and ultimate weapons as rewards for finding Thunder Cloudship and the whereabouts of the murderer.”

“Divine Bones, Almighty Ruby Swords, Phoenix Flowers... The reward is worth a lot of money!” “Don’t be so excited. Since Cordierite Association has offered such a handsome reward, the murderer must be hard to deal with.”

“Of course. I heard that everyone in the team that was killed had extremely high cultivation levels.” “A team with such an awesome combat prowess had been exterminated... The murderer sounds very frightening. As expected, these magical herbs and weapons cannot be obtained easily.”

Even after reporting the situation to Prime Association, the chairman did not give him a clear response. Instead, the chairman told him that he needed to discuss the matter with the council members of Prime Association.

After all, Cordierite Association was powerful. A slight misstep would spell an unsalvageable doom for Prime Association.

Even if Prime Association managed to get out of the situation alive, they would have to pay a hefty price for their mistake.

Of course, it was also difficult to gauge Levi's worth. His personal combat prowess and top forging technique could bring Prime Association to a whole new level.

Therefore, they needed to weigh the pros and cons before making the final decision.

Sylvan expressed his understanding of that answer, for the decision would affect the survivability of Prime Association.

Chapter 3975 Her Scheme

Gloria found out that Void Sect's sect leader came from a massive organization. It was a force that sects like Eclipse could not compare to.

If she were to drag Void Sect's sect leader into the fight, perhaps they would be able to resolve their current crisis. Once she made up her mind, Gloria began executing her plan.

First of all, she had Wade and Xylas get their own men out of Void Sect by sending them out on missions. Then, Gloria disguised herself according to the robber in her memory before heading toward Void Sect's headquarters.

The night was dark as the clouds had hidden away the moon. With a sword in her hand, Gloria sneaked into Void Sect.

She was far too familiar with where the guards were in Void Sect. Furthermore, before Wade and the others left, they had deliberately made loopholes for Gloria to exploit.

Thus, there was no way anyone was going to notice Gloria. Usually, Gloria would not be able to sneak into Void Sect's core area unnoticed, for Geraint and Primo would certainly sense her.

It's funny that you're still hanging on when you're scared out of your wits by that robber. Gloria sneered in her heart as she took in the expressions of the Void Sect fighters.

Gloria said in a deep voice, "You're stating the obvious. Aren't you talking about how to deal with me just now? I heard Void Sect was the most active at that time when many sects joined Eclipse to kill me in Dragon's Grave Valley. Now that I'm here, why aren't you showing your loyalty to Eclipse?"

The expressions of the council members of Void Sect darkened. The sarcasm in the robber's words was as clear as day. How could they miss it?

The robber was trying to get his revenge and make them an example for others to see.

Last time, Void Sect was the most proactive out of the many during the raid in Dragon's Grave Valley to get on Eclipse's good books.

Especially Geraint, who went out of his way to be at their beck and call. He would have never thought this would come back and haunt him. Geraint regretted his decision dearly.

"Eclipse forced us! We're victims too. You should go after Eclipse, not us!" Santino protested, his voice trembling.

Alarm bells rang in his head, and Geraint used everything he had to dive to the side. Then, the sword energy whizzed past the area he was in, and Geraint watched on with fear.

Consequently, the Void Sect elder next to him failed to dodge that and was killed, split in half by the sword energy without a single sound. That old geezer is really good at running.

At the failed attack, Gloria cursed inwardly. She kept chasing them until they reached the restricted area of Void Sect.

It was a dense forest littered with strangely shaped rocks. Therefore, Geraint and the rest had no choice but to slow down in the rough terrain.

Geraint and the others were instantly bewildered. Even though the ordinary-looking face didn't look familiar, they could recognize the voice. More importantly, the woman had admitted that she was Gloria.

The three of them, utterly confused, couldn't figure out why Gloria would disguise herself as the robber to massacre the council members of Void Sect. "Gloria... Why are you doing this?" Primo questioned in a hoarse voice, his mind brimming with questions.

Gloria let out a sigh and explained in resignation, "That's because this is the only way I can think of to use your deaths to deal with the robber."

"Using our deaths to deal with the robber?" Geraint and his companions dwelled upon her answer, and the meaning behind her words quickly came to them.

"Gloria, is there no room for negotiation? Don't forget that I've always treated you well during your time in Void Sect. Even your entry into Eclipse was made possible by me. As long as you let me go, I'll definitely do whatever you say."

Geraint was stricken by panic, as he could clearly feel the murderous intent Gloria exuded. Seeing that Primo's and Santino's lives were not spared, Geraint lost any desire he had to preserve his dignity when it came to begging for his life.

Gloria smiled and replied, "Lord Earkenhait, the way you treated me is precisely the reason I've allowed you to live such a long time."

Although Geraint was overwhelmed by despair, his desire to survive had him concentrate on all the aura within his body before he thrust his sword abruptly at Gloria.

Unfortunately, with Gloria one step ahead of him, Geraint's outstretched hand came to a sudden stop in mid-air.

The next moment, a bloody cut appeared on his neck before his corpse collapsed heavily onto the ground.

Gloria didn't linger when the deed was done. Turning around, she rushed toward the headquarters of Void Sect.

Since she had decided to use the leader of Void Sect and the powerful faction behind him to deal with the robber, it was necessary to create drastic conditions to force their hand. Just killing the core council members wasn't enough.

At the restricted area of Void Sect, Heptino was scanning the surroundings warily. It wasn't until he was certain that the robber was nowhere in sight that he heaved a sigh of relief.

Nonetheless, he didn't show himself and continued to hide in the bushes. His concerns were finally eased when he found no suspicious auras after probing outside.

After all, the power of the robber he had previously encountered had exceeded his wildest imagination.
“I wonder how Lord Earkenhait and the others are doing.”

The anxious Heptino went back the way he came from. Before long, he noticed a figure lying on the ground from afar. Gripped by a sense of dread, he rushed forward, only to be greeted by Santino's corpse.

As he raised his head to look around, he discovered another headless corpse somewhere in the southeast. No sooner had he taken two steps toward it than something tripped his leg.

He looked down and was greeted by the terrifying sight of Primo's head, causing him to recoil in horror.
“Primo!” Heptino exclaimed.
