Chapter 4021 Skull Mire

When Sylvan met up with Levi at Immortal Manor, he could sense the latter's anger. "Don't be angry, Mr. Garrison. I know you're capable of fighting the Cordierite Association, but there's no point crying over spilled milk since the negotiation has ended," advised Sylvan patiently.

Then, he gave Levi a detailed update on the negotiation process. Finally, Levi understood what the Prime Association had done. They had paid a heavy price to resolve the issue.

The nine-star ley line used was equivalent to the dragon ley line. Rumor had it that it was more powerful than any spiritual ley lines and could absorb special strength from the stars in the sky.

Since the Prime Association had made a huge sacrifice, Levi thought it was best not to step on their toes. After all, they had done that for the sake of protecting him.

"I am not an unreasonable person. I will not let the Prime Association suffer a loss for no apparent reason. I shall return the favor by gifting you five sets of ultimate weapons. Henceforth, we're partners. However, I must forewarn you not to cross the line and play any dirty tricks," reminded Levi in a stern voice.

Delighted, Sylvan nodded eagerly. He knew well the grade and quality of the ultimate weapons mentioned by Levi.

Meanwhile, Levi remained at the Prime Association in Lightspring. He wanted to discuss the details of their collaboration and formalize the matter.

Out of respect to Levi, the chairman of the headquarters of the Prime Association sent his one and only daughter, Wilma Myers, to speak to Levi personally.

“Please excuse my father for not coming to see you in person, Mr. Garrison. His special identity is a double-edged sword. Any slightest action from him will attract unwanted attention, and it may also cause you unnecessary trouble,” explained Wilma.

Levi waved his hand and said, “It doesn’t matter. It’s the same going over the matter with you.” “Thank you for your understanding, Mr. Garrison,” Wilma replied in a soft voice.

Then, she smugly introduced the Prime Association in detail. Levi learned that the headquarters of the Prime Association was located in a big city, right at the heart of the northern region.

Kenfort was divided into five regions—East, West, South, North, and Central. With Lightspring situated along the borders of the northern region, it was comparatively less bustling.

Even though the North was a large region, the Central was the busiest and the most well-developed area.

Kenfort often regarded the Central as Central State. It was where Wilma and her people were displeased. In their midst, there were peeps who were knowledgeable about forging weapons. Those people had tagged along to check out Levi's skills for themselves in order to judge him accordingly.

Needless to say, Levi knew exactly what they had in mind. However, he did not say a word. He wanted to let the truth speak for itself and then prove them wrong.

Instead of getting help from the Thunder Qilin to release Earthfire and Heavenly Thunder, he simply looked for a place to begin forging a weapon using the given materials.

As time ticked away, the raw materials gradually formed into a sharp blade. The members of the Prime Association were totally blown away by his forging technique.

Stupefied, the blacksmith sent by the association kept exclaiming how profound Levi's skills were. Ms. Myers, this man has perfected his forging technique. I'm no match for him. A blacksmith spoke telepathically.

Wilma was shocked. Obviously, Levi is really something else. Otherwise, the egoistic blacksmith wouldn't have given him such a high commendation.

"This man is a rare gem. Maintaining a casual collaboration with him is too risky. The Prime Association must recruit him at all costs and make him one of us."

In the following days, Levi continued creating pills. He had been captivated by the wonders of alchemy. More importantly, the various pills crafted were excellent in their functions. Although Levi did not need them, people around him found the pills useful.

They were effective in gaining strength, treating internal injuries, boosting capabilities, and very helpful in other special areas. As long as the ingredients were complete, Levi could craft the pills by following the contents recorded in the ancient manual.

Unbeknownst to him, Wilma and the other members were infuriated by his umpteen rejections. "Levi is so full of himself. How dare he turn Ms. Myers down again and again!"

"It's his honor to be made the Vice Chairman, but he refused the generous offer. He must have a death wish." "We must teach him a lesson. Otherwise, he might think he's indispensable to the Prime Association."

The crowd was outraged, and Wilma, too, went ballistic. At the same time, she was secretly making plans to give Levi a taste of his own medicine.

Three days later, Levi went to Lightspring to catch a breather after being so engrossed in alchemy.

Luckily, the reward was plentiful.

Right then, he sensed a deep, murderous intent brewing near him.

"No matter how much the trees long for peace, the wind will never cease."

Levi's lips curled. Although he could not confirm the opponents' background, he was quite certain that they were most likely from the Cordierite Association.

A few more silhouettes slipped into the courtyard after Levi entered the ruined building hall. They were none other than Wilma and the others, who were relentlessly looking for an opportunity to teach Levi a lesson.

They had secretly followed Levi when they saw him heading toward the main street of Lightspring after he was done crafting pills. Unexpectedly, they lost him halfway through.

Wilma and the others managed to locate that place only because they felt a weak energy fluctuation from the ruined building area a short while ago.

Upon seeing the corpses scattered across the courtyard floor, they fell into deep thought. The energy fluctuation earlier wasn't particularly strong, and they could only barely detect it after using a special perceptual technique.

"Ms. Myers, hurry and check this out. From their outfits, these people should be assassins from Skull Mire!"

"They are the cream of the crop in their field and have never failed to accomplish their missions all these years, yet they were wiped out now?"

After a lengthy discussion between Levi and Sylvan, Wilma asked Sylvan to go to her room and give him an account of what had happened at Lightspring that day.

He immediately frowned and said, "The Cordierite Association is most likely behind this since they are the only one capable of hiring the assassins from Skull Mire. These people are too despicable. It seems that the Cordierite Association won't give up easily. I'm afraid they will continue to inflict these tricks on us in the future. It'll be difficult to defend ourselves since they hide in the dark while we're easy targets out in the open."

Wilma nodded. "Not to mention Levi is equipped with top pill-crafting and forging techniques. Once others know about this, the situation will spiral out of control. By then, it'll be even more difficult to convince Levi to join us. Everyone should hurry up and devise a plan to keep him under our wings."

In fact, Wilma had already treated Levi as their most loyal servant, especially since he was an expert in pill-crafting and forging weapons.

It would be a great loss for them not to bring him back to their headquarters.

After a thorough discussion, everyone decided to come clean to Levi. Following that, Wilma met with Levi again.

"Mr. Garrison, we suspect the Cordierite Association hired those assassins. To ensure nothing goes wrong, I think you should return to the headquarters with us," she suggested.

At the base, Forlevia and the others looked grim. Days of high-intensity battles had rendered them physically and mentally exhausted.

Even if the members at the base had various equipment of Digital God to rely on, they were just barely defending themselves.

Zoey ordered solemnly, "Everyone, get some rest now. You have no time to lose. A new round of attacks from the Holy Guardians will begin soon."

The continuous battles had caused many of them to suffer from internal injuries, but they were still holding on with their astounding perseverance.

However, judging from both parties' capabilities, everyone knew that it was only a matter of time before the base was completely destroyed.

After all, only some of the twelve Orunthians' reincarnations had joined the battle. If all of them were to join in, Forlevia and the others probably wouldn't be able to hold on for long.

Of course, there were also many forces that were followers of the Holy Guardians.

Everyone present was dumbfounded upon seeing that, especially when they saw that smug look on the Thunder Qilin. If the Thunder Qilin were a human, it would definitely be a showboat.

Levi wasn't surprised at all, as he knew that was the Thunder Qilin's typical behavior. It would make use of every chance to show off.

"All right. Be careful, then. Don't underestimate your opponents. They are difficult to deal with," reminded Levi. The Thunder Qilin's eyes were filled with disdain as it glanced at the twelve Orunthians' reincarnations.

Even though the twelve Orunthians' reincarnations were mature and resilient in personality, they couldn't help but feel vexed when they sensed the look of disdain on the strange-looking pet.

"Orunthians, allow me to kill this monster," Rukas volunteered. The Orunthians agreed to it. After all, with their status, they shouldn't be dealing with a beast.

Levi settled everything in the mundane world, then rushed to Kenfort along with Zoey, Forlevia, and the rest. This time, he knew his way around. Besides, Cheriette was there to help with navigation.

Zoey and the rest were in awe when they saw the magnificent view once they entered Kenfort. They felt as though they had entered a fairytale.

After arriving in Kenfort, Levi brought everyone to Dragon's Grave Valley to strengthen themselves. With the mightiness of the Heavenly Thunder there, everyone could improve their cultivation levels very quickly.

Furthermore, Levi had reserved an excessive amount of magical herbs on the cloudship for the rest. At the same time, the Cordierite Association received news that their first batch of assassins had fallen, and Levi's location was unknown.

Albert and the rest suspected that Levi had been secretly picked up by the Prime Association and sent to the headquarters for protection.

Levi led everyone toward the hidden cloudship and headed toward the Death Sea. Their efforts eventually paid off because they soon saw a huge storm ahead in the vast sea. "Daddy, I can sense a strong spiritual ley line, and it's located under the storm," Forlevia piped up.

Levi was thrilled. Although he knew Forlevia had long since displayed the talent of spotting spiritual ley lines, he didn't expect that ability of hers to grow stronger as she became more capable. The spiritual ley line is hidden under such a powerful storm, but she can still sense it!

"Master, this storm is so violent that there's no way we can get close to it!" Larissa said worriedly. Levi merely smiled in response before leaping into the air and rushing toward the storm. "I don't care how strong the storm is. I can make it disappear with just a punch!"

As he spoke, Levi quickly channeled his basic techniques and threw a punch at the eye of the storm. A frightening and destructive wave of energy crashed into the storm.

Boom! Boom! Boom! A loud rumbling noise tore through the area, and the area started shaking violently. Levi's punch had really wiped the storm away.

Seeing that the sea was once again calm, Levi smiled and told Larissa telepathically to drive the cloudship forward.
