Chapter 451

Colin Shanks immediately doled out the punishment.

“What?”

Johnny Lerna and his gang grew infuriated.

We didn’t get a single cent, but we still need to be suspended without pay for three months?

Isn’t this a huge loss to us?

But this guy is someone powerful... so what can we do?

“Additionally, two movies from the Oriental Star Group have passed the audit. We’ll start showing them after three days!” Colin announced.

Meanwhile, the higher-ups from the audit department exclaimed, “We’ve never seen such a well-produced movie! This will be a huge hit!”

Zoey and her colleagues breathed a sigh of relief.

The person in charge of the National Radio and Television Administration grinned and said, “Ms. Lopez, are you happy with this result?”

However, Colin stared at Levi, who stood by the side.

In the Shanks Entertainment's president's office.

Niall, Zachary, and a few other people were present. They all looked displeased as they watched the real-time box office results.

Niall snorted. "It seems like the audience isn't that gullible anymore!"

The manager, Winnie said, "That's right. Viewers nowadays tend to care more about the content of the movie. Movies rarely cast young, handsome men now! Focusing on production quality is important!"

Niall chuckled. "Yes. That is why we need to take this opportunity to scam the dumbass fans' money!"

Yvonne Wren agreed with that statement. "That's right! The fans are stupid and easy to scam. We need to hurry up and make more movies of this kind! Once the dumbasses realize what's going on, they won't be so easy to scam anymore!"

If their fans heard what they said, they would probably blow up in rage.

"Oh, aren't the Oriental Star Group's movies being released as well? How are they doing?" Zachary couldn't help but ask.

Niall chuckled. "I tried searching them in the streaming websites just now, but I still can't find them."

"What? I can't believe their movies are this good! Even I was engrossed!" Zachary seemed genuinely entertained after they finished watching the movies.

Niall, Yvonne, and the rest were anxious.

"How are their movies so good? Look at how their popularity is booming! I can't find a single bad review!"

"Even though they're not on the recommendations list, they're one of the top ten most popular movies right now! Their popularity is still rising too!"

"What now? Should we do something about it?"

The artists were as anxious and as nervous as cats.

The fact that the Oriental Star Group's movies were spectacular was a huge embarrassment to them.

More importantly, the main actors were the rookies that they've seen before.

How are they so good at acting?

This made them feel indignant.

Chapter 454

Zachary felt despondent when he received the calls.

He had never thought the major streaming sites would call him one after another to inform them that they would remove the seven movies from the recommendations lists.

Eventually, none of the movies they produced were left on the recommendation lists.

All seven movies were replaced by the two movies from the Oriental Star Group; those two movies dominated the main page of the streaming websites.

Furthermore, Zachary had spent about fifty million to buy the spots on the recommendation lists, while the major streaming sites had offered the same thing to the two movies from the Oriental Star Group of their own volition without requesting any form of payment.

The popularity of the two movies continued to rise!

Zoey beamed brightly when she saw the real-time box office results.

The production costs of the movie were two hundred million; they gained that much revenue in just six hours.

This broke the box office records of all the major streaming sites.

It was originally estimated that it would take about one week for the movie to offset the costs.

"It's time to use the trump card!" Levi chuckled.

"We shouldn't have left. We would've executed the direction of those films much better. Our wealth and reputation would've increased as well. Let's go back and get those guys to plan something for us," Yvonne said coldly.

She had a feeling Helena and Maurice were popular only because the movie itself was good.

The next morning.

"Ms. Lopez, Niall Xander's and Yvonne Wren's managers want to meet you!" Gerry Wade approached her and said.

"Alright. Let them in!"

A posse of people showed up in the office in no time.

"Ms. Lopez, we were foolish. We've made a mistake. Please forgive us!" The manager, Winnie, said.

Zoey smiled. "It's alright. You all just wanted to go to a better company. They really are stronger than us!"

"We really made a mistake! We hope to rejoin your company now. After all, we were once a team, and we know each other well!" Winnie smiled.

At that moment, Levi suddenly appeared and mocked, "How shameless can you get? Didn't you say we will regret our actions? What happened then? Are you here to get a taste of our wealth now that our movies became popular?"

Niall and the rest felt indignant, but they still needed to keep their tempers in check. After all, they were the ones asking for a favor.

“Stepdad, I’ll bring someone there!” Fernand Yates volunteered himself.

“Alright! Bring Bones, Titan, and Golem with you! The fact that they can handle the Black and White Guards signifies that they are pretty powerful!” Scott Yates ordered.

His Four Mighty Generals were individually stronger than the Black and White Guards, so the fact that Scott dispatched three of them was a testament to his resolve.

Fernand hesitated for a while before saying, “Stepdad...”

“Bringing Typhoon along is out of the question! He’s way too intent on killing! It took a lot of effort over the past few decades trying to tame him, so we can’t afford to let him massacre everyone in North Hampton!” Scott said.

The Four Mighty Generals under Scott all had their own individual strengths.

Bones was ruthless and apathetic. During a underground boxing battle where he had to face a few hundred opponents at once, he pulled someone’s ribs out and used it as a weapon to kill everyone.

Titan was exceptionally skilled in wrestling ever since he was young.

Golem was like a beast because his body was as tough as steel. Normal weapons couldn’t dent him.

However, the strongest of them all was Typhoon.

Chapter 457

Sebastian was excited when they arrived at North Hampton.

Zachary and his friends, who had received the news of their arrival beforehand, waited for them at the highway.

"Mr. Yates, Sebastian, we are being oppressed by them ever since we came from South City! The people in North Hampton kept bullying us because we didn't have anyone around, so it's great now that you're here! They can go screw themselves!" Zachary said.

Everyone started to exaggerate about what happened to them during their stay in North Hampton, and that infuriated Sebastian and Fernand.

On the surface, Fernand seemed poised and methodical, just like a sly fox. However, he was actually a ruffian!

He had committed a lot of crimes and was cocky and arrogant.

He just never showed that side of himself because Scott loomed over him at all times.

Now that he came to North Hampton and no one was here to control him anymore, he wanted to unleash his wild side.

"Hmph! Underestimating the South City? They're digging their own graves!" Fernand exclaimed furiously.

"Mr. Yates, what should we do next?" Sebastian asked.

"Didn't the Rogers family publicly support the Morris Group? We'll go to the Rogers family's residences in that case!"

A menacing glint flashed in Fernand's eyes.

Meanwhile, in the Rogers family's house.

Poof!

Franklin was sent flying, and when he landed on the floor, blood flowed out of all of his orifices.

He was undoubtedly, dead!

One punch from Titan was enough to make someone bleed profusely.

Suddenly, the room was as silent as the dead.

"Who are you? How dare you kill my son! Bds!" Franklin's father, Alexander was furious. Something like this shouldn't happen in the Rogers family's territory!

Alexander and his wife, Snow Wahlberg, pounced at them.

Golem landed a kick on Alexander's head, causing everyone to be dumbstruck.

Fernand glared at both of them. "I don't want any other woman because the women I want are right here. You... you, you, and you..."

Fernand pointed at seven or eight women present in the room.

Anthony's and Leo's wives, as well as their cousins' wives, were included in Fernand's list.

Besides that, the wives of the younger people in the Rogers family were included as well.

"No! We can't do this! Mr. Yates, please find someone else! They are ordinary ladies!" Anthony's cousin, Silas Rogers, said.

Smack!

Zachary slapped Silas forcefully.

"How fing shameless can you get! Mr. Yates wants those ladies! How dare you talk back to him!" Zachary shouted.

Silas rubbed his face and said pitifully, "But that is my wife! No, means no!"

Glenn had that thought too. Only Levi could stand up against Scott.

He was the only hope the Rogers family had!

However, Sebastian stopped them in their tracks.

“Are you about to ask the boss of the Morris Group for help? It doesn’t matter anyway because Mr. Yates is here to deal with him too! It’ll be great if you asked him to come over!”

Glenn had a despondent expression because they didn't even get the chance to ask for reinforcements.

An hour passed, and Fernand soon stepped out of the room with a tired expression.

In the dining room, the women's clothes were tattered, and they huddled together and wept softly.

"Ah!"

Leo and Anthony bellowed in rage.

They wanted to kill Fernand right there and then, but they fell silent when they saw Bones, Titan, and Golem.
