Chapter 871

"Levi, what are you doing?" Anson stopped him when he saw Levi sitting down.

"I'm taking the place they have reserved for me," Levi casually replied.

"Are you out of your mind? Look at how many elders are standing, so what gives you the right to sit?" Anson scolded.

"Is Michael's grandson sick in the head? Or is he just arrogant? Since when is he qualified to sit there?"

"That's right! He keeps behaving rudely in front of the Patriarch. Michael, what's the meaning of this? Are you doing it on purpose?"

After berating Levi, the crowd turned their attention toward Michael.

It was a shocking revelation to them.

Just as Michael spoke, everyone gasped as if they had been struck by lightning.

Other than the South Hampton Jones family, everyone else was stupefied.

Although Westley guessed it was someone important, this was still beyond what he had imagined.

It is the God of War himself!

Joey was so emotional that he teared and even dropped his staff.

“Is it true? Is the honorable God of War coming to attend our anniversary meeting?”

His body was visibly trembling.

Damn it, it’s Levi again!

Michael couldn’t be anymore outraged.

While Anson was trembling, he didn’t expect Levi to bring up the topic again.

He looked at Levi in horror and wondered if the latter really knew something.

He didn't dare rebut as he was overwhelmed by fear.

"Levi, what are you babbling about? Anson really is a King of War in the Iron Brigade. You're accusing him of being a fraud. Are you for real?"

Both Tyler and Wales were stunned for a moment.

Although they had greeted the Prince Gang before, they were ignored by Jaron and his companions then.

Why are they here?

Regardless of the reason, it's a positive development.

At least they will provide us with a show of strength.

After all, the Prince Gang was considered a prestigious organization.

Every one of its members represented South Hampton's most prominent families.

All the members of the Prince Gang were kneeling in front of Levi. They shouted in unison, "The South Hampton Prince Gang is honored to see you, Master."

Their spirited greeting echoed reverberated like rumbling thunder.

There was total silence, as if time had stopped and space had frozen.

Everything was suspended at that very moment.

Tyler was stupefied, and so was Michael and Joey.

The thousand-odd members of the Jones family were all astounded.

Everyone felt as if they had been struck by lightning and burnt to a crisp.

As Calvin and Mia were standing close by, he saw everything unfold right before him. Unable to fully process what was going on, he felt as if he was going to faint anytime.

None of the Joneses understood Jaron's threat.

What's going on?

Who exactly is Levi?

This is such a surprise.

The Prince Gang not only called him 'master' but also defended him. Why is that?

After teaching Tyler and Wales a lesson, Jaron returned to kneel in front of Levi.

"Enough, get up," Levi casually said.

Upon his orders, all the members of the Prince Gang stood up.

At that moment, Michael's mind went blank.

He and the other Joneses could not comprehend how Levi could become the master of the South Hampton's Prince Gang.

Puzzled, Michael and Tyler exchanged glances and recalled that Lucas went to South City a few days ago.

When Xabian and the others arrived in front of Levi, they too dropped to their knees.

The Joneses felt as if their hearts were going to burst.

Those are South Hampton's finest!

That is the head of the Goel family, Xabian!

It was such a magnificent sight that everyone was enthralled.

Xabian greeted, "The South Hampton's Goel family is honored to see you, Master."

Next, Mario greeted, "The South Hampton's Hunt family is honored to see you, Master."

Then, it was Hayden who greeted, "The South Hampton's Quinn family is honored to see you, Master."

However, that was just the beginning.

Boom!

Michael and the other Joneses were so shocked that they felt as if they had been struck by lightning again.

This time, the Joneses knew that Grover and the Four Kings were here to see Levi too.

The next moment, Grover led the Four Kings inside, followed by the Six Slaves.

The eleven of them walked toward Levi and dropped to their knees in a thud.

As all of them knelt in front of Levi, they greeted in unison, "Mr. Garrison!"

Everyone was stupefied.

Tyler was the smartest in the Jones family, and he laughed before saying, "I'll admit that you are powerful, even though I don't know why or where you've gotten your power from. The important bit, however, is that the Joneses truly are not a match against you. Unfortunately for you, my family has something up our sleeves. We are supported by someone who is powerful, and everything that you have will be nothing but illusions once he shows up!"

His words made everyone gasp, and they soon regained their composure.

Levi's network and connection had frightened them so much that they had actually forgotten about the guy having their backs. The Joneses had an extremely powerful ally.

Tyler's words served as a reminder to everyone that the Joneses still had the God of War on their side!

Everyone heaved a sigh of relief when such a thought came to mind, as the color gradually returned to their cheeks.

They hadn't lost!

Tyler was so surprised that his hand had slipped, and his phone had fallen onto the ground.
The God of War is here? Why haven't we heard anything about it? I don't see the God of War anywhere. In fact, the only people here are Levi Garrison, the business tycoons of South Hampton, and the members of the Southern Union.
"Commander-in-chief, the God of War is nowhere to be seen. Maybe you made a mistake?" asked Tyler, who couldn't help himself.
"Maybe he's on his way. Let me check."
Michael appeared calmer and insisted, "The God of War is probably already on his way over, Joey."
