Chapter 961

Trembling in fear, Seamus said, "Dad, you're right! My priorities are all messed up. We can always finish off Levi anytime we like!"

His father replied agitatedly, "I'm glad you finally realize your mistake, boy. Don't be intimidated by Levi just because he killed Caleb. Caleb was at most just a servant of our family! You guys are really a disgrace to the Garrison family to be scared of Levi!"

The youngsters of the Garrison family from Haven all kept their eyes downcast guiltily like a bunch of kids who had just broken something valuable in the house.

They felt embarrassed to be intimidated by Levi, who was just an illegitimate child of their family.

"Levi doesn't deserve to be treated so seriously by us! He's clearly not that important!" Fenton, Jonah's favorite grandson, emphasized in a cold voice.

Jonah was pleased to hear those words. "You guys should learn from Fenton. That's how a man from our family is supposed to behave!"

If the Garrison clan from Oakland City know how intimidated you lot are by Levi, I don't think I will be able to put up with the embarrassment!"

"Master, we've found out where Kirin resides in. We can visit him right away," the butler informed Jonah.

"Great! I can't wait to meet him!" Jonah guffawed.

Soon, Jonah and his family arrived at the Warzone compound.

Azure Dragon and the rest were still staying there, although Levi had moved out.

The commotion of the Garrisons' arrival soon caught their attention.

Kirin answered his question with a pleasant smile, "Of course you can meet the God of War. In fact, he's a pretty friendly and approachable guy."

"Is that so?" Jonah, as well as his family members, looked thrilled upon hearing what the man said.

Meeting the God of War in person was probably the greatest wish of everyone from the prominent families.

An idea struck Kirin, prompting him to ask Jonah, "Mr. Garrison, I bet there's something else that inspired you to come all the way here. Care to enlighten me?"

The latter replied with a breezy smile, "Meeting you is, of course, my top priority. However, you're right – I'm here to run some unimportant errands."

"Unimportant errands? What sort of errands would that be?" Kirin asked curiously.

Sounding somewhat stiff, Jonah answered, "I'm going to deal with a traitor of our family. In fact, it's too trivial a matter to be worth discussing with all of you here."

"Oh, it's a domestic affair. In that case, we'll leave you to it then."

Kirin and the rest of the Five Great Wars Regiment couldn't be bothered with the Garrison family's troubles.

Then, Kirin invited Jonah and his family inside the Warzone compound.

Emma woke up early the next morning to prepare breakfast for Levi and Zoey.
As she had no idea how long such peaceful and happy days would last, she decided to enjoy every day like it was the last.

While they were having their breakfast, Zoey asked Levi, “Are you heading out later?”

“Yes. Kirin told me someone wants to see me, so I have to head out.”

He had no idea who Kirin wanted him to meet.

Despite that, he still decided to be there for his subordinate’s sake.

“Okay. Let’s talk tonight after you’re back then,” Zoey proposed, her face flushing with embarrassment.

“Sure, that shouldn’t be a problem.”

Meanwhile, the gifts prepared for the God of War and his mother had arrived from Haven.

All the gifts were nicely kept in three exquisite wooden boxes.

After making sure that the gifts were to his satisfaction, Jonah broke into a contented smile.

Chapter 964

Everyone from Jonah’s family couldn’t wait to hear Levi’s confirmation.

If Levi were indeed someone from the Garrison clan in Oakland City, the situation would be very beneficial to them all.

They had to rely on the Garrison clan in Oakland City for support as they were just a small branch of the Garrison family

Now that they were lucky enough to have a chance to establish a connection with the God of War, their future seemed bright in their eyes.

“The Garrison clan from Oakland City? Haha! They aren’t worthy to have a descendant as great as me!” Levi’s answer drove Jonah and his family to despair.

The God of War isn’t related to the Garrison clan from Oakland City? What? How’s that possible?

Other than the Garrison clan in Oakland City, which branch could possibly have the resources to train him?

Jonah could not think of any other Garrison branch who could be capable of nurturing a descendant like Levi.

Just like them, the branches in Northeast City, Northwest City, and Chillshire could never have had the resources to train their descendants into someone like Levi despite them being an imperial family.

“Huh?

Levi broke into a smile which grew wider and slowly turned into a sneer in response to Jonah’s answer. They’re really here to kill me.

I knew they weren’t only here to visit the God of War!

“A traitor? I heard from the grapevine that he is quite a prominent skilled fighter. You guys better summon more help to handle him!” Levi chuckled.

Levi's answer only cemented Jonah's opinion that the God of War had already discovered everything there is to know about Emma and her son.

Even the God of War knows that Levi is a tough nut to crack. I bet our family has become the laughing stock of the town right now because of that bastard and his mother!

"God of War, thanks for your concern. However, please don't worry about us. I'm sure we will be able to finish them both off!"

A dangerous glint flickered in Jonah's eyes when he said that.

"Well, I'll wait for your good news then." Levi nodded.

"Huh?"

Jonah's eyes gleamed with hope at once.

Does the God of War also want to get rid of Emma and her son?

Jonah had a clear idea of who he needed to implement his plan.

He recruited six skilled fighters from Tang Sect, all of them masters in wielding concealed weapons.

In addition to that, he dispatched eighteen top skilled fighters trained by the Garrison family to guard all exits of the neighborhood, giving Levi no chance to escape.

Last but not least, he and the rest of the family would be supervising everything from outside the neighborhood to deal with emergencies.

"Levi Garrison, I can't believe even the God of War sees you as a skilled fighter too. Tonight, I'm going to witness you in action with my own eyes!"

Jonah looked forward to the violence that would be unleashed.

Meanwhile, Levi brought the gifts he had received from Jonah back home.

He was overjoyed to receive the red ginseng, as that was what his mother needed the most at the moment.

In order to cure Emma's illness, he had sent some of his men on a search for rare and precious medicinal herbs over the past two days.

Much to his pleasant surprise, he received red ginseng from the Garrisons right at his doorstep. The red ginseng, if used properly, could cure his mother of her chronic illness, boost her health, and even help her achieve longevity.

To be more precise, the red ginseng could help with his mother's skin condition too.

Levi scratched his head, looking puzzled.

"What exactly is on your mind?"

Despite him being the God of War, who had vast experience on the battlefields, he knew nothing about relationships.

Therefore, he had no idea how to gauge

what was on Zoey's mind.

The woman shot him a glare. "You really can be such a blockhead sometimes. I'm thinking about getting pregnant!"

"Huh? Oh, I-I see..." It finally dawned upon him what she was thinking about.

So, her getting pregnant is her plan!

That's quite brilliant, actually.

As soon as she's pregnant, her family will have no choice but to accept our marriage.

"As long as I'm pregnant, there's nothing the Lopez family and the Black family can do to stop us from marrying each other. On top of that, I'll be getting so rich at that time that they will no longer be able to exert any more control on me!

I'll be free to decide who I'd like to marry, and no one will be able to stop me from doing that!" Zoey announced agitatedly.

Yet, Levi had his reservations. "It's not very appropriate, is it?"
"Why do you think so?"

Swish, swish, swish...

The rustling sound of something moving in the air at a rapid speed could be heard.

Up to a hundred concealed weapons swooped down at Levi dangerously at one go.

The skilled fighters from Tang Sect were aiming to kill Levi with a single strike.

They were very sure that their concealed weapons would be able to kill the man, leaving his body filled with holes.

Clank!

Clank!

Clank!

Much to their consternation, sparks flew and the sound of metal on metal could be heard.

"What is this sorcery? Is he wearing armor? Let's give it another go!"

The skilled fighters from Tang Sect reacted promptly by launching another round of attack on Levi without further ado.

Clank...

Yet, the same thing happened this time – their weapons were unable to pierce through Levi's armor.

It's one of our creations!" One of them let out an exclamation after taking a closer look at the armor Levi was wearing. "It can't be! How did he get his hands on the

The Garrison family had spent a fortune on training the eighteen skilled fighters who had never acted together before that day.

They were confident that their joined forces would be capable of finishing off anyone.

Exuding a murderous aura, the skilled fighters closed in on Levi.

Swish!

The blades of their swords swept past the icy air toward Levi.

Clank!

Levi allowed them to slash his body with the swords, not doing anything to defend himself.

To the utter dismay of the skilled fighters, only a dull thud was produced when the blades landed on Levi's body as their swords failed to cut through him

"Mr. Garrison, did you see that? He's wearing a powerful armor that can protect him from the swords!" one of the skilled fighters from Tang Sect pointed out.

Clank!

Clank!

Clank!

The eighteen skilled fighters tried attacking Levi again and again, but their efforts were futile.

The blades of their swords only ended up being dented.

Jonah was left gob smacked. He felt as though his head was going to explode, and his eyeballs were going to pop out of their sockets any minute.

Levi received a Golden Armor from me?

Didn't I gift that to the God of War earlier today?

Could Levi possibly be the God of War? How could he be such a prominent figure?

While Jonah went lost in his own thoughts, Levi had already made his way right in front of them.

The Garrisons turned to face Levi and what greeted them was a face they had seen earlier that day.

Isn't this man the God of War?

Having met during the day, the two parties encountered each other again, albeit in a much more awkward manner.

"Jonah, I really love this Golden Armor from you! It's so much better than the usual bulletproof vests I've been wearing."

Levi flashed the group a good-natured smile.

For some reason, Jonah and his family felt as though their legs just turned into jelly.

Thud!

Thud!

One after another, they collapsed onto the ground and knelt before Levi.

The skilled fighters standing around them were left at a loss.

."What are you lot waiting for? Get down on your knees right now!" Jonah snarled out an amused laugh. "Why are you guys kneeling in front of me? Come on, kill me
