Gabriel smiled. "Isn't it the normal interaction between a couple

"Gina, I love you."

"I know."

Gabriel looked into Gina's eyes and could not help but get closer to her. Their breaths were mixed, and the room seemed to be heated up. A passionate kiss naturally began.

In Star Entertainment Company, a discussion started.

"Have you heard? The Jackson Group is going to choose a celebrity in our company for their mobile game!"

"Will Mr. Jackson choose one in person? Will we have a chance to see him?"

"That's possible! Mr. Jackson seems to be single, right?"

"Single? You're behind. He has a girlfriend!"

"What? What a pity!"

"Don't you have to work?" Aria walked out of the office and heard a group of people discussing and gossiping.

"Miss Torres!" Everyone greeted Aria and hurriedly returned to their workstations.

Aria nodded solemnly and looked at her phone. Gina and the others had arrived downstairs, and Aria had to welcome them in person.

Soon, Aria saw the eye-catching custom-made Rolls Royce downstairs.

She was a little excited. After all, it had been a while since she saw Gina. She thought Gina had long forgotten her as a friend.

The car door opened, and Gina got out of the car.

Aria ran over in high heels and hugged Gina warmly.

Gina was a little stunned.

Aria said excitedly in Gina's arms, "Oh! Gina, I didn't expect you to bring me a collaboration with the Jackson Group. Thank you. Thank you so much!"

No matter what collaboration she was to reach with the Jackson Group, she would get many benefits. It was an opportunity that many people could not obtain!

Most importantly, she had just taken over Star Entertainment Company. The collaboration was nothing more than icing on search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

the cake!

"Didn't you say we're friends? No need to stand on ceremony, Gina patted Aria's back and said.

Aria finally let go of Gina. "It's been so long. I thought..."

She pursed her lips. "I thought you don't remember me."

Gina raised her eyebrows. "Do I look like I have a bad memory?"

"I'm worried." Aria smiled sheepishly. In her opinion, Gina was rather aloof, and they rarely contacted each other. Besides, Gina was usually busy, and Aria was touched enough to know Gina remembered her.

Gabriel was left aside. He frowned and cleared his throat.

Aria hurriedly greeted him. She was overjoyed to see Gina and even forgotten about her distinguished client. "Hello, Mr. Jackson."

Gabriel nodded indifferently.

"Mr. Jackson, let's talk upstairs. Please." Aria made an inviting gesture.

Gabriel walked forward and wanted to hold Gina's hand. It was not easy for him to stay with Gina during working hours, and he hoped he could stick to her.

Unexpectedly, Aria quietly pulled Gina to her side.

Gabriel was confused. And so was Gina.

Aria put her hands together and begged, "Mr. Jackson, I haven't seen Gina for a long time. Can you leave her with me? I want to talk to Gina. Can I? I'm sorry for bothering your date!"

Gabriel was silent.

Gina was amused by Aria. She said to Gabriel, "Go ahead."

Since Gina had spoken, Gabriel could only nod unwillingly and walk in front.

Aria happily held Gina's arm tightly.

Aria pinched Gina's arm and said, "Gina. Have you lost weight recently? Are you too busy!"

"Yes, a little bit." Gina nodded.

"I think you've changed too." She looked at Aria.

Aria pointed at herself. "Me? What changes?" She was curious.

"You've become capable. You have an aura and the demeanor of a leader.

Aria was in a good mood, a little shy to be praised by her idol.

She said firmly. "It's all trained. If I don't have an aura, I won't be able to conquer my staff. I'm still a student who hasn't graduated from university, and I'm a girl. When I first took over the entertainment company, my subordinates didn't trust me, and even my father didn't believe a girl could manage it well. I had to prove it to him and defeat him!"

Other than Star Entertainment Company, Aria also intended to fight for other properties of the Torres family, as many as she could.

Gina nodded in agreement. "You're amazing."

Aria cherished the time to chat with Gina. She chattered non-stop and had many things to say, "I haven't been to school for a long time. I've decided to drop out and manage the company well. Gina, what about you? You haven't been back to school for a long time, right?"

"Yes, I'll just put it in my name, Gina said.

Aria sighed. "Actually, I quite like the design major, but it looks like I won't become a designer in my life. After all, I have a company to manage at home. If I don't take it over, others will spatch it away!"

Her father had not given up on getting a woman to give birth to a son.

"I must hold on to what belongs to me," Aria said.

"That's right." Gina nodded in agreement.

Gabriel was walking in front alone. He could hear Aria's and Gina's voices behind him. Aria was more talkative, and Gina occasionally replied. Even so, they were still chatting enthusiastically.

He couldn't interrupt once when they arrived at the office.

After sitting down. Aria realized that it was time to talk business. She took out the resumes of a few celebrities. There were both male and female.

"Mr. Jackson, I have screened strictly in advance. These are suitable candidates. Please take a look at them, and I'll introduce them to you one by one.

"This celebrity is popular and has tens of millions of fans...

This one looks good and is highly educated...

Gabriel was not in the mood to make a choice. Usually, David will handle such trivial matters. However, this time, the cooperation was just an excuse to be with Gina, or Gabriel wouldn't be there in person.

Gabriel randomly chose a few and said, "Let them film part of the advertisement and test"

Alright, no problem!" Aria nodded.

She suggested, "Mr. Jackson, will you go to the scene to see the filming?"

After all, it would be awkward for them to sit there. Arm couldn't help but think. If only Mr. Jackson was not around! This way, I can have a good chat with Gina.

"It's fine even if she doesn't say anything. I have more to say!"

Chapter 322

At the filming location, the entertainers who were chosen to audition were quite excited to see Gabriel. However, when they saw Gina sitting beside Gabriel, they could not help but cool down.

Gabriel's attention was not on the cameras but on Gina.

Gina glanced at him. "Mr. Jackson, focus on your work."

Gabriel was helpless. "Even a workaholic would occasionally slack off, especially when his love is by his side."

Aria, sitting beside Gina, was a little anxious. It was not that she could not stand Gabriel's straightforwardness. She just felt that the "friendship of three" was too crowded.

She hoped Gabriel could leave...

A phone rang. It was a call from David. Gabriel turned to Gina and said, "I'm going to the lounge to answer it."

"Alright." Gina nodded.

Aria was overjoyed to see Gabriel leave and chatted happily with her.

The filming continued. Most of the people's attention was on the entertainers.

Nancy Steele, who had finished filming, sat in a corner and tugged at the hem of her skirt. She noticed that Gabriel had gone to the lounge.

She glanced in the direction of Gina.

She thought, 'Mr. Jackson's girlfriend is indeed stunningly beautiful. She has a unique cold temperament. Although it was said that she is not from a prestigious family, her every move is elegant.

In comparison, Nancy felt a deep sense of inferiority.

She hesitated for a moment before getting up and walking toward the lounge. However, instead of the artiste's lounge, she went to the one Gabriel was in.

Someone noticed it and muttered, "Did Nancy go to Mr. Jackson What does she want to do?"

His words immediately aroused much attention.

Everyone's gaze settled on Gina.

Aria recovered from the joy of chatting with Gina. "What's wrong? Aren't you guys working anymore?"

"Miss Torres... Um, Nancy seemed to go to the wrong lounge. She went to the one where Mr. Jackson is."

A man and a woman staying alone was enough to be gossiped. Besides, it was nice to say Nancy might have entered the wrong room. After all, a sign with "VIP Lounge" was hanging on as door. As long as one was not blind, he could see it. It was obvious that Nancy ignored it on purpose.

Moreover, almost a minute had passed. Even if she went the wrong way, shouldn't she go out immediately after realizing it? She stayed inside, and wasn't she up to no good?

Some people thought, 'Mr. Jackson's real girlfriend is at the scene. Nancy is courting death!"

Aria's expression changed. What the hell was Nancy doing?

She said angrily, "Gina, don't worry. I'll give you an explanation."

With that, she stood up and went to call Nancy out from the lounge. It was a matter that might have a serious impact.

Gina was calm and pulled Aria back. "It's fine. I'll go in and take a look."

Aria frowned and said apologetically, "I'm sorry, Gina. I don't know what's wrong with her..."

Gina smiled slightly. "You don't have to apologize to me. Everyone is an independent individual. She made a mistake, and it doesn't mean you're at fault."

Aria sighed. She was originally happy today. What was Nancy up to?

Under everyone's eyes, Gina walked toward the VIP lounge.

In the lounge, Gabriel hung up the phone. Although he heard footsteps behind him, no one made a sound, and he did not turn around. At that moment, he put down his phone and turned around to see Nancy.

Gabriel frowned. He remembered that she was an artiste who had just filmed.

"What are you doing in here?"

Nancy was a little nervous because Gabriel's aura was too domineering. She didn't dare to look him in the eye was probably the only chance to meet him. If she didn't grasp it, she would regret it for the rest of her life.

However, it

Nancy tried her best to calm down and straighten her back. "Mr. Jackson, you should remember me from the audition just now. My name is Nancy Steele. Nice to see you."

Gabriel's expression was cold. "Do you think you will be the amb*a*sador by getting close to me?"

He had said it tactfully. He knew Nancy had the intention to seduce him.

“It isn’t important. What’s important is that I want to get to know you, Mr. Jackson,” Nancy braced herself and continued.

Gabriel ordered coldly, “Get out.”

Nancy became even more nervous. “Mr. Jackson, I... You... Please give me a chance. I’m very obedient.”

At that moment, the door opened, and Gina walked in, Nancy turned around, and seeing Gina, she felt terrible. She was nervous just now that she forgot to lock the door.

Gina had a faint smile on her face. “You said you were very obedient, Why didn’t you go out when he asked you to?”

Although Nancy felt guilty, she was mentally prepared to try to seduce Gabriel in front of Gina. She thought Gina would slap her twice to show strength.

Unexpectedly, Gina was not emotional at all and only teased Nancy.

For some reason, Nancy suddenly dared to talk to Gabriel’s real girlfriend.

“I mean I’ll only be obedient after I’m in contact with Mr. Jackson”

“Contact?” Gina smiled. “You’re being tactful. You’re trying to say if you become his woman, you’ll be very obedient, right?”

Nancy went all out. “Yes, that’s right. I won’t hide it anymore. I want to be Mr. Jackson’s woman. In Norwood, even in the entire country, how many women have the same thoughts as me Miss Miller, don’t think that I’m provoking you.

“Isn’t it normal for an outstanding man to be with a few women at the same time? You’re Mr. Jackson’s girlfriend, and you’re in the limelight. As for me, I’m willing to stay by his side without a name.”

Gabriel asked Nancy coldly, "Are you crazy? Get out."

Nancy shook her head. "No. I'm serious! Mr. Jackson, I admire you..."

"I told you to get out." Gabriel's tone was as cold as ice. He had never wanted to hit a woman so badly.

Nancy did not move. She did not believe Gabriel was as restrained as the rumors said. He was 26 years old, and he had only one girlfriend.

She became bolder. "Mr. Jackson, are you... rejecting me because of Miss Miller?"

Gabriel was speechless. Should he say Nancy was too narcissistic

In his heart, there was only Gina. He would never look at another woman.

Gina smiled calmly. "Actually, what she said was quite right. A man as outstanding as you can't resist the temptation"

"I don't need any romance, Gina. I love you, only you

Gina relaxed in his arms. "I know."

Naturally, she knew Gabriel's sincere love for her, and that was why she chose to be with him.

Outside, everyone watched as Nancy covered her face and ran away in tears.

Aria said unhappily, "Is it fun to watch a show? Continue working

After a while, Gina and Gabriel also walked out of the lounge.

Aria hurried forward, "Gina?

"It's fine" Gina said,

Aria's expression was solemn. "I'll get Nancy out of the company immediately."

"No need," Gina did not care.

"Gina, aren't you angry?" Nancy had been inside for so long. Although Aria didn't know what was going on, she could tell Nancy's purpose.

"Why should I be angry? Gina asked nonchalantly. If Gabriel was so easily snatched away, he was not worthy of her love.

"It's my fault!" Aria blamed herself.

"Alright. I've told you. It has nothing to do with you. Continue your work. Gina comforted Aria.

She didn't care much about the interlude.

Gabriel was much more focused on choosing an entertainer than before, planning to leave Star Entertainment Company as soon as possible.

He didn't want to see Nancy again...

Gina's phone vibrated.

She received a message from Michael,

[Gina, there's a supercar exhibition the day after tomorrow in Cata City. The organizer contacted me and asked if you're willing to display the top supercars in your collection |

Gina replied. [I agree. You can make the arrangements.]

She would not miss the chance to make money.

Michael replied, [Will do.]

After finalizing the endorsement, Gabriel and Gina left Star Entertainment Company

Aria called Nancy to her office. "Why did you purposely enter the VIP lounge today?"

Nancy looked innocent. "I went the wrong way, Miss Torres. I'm sorry, I'm a little confused"

"What's the point of lying? Nancy, you should thank Gina for not bickering with you. Otherwise, I'll get you out of the entertainment industry in minutes, Aria said with a dark face.

"I'm sorry. I know I was wrong. Miss Torres, please calm down. Nancy started crying, "I lost my mind for a moment. I didn't do anything. I just... I just confessed to Mr. Jackson. Nothing else."

"Confess?" Aria was speechless. She rubbed her temples with a headache. "You... Forget it. Go out and reflect on yourself,"

Thank you, Miss Torres. Nancy left in tears.

Aria looked at Nancy's back and felt disappointed.

No wonder Nancy couldn't become popular after five years, even if she had obtained many opportunities and resources.

"Dr. Jacquard."

Olivia finally waited until Nicolas arrived at the hospital.

Nicolas was wearing casual clothes and a mask. Olivia was a little curious about his true appearance, but she was afraid of offending him.

After dodging, the person cursed, "What are you doing? Are you trying to scam me? Get lost! Don't get close to me!"

The young lady thought fooling Olivia was quite interesting and even wanted to hit Olivia. At that moment, Olivia, who had been lowering her head and not daring to refort, began to resist. She shouted angrily. "Are you enough?"

The young lady was shocked. She clutched her chest and said, "What are you shouting for? You scared me! I think you need to be taught a lesson."

She raised her hand, wanting to slap Olivia.

However, Olivia glared at the rich young lady. The surrounding people were watching the show. Seeing Olivia about to resist, they felt things had become interesting.

"What right do you have to hit me?" Olivia asked.

The young lady sneered. "Why shouldn't I? Do I need a reason? I don't like you, so I hit you."

"I'm Mr. Barnes' friend!" Olivia was forced into a corner and said

Not to mention the others, even Colin, who was originally bored, felt that Olivia was quite shameless.

The young lady naturally did not believe Olivia. "What nonsense are you talking about? How can Mr. Barnes be friends with someone like you? Don't slander him!"

The others echoed.

"Exactly!"

"If one is poor and thick-skinned, he will be invincible, Just like her."

The rich young lady continued, "Do you think Mr. Barnes cares about you? Mr. Barnes, she said she's your friend. Is she?"

The onlookers were all waiting for Colin's answer. Olivia became even more nervous as she looked at Colin.

She also wanted to know how he would answer the question.

She even prayed in her heart that Colin could help her once on account of them having had sex with each other.

Besides, she didn't think she had said something wrong. She and Colin had once slept together. Was it much to say that they were friends?

Colin said with a faint smile, "Why didn't I know when I had one more friend?"

Olivia's heart sank when she heard that.

Colin's expression turned gloomy because his limelight was stolen. However, he had to admit that Gabriel was indeed more glamorous than him in the country.

Colin took a sip of his wine unhappily. He glanced at Olivia who was sitting beside him

Colin seriously looked Olivia up and down. "To be honest, you can't even compare to a single strand of Gina's hair. Gabriel's so lucky to be able to sleep with Gina. However, I can only sleep with you, Gina's unrelated sister. How good would it be if she and you were truly related by blood? I can at least take you as Gina's substitute."

With that, Colin shook off Olivia. He had sex with Olivia that night on a whim..

At that time, he thought Olivia was Ethan's fiancée and would have something to do with Gabriel. He wanted to provoke the Jackson family through the one-night stand with Olivia and Torce Gabriel to fight him.

Unexpectedly, Olivia was not useful at all.

Back then, Colin had just returned to the country and had yet to investigate many things. However... Olivia was quite good in bed, so he was not disappointed.

Just now, he suddenly changed his attitude and said Olivia was his friend. It was just because he wanted to see those who were flattering him speechless. He felt it interesting, and he didn't intend to help Olivia at all.

Gina...

The name seemed to be the only thing in Olivia's mind.

It was like a curse.

She hated Gina to the core.

Olivia tried her best to calm down. Now was not the time to be sad. "Mr. Barnes, I'm not bragging. I'm serious. I want to cooperate with you. Your family runs a casino, right? Do you need hired thugs or low-cost labor?"

Colin said half-jokingly, "No, but I need some people alive... It's useful. Can you handle it?"

“Yes!” Olivia nodded firmly.

Colin laughed. “Aren’t you going to ask me why I need living people?”

“I won’t ask what I shouldn’t ask,” Olivia said.

Colin was a little surprised. He did not expect Olivia to be so sensible. “Can you make those living people serve me willingly?”

“I can, but they might ... might have defects in their organs. Mr. Barnes, can you accept that?”

Olivia looked up at Colin.

Colin widened his eyes in surprise. “Don’t tell me you’re doing that kind of business.”

“Yes, I’m doing it,” Olivia said seriously.

Colin became serious. “Someone is behind you?”

“Yes.” Olivia nodded and told him about her achievements. “Mr. Barnes, I’ve sold two kidneys, bone marrow, and a lot of blood.”

Colin’s interest was piqued. “Aren’t you afraid that I’ll call the police? I’m a law-abiding citizen

Olivia almost burst out laughing. Colin was a law-abiding citizen

He had long obtained his foreign nationality. How could he be considered a law-abiding citizen?

The Barnes family, which started by running a casino, was not upright either. No one believed they had never killed or hurt someone. Moreover, as lawless and temperamental as Colin was, he wouldn’t be from a good family.

Olivia treated Colin’s words as a joke and didn’t take it to heart.

"I'm not afraid. Mr. Barnes, you will need me. You need some people alive. Coincidentally, I have one,"

Olivia thought of Mason, whom she had settled in a small illegal clinic...

She had almost forgotten about Mason, who had only one kidney left. She didn't expect him to be useful. She would take advantage of him one last time and cooperate with Colin,

Olivia suddenly felt that Mason was much more useful than Ethan.

"Really? How long will it take for you to bring him to me?" Colin asked.

Immediately," Olivia replied.

Olivia gave the address of the small clinic and called the doctor there. "Some people will come to pick Mason up later. Just bring him to them."

The doctor was overjoyed. Although there would be some small accidents in his clinic, he never caused any deaths. Mason was on his last breath, and the doctor did not want Mason to die there. That would be a big problem.

Now that Olivia was going to send someone to take Mason away, the doctor was overjoyed, "Okay, Miss Miller. By the way, Mr. Greene has not seen you for a long time and missed you very much. When he was in a daze, he kept saying your name, Olivia sneered. Did Mason miss her? He probably wanted to kill her. She said calmly. "Give Mason the phone. I'll talk to him.

"Okay.

The doctor put the phone to Mason's ear. "Mr. Greene, Miss Miller is calling

The weak Mason suddenly widened his eyes. His bloodshot eyes were filled with hatred as he cursed hoarsely, "B*tch! Bit*h! Bit*h! I'll kill you! I'll kill you!"

The doctor quickly covered the receiver and said gloatingly, "Mr Greene, look at you. What are you doing? Your body is still so weak, and you need to recuperate. Don't shout. Also, didn't you miss Miss Miller very much because she hasn't visited you for a long time? Now that she has called, why don't you have a good chat with her? Why are you talking nonsense instead? Miss Miller is your savior. If it weren't for her, you would have died long ago. Your medical expenses are all paid by her

Mason roared with all his might, "If it weren't for that bi*ch, I wouldn't have become like this. You're in cahoots with that bi*ch. I'll kill you!"

Olivia held the phone a little further away. When there was no sound on the other end of the line, she said slowly. "Mason, don't be agitated. I know I've let you down. I'm repenting now. I'm going to send you to a good hospital for treatment. You'll recover soon. Mason, I love you. When you recover, let's be together, okay?"

How could Mason believe Olivia's words? "B*tch, get lost!"

Olivia frowned and could not be bothered to act anymore. She said, "Enough. Mason, stop scolding me. Now, your life is up to me. I want to save you. I'll send you to the best hospital overseas for treatment. Don't speak ill of me anymore. If I change

"Olivia, do you think I'll believe your nonsense? Do you think Its brainless Just wait As long as I am alive. With that, Olivia hung up and turned to find Colin umiling at her

What's up, Mr. Barnes Olivia asked, cringing slightly

Colin raised an eyebrow as he surveyed her. "Can't you tell Just now, you were just a poor woman being bullied, but on the phone, you were quite spirited"

He was beginning to take an interest in Olivia. Her tough tactics suggested she might be a useful ally,

Colin leaned in and continued the conversation with Olivia, intrigued. "You handed Mr. Greene over to me. What will you tell his family?"

"I don't like trouble," Colin emphasized.

"Mr. Barnes, don't worry. I've already thought of a way to appease his family. Just take the man away, and I'll handle all the after-sales issues"

"After-sales issues? Colin was amused. "Are you selling Mason to me?"

"No, not selling. Mr. Barnes. As I said, I want to work with you. Surely, you need more than one person, right? Mason is the first, but he won't be the last. I want to work with you long-term, Olivia explained.

"So what is it that you want? What do you seek from me? Glory or riches?"

Olivia replied deliberately, "Glory, status, and... Gina's life."

Colin nodded. "You're quite ambitious."

"Because I'm not willing to be stepped on by Gina. Trust me, Mr. Barnes. Give me a chance, and I'll be a competent partner," Olivia said

"I can give you a chance, but handing over Mason isn't enough, Colin said meaningfully.

"Mr. Barnes, anything else you need from me, just ask

"I want you to..." Colin glanced toward Gina and Gabriel.

He had chatted with Olivia Miller for so long, but Gabriel and Gina were still surrounded by celebrities.

It made him feel very unvalued and slighted.

"I want you to embarrass Gina and Gabriel. Can you do that?" Colin inquired.

Olivia's breath caught. Embarrassing Gina and Gabriel on such an important occasion was risky, and Olivia knew that they wouldn't let her go if she did so. Besides, Gina was her debtor now.

Not to mention Gabriel, even Gina now had countless ways to make her life a living hell.

She was scared but couldn't back down because this was the perfect opportunity to get involved with Colin, and she couldn't pass it up.

"Forget it if you can't do it." Disappointment was evident in Colin's tone.

"I can, Mr. Barnes, just a moment," Olivia said.

A young lady who had just been bullying Olivia saw her chance. She went forward, grabbed Olivia's hair, and pulled her away from Gina. Olivia cried out in pain and was thrown to the ground by the young lady. Clavia, are you crazy? This isn't the place for a scene"

Olivia couldn't care less about the lady who had attacked her. She saw the right moment and lunged at Gina again. This time Gabriel was prepared. He pushed Olivia away, and she unsteadily knelt in front of Gina. Suddenly, Olivia grabbed the hem of Gina's slightly dragging skirt. Gina frowned and tried to kick Olivia away, but Olivia suddenly dry-heaved and vomited at Gina's feet

Instantly, Gina's skirt hem stained with vomit, released a burst of sour odor that began to spread. Many onlookers, watching the scene started to feel nauseous and began dry retching

The lady from earlier was full of dismay. "Olivia, you. You are so disgusting"

"What's going on? Where's security? Come quickly and get this crazy woman out of here?"

The security guards arrived promptly and saw Olivia vomiting all over the place. Also disgusted, they pinched their noses and apologized to Gabriel and Gina: "Sorry, Miss Miller, Mr. Jackson. We'll get this troublemaker out of here now."

One of the security guards grabbed Olivia by the hand, and she tried to shake him off. "I bought a ticket to get in here! Who are you to kick me out? I'm a guest, and I spent money! I won't leave unless you give me my ticket money back!"

The security guard, clearly annoyed, replied, “You still want a refund? You’ve been bothering our guests and causing trouble. You should be grateful that we didn’t call the police on you!”

The two security guards were about to drag Olivia out

At this moment, the crowd’s attention shifted to Gabriel.

“Oh my god. Mr. Jackson..... Look, he personally helped Miss Miller clean up one person said in surprise.

“He loves her so much” another person also exclaimed.

Seeing this, jealousy welled up in Olivia’s heart. Initially, she was happy to have disgusted Gina, but now, witnessing Gabriel, the honorable and awe-inspiring man, squatting down to help Gina in full view of everyone, she felt very jealous.

Gina suddenly became the object of envy once more, while Olivia, labeled as crazy, was thrown out by the security guards.

With deep resentment, Olivia clenched her teeth.

Chapter 329

“Wait, you’re going to kick my friend out of the room?”

Colin slowly walked over to Olivia. When she saw Colin, hope rekindled in her eyes. “Mr. Barnes, Mr. Barnes, I don’t want to go out

The security guards noticed Colin’s serious expression and didn’t know what to do. “Mr. Barnes, your friend. She’s drunk. Making a scene, puking all over Miss Miller, and disturbing everyone, so we’d like to ask her to leave.”

“I’m not allowing it,” Colin said firmly

The security guards fell silent. After all, Colin was also not someone they could afford to offend.

“Come on, get up. Colin said, extending his hand to Olivia.

At that moment, Olivia even had the illusion that Colin was her knight in shining armor, coming to her rescue. The effects of the alcohol made her emotional, and she almost cried. In front of everyone, she placed her hand in Colin’s, and he helped her up.

Colin looked up with a smile at Gabriel, whose face was cold, and Gina, who looked unimpressed.

Olivia gradually calmed down.

Olivia didn’t immediately start provoking Gina even with Colin’s support because she knew Colin was unpredictable. He could be helping her one moment and abandoning her the next.

The atmosphere was tense, and the crowd was silent.

Colin walked up to Gabriel and Gina. “I’m really sorry, Mr. Jackson, Miss Miller. My friend offended you. She drank too much and didn’t mean to cause any trouble. Besides, Miss Miller, isn't Olivia your sister? She hasn't seen you in a long time and misses you very much. She just came over to give you a hug She didn't do anything outrageous. She just couldn't control herself and threw up on you. I'll have her apologize. What do you think?"

The crowd was curious about how Olivia and Gina were sisters. Though both had the last name Miller, they looked nothing alike

Olivia's looks were far inferior to Gina's, and their temperaments were even more different.

Before Gina could respond, Olivia knelt down and apologized to her. "I'm sorry, Gina. I'm really sorry. I just couldn't help it and threw up."

"Miss Miller, look, Olivia has apologized so sincerely. Just forgive her this time," Colin said.

Gina glanced coldly at Colin, understanding that Olivia had come to disgust her on Colin's orders.

"Get lost," Gabriel said coldly.

Colin was surprised. "Mr. Jackson, who are you telling to get lost

"Both of you," Gabriel replied, looking at Colin with a cold, sharp gaze.

Colin's smile vanished at Gabriel's words.

The atmosphere grew increasingly tense. People around them were all nervous and felt that Gabriel and Colin might start fighting any second.

The event manager rushed over, sweating profusely in his effort to be a peacemaker. "Mr. Jackson, Mr. Barnes, let's have a good conversation. Anger only hurts. Why don't we end this exhibition here and arrange an exclusive supercar showcase for both of you next time?"

The manager struggled to ease the tension. After all, Gabriel and Colin were all big shots, worth billions of dollars each. He was desperate and anxious, not wanting a fight between Gabriel and Colin to break out in the exhibition hall.

Moreover, Colin was a foreign national, which could lead to international complications.

The manager doubted he could calm Gabriel and Colin down and turned to Gina for help. "Miss Miller, if there's anything you're unhappy with, please feel free to say so."

This stalemate couldn't continue.

The manager's nerves were fraying.

You powerful figures can fight, but don't drag innocent people into it! he thought anxiously.

Before Gina could respond, the manager broke down and cried, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Barnes, I beg you to stop arguing! You might be enjoying this, but I'm going to lose my job because of your disagreement. How about this? You can vent your anger at me.

Just hit me until you calm down. I just don't want to lose my job! Why am I so unlucky to be in charge of this exhibition?"

The manager sat on the ground and broke down as he cried.

in didn't actually want to fight Gabriel. He just didn't want to appear weak in front of Gabriel. However, he still needed to something to vent his anger. Now, with the "scapegoat" presenting himself, Colin raised his foot to kick the manager.

Even though the manager was prepared, he still cringed in fear, holding his head for protection.

Gina stepped forward and pushed Colin away. Colin stumbled two steps back, but Olivia had the presence of mind to catch him. "Mr. Barnes, be careful," she said, steadying him.

Colin was still a little confused and disoriented, but soon, he realized that it was Gina who just pushed him. His face darkened. However, she didn't even glance at him.

Instead, she turned to the manager, who was sitting on the floor, shivering. "Get up, no one's going to hit you."

The manager, still scared, didn't dare disobey Gina. He slowly got up and said humbly. "Thank you, Miss Miller"

"Don't cry yet. Where can I change my clothes? I need to change Gina said. Then she turned to Gabriel. "Gabriel, let's leave after I change. I don't want to watch the exhibition anymore. Wait for me outside."

"Okay," Gabriel replied.

Gabriel chose to listen to Gina.

He understood Gina's intentions. She didn't want to involve the innocent and frightened manager any further.

Moreover, he could see that Gina was surrounded by a crowd and was very unhappy. There was no point in prolonging the standoff with Colin. It was better to take Gina somewhere quiet and cozy.

Gina looked around and ordered, "Everyone, disperse."

The onlookers, realizing there was no more drama to witness, scattered in different directions.

Olivia nodded vigorously, clutching the business card Colin had given her.

"10's about genes, maybe" Gina replied lightly. She was telling the truth. In fact, not everyone in the Miller family had such good smooth skin, but Gina, as the only daughter, had won the genetic lottery and inherited all the advantages.

Gina's answer left Isabella momentarily speechless. She didn't know how to continue the conversation

"Oh, I see. My skin isn't very good and needs regular care, Isabella admitted Awkwardly.

If she could cultivate a strong relationship with Gina, it would be easy to persuade Gabriel to invest in their family business in the future. After all, she was carrying the glorious mission of uphold the family honor!

"I understand, Miss Miller. After all, as the director of Prover Hospital, you must be very busy during the week. I now have your contact information, so can I message you sometimes? Isabella looked at the manager and got angry. "Are you crazy? Why are you crying here? Now tell us, what happened?"

The manager choked, stammered, and finally broke down. "Miss Miller, the cars you offered for display were destroyed

Gina was a little surprised. Seeing the manager's frightened look it was clear he couldn't explain what had happened. She had only gone to change clothes for a few minutes. What could have occurred in that time?

Gina walked towards the supercar exhibition area where her cars were displayed.

The area was already crowded with people talking.

She saw a man in a suit, clutching a knife, being subdued by two security guards and held down on the ground. The man was) struggling and hissing as if he were having a manic episode, his eyes red with rage.
