Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1343

Nigel and Nellie rushed to Neil's side.

The van parked outside their house was none other than the missing florist's van!

Also, Nigel noticed that the rear tires of the van were stained with blood. When the three children were peeking through the glass, a woman dressed in black walked toward the back of the car. She opened the door and took out a white bucket that was filled with liquid.

She turned, went into the garden, and came out from the other side of it. She opened the bucket and poured out the clear liquid into the bottom of the villa.

Nellie suddenly realized that when she thought she smelled gasoline, she had been right.

It was the smell of gasoline, after all!

"It's Aura." Although Nigel did not see the woman's face, he already knew who it was. "She wants to burn down the house and kill all of us inside. With that amount of gasoline, it'll be impossible to put out the fire once she lights it."

With that, Nigel said calmly, "Nellie, look for the butler, get the butler to bring the few servants to escort you and Neil away quietly. Me, Zach, and Yuri will go upstairs to find Mommy. Mommy's been working hard for the last few days. She didn't get enough sleep, and now she must be sound asleep. Me, Zach, and Yuri will be able to save Mommy no matter what."

Finally, Nigel instructed, "Remember, get the butler to leave as soon as possible, leave everything behind and sneak out from the back. Don't make any sound.

I see there's still a lot of gasoline left in Aura's car. We still have time. If we frighten her, then none of us can escape! "

Nellie nodded. She left swiftly to knock on the butler's door.

Once the butler learned about the situation, he ran toward Neil and carried him from the wheelchair.

Then, he gathered the servants and left.

Nigel lowered his voice and gave Zach and Yuri a few words of caution before leading them upstairs.

Lily bit down on her lip as she followed behind the group of servants.

Then, she lowered her voice and approached the butler. "Where are Nigel and Ms.

Luna? Why are there only Nellie and Neil?"

The butler whispered, "Nigel is bringing Zach and Yuri to save Luna.

She's exhausted and sleeping upstairs. We don't have time to wait for her."

With that, the butler shot Lily a puzzled glance, grabbed hold of her hand, and tried to leave.

Lily bit down on her lip and shook off the butler's hand. She lifted her head to glance in the direction of the stairs.

Finally, she made up her mind and sprinted up the stairs. Some of the servants caught sight of this and tried to stop her, but she managed to run off.

"Let her go." Nellie let out a sigh. "Lily was saved by Mommy when they were abroad. She probably cares about her way more than we do."

Upstairs.

Nigel instructed Zach to squat at the balcony and keep an eye on Aura

while she kept pouring the gasoline. Meanwhile, he and Yuri stooped right next to Luna, whispering her name to wake her up.

"Mommy—!"

"Ms. Luna..."

However, no matter how hard they tried, she continued sleeping soundly, her eyes shut.

Nigel felt that something was not right. He knew his own mother very well.

During these few years of raising the three children on her own, she slept very lightly all the time, no matter how tired she was.

She would never fall into such a deep sleep, unable to be roused even with Nigel and Yuri shouting her name.
At that moment, the room door opened. A man's shadow darted into the room.
Just as Nigel and Yuri were about to defend themselves against the sudden intruder, they realized it was Lily.
"Ms. Luna can't be awakened."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1344

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1344

Lily let out an exhale, clenched her teeth, and said in a choked voice, "I know she's always been a light sleeper and that she's been too exhausted lately...so I gave her some sleep-inducing tea to drink before bed.
"If everything goes right, she'll be asleep until tomorrow morning..."
Nigel's entire body stiffened when he heard this. After a moment, he pursed his lips and let out an exhale. "Alright then, Zach and Yuri, plan B. We don't need to wake Mommy; we'll take her away right now!"
Yuri nodded. Then, as soon as he wrapped Luna up in a blanket, a smokey, burning stench wafted in from outside.
"It's too late..." Zach, who at this moment was looking out from the balcony, bit down on his lip with a pained expression. He stared at Aura, who was standing near the back door, brandishing a pair of hedge trimming scissors and forcing the butler, the servants, and the two children back into the house. "She's discovered them."
Not only did Aura discover them trying to escape, but she even set the entire house on fire.
Because of the gasoline she poured, the entire Blue Bay Villa had erupted into flames.
However, she used the scissors to force Nellie, Nigel, and the servants back into the burning house!

The smell of burning rubber was incredibly pungent, and it finally woke Luna.

As soon as she felt the high temperature and strange odor in the room, she immediately knew what had happened.

When she opened her eyes, the first thing she heard was Zach saying, "It's too late..."

What did he mean, it was too late? What was too late?

Luna furrowed her brows and immediately stormed onto the balcony.

She was devastated by the scene before her.

Aura was brandishing a weapon and forcing the rest of the people back into the burning building! As she did this, she cackled, "You won't escape this today! "

"Luna and her three children—as well as the unborn baby in her womb—will all have to die!

Luna bit down on her lip as she stood on the balcony, staring at Aura in the distance.

She could not let Aura lure them back into the burning building.

Nellie and Nigel were children.

If they got any closer to the house...they would die of suffocation from the melted chemicals, if not burnt to death!

As soon as she thought of this, Luna let out an exhale and shouted, gripping the red-hot balcony railing, "Aura! I'm right here! "

Aura's entire body stiffened when she heard this. she glanced in the direction of Luna's voice.

Luna was standing on the balcony across from her in her sleep clothes.

Seeing that Aura had taken notice of her, Luna let out an exhale and curled her lips into a smirk. "Aura Gibson! You're so useless that you only bully those that are weaker than you!

No wonder you couldn't compare to me at all while we were growing up!

"That's because you never dared to attack me and instead constantly bullied the elderly and the young! "

Luna's voice was laced with coldness and contempt. How could an already insane Aura possibly ignore these taunts? She clutched the hedge trimming scissors tightly and tried to suppress the insanity in her as she screamed, "What are you saying?" "What am I saying?" Luna chuckled. "Do you think you'll win by forcing them to their deaths? No, even after you kill them, I'll jump off this balcony and get saved. "The baby in my belly will be born, and I'll still be Joshua's love of his life. "You'll never be able to kill me! Never! "

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1345

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1345

According to her personality, Aura would not usually be so easily triggered by Luna's deliberate taunts. Since she had no other means of turning her life around, however, Aura lost her usual calmness and instead lifted her head to glare at Luna, who stood on the balcony across from her. "Do you honestly think I'll never be able to kill you?" "Yes, you'll never be able to kill me." Luna snickered. "Even if you force the rest of them back into the burning house and kill them, you won't be able to escape prosecution either. "Even after you get sentenced to death, I'll still be living happily ever after with Joshua and bear more children for him! " Something snapped inside Aura when she heard this. She bit down on her lip and glowered at Luna. "Are you planning to give your life in exchange for these people's?" Luna sneered. "What do you think?" Aura let out an exhale and immediately stormed toward Luna. "You can't escape now, Luna! "

Seeing that Aura had finally been diverted, the butler immediately led the servants and the two children out of the back door and fled to the other side of the road. At this moment, the entire Blue Bay Villa was covered in flames. Luna let out an exhale when she saw Aura sprinting in her direction. "Zach, Yuri, jump off this balcony with Nigel and Lily right now. Save yourselves! "

Nigel frowned and grabbed hold of Luna's shirt hem. "What about you, Mommy?"

Luna let out another exhale and lowered her head to stare at Nigel. "You're the most mature one among your siblings. You should know better than anyone that if I escape with you, Aura will jump off the balcony too when she realizes there's no one here.

"On top of that, she has a weapon with her, and she's insane now. There are so many of us...and we don't have weapons, so even if Zach and Yuri are here to help us, we'll still be hurt.

"The only way is for me to stay and keep her occupied so you can escape."

With that, she pressed a kiss onto Nigel's forehead and said, "Please go, quick. If Aura arrives and the fire spreads, then there won't be any time to escape ! "

Nigel, who had always been calm and level-headed even in dire situations, whimpered with red-rimmed eyes, "But Mommy— "

Luna let out an exhale. "Zach, Yuri ! Take Nigel and Lily with you, and jump off this balcony right now! "

Zach and Yuri knew that Luna's decision was putting herself in an extremely dangerous situation, but...

At the same time, they knew that if Luna did not stay back to keep Aura occupied, the consequences would be even more dire, and she might not even survive that.

After all, Aura's primary target was Luna.

As soon as they thought of this, Zach and Yuri exchanged glances, then dragged Nigel to the edge of the balcony.

"Where's Lily?" Just as they were about to leap off, however, they discovered that Lily had gone missing.

However, at the same time, they heard Aura's footsteps outside the door.

There was no time left...

The two of them carried Nigel between them and leaped off the balcony, using their bodies to shield Nigel from the impact.

As soon as the three of them landed on the ground, someone kicked the door wide open.

Aura stepped into the room, holding the hedge trimming scissors in her hand, a vengeful expression on her face.

The fire had already spread to the second floor.

Luna's forehead was covered in sweat from the scorching heat. She clutched the railing tightly as she watched Aura walk toward her, step by step.

The room they were in was Luna and Joshua's bedroom, so there was not anything in the room that could be used as a weapon to defend herself.

On the other hand, the sharp blade of Aura's scissors gleamed in the light.

"I think you're right, Luna," remarked Aura as she made her way toward Luna, clutching the scissors. "No matter what happens, I won't be able to live past tonight. "Even if I killed those people just now, you'll still survive."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1346

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1346

"As long as you're still alive, you'll be able to bear children for Joshua and live happily ever after!

That's why..."

Aura narrowed her eyes and continued in a cold voice, "I'm willing to let all of them go, except you!"

Her biggest wish since young was to see Luna dead, and with no other way out, she had to kill Luna.

Otherwise, her life would have no meaning!

Just as Aura was about four or five meters away from Luna, the electricity went out with a snap.

The fire had probably spread to the villa's control room, causing the main electricity circuit box to go out.

Despite that, the villa was still as bright as day.

The flames illuminated Aura's face so brightly that it made her look grotesque.

Luna clutched the railing so tightly that her hands were starting to sweat.

She bit down on her lip and said, "Aura, you and I are sisters. How did we even get to this point? I've treated you as my sister all my life."

"Well, I never thought of you as mine!" Aura snapped as she glowered at Luna. "I knew since young that you weren't my real sister!"

Aura had an excellent memory from a young age. She remembered that one time, her sister got lost, and her father Joseph brought another young girl home, claiming that it was her sister.

At that time, Aura had asked her mother Natasha what was going on, but Natasha gave her a spanking and told her not to speak of this any further, claiming that this new girl was her sister.

This memory burned in Aura's brain up to this very day.

As they grew up, Luna became more and more outstanding, and Aura grew more and more envious of her.

When she enquired Joseph and Natasha about this, however, she found out that Luna had come from a wealthy, powerful family, and Aura's real, biological sister had gone to live a comfortable life.

Luna was more eye-catching than her, and everyone seemed to be living a better life than her!

Aura started to detest Luna for this and loathed her for possessing such good genes. Even though she grew up in a poor family, Luna still managed to excel in life and even married such an outstanding man as Joshua Lynch! She, on the other hand, had nothing... Aura hated Luna since she was a teenager.

As soon as she recalled the humiliation and insult she endured all through these years, Aura let out an exhale and stormed toward Luna, brandishing the scissors. Luna ducked away deftly.

Aura did not expect that someone as physically exhausted as Luna would be able to dodge her attacks so deftly. Therefore, she grew even more enraged and started stabbing Luna from all directions.

Initially, Luna had planned to deplete Aura's energy so that she could kick the scissors away from her and escape. In that case, Aura would not be able to hurt anyone even if she leaped off the balcony after Luna, considering she did not have her weapon with her anymore.

However, Luna never thought that Aura would become so insane, like a deranged person.

She possessed strength that seemed to be limitless!

The heat from the fire and physical exhaustion made Luna so sweaty that it was as though she had been brought out of the ocean.

Even though she had dodged Aura's attacks, she was still cut by the knife in various places over her body.

Luna's energy was depleted minute by minute.

Finally, she leaned against the balcony in exhaustion, clutching the railing and gasping for breath. She wanted to jump off, but she did not even have the strength to propel her body over the railing anymore.

“Die, Luna! “ Aura raised the scissors above her and stabbed it into Luna’s abdomen.

Blood squirted out and sprayed everywhere.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 1347

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 1347

Luna’s entire body stiffened for a moment as blood splattered onto her face.

She stared at the back of Lily’s head, who had sprinted out of nowhere to shield her from Aura’s attack, as well as the...share blade that had punctured through Lily’s chest. Her entire mind was blank.

How did Lily appear out of nowhere?

“Ms. Luna, run! “ Lily clenched her teeth and grabbed hold of Aura’s body with bloodstained hands. “Run, quick! You saved me all those years ago, and I’ve remembered it since. This is my way of repaying your kindness! “

Aura’s entire face twisted into a grimace when she heard this. She glared at Lily, as well as

Luna, who was hiding behind her, with a grotesque expression. “You b*tch! “

She summoned all the strength in her body to withdraw the scissors from Lily’s body, but

Lily held onto her as tightly as she could. No matter how hard Aura tried, she could not release herself from Lily’s grip.

“Run, Ms. Luna! “ Lily shouted with all her might as she spat out a mouthful of blood. “My death will be meaningless if you don’t escape soon! “

Luna bit down on her lip and wiped her tears. Finally, she let out an exhale and summoned the last ounce of strength in her body to flip herself over the second-floor balcony.

Luna leaped off the railing with a thud.

She thought she would land on the ground, but to her surprise, she landed on a soft, bouncy, inflatable mattress.

The red-hot flames licked her face, and the temperature was so high that it seemed like everything around her would melt.

As soon as Luna landed on the mattress, she was pulled into a warm embrace before she could even move.

A familiar man's scent wafted into her nose, and Luna lifted her head in delight. "Joshua?"

"It's me." Joshua clutched her tightly and sprinted out of the yard, leaving behind him the flames that were engulfing everything in his path, along with a screaming Aura.

Joshua pulled Luna close to his side and made his way out of the fire with steadfast footsteps and determined eyes.

"Luna," he muttered hoarsely and lowly, laced with gratitude over having found Luna once more. "I made it."

Initially, he had brought Lucas and the rest of the bodyguards with him to the clinic in the countryside to find Aura.

The surveillance equipment in the countryside was highly underdeveloped, so they could not see the surveillance tapes of the clinic at all. On top of that, it was extremely easy to tamper with the surveillance footage.

The reason they did not contact the clinic before their arrival was out of fear that it would alert Aura of their coming.

However...

When they were almost there, Lucas had turned on Banyan City news to relieve the anxiety he was feeling.

As soon as he heard the news of the murdered florist who had been delivering white flowers...Joshua suddenly recalled the florist he had met in Lynch Mansion.

Because of this, he immediately turned the car around and sped back to Blue Bay Villa with Lucas and the bodyguards.

Before they even reached the front door of Blue Bay Villa, Joshua had already caught sight of the flames.

The enormous fire lit up the entire sky and made it look like day instead of night.

Upon seeing this, Joshua grabbed the steering wheel from Lucas, got behind the wheel himself, and sped all the way back to Blue Bay Villa.

He was worried that he would not make it in time... but thank God.

At this moment, Joshua's heart was beating heavily as he clutched Luna in his arms.

Thank God.

Thank God he made it back in time...

By the time Joshua carried Luna across the street, the fire had already made its way to the top floor of Blue Bay Villa.

At this moment, the firefighters arrived.

All of the inhabitants of Blue Bay Villa stood across the road and watched as their former home burned down.

Nellie squatted on the floor and started sobbing in misery.

Luna walked over and picked her up in her arms. "What's wrong?"

"Daddy and Mommy's home," she said as she cried. "Daddy and

Mommy must've had a lot of good memories in here, haven't you?"

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1348

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1348

"It's all burnt down now... And Lily..."

Nellie sobbed so much at this point that she needed to catch her breath.

"I can never taste

Lily's homemade breakfast ever again...!"

Luna let out a sigh and pulled Nellie into a tight embrace but did not say a word.

Joshua gave Lucas some instructions to call a bus and send everyone to Orchard Manor.

Meanwhile, he, Zach, and Yuri stayed behind to deal with matters regarding the fire with the firefighters.

The fire went on for the entire night and was finally put out at sunrise.

This fire—which had lit up Banyan City for the whole night—became the topic of attention online.

However, with Joshua, Jude, and Bonnie's influence, they concluded that this fire was due to human error and curbed any panic from spreading within the city.

After the fire was put out, the firefighters found Lily and Aura's dead bodies.

The two corpses were found together, holding onto each other.

The scissors which Aura had attempted to kill Luna with were still stuck within Lily's flesh.

Aura had climbed onto the balcony, her hands wrapped tightly around the railing, but was stopped by Lily. They died like this, with Lily clinging onto Aura to prevent her from going after Luna.

The state of their bodies was grotesque and heart-wrenching.

Joshua and the rest of the crew mourned Lily's death in silence for three minutes.

If it were not for this strong woman...Luna would have been the one dead instead.

Maybe, even after Luna died, Aura would still go on hurting other people.

It was this strong-willed woman who had sacrificed herself that prevented all these tragedies from occurring.

"The house that had burned down belonged to Joshua Lynch, the wealthiest man in Banyan

City?"

Inside a five-star hotel in Banyan City, Harvey was sucking on a lollipop as he turned to glance at the man sitting next to him, who was staring at a photo of a group of girls with a dark expression. "Daddy, isn't this the man that Aunty Aura loved for many years?"

Without even lifting his head, the man replied, "Why are you asking me this if you already know the answer? Didn't you stir up trouble at their share-reallocation ceremony yesterday?"

Harvey removed the lollipop from his mouth. "I didn't go there to cause any trouble!" He lifted his head to glare at the man. "I'm a detective; I went there to explain the crime-solving process to them! Don't talk nonsense like this without checking your facts, Daddy! "

Jim let out a scoff and glanced at his son coldly. "Let me ask you this: Were you the one who stole the jade pendant that I left in the drawer?"

Harvey pouted slightly. "I took it away to see what kind of reaction you'd have... You're always so uptight, Daddy. It's miserable."

"So you took my most precious possession away to make me happy?" Jim closed the folder he was reading and continued in a frosty tone, "I shouldn't have listened to you and taken you along with me to find your mother."

What had he been thinking?

That woman from six years ago...had probably already left Banyan City or even died...

Finding her would be like trying to find a needle in a haystack. How was he even persuaded into doing this?

"Well, it's not all bad, Daddy." Harvey pointed at the burnt-down Blue Bay Villa on the television screen. " We can visit the scene of the fire."

Jim furrowed his brows, glanced at the photos of the fire, and rolled his eyes at Harvey.

No matter how unwilling, he still took Harvey to Blue Bay Villa after the crowd had dissipated so as to fulfill Harvey's desires of becoming a detective.

By the time they arrived, it was already evening.

As soon as they arrived at the scene, Harvey started finding clues like the detectives he had read in his crime novels.

Jim had nothing to do, so he sat down in the destroyed backyard.

A gust of wind blew past him, bringing with it a half- burnt photography.

He picked up the photo and glanced at it.

A split second later, his entire body stiffened.

The woman in the photo...looked exactly like his mother!

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1349

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1349

“Luna, why did you even want to come here so early in the morning?” A red Ferrare pulled up next to the ruins of what was once Blue Bay Villa. Bonnie got out of the car and opened Luna’s door, complaining, “ It’s all burnt down now, so what’s there to look at? “

Luna, still pale, offered a faint smile and replied, “ Joshua said that the air here is still polluted from the smog, so he forbade Nellie, Neil, and Nigel to come over, but the three of them kept going on about wanting to retrieve some stuff from Blue Bay Villa. I had no choice but to come myself.”

Bonnie pursed her lips. “Is there even anything that was spared from the fire?”

Luna shrugged and chuckled. “We’ll bring home whatever we can find.” With that, she lifted her head to glance at the remains of Blue Bay Villa. This had been a tall, towering building just the day before, but it was reduced to almost nothing. She could not help but lament this fact.

All of a sudden, Luna recalled Lily. A fresh, young life.

It was all because of Aura...

“Everything that remains here seems to belong to a woman, “ a clear, childish voice rang out next to Luna and Bonnie.

The two of them turned to look in the direction of the voice.

A young boy dressed in black was walking amongst the ruins, clutching a small bag with him. As he walked, he murmured to himself, “This might be a piece of useful evidence. I’ll have to take it to the police station later.”

Luna froze for a moment, then exchanged a glance with Bonnie.

This boy looked oddly familiar.

Bonnie furrowed her brows. She recognized this boy as the one who had been at the share - reallocation ceremony the day before, the one who claimed to be a young detective and provided evidence of Michael’s involvement in Granny Lynch’s murder.

If she remembered correctly, she had found his jade pendant and had been meaning to return it to him.

“Hey, pal, “ greeted Bonnie in a low voice as she approached him. Harvey, who had been immersed in finding more pieces of evidence, gave a start when he heard her voice.

He immediately took a step back and braced himself in a defense position.

When he saw that it was Bonnie, he furrowed his brows and cocked his head to look at her.

“Hello, pretty lady. What’s the matter?”

All of a sudden, he caught sight of Luna, who was standing behind Bonnie.

The color drained from his face. This was bad.

This woman was the owner of Blue Bay Villa. Even though the police and the firefighters had left, and the villa was no longer under police protection, he had still waltzed into someone else’s property and picked up their belongings...

Would he be beaten up for this?

As soon as he thought of this, Harvey quickly sprinted toward Luna and handed his bag to

her. “

This is a gift for you! I found all these items, and they seemed to belong to a woman. I think she might be your relative or friend. Please take good care of them! “

With that, he ran off in the opposite direction.

Before he could make it far, however, Bonnie grabbed hold of his shirt collar and said, pursing her lips, “Hey, where are you running off to?”

Initially, she had wanted to return the jade pendant to him, so she caught him before he could get away.

But Harvey felt guilty over his actions and thought that Bonnie would give him a piece of her mind. The corners of his lips pulled down in a frown, and he immediately raised his voice. “Mr. Jim Landry! Your son is about to get sent to jail! Please come and help him! “

In the backyard a short distance away, Jim had put the photo of the woman into his pocket.

As soon as he heard his son's cries, he quickly made his way to Harvey. At this moment, his mischievous son was being held by his collar by a woman dressed in red, wailing and crying for help.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1350

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1350

Somehow, Jim thought that his son...bore a striking resemblance to this woman.

Still...

He sighed.

Jim remembered that although Harvey's mother was from Banyan City, like this woman, she was poor, skinny, and mute. The woman standing in front of him was the opposite of all that, obviously so.

Jim walked toward Luna and Bonnie to greet them. He then lowered his voice and explained, "My son is a fan of detective novels. I saw that the police and firefighters had left, so I brought him here to have a look. Don't worry, though. If we find anything, I'll make sure to pass it to the police if I can't return it to you."

This did not raise Luna's suspicion. She held the bag that Harvey gave her and smiled at them. "I'm sure you mean no harm. However, this is a crime scene of arson. The fire was put out not long ago, so the air is still filled with the smell of burnt chemicals.

Your son is just six or seven years old. It's not safe for him to be here. It'd be bad if he accidentally hurt himself."

Jim nodded and thanked Luna.

Just when he was about to leave, he was reminded of something and handed Luna the

Luna lowered her head to glance at the photo.

It was a photo of her from a long time ago. If not for that photo, she would have almost forgotten that there were many pictures of her before her plastic surgery left behind in Blue Bay Villa.

Luna's gaze lingered on the photo for a moment before she replied, "I'm not sure."

She was not comfortable sharing too much information with the stranger in front of her.

Jim furrowed his brows and glanced at Luna.

This photo was found in the ruins of her own house, so how could she not know who the person in the picture was?

Nonetheless, he knew very well that Luna was unwilling to share more, so he did not press on the matter.

Jim walked over to Bonnie and smiled. "Hello. You're holding onto my son's collar. I apologize on his behalf should he have offended you, and I hope you won't take it to heart."

When Bonnie turned and caught sight of the man's face, she was utterly stunned.

He was an attractive gentleman with beautiful, deep-set eyes, angular eyebrows, and long lashes. He had a pair of rosy, bow-shaped lips.

This was...

The man of her dreams.

She stared at his face for a long while but remained wordless.

Jim furrowed his brows, puzzled by the way she was looking at him. He apologized to Bonnie again, picked up Harvey, and left.

Even after Jim's car disappeared in the distance, Bonnie was still staring in the direction where they had left.

"Are you going crazy?" Luna shook her hand in front of Bonnie to get her attention.

Bonnie finally snapped out of it.

"That man is so handsome." She sighed. "But he has a child with him. He's probably married already."

With that, Bonnie wailed, "I don't stand a chance! "
Luna rolled her eyes at this. "You always say this when you see someone handsome." As she said this, Luna opened the bag that Harvey had given her. Inside the bag was a metal box. As soon as she laid eyes on it, Luna knew that it belonged to Lily.

Luna got back into the car and opened the box. Inside it was a phone. She pressed on the power button, and it surprised her that the phone was still functional.

At first, Luna intended to peek inside Lily's phone and see if there were things she wanted to do, but did not get the chance to, so that she could help Lily fulfill her wishes.

After all, there was nothing much she could do for Lily anymore. However, to Luna's surprise, many messages started to come in when she switched on the phone.

As soon as she read the messages, a chill went down Luna's spine.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1351

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1351

All the messages inside Lily's phone were from Malcolm.

"What's the situation with her and Joshua? I need an update."

"Find an opportunity to force her back."

"Have you earned Joshua's trust? Why are you not replying?"

"If needed, proceed with Plan S."

As soon as she saw the messages, Luna felt as if her heart was squeezed by an invisible hand. It made her uncomfortable.

It was apparent that this phone was used specifically for Lily and Malcolm to communicate.

The messages started the moment Lily arrived in Banyan City, and it had not stopped since.

When Luna first started reading the texts, she thought that Malcolm's intentions for contacting Lily were out of genuine concern.

However, later on...

The information that Malcolm asked from Lily became more and more detailed. From the beginning, it was about Luna's working hours and the amount of time she saw Joshua. Later on, he wanted to know the amount of time she spent with her children and Joshua.

On top of that...

He even inquired how many times Luna went into Joshua's room to conceive a baby to save

Nigel, as well as the duration that she was in there, what time she left the following morning, and how she was doing when she left...

All the details were recorded and given accurately...

Malcolm used Lily for all-rounded surveillance on Luna. There were instances when the details that Malcolm wanted were too much and too intimate that Lily refused to give him.

However, Malcolm would always bring up Lily's brother, who was staying with the Quinn family. Therefore, Lily would always eventually give in, follow the instructions, and report every detail of Luna's life.

Nevertheless, it had been two weeks since the last time Lily reported to Malcolm.

In the final report, Lily mentioned the Landry family. (Sir, the incident of Granny Lynch being poisoned is related to the Landry family. Since you're so close to them, you could actually help, but why...]

Malcolm replied calmly, (All I care about is Luna. Whatever is going on in the Lynch family has nothing to do with me.)

When Luna read this message, it made her uneasy, not because Malcolm refused to help the Lynch family. After all, there was nothing wrong with what he said. All he cared about was her. It was fair for Malcolm to show no interest in the Lynch family.

What made Luna uncomfortable was...

Malcolm did not say anything to rebuke when Lily mentioned he was very close with the Landry family. This meant he indeed was very close with them.

Moreover, Luna had been best friends with Malcolm for the past six years, yet she had never heard him mention anything about the Landry family or what they were up to.

On the other hand, Lily, a maid in the Quinn family they had rescued, could easily bring up the relationship between Malcolm and the Landry family.

On top of that, in the conversation, Malcolm mentioned that there were ulterior motives for saving Luna and the children...

Luna felt a chill go down her spine. She suddenly realized that she did not know much about Malcolm at all...

Bonnie noticed Luna's expression and knew that something was not right. "What's wrong?" she asked with a frown.

Luna quickly put the phone away and shook her head. "Nothing's wrong."

Luna thought maybe she was just overthinking. Malcolm could be just making conversation.

His rescuing her six years ago was nothing but a coincidence. How could there be other reasons behind it?

In fact, Malcolm ultimately tried his best to help her with the treatment and plastic surgery...and had even got into a dispute with Granny Quinn about her. How could she possibly question him?

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1352

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1352

As for the Landry family, Luna thought maybe it was just a coincidence and that Malcolm had never brought them up in front of her.

She should not have suspected him, the man who had saved her life, much less think that he had other intentions for instructing Lily to spy on her. Maybe he just cared too much about her...

Thinking this, Luna let out an exhale and turned off the phone. Then, she got up and asked Bonnie to send her home.

While on the way back to Orchard Manor, Luna took out her phone to check the news in order to keep her mind off her discovery.

The first thing she saw on the news was the fire at Blue Bay Villa the night before.

After that, the news portal showed photos of both Aura and Lily, while the news anchor reported in a calm tone, "According to what we know, the culprit behind this arson was none other than Joshua Lynch's ex-fiancée, Aura Gibson.

"She set this fire out of anger that Joshua had gotten together with other women after their breakup.

Fortunately, apart from a servant named Lily who worked at Blue Bay Villa, no other people were injured..."

As soon as she saw the picture of Lily on her screen, Luna sniffed as tears started to stream down her face.

If it were not for Lily...

Luna could not imagine what kind of chaos would have ensued in the Lynch family.

Lily had told her that she was repaying Luna's kindness for saving her life in the past, but

Luna had never expected to receive repayment for that and simply wished for Lily to have a good life...

Meanwhile, inside Quinn Mansion on the other side of the world.

"What is she trying to do, if not to repay us?"

Granny Quinn smashed a cup onto the ground with a ruthless look in her eyes.

The cup broke into pieces upon contact with the ground, and some of the shattered porcelain stabbed right into the leg of the man kneeling on the floor.

Blood seeped out of the cuts, but the man remained on his knees as though he could not experience pain at all. "She'll come back; I know her better than anyone."

“You „know“ her? “ Granny Quinn scoffed and swept her cold glance over Malcolm’s face.

“You promised me that she’d return as soon as she saved the child!

“What happened then? She managed to save the child, but she didn’t return!

“Now that the spy you planted by her side is dead, what are you going to use to prove to me that she’ll return?”

Seeing how angry Granny Quinn was, the second son of the Quinn family, Hunter, immediately

approached her and comforted her, saying, “Don’t get too mad, Granny.

You’ll put your body under too much stress.”

“Hmph! “ Granny glared at Malcolm, who was still kneeling on the ground. “If I had known you’d be such a wimp, I wouldn’t have sent you to Banyan City to find her!

“This woman was supposed to be our tool to control and threaten the Landry family! “

Granny Quinn grew more and more outraged as she said this, and she smashed another cup onto the ground in anger. “You told me that letting her undergo plastic surgery would prevent the Landry family from recognizing her and that she could become a useful chess piece in our game...but now?

She’s now Joshua Lynch’s girlfriend!

“Is this your magnificent plan to regain the Quinn family’s power? Why don’t you say it’s a scheme to make the Lynch and Landry families work out their conflicts and come after us?! “

This time, the cup landed on Malcolm’s face so hard that the impact tipped his face to the other side.

Despite this, he still kneeled on the ground calmly, without a single trace of emotion on his face. “Please don’t get upset, Granny. My plan hasn’t failed yet. “Luna will return to my side.

Don’t worry.”

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1353

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1353

Granny Lynch's memorial went on for three days. The whole city mourned her death.

On the day of the burial, the sky started to pour.

Luna held an umbrella next to Joshua as she stared quietly at Granny Lynch's tombstone.

Next to Granny Lynch's tombstone were two smaller ones for Luna's stillborn children.

The most recent child had been premature, and on top of that, so much had happened during that time that the tiny fetus passed away too.

Joshua put both the unborn children in the same plot and swore to always look after Luna so that she would never have to endure this pain again.

Right next to the children's tombstones was Lily's.

These few days, while Luna searched through Lily's possessions, she learned that Lily stopped providing any details of her to Malcolm because...Lily's sick brother, who had been living with the Quinn family, had passed away a few weeks ago.

Lily was only 19 years old. After her brother passed, she had no family left.

Joshua pitied this lonely girl, so he had her buried at the Lynch's graveyard as well. After all,

if it were not for Lily, the Lynch family would have another tombstone instead.

The rain became heavier, and the wind whipped through the air.

The raindrops carried by the wind dripped onto Luna, and she felt so cold that she shrank herself smaller. Despite that, she still stood there quietly next to Joshua.

Joshua could sense that Luna was cold. Joshua, dressed entirely in black, let out a sigh, took off his coat, and put it on Luna, taking the umbrella from her and saying, "Let's go."

Luna frowned and lifted her head to glance at Joshua. "Don't you want to spend a little more time with Granny Lynch?"

Joshua shook his head. "Granny Lynch is gone. No matter how long I stay here, she'll never come back.”

“But...”

Joshua reached out to pull Luna closer. “If you got sick because of standing here with me, Granny Lynch will be angry at me.”

Luna could feel the warmth radiating off Joshua’s body. She let out a sigh and quietly followed him out of the graveyard and into the car.

The black Masevati dashed through the rain.

Before they reached home, Joshua’s phone rang. It was from the hospital.

“Mr. Joshua, the specialists you wanted the hospital to find are here. We have provided all the details to them, and they have gone through them. Young Master Neil’s loss of memory isn’t incurable. Do you want to come to the hospital if you’re available to discuss this further?”

“Sure.”

As soon as he hung up, Joshua turned and glanced at Lucas, who was in the driver’s seat.

“Turn around and take me to the hospital.”

They soon arrived at this hospital.

As soon as she got out of the car, Luna caught sight of a flashy red Ferrare parked outside the hospital entrance.

There was only one person in the whole of Banyan City who would drive such a flashy car. It was Bonnie.

Luna got out of the car and texted Bonnie, (Are you not feeling unwell?) Because of Granny Lynch’s memorial, Bonnie had been busy taking care of the three children the last few days. She took such meticulous care of them that it was as though she was their mother instead of Luna.

Luna did not notice anything wrong with Bonnie during this time, so why did she come to the hospital?

It took Bonnie a while to reply to Luna. (I’m fine. I just haven’t been sleeping well for the past few days, so I „m here to get some sleeping pills. How do you know I“m at the hospital?

Are you at the hospital? Is something wrong?]

Before Luna could reply to her messages, Bonnie had already stormed out of the hospital to find her. She grabbed hold of Luna“s hand and asked, “Are you okay?

Are you not feeling well because of the miscarriage? Or were you too tired? Are you still having side effects from the medication that Dr. Janet gave you?”

Bonnie asked all the questions so quickly that Luna did not know whether to laugh or cry.

Luna held on to her hand and followed Joshua upstairs, explaining to her along the way that they were there to meet the specialists that wanted to help recover Neil“s memories.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn“t Easy chapter 1354

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn“t Easy chapter 1354

As soon as she heard the words, „recover memory,“ Bonnie paused and lowered her head.

“Recovering one“s memories...is it really a good thing?”

Luna nodded. “At least it will be, for Neil.”

After he lost his memories, Neil had always felt like an outsider despite having returned to their side. He no longer dared to joke around with Nellie like before, nor did he nag Nigel to put down his laptop and take care of himself like he used to.

Every time Luna saw how careful Neil became around his brother and sister, she felt her chest tighten and hurt. If it were not for her and Joshua“s mistake...this would not have happened.

This time, if the specialists that Joshua found could truly recover Neil“s lost memories...

Then even if he could not return to the cheerful, carefree boy he once was, he would not have to keep a distance from his brother and sister anymore.

The glimmer in Bonnie“s eyes faded when she heard this. “You“re right.

Children“s

memories—even if lost—are always happy ones, so it’ll be good to... regain those memories.”

Luna pursed her lips slightly when she heard how crestfallen Bonnie sounded.

Luna had been on Bay Bridge, too, the day Aura announced that Bonnie had once given birth. Even though Luna had been trying to comfort Bonnie not to take this shocking news to heart, they all knew that this was not a lie.

Aura would never have lied about this under those circumstances.

On top of that, Bonnie had indeed lost about a year of memory...

Luna clutched Bonnie’s hand, and the three of them went upstairs.

A few of the specialists were talking to Theo.

As the person who had been with Neil during his most challenging times, Theo had only one request for the specialists. “If you can’t guarantee that his memories will come back, then please don’t let him suffer through the process.”

Previously, when the specialists had conducted electroshock experiments to help regain subjects’ memories, it had indeed succeeded, but the test subjects underwent trauma during this process.

Theo was afraid that not only would Neil be unable to regain his memories, but he would be subjected to trauma as well...

This was too much for a six-year-old child, one who had just experienced psychological trauma of his own, to endure.

“But Mr. Theo...” The leader of the specialist team let out a sigh and lifted his head to stare at Theo. “There will always be risks to undergoing treatment. We can’t give up on helping Neil regain his memories simply because of the risks and uncertainties.”

Theo immediately furrowed his brows upon hearing this.

He slapped his hand on the tabletop and snapped, “You’re electrocuting people with amnesia to help them find their lost memories! If this electroshock treatment fails to help him regain his memories, how do you expect a six-year-old child to face the consequences? Can't you try it out on an adult first before you perform it on a child?"

The specialist was rendered speechless by this. "Mr. Theo, you have to know that there aren't many people with amnesia in this world, much less those whose memories were wiped off using medication.

"We can't even find a second person who lost their memories due to medication, so we— "

Theo scoffed. "Then there's no way I'm allowing this! "

The specialist shot Joshua a somewhat helpless look.

Joshua frowned and contemplated this for a moment, then said, "I agree with Theo."

Neil had already gone through too much, and he was slowly warming up to his family and healing from his trauma. If they subjected him to more turmoil... not only would it be unhelpful to him, but it would make him feel even worse about himself.

Seeing that Joshua, too, was unsupportive of this experiment, the specialist sighed and said,

"Alright, then. We have no other choice." "What do you mean, you have no other choice?"

Bonnie stepped forward with a smile. "You have me."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1355

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1355

Seeing that Bonnie had volunteered herself, Luna's first reaction was to grab her.

As Bonnie's friend, Luna knew better than anyone that Bonnie had no intention of regaining her lost memories at all.

Otherwise, according to Bonnie's wealth and power, she would definitely have sought out a doctor to help her regain her lost memories. It had been so many years since she lost her memories, yet she did not do so.

Therefore, it was clear she did not want to relive those memories at all because she knew

they were not good ones.

All of a sudden, Bonnie was willing to step forward as a volunteer to help Luna and Neil.

Luna grabbed hold of Bonnie's arm and shook her head. "That's okay, Bonnie."

Even though Luna longed for Neil to regain his memories, she did not need her friends to sacrifice for that.

To her surprise, Bonnie shook Luna's hand off, let out an exhale, and strode toward the specialists. "My situation is very similar to Neil's. Six years ago, my memories were wiped with medication, so I am the perfect test subject for your experiment."

The specialists exchanged a glance, then immediately rushed forward to grab hold of Bonnie's hand in delight and started asking about what had happened when she lost her memories.

Even though she was impatient, Bonnie still described the entire process to them. Finally, she glanced at Luna and let out a sigh. "Actually, I've always known that the memories I lost weren't good ones, so I never wanted to regain them at all, but..."

She curled her lips into a small smile. "Ever since Aura mentioned that I gave birth to a child during this time, I've been dreaming of a child, so I must find out what happened during that time."

Truth be told, the reason she had come to the hospital today was to do a test.

According to the results of the test, she had indeed given birth before.

As soon as she received the results, Bonnie had started contemplating whether she should regain her memories or not.

At this moment, she had made up her mind.

Therefore, Bonnie ignored Luna and Joshua's objections and immediately signed a consent form for the experiment.

Just as Theo said, the specialists used electrocution to help clear the nerves that the amnesia medication had blocked.

Luna watched through the glass window as Bonnie laid down on a bed and was connected to numerous electrodes on her head.

She appeared to be in so much pain that Luna could not bear to watch anymore. However, even with her back turned, Luna could still hear the cries and yelps coming out of Bonnie.

Joshua pulled Luna into his arms but did not say a word.

Theo heard Bonnie's pained cries and said somewhat guiltily, "If I hadn't secretly tossed away the medication that Aura gave me, I would've been the one lying there, undergoing the experiment in Neil's place."

Luna pursed her lips when she heard this. "Please don't say that, Theo..."

If Theo had lost his memories as well, then he would not have contacted them, and Neil would not have managed to get home so quickly.

Theo lifted his head to stare at Luna. Then, his gaze fell on Joshua's hand, which was on Luna's shoulder.

Seeing that Theo was staring at them, Luna froze, then immediately reached out a hand to shove Joshua's hand away.

Theo caught sight of this series of actions. He let out a weak chuckle and asked, "What are you so nervous about? Do you think that I won't find out that you guys made up if I didn't see his hand on your shoulder?"

Luna's face blushed scarlet. She bit down on her lip and muttered, "I'm sorry, Theo."

She had promised Theo, after all...

"What are you sorry about?" Theo shot her a helpless look. "All's fair in love and war; I'm glad that the two of you managed to make up.

"Although, I'll be leaving in a few days, as soon as Neil has regained his memories."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1356

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1356

Theo offered a smile, albeit bitter, and said, "Since I've failed so terribly in my relationships, I can't fail in being a good son either."

Luna bit her lower lip and was about to say something when suddenly, a loud alarm sounded through the treatment room.

The three of them immediately turned to see what was going on.

Inside the treatment room, the specialists were busy recalibrating the medical equipment.

Meanwhile, on the bed...

Bonnie laid motionless on the bed, her entire face pale.

Luna's eyes immediately widened in shock, and she stormed into the room. "What's going on?"

The specialists tested the machines nervously and replied, "Everything's fine; she's still alive.

It's just that...

"Somehow, she's suddenly not moving anymore! "

Luna lowered her head to stare at Bonnie's pale face and closed eyes, snapping, "What kind of treatment did you give her?"

"Luna..." Just as Luna was about to unleash her wrath on the specialists, Bonnie opened her eyes weakly and said, "Please don't blame them... Yes, the treatment process was a little unbearable, but it's still useful.

"I...I remember everything."

She let out a bitter chuckle. "It was just...too devastating."

As she said this, tears slid down her face from out of the corner of her eyes and landed on her pillow. "It turns out I did give birth to a child before. It was an adorable little boy with big, bright eyes...but I only got one look at him before Jason and that woman called Ms.

Jennifer took him away...

"My child..." Bonnie climbed out of bed and buried herself in Luna's arms, sobbing. "My child! He was taken away before I even got to hold him in my arms.

Jason sold my child in exchange for two hundred thousand dollars, but he gambled it all away in just one night.

“This is my child, my child that I spent ten months growing inside me...”

Luna, as a fellow mother, understood exactly how Bonnie was feeling.

She held onto

Bonnie’s thin body tightly in her arms and comforted her, “Don’t cry. As long as your child is still alive, we’ll be able to find him.

“Since the buyer spent two hundred thousand dollars on buying your son, this means that they couldn’t have mistreated him, and he must still be healthy and doing well now! “

Bonnie felt a little more reassured when she heard this.

After comforting and stabilizing Bonnie’s emotions, Joshua and the specialists settled on a date for Neil to undergo treatment to regain his memories.

Meanwhile, along with Anne’s help, Luna managed to find the identity and whereabouts of the woman known as Ms. Jennifer. She lived in the slums in the south of the city and engaged in illegal trade and activities.

The information that Anne gave Luna was extremely detailed and even provided photos of Ms. Jennifer herself.

When Luna showed the photos to Bonnie, her eyes lit up in recognition.

With that, she dragged Luna out of the hospital and headed to the address stated in Ms.

Jennifer’s profile.

When the two of them arrived at Ms. Jennifer’s gate, it was already evening.

There was a black Kayenne parked in front of Ms. Jennifer’s house.

As soon as Bonnie dragged Luna into the backyard excitedly, they heard a cold, male voice ring out from inside the house, “I want all the information about the woman from six years ago! “

Bonnie’s entire body stiffened when she heard this low voice.

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 1357

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn’t Easy chapter 1357

Luna noticed that Bonnie was acting strange and glanced at her, frowning. "What's wrong?"

Bonnie bit her lower lip and immediately stormed into the house, pushing the door open.

Her sudden appearance startled the two people within the house, making them turn around unanimously.

The woman kneeling on the floor inside the house was none other than Ms. Jennifer, the woman whom Anne had given them information on.

The man sitting on the sofa...was the one which Luna and Bonnie had met at the ruins of Blue Bay Villa the other day!

At this moment, he was sitting gracefully on the sofa and grazing his left thumb with his right hand.

His left thumb, where a jade ring should have been, was empty.

At this moment, the two of them were staring impassively at Bonnie.

Bonnie gnawed on her lip, swept her glance across the room, and furrowed her brows. "Are you two the only ones here?"

The man's voice she had heard from outside...was the exact same one as the man from six years ago.

Everyone, including Jason six years ago when he took her child away, had told her that the father of her son was a fat, ugly, old man. Aura did too, just a while back. However, the man sitting before her at this moment was handsome and elegant, with an aura of sophistication about him. It was clear this was not the man she was looking for.

"Who else were you hoping to see?" Jim shot Bonnie a cold glance and added, "You barged into a room without knocking. Is this what Bonnie Craig, the heiress of the Craig family and third wealthiest person in Banyan City, would do?"

Seeing that this man recognized her, Bonnie frowned and was about to say something when Luna appeared behind her.

As soon as she entered the room and discovered the awkward atmosphere, Luna realized what had happened. She gave the two strangers an awkward smile and apologized, "I „m so sorry. My friend has some urgent matters to discuss with Ms. Jennifer, so she barged in without knocking out of impatience. You should... You should continue! "

With that, she tugged Bonnie out of the door. Bonnie frowned and followed Luna somewhat reluctantly.

"Wait. " As soon as the two women retreated from the room, Jim furrowed his brows slightly and stood up. He walked over to Ms. Jennifer and looked down at her from his great height.

"I"ll give you three days. I want to know everything about that woman. "Don"t you dare try to mislead me. Otherwise, I"ll cut off both your hands entirely."

With that, he pulled out a tissue from his pocket and wiped his hands with it. Then, he tossed it onto Ms. Jennifer"s face and turned to leave.

As soon as he said this, Luna suddenly realized that both of Ms. Jennifer"s arms were dislocated and hanging limply by her side.

Luna narrowed her eyes. She did not expect that a man who looked so gentle and elegant would resort to such drastic measures.

As soon as Jim left, Luna dragged Bonnie into the room.

Luna did not know how to realign dislocated bones, so she lowered her head and took out her phone to contact a doctor from a nearby clinic.

Meanwhile, Bonnie let out an exhale and inquired impatiently, "Ms. Jennifer, I know you must still remember me. Years ago, you paid two hundred thousand dollars to take my child from me..."

This was what Jim overheard while he was opening his car door outside. Twenty thousand dollars? For a child?

A contemptuous smirk played on his lips as he lowered himself into his car.

When he was doing his research, Jim had found out that Bonnie Craig, the heiress of the

Craig family, had once been poor and miserable. Despite this, he never thought that she would be so desperate as to sell her own children.

Ever since he had Harvey, Jim grew more and more disdainful of people who were willing to sell their offspring for money. Therefore, he never thought that someone as powerful and prosperous as Bonnie would do such a thing as well.

How revolting.

"Ms. Craig, I have no idea what you're talking about."

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1358

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1358

Inside the house, Ms. Jennifer kneeled on the ground with her head lowered, not daring to look straight at Bonnie.

Bonnie bit her lip. "How can you not know? You were the one who took my child from me.

You said that the child's father forced you to take him away!

"How dare you feign innocence with me now and pretend not to remember? Do you think I'm that naive?"

Bonnie bit down on her lip, glanced at Ms. Jennifer's dislocated arms, and gave her a kick on her thigh. "Why did you behave so submissively in front of that man just now but pretend to know nothing in front of me? Do you honestly think I won't do anything to you?"

As soon as Bonnie's high-heeled feet struck her thigh, Ms. Jennifer was in so much pain that tears sprang into her eyes. Both her arms were dislocated, and she was still tied up, so there was nothing she could do apart from begging for mercy. "Ms. Craig, I really have no idea!

You should know that people in this industry have to destroy all evidence of every business transaction as soon as it's completed. I couldn't possibly have kept the buyer's information for six years! "

Bonnie did not want to hear this at all. She landed another kick so hard that Ms. Jennifer gave in immediately. "Ms. Craig, I really can't remember... The only thing I remember...is that the buyer is from abroad! He's from Merchant City, the capital of Y Country." Bonnie narrowed her eyes and gave Ms. Jennifer one final kick. This time, Ms. Jennifer had no other information to provide, so all she could do was beg for mercy.

It was clear this was all she knew. Bonnie rubbed her brows in exasperation. The buyer was from Merchant City, the capital of Y Country. Even though any information was better than none... Merchant City was still a big place. Finding a six-year-old child there would be no different from finding a needle in a haystack.

As soon as she thought of this, Bonnie could not stop herself from giving Ms. Jennifer another hard This time, Ms. Jennifer did not say anything and instead just wailed in agony. Seeing how frustrated Bonnie was, Luna let out a sigh and stopped her. "That's enough."

They were here to track down the buyer, not to beat up someone. Besides, according to how greedy and power-hungry people like Ms. Jennifer were, she would definitely try to use this against Bonnie if she beat her up or injured her. If that happened, Bonnie would have an even harder time trying to get rid of her, and chaos would ensue.

As soon as she heard Luna's words, Bonnie could not help giving Ms. Jennifer another cold glare before finally leaving. The moment they stepped out of the house, the two of them realized that the black Kayenne was still parked in the yard. Seeing that they had come out, Jim pushed the door open and gracefully got out of the driver's seat. "My ladies."

Bonnie rolled her eyes at him in indignation. "Why are you still here?"
"Don't worry; I wasn't here to eavesdrop on your involvement in human trafficking on purpose."

"You!" Bonnie glowered at him. "What right do you have to comment on this?"

No matter how poor she had once been, she would never sell her own children! If it were not for the fact that she had been weak postpartum and that Jason and Ms. Jennifer had snatched the child away from her, she would not have let him leave her side!

"Well, you're right. I can't understand why some people would be so shameless as to sell their own children to gain money, so I have no right to comment on this at all." Jim scoffed.

"But I'm not here to argue with you on that."

With that, he turned to look at Luna. "I have something to talk to you about."

Luna clutched Bonnie's hand in hers and tried to suppress Bonnie's rage. "If you want to ask me about the woman in the photo again, sir, then unfortunately, I can't help you."

Jim chuckled. "I've already found out the identity of the woman in the photo."

He stared impassively at Luna and said, "I just wanted to ask you one thing: You were involved in Alice Gibson's suicide with Joshua, right?"

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1359

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 1359

Luna's entire body stiffened when she heard the mention of Alice's name.

After a moment, she came to a realization.

Luna remembered that when Jim handed her an old photo of herself, she pretended she did not know anything because she felt uncomfortable sharing too much information with a stranger.

Did that mean... his investigations led him to Alice? That must be it.

It had been six years since Luna underwent plastic surgery and had her looks augmented by Malcolm.

Since this man was using her old photo for his investigation, it made perfect sense that any information he could find was Alice's.

However...

Luna curled her lips into a smile and said, "How Alice died has nothing to do with me.

Besides, I don't think I need to tell you anything."

Luna's nonchalant expression made Jim frown. He stared at Luna coldly and sneered, "I just wanted to remind you, that if Alice's death was related to you

Jim's expression darkened. "Your life will be very difficult from now on."

With that, he turned around and got into his car, slamming the door behind him.

Bonnie glared in the direction where the Kayenne had left. "Luna, why did you stop me? This type of person deserved to be beaten up! "

Luna squinted. "He dislocated both of Ms. Jennifer's hands with ease.

Are you sure both of us can win if we fight him?"

Bonnie fell into silence. She pouted in frustration and got into her car.

She started the engine while turning her head to glance at Luna at the same time. "What did he mean with all of that? Is he trying to avenge Alice? But didn't Alice jump off a building to commit suicide?

What does that have anything to do with you?"

Luna rubbed her temples in frustration and shook her head. "I'm not sure what he's trying to do either."

Luna was familiar with being threatened by strangers, but it worried her this time for some reason.

It felt like...something unpredictable was about to happen.

Three days later, Neil started his memory recovery treatment.

Joshua was worried that Nellie and Nigel would be agitated by the sight of Neil undergoing electroshock therapy, so he made sure they were home for the day to prevent Nellie and Nigel from being frightened by it.

Only Joshua, Luna, and Theo accompanied Neil to his treatment. Initially, Bonnie planned to join as well, but she received a piece of news last night and immediately set out for Merchant City.

Before she left, she texted Luna, (I heard my child could be involved with the Landry family in Merchant City, so I'm going there to find him!]

Luna replied frustratedly, (Actually, you should have waited for a few more days... Merchant

City was my home for six years. If you waited, I could've come with you and provided some help.]

(No need! If you go back to Merchant City, you need to face the Quinn family. You haven't figured out how to resolve the marriage contract with them, have you? I'm fine going by myself. Besides, you never had any connections with the Landry family while you were in Merchant City, so you might not even be able to help me at all.]

Luna did not know whether to cry or laugh when she saw this.

Bonnie was right.

She was unsure if the Landry family was too low-profile or if it was because she had simply been too preoccupied with her own life. Still, even after being in Merchant City for six years, she had never crossed paths with the Landry family at all.

If it were not for Aura's appearance, Luna would never know what was happening with the Landry family.

With that in mind, she was reminded of Lily's text messages with Malcolm. The fact that Malcolm was very close with the Landry family...

This was a new discovery for her. Neil's treatment ended very quickly.

The treatment was painful, but Neil managed to push through it. When the process was over, a sobbing Neil came out of the treatment room and went over to hug Luna.

“Mommy... I remembered everything! “

Neil did not cry during the whole painful treatment process, yet, at that moment, tears started streaming down his face as he held onto Luna.

“Nellie was right; I do nag all the time! “

Neil hugged Luna and cried for a very long time. When he finally let go of her, he turned to hug Theo. “Uncle Theo...”

Neil thought Theo was just one of the servants who worked for Aura back then. It was only after he regained his memories that he realized...Theo was a talented artist.

The only reason he had managed to survive the explosion was that Theo had shielded him with his body...

Neil hugged Theo and wept for a good while.

If it were not for Theo, he would not even be standing here.

Theo could not help curling his lips into a smile when he saw Neil crying in his arms. He squatted and wiped away the tears on Neil's face. “The only thing that stopped me from leaving Banyan City was worrying about you. I „m glad that you“ve regained your old memories.”

Theo hugged Neil softly and added, “I have to go now, though. My parents are already waiting for me at the airport.”

Neil's eyes widened in shock, and tears continued to trickle down his face. “Uncle Theo, are you... leaving?”

“Yes.” Theo smiled and stroked Neil's hair. “Back when you were working for Aura, you were even willing to hurt your father so that I could live longer and reunite with my family. Wasn't that what you wanted? Well, now that I can finally return to my parents' side, you should be happy, shouldn't you?"

Although Neil was reluctant to let him go, he still nodded. He took a pen and wrote down his number on the back of Theo's hand. "Uncle Theo, please keep in touch with me. I'll go visit you when I grow up. "

Theo chuckled and nodded in response.

After giving a few more words of advice, Theo stood up and glanced at Luna. "Let's go."

Luna nodded, turned around, and left with Theo.

Neil remained motionless as he stood and watched Luna and Theo walk away. Then, he turned and gave Joshua a puzzled glance. "Daddy, aren't you going to send Uncle Theo off?"

Joshua smiled, lifted Neil into his arms, and turned to walk in the opposite direction. "Theo saved your life, so logically speaking, as your father, I should send him off. But... You probably know that Uncle Theo likes your mother, right?"

Neil nodded.

"That's why we let your mother send him off instead. Let him have one last moment with her."

Neil froze for a moment, then nodded as though he understood this.

"You've matured, Daddy."

"What?"

"In the past, you used to be furious whenever you saw Mommy and Uncle Theo together.

Now, not only are you not angry, but you even support it. This means you've grown up."

Joshua laughed and carried Neil downstairs to go home.

Banyan City Airport.

After sending Theo and his family past the security clearance and waiting for their plane to take off, Luna let out a sigh of relief and left the airport.

She opened the car door and got into the rear seat. She closed her eyes in exhaustion and told the driver, "Let's go home."

The car started. Luna closed her eyes and was about to take a nap when suddenly, her phone rang.

It was Malcolm.

Luna hesitated for a moment, then let out an exhale and picked up the phone. "Malcolm."

"Luna." Malcolm's voice sounded worried on the other end of the line.

"Run! They're going to bring you back! "
