

Pursuing My Ex-Wife Isn't Easy chapter 2531

Wendy turned around inimically after saying that. With help from the assistant, she limped her way out of the mansion, leaving Yannie rooted on the spot. She squeezed her brow tightly together as she watched the assistant and Wendy leave the mansion.

Frankly speaking, she should have not waited to mock Wendy, especially when Wendy tried to frame her and got reprimanded by Thomas. As the victim of the case, it was normal for her to demolish Wendy when she so obviously lost.

However, for some reason, when she saw how Thomas reprimanded Wendy harshly, she felt pity for her. Obviously, Thomas did not care about Wendy as much as she thought he did, yet she still acted like she was Thomas' partner and wanted to help Thomas get rid of Yannie while she was under the impression that Yannie admired Thomas.

Wendy had been friends with Thomas since three or four years ago, and this was the treatment she had received from him. The more Yannie thought of this, the more she pitied Wendy and loathed that jerk-of-a-man named Thomas.

Yannie wondered why she was foolish in the past and why she was willing to deliver a baby for this jerk. Luckily, nothing strung her to Thomas at present. Otherwise, she could end up with a fate much more terrible than Wendy's—much, much more terrible!

“They're gone. Why are you still staring into space?” The alluring, husky male voice pulled Yannie's wandering mind back to reality. She looked up and saw Thomas' handsome face right in front of her face.<sup>1</sup>

The distance between their faces was less than an inch, so the refreshing sandalwood scent from Thomas' body was easily detected. His warm breath fanned Yannie's face.

At that moment, Yannie stopped breathing.

“Hello?” Looking at Yannie's shocking and dumbfounded eyes, Thomas laughed huskily. “I thought you hated me? Why do you daze out looking at me?”

Yannie finally remembered to breathe, and her heart started beating again when she heard Thomas' question. She quickly took a step back to draw a distance from this despicable man. Thomas chuckled again when he saw how Yannie's cheeks became pinkish amid her panic. “Spit it. Why did you come looking for me? Or was it because you want to see what's going on between me BgRa!|L Wendy?”

Yannie took a deep breath to recollect her emotions and stabilize her breathing. Finally, she looked up at him. “Are you serious that you don't know why I came to look for you? You're the one who leaked the rumor about me and Joshua on the internet, aren't you? Weren't you the one who sent the paparazzi to take the photo and video at Joshua's house?"

Thomas crossed his arms and placed them in front of his chest. He leaned on the wall elegantly and looked at Yannie relaxingly. "Yes, I was the one who leaked the rumor. but I didn't send anyone to take the photo and video." He lifted his brow and glanced at Yannie. "There's no reason for me to send someone to follow a village girl."

Yannie bit her lip. "If you weren't the one who sent those things to the paparazzi, who else could it have been?" Nigel said that Thomas was the one who leaked the rumor. Thus, it should be him since he had the photo and video.

"Are you going to tell me someone else took them and gave the photo and video to you?"

Did such kind-hearted people exist? "Yes, you're right." Thomas tilted his head and looked at Yannie like he was checking her out. "When did you become so smart? Did you guess that on your own, or did Joshua guess it?"

Yannie stared at him. "Of course it was me! Even if Mr. Lynch guessed it, he won't tell me!"

Thomas smiled. "Why won't he? Aren't you Joshua's lover?"

Instantly, Yannie blanched at Thomas' words as she stared at Thomas in anguish. "We're not in that kind of relationship! You should know better!"

Thomas scoffed. He looked at Yannie with his deep, dark eyes. "Why do you think I know it better? Do I know what the both of you were doing when you spent several hours in the mansion with Joshua?"

Yannie bit her lip and stared at Thomas, infuriated. "Rubbish! He invited me to his house because he wanted to ask me to..." Despite seething at the moment, Yannie quickly realized her error and backtracked, saying, "To cause trouble for you!"

Thomas sneered. "Cause trouble for me? You?"

He walked up to Yannie and trapped her between the wall and his body. "Tell me: how does Joshua intend to let you cause trouble for me? Hmm?"

Thomas' face was barely a meter away from Yannie's face, and at such dangerously close proximity, she could feel his body temperature and breath. She bit her lip and wanted to push him away angrily, but he just would not budge. It was Thomas' intention to trap her, and nothing would work despite how much she struggled. In the end, something went wrong in between. When Yannie tried to push Thomas away, Thomas leaned forward instinctively.

Then...their lips knocked together without warning. It was too sudden, so much so that Yannie's eyes widened as she forgot to breathe and think.

Thomas, on the other hand, did not expect he would have so much interest in Yannie and ended up kissing her.

He had acted in multiple movies, but he never accepted any kissing scenes. He felt dirty and impolite to kiss a woman he did not like. Truthfully speaking, Yannie was the first woman he kissed.

Correction... Yannie was the second woman.

The first woman was that damned woman who got pregnant with his baby.

For some inexplicable reason, he was not disgusted by that woman from one year ago and Yannie.

Although Yannie seemed to have an affinity for running her mouth, her lips felt soft and juicy, just like sweet jello. Influenced by his desire, he could not help but extend his hand out to grab the back of Yannie's head and kiss Yannie deeply.

Yannie felt like her breaths and heartbeat were not hers anymore. Oddly enough, it felt like she was back in a certain church in that foreign country one year ago.

Thomas held the back of Yannie's head with one hand as he kissed her, while the other hand wound around her waist. The warm temperature of his palm heated up her cold waist. There was a hint of sweetness from his mouth that caused her to be addicted, and she found herself immersed in the feeling and the moment.

Unconsciously, she closed her eyes and let him kiss her.

He kissed her lips, her chin, her neck, and her collarbone. Her rational thought told her that this was not the time to do such things, and she should push him away. She had suffered enough after what happened one year ago!

However... She found herself addicted to this feeling. She enjoyed his gentleness and sweetness. All this while, she thought she did not like Thomas, and she only paid attention to him because of the baby. However, her baby had long since died three months ago. All that, yet she still did not have the power to resist Thomas when she saw him. Only at this moment did she know her true feelings. The truth was...

Everything Yannie did that was related to Thomas over this year was...not solely because of the baby.

All of a sudden...

"Sir!" rang the voice of Thomas' assistant as he walked up the stairs.

The sight that greeted him stunned him to the core, and whatever he wanted to say got stuck in his throat. The assistant's voice instantly pulled Yannie away from the moment, and she quickly pushed away Thomas, who was kissing her collarbone, with all of her strength. Then, she pulled her collar to cover her collarbone and ran downstairs while blushing. Thomas, who had enjoyed his treat, looked to the side. He wiped his lips and smiled with his eyes as he watched how Yannie basically scampered away. His assistant was scared when he saw how Thomas looked. "S-Sir, did I come at the wrong time?" "It's alright." Thomas regained his senses and looked at his assistant with a faint smile. "What's the matter?" The assistant lowered his head and said, "I've sent Ms. Fann to the hospital, and there are bruises on her body. She requested me to ask you what she should do..." Then, he raised his head and carefully monitored Thomas' reaction. "Ms. Fann said...the penalty fee is more than one million and five hundred thousand, and we can't afford to offend that company, so...maybe you'll have to help her cover for the shower gel shooting so she could avoid being penalized and continue to work in the industry. She's one of the celebrities in your company, and if she's banned by the industry, you'll also face some losses..." Thomas could not help but raise an eyebrow at what he was hearing. He knew Wendy did this on purpose. She manipulated the situation to remind him that they were in the same boat. In the meantime, she was also venting out her dissatisfaction against Thomas because of what happened previously. Frankly speaking, he could just ignore Wendy's threat and reminder. It was not like he could not afford the penalty fee, and he would only suffer a minor loss when she was banned by the industry. However... Thomas' gaze shifted away as he looked at the evidently rattled woman sitting on the sofa, aggressively wiping her lips with a tissue. All the while, she would occasionally throw him a stare from the corner of her eyes. What a silly girl. After being harassed, she was still willing to stay so she could get an explanation from him. Was Joshua's innocence more important to her? Even more important than being harassed? 1 "Sir?" the assistant called out to him carefully, biting his lip when he noticed Thomas looking at Yannie in a daze. Only then did Thomas look at his assistant. "Tell Wendy I'll take over the shower gel shooting. I'll pick a female counterpart to do the shooting with me. Tell her to rest well." After that, he headed downstairs. Yannie, hearing the sound of footsteps, quickly composed herself on the sofa. After a while, she took a deep breath and stood up to face Thomas fearlessly. "I'm going to tell you one more time: Nothing improper is happening between me and Mr. Lynch. I hope you'll delete all of the information you leaked as soon as possible. Mr. Lynch and Ms. Luna are deeply in love, and I don't want other people to misunderstand them because of someone unimportant like me. I—" "Okay." Thomas glanced at Yannie and smiled. "I promise you." Yannie's eyes widened. Why was Thomas so... nice all of a sudden? Thomas looked at her with a smile. 'Til agree with all of what you said...but on one condition."
