Chapter 2663 With that, Yannie turned and sprinted in Lucas' direction.

Since Yannie's mother, Mrs. Flores, used to work as a nanny for Luna and Joshua, Yannie was naturally familiar with Lucas.

Thomas remained motionless, his lips curving into a small smile as he watched Yannie sprint nimbly towards Lucas.

That was his girl; kind, soft, and adorable.

However, the next second

Thomas watched as Yannie arrived at Lucas' side and, while talking to him, reached out to wipe the sweat from Lucas' forehead.

His smile immediately froze on his face.

Yannie never treated him that kindly before!

Why was she helping Lucas wipe his sweat? Could he not do it on his own? Did he not have hands that were capable of accomplishing this task? Lucas instinctively glanced in Thomas' direction when he felt a cold, steely gaze on him. His heart leaped into his throat when he met Thomas' gaze. Lucas immediately took a small step back and glanced sheepishly at Yannie. "Sir ordered me to pretend as though I had found this metal plate by accident." With that, he reached out to Yannie and said, "Give it to me, then."

Thomas was still watching him, so he did not dare to continue chatting with Yannie at all.

Yannie furrowed her brow, puzzled as to why Lucas seemed so unwilling to talk to her.

She wanted to continue the conversation, not because she had anything to share with Lucas, but because if her interaction with Lucas was too short and abrupt, it would arouse Gwen's suspicion.

However, this was not what Lucas thought. Instead, he did not want to spend any minute longer than necessary with Yannie, considering the fact that Thomas was watching him like a hawk

Therefore, Yannie had no choice but to return to Gwen and Luna's side after surreptitiously handing the metal plate to Lucas. "How did it go?" Luna asked, frowning. Yannie paused for a moment before replying, "Lucas said he'd bring some more men over to help. As of now, he hasn't found anything yet, but don't worry. Mr. Lynch has so many people to help that eventually, they'll find it, even if it means turning the whole place inside out." Laying against Luna's shoulder, guilt seeped into Gwen's heart as she watched the men rummaging around the garbage for her.

These people were Joshua's bodyguards and some of his other employees.

All of them possessed their own tasks and responsibilities, but because of her, they were forced to come here and rummage through garbage for her. Gwen truly cherished Luke's gift for her, but the last thing she wanted was to trouble so many people.

Truth be told, she knew deep down that since she had lost it, there was no way anyone could find the metal plate again...

"Why not..." Gwen bit her lip, glanced at the men in the distance, and said softly, "Luna, why don't we let these men—" Before she could even finish, a cry of victory erupted somewhere in the distance. Lucas approached them, followed by an earnest-looking man. "We've found it! Ma'am, Ms. Larson, Yannie, we've found it! We finally found it!"

Gwen's entire face lit up when she heard this.

She immediately sprinted over to their side in excitement. "Where is it?" The man handed her a small metal plate, grinning. "Here it is!"

Gwen took the metal plate from him, but as soon as it was in her hand, her smile froze on her face. This...was not hers at all!

Chapter 2664 "What's wrong? Isn't this the one you lost?" Luna caught sight of the look in Gwen's eyes and quickly grabbed hold of her hand. "It's okay if it's not yours; we can always continue searching.

Gwen bit her lip and glanced first at the people standing before her, then at the dark sky that looked like it was about to hail soon. Finally, she nodded and said, "That's right. This is the one I lost."

She sniffed, carefully tucked the dirty metal plate into her pocket, and then forced a smile for everyone watching. "Thank you all for helping me find my lost item." Finally, she glanced at Lucas, biting her lip nervously. "Are these all Joshua's men?" Lucas nodded. "I have a little over ten thousand dollars in here," Gwen said, smiling, as she took out a card from her bag and handed it to Lucas. "Please use it to pay for a nice dinner for everyone who helped out. If there's any money left over, feel free to divide it among yourselves as a reward for all your hard work." Lucas took the card from her and shot Luna a somewhat helpless glance. Luna knew that Gwen was feeling guilty over having troubled everyone, so she smiled and said, "Don't worry about it. You should take it."

Having received Luna's assurance, Lucas finally tucked away the card and left with the rest of the workers, leaving only Luna, Gwen, Yannie, and Thomas in the dump station.

Thomas let out a small sigh of relief at this.

Thank God.

For once, Joshua was wrong; that metal plate of Gwen's did not have any scratches or marks that could help her differentiate the real one from a false one at all.

Otherwise, Lucas and the rest of the men would have to flip the entire place inside out, searching for the real one. "My ladies." Thomas strode towards them, smiling. "Are you still going to The Spring Resort? Why don't I send you there?"

"There's no need for that." Gwen curled her lips into a smile. "I'll go myself. You should take Luna and Yannie home. The two of them have been helping me the whole day; they must be exhausted.

"I feel like going to the hot springs by myself for some alone time." Luna could not help frowning when she heard this. "I'll go with you, Gwen." She was worried about Gwen. Even though Gwen was acting fine, she could not help feeling that something was not right. "I'll be fine." Gwen turned to smile at Luna. "After all, I have to learn to be by myself, and you can't possibly be with me forever, can you?"

"How is it possible that you're perfectly fine with leaving your three children alone in Merchant City but not me?"

Luna froze for a moment, not knowing how to argue with this.

Finally, she had no choice but to relent. She gently patted Gwen's shoulder in reassurance and said, "Please take care of yourself. If anything happens, you can call Joshua or me."

"Don't worry." Gwen waved at Luna before finally turning around and walking towards the main road. "You're an even bigger nagger than Luke was."

With that, she hailed a taxi and got into it. Luna remained motionless, watching as the taxi disappeared from view.

After a long time, she suddenly recalled something and turned to glance at Thomas. "By the way, why are you the only one here? Where's Joshua?" Thomas paused for a moment, then finally told Luna the truth about Joshua having gone to seek out Kate.

Chapter 2665 "Does Joshua think that Kate lied to us?"

After all, Kate had claimed that the metal plate was already missing when she found Gwen's pendant.

"That's right." Thomas nodded. "Kate...is an exceptional crook."

The Miller family mansion. Kate's father, Mr. Miller, stared at Joshua with a look of displeasure. "Mr. Lynch, I've already told you many times that Kate isn't home at the moment, so why is it that you're so insistent on meeting her?"

Joshua took a sip from his cup elegantly, lowered his head to glance at the Miller family's stocks, and chuckled. "Mr. Miller, have you not heard a single word that I just said?"

"I've already told you that for every ten minutes that Kate doesn't show up, I'll make Miller Group's stock price go one point lower. Now, it's already dropped by three points." As he said this, Joshua gracefully put down his cup and added, "Let me calculate just how much longer it'll take before Miller Group goes bankrupt."

"Well, according to my calculations, exactly an hour."

Mr. Miller furrowed his brow as he stared at the dwindling stock prices. "What are you trying to do, Joshua Lynch?"

"I want to see Kate." Joshua lifted his head to stare haughtily at Mr. Miller. "Also, I need you to explain who Steven Hughes is and how he is related to Luke Jones."

The color drained from Mr. Miller's face upon hearing this.

He turned to glare at the nearest servant. "Get Ms. Miller home as soon as possible!"

With that, he shot Joshua a cold glance. "Mr. Lynch, I've already sent someone to search for Kate, but if you want me to clarify the relationship between Steven Hughes and Luke Jones..."

"The only information I can offer you is that they have nothing in common at all, apart from their resemblance in looks."

"Is that so?" Joshua curled his lips into a sneer and swept his steely gaze over Mr. Miller's face. "That's not what I found, though."

"According to the birth records of Saigen City Central Hospital, Mrs. Hughes had given birth to a pair of twin boys more than twenty years ago."

Mr. Miller's face turned a paler shade of white when he heard this. He furrowed his brow and said, "Since you've already investigated this, Mr. Lynch, you should know that one of Mrs. Hughes' twins died soon after birth!"

"Is that so?" Joshua sneered as he took out some photos of Steven from five years back.

He pointed at Steven's brow bone, which in this photo was spotless. "This is the last photo of Steven before he got into his accident, and as you can see, there is no scar present at all.

"However, now, Steven possesses the same scar as Luke did, in the same place. "Are you trying to tell me, Mr. Miller, that during Steven's past five years of being in a coma, someone had hurt him and left behind this scar?"

Joshua's tone was sharp and malicious.

The domineering aura surrounding Joshua's entire being was so suffocating that Mr. Miller could not help wiping the sweat from his forehead. "As for this, shouldn't you be asking the Hughes family instead of me?" "Is that what you think?" Joshua narrowed his eyes and glanced at his phone once more. "I guess letting your stocks drop one point every ten minutes isn't enough for you, Mr. Miller. Is that so?"

With that, Joshua took his phone out of his pocket and poised his finger over the keypad, ready to dial the number.

"No, no!" Mr. Miller stormed forward to stop him. "Please don't do this, Mr. Lynch! You want to know the truth about Luke and Steven, don't you? I'll tell you everything!"

Chapter 2666 Joshua finally tucked his phone away as he turned to glance coldly at Mr. Miller. "Continue.

"If whatever you tell me doesn't match up with my investigation..." Joshua curled his lips into a smirk. "I can't guarantee that Miller Group will even still be standing tomorrow."

Joshua never tried to target the Miller family all because of Luke.

Even though Kate had almost killed Bonnie, and Jim therefore developed a hatred toward her, Joshua never chose to get revenge on the Miller family, but it was not because he did not possess the power to do so.

Truth be told, even though the Miller family was one of the wealthiest and most influential families in Saigen City, they were still no match for Joshua at all. The only reason he let them off the hook was that the Miller family had given Luke hope during his loneliest days.

If the Miller family had not told Luke about the potential cure for Gwen's disease, Luke would have taken his life to be with Gwen.

Therefore, before they arrived in Saigen City, both Joshua and Jim refrained from laying a finger on the Millers during the past month that Luke had left. However, after knowing that Luke was possibly Steven's long-lost twin brother, Joshua could not help thinking that time had run out.

He had shown the Miller family enough grace.

"Don't worry, Mr. Lynch." When faced with the look of malice in Joshua's eyes, Mr. Miller shrunk backward and whimpered, "The truth is, Steven and Luke..."

"They're indeed...twin brothers."

He sighed and continued, "Mrs. Hughes had indeed given birth to a set of twins, but... unfortunately, a fortune teller had foretold the future and claimed that the Hughes family was only allowed to have one heir. However, Mrs. Hughes had given birth to two sons.

"According to the fortune teller, the Hughes family were only allowed to keep one son and abandon the other. If they ignored the prophecy, both the children wouldn't live... Initially, no one believed the prophecy, but not long after the birth, both the sons ended up falling gravely ill..."

Mr. Miller sighed. "After desperately trying to cure the two little boys to no avail, the Hughes family finally believed the fortune teller's word...and abandoned the sicker one of the two children."

Mr. Miller lifted his head to glance at Joshua. "Since you've already looked into this, Mr. Lynch, you should know by now that the boy that the Hughes family abandoned is none other than Luke."

Joshua narrowed his eyes. "Go on." Truth be told, Joshua had guessed that much. However, as the father of four children, he was unwilling to believe that someone could have abandoned their child just because of a prophecy.

Not only that, but the abandoned child was his best friend, Luke. Joshua's chest tightened whenever he thought of how Luke talked about his difficult upbringing. If Luke had not been abandoned by his family as a baby, he would not have ended up becoming a gangster that had to fight for his survival.

Joshua knew just how hard it had been for Luke to claw his way to the top. Never in Joshua's wildest dreams had he imagined that Luke Jones, the man who literally had to fight his way to the top, was actually the heir to the Hughes fortune, the wealthiest family in Saigen City.

Fate was playing a trick on Luke. However, the people who did this to him were Steven's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes!
