Pursuing My Ex-Wife Is not Easy chapter 2951-The news of Luna, Joshua Lynch's wife, attempting murder at a wedding spread like wildfire through the entire Banyan City.

Everyone was on the edge of their seats, waiting to see just how Joshua, the most powerful man in Banyan City, would help his wife get out of this pinch.

"I saw the news, Daddy."

Joshua received a call from Nigel not long after he returned to the villa that night. Although he was only seven, Nigel was very mature for his age and calmly explained to his father, "I saw everything about Mommy's outburst on the internet, but just to save you the trouble, I lied to Neil and Nellie about this, and I configured the internet here at Grandpa, Grandma's, and Uncle Jim's place so that none of them would be able to receive the news from Banyan City. Don't worry, I've got it under control."

Joshua's heart sank when he heard this. He leaned against the wall and let out a sigh. "Like father, like son."

It was unbelievable how detail-oriented Nigel was at such a young age.

"It's just simple hacking. If I didn't know how to do it, I wouldn't have been able to do it even if I wanted to," Nigel replied, then let out a sigh. "What are you going to do, Daddy? Do you think you can settle all this within a week?"

"I'm concerned that Neil and Nellie will realize something's wrong if they can't get in touch with Mommy within a week."

Joshua closed his eyes. "I'll try my best."

He had been caught in plenty of tight situations in the past and had been through such treacherous dangers that no ordinary person could even begin to imagine. However, he never once dreamed that one day, his wife would get caught up in such a crisis.

The image of Luna standing onstage, bringing the dagger down into Jacqueline's abdomen materialized in Joshua's mind once more.

This was the version of Luna he had never once seen before.

She used to be a timid person-someone that would get nauseous and vomit at the sight of a car accident. At that moment, however, she had gone so far as attempting to kill someone amid the rage of losing her best friend! Joshua used to think that Luna and Anne were just close friends, and it was not until that day that he finally realized just how much Anne meant to Luna-so much so that Luna passed out and suffered amnesia after hearing about Anne's death, and so much so that she would be willing to kill the person responsible for Anne's death in front of thousands of pairs of watchful eyes.

Unfortunately, Luna never killed anyone before and thus was not familiar with human anatomy. Therefore, no matter how badly she wanted to kill Jacqueline right on the spot, her blade missed her target terribly.

"By the way, Daddy, Uncle John and little Sammie..." i

"They've gone missing," Joshua said before Nigel could finish his question and sighed. "Your Uncle Jude and I have been searching for them all afternoon. They've been missing ever since your Aunt Anne passed away this afternoon."

After retrieving Anne's body, John and baby Sammie disappeared without a trace, and despite rifling through all the available surveillance footage around the hospital, there was no sign of them at all.

Where could John have gone with an infant and a dead body?

Meanwhile, at the hospital, Jacqueline lay in bed, hooked up to an array of machines and an oxygen mask.

Although Luna's attack missed her vital organs, she still suffered significant hemorrhage and slipped into a coma even before reaching the hospital. Even at this moment, she was still in a critical state.

Jacqueline sneered as she lay on the bed, staring up at the ceiling as she breathed in the oxygen through her mask.

Although she was still alive, she could not say the same for Luna. 'My dear Fiona, I've finally avenged your death!' she thought to herself.

All of a sudden, the door swung open.

A pair of men's leather shoes stepped into the room, pausing exactly at her oxygen tube.

Jacqueline's breath caught in her throat, and she immediately turned around with wide eyes. The man reached out and yanked off all the wires and tubes attached to Jacqueline, barely keeping her alive, and sneered. "Do you know me, Jacqueline?"
