Pursuing My Ex-Wife Is not Easy chapter 3046-Stefan furrowed his brow upon hearing this.

A split second later, he covered the woman's naked body with the sheets and turned to glance at Kurt. "Take her away. It

Kurt nodded, then picked the woman up with the sheets wrapped around her.

"I'm sorry, but we can't allow you to take her away." A few men finally plucked up the courage to stand up to Stefan." We're under orders to protect her, and if we don't keep a good eye on her and that old geezer, Tyson will kill us!"

The rest of the men snapped to their senses when they heard this.

Even if this woman was not Gwen, Tyson ordered them to escort her to her prison cell where she would be kept with Andy. If they allowed her to be taken away, Tyson would be furious!

At the thought of this, the men began surrounding Stefan and Kurt.

Kurt furrowed his brow and whispered, "Boss..."

He knew that although he and Stefan possessed weapons, they were still no match for a room full of men. They were clearly overpowered, and no amount of weapons could help them.

The only way to get out of here alive was to leave the woman. That way, these men would not get punished for failing their task, and they could continue searching for Gwen.

At the thought of this, Kurt sighed. "Boss, why don't we..."

Stefan did not want to leave her here.

He was more than familiar with Tyson's character.

Tyson was always known for his malice and ruthlessness, even when he served him.

If they left this woman behind, she would not only fall victim to these lecherous men, but she would not get out of this alive as well.

If Tyson arrived and realized she was not Gwen...

Although Stefan did not know who this woman was, she still managed to help Gwen buy some time to escape. She helped Gwen, and he could not repay her with cruelty.

At the thought of this, Stefan sneered and replied, "Kurt, do you think you and I can't even protect a woman?"

Kurt frowned. "No, that's not what I meant. I..."

Before he could even finish, Stefan kicked away a man who lunged toward them out of nowhere and gazed at the crowd, smirking. "I know you're all afraid of Tyson, but I wonder if you're as scared of me?"

With that, he tossed his knife aside and reached up to pull his mask off.

"Scared of you? In your-" one of the men scoffed and was about to retort when he saw Stefan's face.

"Boss...Boss?"

"Luke?"

Gasps and cries of surprise echoed through the room.

The men who fought back against Stefan all got to their knees.

Who would have imagined that the masked attacker would turn out to be Luke, who allegedly died over six months ago?

"Boss...you...you're alive?" a man whimpered.

"As alive as can be." Stefan chuckled. "None of you recognize my wife, but at least you still recognize me."

With that, he glanced coldly at all the stunned faces gaping at him. "I'm alive, alright. You're all terrified of Tyson, but you've all forgotten who's the real boss, haven't you?"
