Pursuing My Ex-Wife Is not Easy chapter 3086-Stefan was mildly amused by the look on her face. He extended his arms out in a gesture of defeat and said, "I never intended on ratting you out to Joshua. You three spoke about these secrets in my presence."

With that, he shot Andy a rather helpless look. "Don't you agree, sir?"

Andy was surprised to be called out all of a sudden. "Of course!"

Although Gwen and Luke had been together for a long time, Luke had never much cared for maintaining good relations with his future father-in-law. He always thought his relationship with Gwen did not concern anyone else outside of the two of them. Combined with the fact that Andy had done some hurtful things to Gwen in the past, Luke grew even more disdainful of his future father-in-law. Because of this, he had never given Andy as much as a second glance throughout their relationship and rarely ever addressed him directly like this.

The truth was, Stefan had already called out to Andy once before, during their rescue mission the day before, but Andy thought he had misheard.

Now that Stefan was calling out at him once more, Andy could not help feeling a little delighted at being acknowledged like this. He nodded and added, "If you don't want anyone to overhear your secrets, you should find someplace private to talk about it."

"Sir," Stefan said, smiling. "Why don't I bring you out for a stroll? That way, the three of them can have the room to themselves."

"Alright!" How could Andy say no to this?

He nodded as though his life depended on this. "I'd very much like to go out for a spin! I haven't had a breath of fresh air in a long time now."

Stefan nodded, and with Luna and Gwen's help, he placed Andy in his wheelchair. The two of them left.

Just as they reached the door, however, Stefan paused. "The truth is, I'm very supportive of your idea to mess with Joshua. He's been getting a little cocky lately, and I'd like you guys to put him in his place."

With that, he closed the door behind him and wheeled Andy away.

The three women exchanged knowing glances. After a while, Tara said, "I didn't know Joshua had made so many enemies. I can't believe even his best friends would want to play a prank on him."

Gwen pursed her lips. "He just wants to see Joshua embarrassed."

She raised her brows and glanced at Luna with a smile. “So have you decided yet? Are you really going to play your husband like a fool in front of his friends?”

Luna was silent for a moment before finally pursing her lips. “So what? It’s not like we’ve never embarrassed ourselves in front of you and Luke. We’re all friends, and friends don’t make fun of each other during times of humiliation, do they?”

“Yes, but...” Tara piped up. “I...I’m an outsider.”

Luna smiled and patted her shoulder. “Don’t worry. You’ll be familiar with Joshua’s humiliating moments soon enough. By the way-“

She furrowed her brows, glancing at Tara. “When are you and Christian planning to get married?”

“Probably...next year.” Tara glanced at the calendar. “Which is about six months from now.”

She turned to Gwen, grinning. “Gwen, when are you and Stefan planning to get married? Why don’t we host a double wedding?”

Gwen’s expression faltered. “I don’t think...stefan and I can get married. The man I love is Luke, but now, he’s Stefan. He’s sharing a name and body with his twin brother.”

She sighed and closed her eyes in defeat. “I’m worried that one day, Luke will wake up as his brother. What will become of me then? A woman who shares two brothers? I can’t accept that.”
