C13 A Man Who Pretends to be a Pig to Eat a Tiger

"What did you say?"

Hsu Yan thought there was something wrong with her ears!

But she did not expect that the man's evil breath would intentionally spray into her ears again. "After that night, I fell in love with you -"

"Your body."

Hsu Yan's voice was like thunder in her ears. "Pui! Do you think that I have never heard of the words of a scumbag man? Do you believe that I won't expose you right now?"

Indeed, there was nothing good in this Zhan family!

She nimbly raised her hand and wanted to teach the other party a lesson, but she didn't want to be grabbed tightly by the man and be unable to move.

Looking at such a hot woman, the smile in Zhan Shishen's eyes deepened. He was even more interested in pretending to be a pig to eat a tiger. "Mrs Zhan, you and I have already cooked our raw rice. My boss happened to be on a business trip in secret. And I have taken a fancy to you. Now, you and I are on the same boat. Mrs Zhan is very smart. I think you understand this logic better than me."

"Don't forget, who was the one who begged me that night..."

Suddenly, he stared at the woman's red lips with a profound gaze. It was as if there was an endless aftertaste in his mouth.

"Shut up."

Hsu Yan was so embarrassed that she wanted to cover the woman's mouth. "That, that was an accident!"

How did she encounter such a strange thing? She was not willing to admit defeat on the surface, "I will not collude with you."

The man who had been talking and laughing earlier became extremely cold again. "Think about it slowly! Very soon, you will come and beg me!"

After saying that, Zhan Shishen put on the mask. His noble and cold figure sat in a wheelchair and entered the study.

Hsu Yan was not so speechless in this life. It turned out that the driver who robbed her of her innocence had taken a liking to her. Was he not afraid of pretending to be her husband?

In the study, the man walked in! He skillfully took off all his equipment and threw them into a side room. The door automatically closed.

Qii Zhan had been waiting in front of the desk for a long time. When he saw that the man had returned, he suddenly touched the Tibetan Mastiff on the floor and said, "Boss, you have married this wife. She is indeed extraordinary. However, I want to show you something even more unexpected now. "

"Speak!"

Zhan Shishen turned on the computer program and was in a good mood. Hearing Qii Zhan's words, he threw a compressed bone to the Tibetan Mastiff.

The little Tibetan Mastiff ran close to its master's leg. Just as it chewed the bone, it suddenly spat out a pool of liquid that emitted a strange fragrance.

Qii Zhan's hand was stained with some liquid, and his face revealed a serious expression. "The Crown Prince has always only recognized you and me, but he obediently submitted last night. He just ate some non-toxic powder! I didn't think that a young lady who plays the piano would have the ability to make incense."

Not simple!

This kind of powder, with one look, they could tell that it was made from a special medicine. It had the effect of soothing animals.

However, Zhan Shishen suddenly said in a low voice, "What did you say? You left the Crown Prince in the new house last night?"

This Tibetan Mastiff didn't look big, but it was extremely ferocious. It was brought back from a foreign battlefield and tamed with blood.

Although it was only eight months old, it wouldn't be a problem to bite ten adults to death.

Qii Zhan did not realize where the man's focus was. He nodded innocently and said, "Yes, you did not tell me last night. I asked the servants to follow the original plan..."

"Damn it!"

Zhan Shishen's cold eyes were sharp.

Hmph! He underestimated her!

After the commotion in the morning, Hsu Yan, the ninth bride, did not die. She had even been publicly acknowledged by Ninth Master.

It was simply a huge miracle!

All of a sudden, the servants of the Zhan family changed their attitude of ignoring her. It was a huge change.

"Mrs Zhan, this is the room that Ninth Master arranged for you! Ninth Master doesn't like to be noisy. In the future, you will only stay here when he calls for you to accompany him."
