

"That's right!" Horace said, patting the delivery guy on the shoulder.

"Thank you, young man!" The delivery man was grateful to hear those words.

At that moment, one of Raquel's friends, Karin Lawrence, pulled Raquel aside and said, "Raquel, the delivery guy is fine. Let's hurry up and leave. It's already four o'clock now. If we're late, we won't make it to the interview at Melton Network Technology Limited!"

"Melton Network Technology Limited?" Stunned, Horace looked up at her and asked, "Excuse me, miss. Is it the same Melton Network Technology Limited in Highmont Software Park?"

He remembered that he had given the employees the evening off, so why would this woman go to the company for an interview? Was there another company with the same name? However, it would be impossible for another company to have the same name in the city.

"Yes. Do you know anyone from that company?"

Raquel asked him with a smile. "I saw online that the profits of Melton Network Technology Limited is not very high, which makes me wonder why they offer such a high pay to a regular HR employee."

Raquel had indeed been shocked when she had seen the job posting by the company earlier, which mentioned a ridiculously high salary for a normal HR employee, nearly equal to that of a manager from her former company!

"I do!" Horace said with a chuckle.

Although he had no idea that the company had put out a job posting, he still appreciated Raquel's honesty.

He felt like she was a kind woman, who was worthy of being an employee at the Melton Network Technology Limited.

"So do you really know someone in the company?" Raquel's eyes lit up with excitement. "Hey, may I ask you something?"

"Of course!" Horace replied with a firm nod.

Seeing that, she asked, "Could you tell me how difficult the job interview would be?"

As soon as she finished, her friend pulled her again and said in an impatient tone, "Raquel, let's not waste our time here. Look at this guy! He's a bumpkin dressed in luxury clothes. This guy likes to pretend like he is powerful. He will make all kinds of promises to you now, but you will be deceived when you believe him and show up at the company!"

"Karin, I don't think you should be so rude to him!" Raquel was so embarrassed by her friend that she wanted to bury her head in the sand.

"He's just a young guy, and his self-esteem might be very strong. What you said now could have hurt him deeply," she added.

Karin chuckled when she heard those words. How ridiculous! "Raquel, did you forget what he just said? He bragged about going through a lot ever since he was a kid. He also said that he had done all kinds of jobs. If that was true, then he should have a strong heart, which would not be affected by my words."

With that, Karin grabbed her friend's hand and walked away.

"Raquel, we really don't have time. Let's go!"

"Okay, I know!" Raquel nodded in reply before she turned to Horace and said, "I am sorry about what my friend said. Don't be too sad."

"How can her words make me sad?" Horace chuckled casually. "Don't worry about the interview this afternoon. I guarantee that you will pass it! Anyway, bye!"

"Okay, thank you for your kind words!" Saying that, Raquel waved to Horace before Karin dragged her away.

After the girls left, Horace asked the delivery guy, "How much money do you need for the tutor fee? I'll pay it for you!"

"No, thanks. Your words helped me find my way. I will do my best to earn the fees on my own for my daughter. How can I let life knock me down like this? I have to support my family and watch my daughter grow up!" the delivery guy said solemnly.

At that moment, an innocent and sweet girl's voice came from behind. "Daddy!"

The delivery guy trembled, but he quickly wiped his tears away and turned to smile at the girl. "My baby girl, why are you here?"

Horace also looked at the little girl.

She must be about eight years old and was wearing cute pigtails.

The little girl ran to the delivery guy and threw herself in his arms. She then said in a sweet voice, "Daddy, Mommy said that you were working really hard and she brought me here to see you!"

The little girl took out two pieces of bread wrapped in parchment from her schoolbag and handed them to the delivery guy.

"Daddy, these are the love breads that Mommy made for you. They are delicious!"

"Really?" The delivery guy picked up one piece, took a big bite and said, "Yummy!"

His eyes were filled with affection as he looked at his wife and said, "Honey, thank you!"

Chapter 352 I'm Not A Big Sho

"I should be the one to thank you, honey! You have worked so hard. You haven't had lunch yet, have you? The bread that our daughter gave you was made by me. Eat it before it gets cold," said the woman standing in front of the delivery guy.

"Okay!" Nodding, the delivery guy devoured the bread in his hand.

After finishing it, he touched his stomach with satisfaction and remarked, "So delicious! Your bread is better than the ones from a bakery!"

"Really? But I think I forgot to add sugar to the dough today."

The woman was a little embarrassed when she heard her husband's praise. She was scatter-brained so she often forgot to add salt or sugar in food. However, the delivery guy was so used to her cooking.

"No sugar? You must be a master at cooking! Even without sugar, it's still delicious. If you had added the sugar, then it would taste like it was from heaven!"

"Thank you, honey! You're the only one who doesn't mind my faulty cooking. No one else will eat it!" the wife said with a smile.

"If I don't eat the food made by my wife, then whose food will I eat? Anyway, how did you know that I was here, honey?" the man asked with a chuckle.

"Oh, I was the one who placed your last takeout order, but I canceled it. Did I cause you any trouble? I am sorry!" the woman said.

"Oh, you placed the order?" The man was surprised because he had almost killed himself because of the order. He did not expect that it was his wife who ordered it.

"Honey, you didn't cause me any trouble at all! In fact, I got to taste the delicious bread you made for me. But it's not a good thing to place orders like this, okay? If a different delivery guy takes the order, then you will be causing them a certain amount of loss. Although we only earn about five dollars for every order, it could still mean a great deal to us!"

"Oh, I see. I'm sorry!" Like an obedient child, the wife smiled apologetically.

"As long as you know that you are in the wrong!" The delivery guy nodded with a smile. "Anyway, now that I've gotten your love, you can go home. Love you!" the man said, making a heart with his hand.

"This is way too much PDA!" Horace said with a sad sigh.

"Oh, I forgot that you were still here. You look great. Don't you have a girlfriend, young man?" the delivery guy asked.

"What's wrong, Hyatt? Who is this guy?" his wife asked. "Hyatt, why don't you introduce me to your friend?"

Then she walked up to Horace and said, "Hello, mister. My name is Roseanna Alvarez, and I'm Hyatt's wife!"

"Hello, ma'am. I'm Horace Warren and I just met Hyatt."

After introducing himself, Horace turned to the little girl with a smile. "Your daughter is so cute. She has inherited both your good qualities!"

"Of course, she is! She is indeed smart and beautiful. She is my sweetheart!" Hyatt Alvarez said.

"I can see that!" Horace nodded in agreement. "You have such a cute daughter to look after, so be a good dad to her, okay?"

"Of course! I've been too ashamed of myself for a long while after hearing your words. How can I disappoint her? Even if I don't do it for myself, I will do it for my dear wife and daughter." Hyatt's voice was serious as he looked at his wife and daughter with a smile.

"You don't have to work so hard, honey. We can get by with less money. So don't be so busy all the time," Roseanna said with concern, hugging Hyatt.

Horace turned to Hyatt and said, "You now have a chance to work for a high paying job. Would you like to try it?"

"Ah!" Stunned, Hyatt asked, "Hey, don't lie to me. I don't have any educational background or skills. Who will offer me a job?"

"I will!" Horace said affirmatively. "Educational qualifications are just a piece of paper. I don't care about it. If you don't know any skill, you can always learn. I happen to need more employees, and you can work for me as long as you're willing!"

"Judging from your tone, you seem like an extraordinary man! Are you some kind of a big shot?" Hyatt asked curiously.

"I'm not a big shot! Anyway, you heard those three girls mentioning that they were going to a job interview at Melton Network Technology Limited, right? Well, that's my company!" Horace said with a chuckle.

Chapter 353 Getting A Twenty Thousand Salary Is Not A Lo

"Is it really your company, Horace?" Hyatt asked incredulously with a trace of surprise and doubt in his eyes. In fact, when Horace had said that Raquel would nail the job interview, he also thought that he was joking, and did not expect it to be true.

"Honestly, I don't like kidding!" Horace replied with a nod. "Please let me know if you're interested to work for my company. You are excellent, and I believe you can do it!"

"I can?" Hyatt exclaimed in disbelief, pointing at himself. He felt like he was dreaming, because he had always had a clear estimation of himself, so he was not doubting Horace, but was doubting himself.

"Of course, you can!" Horace gave him an earnest nod. "If you've decided, then you can go to the company with me now. I will handle your joining procedures and then prepare to interview those women." Horace said, chuckling.

"Hyatt, why are you still standing there?" Roseanna urged. "Do you really need to think? Hyatt, are you that overconfident? Are you even in a position to think about it?"

"Well... Not at all!" Hyatt shook his head and continued, "Honey, I know my worth, and it is because of that I am so hesitant. If I were skilled, then I would have agreed immediately!"

"What are you even talking about? I know you better than anyone! Don't belittle yourself, honey. You should know that you are the best and the most perfect man in my heart! You support our family all on your own. Is there anything that you can't do? Besides, Horace trusts you and believes in you. Why aren't you having faith in yourself? You are not the Hyatt I know!"

"I know, honey. Maybe it's because I have been too tired lately that I feel dizzy."

Then he turned to Horace and stated, "Thanks a lot, Horace. As long as you don't have a problem with it, I am willing to do any job in your company!"

"You are so excellent. How can I make you do just any job? Our company is looking for a director for the logistics department. From now on, that position belongs to you. How about twenty thousand per month? When the company's profit becomes higher, I can raise your salary!"

"What? A director? Twenty thousand? I have not even been a team leader before, Horace. I am afraid that if I take the position of a director, then I will only embarrass you and slow the company down. How about you just get me a normal position? Besides, the salary is too high! I know nothing, and I am not worth so much, so just pay me a few thousands."

Roseanna also persuaded Horace, "My husband is right. He doesn't know anything about the job right now, so it is not fair for you to pay him twenty thousand as salary. Why don't you wait till he learns all the necessary skills?"

Horace smiled and said, "If he learns all the things, then he won't get such a salary! Moreover, it is about his potential, which I see very well. I think you deserve to be acknowledged and trained. But if you don't live up to my expectations in the future, then I can lower your salary."

"Well..." Hyatt was speechless after hearing those words. He did not think that there would be a boss like Horace in the world who believed that his salary was not enough.

Sighing heavily, he thought that if he had met a boss like Horace sooner, then he would not have resigned his job to work as a delivery guy!

"Well what? Anyway, don't be so stubborn. You should know that the lowest paying jobs in our country is six thousand. So as a director, getting a twenty thousand salary is not a lot!"

Earlier that morning, Horace had glanced at the payroll and had found that the lowest pay was three thousand, but he doubled it to six thousand.

"Ah! Horace, how is your company so well paying?" Hyatt asked in astonishment.

"Well, right now, we're still at the start-up level, so the salaries are not that high yet, but I believe that everything will be a lot better once the company is on track. If you want to work for my company, then you must follow my arrangements. I am letting you be the director, so you must take the position. You can't rebel!" Horace said with a chuckle.

"No, I won't. You helped me earlier, and now you're offering me a golden opportunity. I am willing to work for you even if you don't pay me, let alone with such good treatment! I will work for you for the rest of my life!" Hyatt announced.

"Good. I won't let you down! Let's go to the company now. We might miss the interview of those women if we're late," Horace said.

Chapter 354 I'm Not Here To Work Overtime

"Okay, Horace. I'll take you there using my motorbike!" Hyatt nodded.

All of a sudden, he regretted offering him a ride and said, "Let me guess, you're one of those people who have never ridden a motorbike, correct? I didn't consider that. I'm sorry!"

He felt ashamed that he forgot who Horace was and how he suggested that he rode with him to the company.

"That's very kind of you. I think taking a bike or riding a bus to work is good!" Horace said casually and then added, "It's alright. You didn't know that I couldn't drive. Besides, I don't have to learn to drive because I don't have a car. I have to take the bus to the company. However, if we take the bus now, we'll be late. So the best choice would be for me to ride with you to the office on your motorcycle!"

"Really? Wow!" Hyatt's mouth fell agape. He then continued, "Well, in that case, I'll get my motorbike!"

He then hurriedly pushed his motorcycle in front of Horace.

"Oh, honey!" When Roseanna heard what her husband said, she let out a deep sigh and turned her head to Horace. Her husband didn't realize that Horace was just being polite. Why would a successful businessman like him take the bus to the company? She thought that Horace must have just been sympathizing with Hyatt. Despite being the boss of the company, Horace was very kind.

While she was deep in thought, Horace nodded to Hyatt and got on his motorbike.

"Do you know how to get to Melton Network Technology Limited? If you don't, use the navigation system on your phone. Melton Network Technology Limited isn't far from here. We could probably get there before the three girls do!"

"Oh, don't worry! I know the way there because I used to deliver food to the employees of Melton Network Technology Limited," Hyatt said with a nod.

"Horace, I'm your employee now. If the other employees hear me call you this, they'll have less respect for you. So from now on, I'll call you Mr. Warren."

He then shouted, "Mr. Warren!"

Roseanna heard her husband call Horace Mr. Warren, and thought that her stupid husband had finally done something right. If she were him, she believed that she would have called him Mr. Warren earlier. Horace said that Hyatt was full of potential, so she believed that her husband would be the top employee under Horace's leadership!

The thought of this made her snicker as she thought of Hyatt's former colleagues. When Hyatt got rich, they would see if those colleagues could still look down on him.

While she was pondering, Horace waved to Hyatt and said, "I don't care much for etiquette. I like keeping it casual most of the time."

He then continued, "Alright, since you know the way there, let's go!"

"Okay, Mr. Warren!" Hyatt nodded and turned to look at his wife. "Honey, you should take our daughter home. Mr. Warren and I will be heading to the company now!"

"Okay, honey." Roseanna replied. After which, she encouraged Hyatt. "Honey, I believe in you! Don't let Mr. Warren down!"

"Of course I won't let him down!" he answered valiantly.

He then called out to his daughter, "Baby, listen to your mother. I'm going to work now. When Daddy makes a lot of money, I'll take you out every day and buy you toys!"

"Okay, Daddy. Mommy and I will wait for you at home!" His daughter nodded and clenched her fist tightly.

Hyatt smiled. He felt relieved that his family believed in him. He then started up the motorbike and headed to the Melton Network Technology Limited!

Around twenty minutes later, Hyatt and Horace arrived at the company.

Horace then took the elevator to get to the Melton Network Technology Limited floor. When he got to the floor, he saw that the doors to the company weren't locked. He took a quick peek and found that Jenifer and Mona were sitting inside.

When he saw the two, he hurriedly pushed the door open and walked in.

The moment the door rang, both Jenifer and Mona raised their heads. They were surprised to see him come to the office.

Jenifer scratched her head and asked, "Mr. Warren, why are you here?"

"Why am I here? Isn't that what I'm supposed to ask you?" Horace chuckled and then continued, "I remember that I gave you this afternoon off. So why are you still here?"

He then added, "Jenifer, Mona, you know that overtime isn't recommended in our company. We only allow overtime for employees who really couldn't finish their work."

"Mr. Warren, I'm not here to work overtime. I'm just here for the free Wi-Fi!" Jenifer giggled.

"Oh, really? Jenifer, why was I notified that someone would be coming over for a job interview today?" Horace smiled while looking at her.

"Mr. Warren, how did you know?" Jenifer gasped in shock.

"I mean, it's fine if you want to work overtime. But why did you have to lie to me?" He waved his finger disapprovingly and continued, "So Jenifer, can you please tell me why you're working overtime?"

"I'm not working overtime, Mr. Warren. I'm just doing my job," Jenifer said in answer to Horace's question.

"After having fired so many people and lost man power, we need to employ a lot of employees to replace them. The company officially starts tomorrow, so the only time I can recruit people is this afternoon," she explained.

Jenifer paused a little and then said hesitantly to Horace, "Also, Mr. Warren... To get many people interested, I have proposed a good salary and attractive benefits too. I hope that won't be a problem, because we urgently need employees."

Horace motioned Hyatt to be silent.

Hyatt immediately stopped talking. Actually, the chairman's office was very well soundproofed.

However, the window was still open, which caused Horace to hear the sound of the door opening.

"Alas!"

Horace noticed the open window and sighed in his heart. He did not dare to move, fearing that if he made any sound, then it might lead to unnecessary misunderstandings.

However, while he was sitting in his office, Jennifer's voice came from the hallway. "It's a pleasure for Melton Network Technology Limited to interview you three!" Well, it's already late. Let's go to the HR department for the interview."

Chapter 357 Am I Not Supposed To

"The interview?" Raquel was a little startled by their question, because she was still confused about what just happened in the interview, so she shook her head and replied, "I'm sorry, well, the manager only asked me one simple question, which was, if I was qualified for the position."

"That's it?"

Karin was confused. With a hint of disbelief in her eyes, she continued, "Raquel, are you afraid that we might take away that position? Is that why you're not telling us the truth? Don't be so stingy! Even we don't know the interview questions. How are we supposed to come up with answers in such a short time?"

"Thank you for congratulating me, but you're a little early, seeing as I haven't been accepted yet," Raquel said with a smile in Hyatt's direction.

She then looked at Horace and said in a respectful tone, "Mr. Warren, if I may ask, when is the interview supposed to begin?"

"Oh, there's no need for an interview. You're already taken! This afternoon was the best interview I could have gotten," Horace answered with a light chuckle.

But Raquel was a little confused and unsure.

"Well... Mr. Warren... I'm honestly flattered, but don't you think you're jumping headfirst into this?"

"Of course not! I know what I'm doing, and I believe I've made the right decision." Listen to me, okay? This is not some hasty decision. I trust the both of you!"

Horace gave both Hyatt and Raquel firm looks, hoping it would make them realize he had no doubts about this.

"I

"I can't agree, Miss Hoffman! I was the last one to enter the interview room. However, it was not because I am a coward, but because I am cautious.

Regarding work, I believe that I can outperform anyone here because I am courageous! Moreover, my comment about Raquel was true! Since she did those things first, why shouldn't we? As long as my colleagues are sincere, I will return the same sincerity that they showed me, so please believe my words!" Karin said to Jenifer.

Upon hearing that, Jenifer laughed scornfully.

"Karin, can you tell me why you are so dissatisfied with Raquel? Is it just because she did not tell you the interview questions?"

"N

"How could you say such a thing, Karin? I must tell you that Mr. Warren is really the chairman of the company. If you don't apologize to him now, then you might never get a chance later!" Raquel explained, looking at Karin in disbelief.

"Apologize? How dare you say such a thing? Do you think I'm stupid? How could this loser in fake brand clothes be the chairman of the company? Not to mention his friend, a the delivery guy. And he is also very young to become a chairman. I would suggest that you drop the act now, or you would only be embarrassing yourself. Don't be such a hypocrite! You disgust me!" Karin said with a disdainful smile.
