

Claiming My Possessive CEO Husband by Qiaoqiao

Novel Chapter 250

250 Chapter 250: The Wild Boar Can't Eat Fine Bran

"It's not often I get to see you, so let me take you shopping." Xavier Hamer said.

The three of them entered a branded women's clothing store. Xavier seemed busy and took a call on the side, asking Xaviera Evans to pick something first.

"Sis, who are you planning to go to Xavier's art exhibition with? I have two tickets.

Xaviera smiled slightly, it seemed that Xavier was quite popular.

Then another woman said, "I'm going with my brother, there's nothing I can do since they won't accept money."

Xaviera suddenly felt that the voice sounded familiar.

Suki Woods defended her sister, "Sis! Xaviera definitely doesn't understand art. She's been living in the countryside since the Evans family abandoned her. There's no way she could attend such an elegant event like an art exhibition. Even if she went, she would be like a bumpkin who doesn't know how to appreciate it."

Xaviera: "..."

It's true that enemies always meet. She didn't expect to run into Zara Woods here.

Page Uland frowned unhappily. Xaviera didn't understand art?

She had been looking at Xavier's paintings since she was a child and had become tired of them. Was it really necessary for her to attend an art exhibition?

Suki Woods continued to mock loudly, "Sis, is she even worthy of being your friend? It's an honor for her that you would even talk to her. You shouldn't associate with her, it's a disgrace to be around people like her."

“She grew up in the countryside and is just a wild girl. I think she should stay in the countryside forever, never fit for the spotlight.”

“Do you need to apologize to her? Is she even worthy? You’re Miss Woods!”

Page Uland’s face was full of displeasure. Over the years, they had never said a harsh word about Xaviera, but today he heard these two women saying a lot.

The Woods family seemed to value Xavier’s art exhibition a lot?

If Xavier knew how they talked about Xaviera, he would definitely kick them all out!

Page Uland frowned, “Xaviera, they...”

He was about to rush up to argue with them.

Xaviera quickly stopped him, “Master Uland, if you accuse them now, they won’t admit it, and will probably turn things around on us instead. We’ll lose our dignity instead.”

Page Uland thought for a moment, turned his wrist and took out a silver needle between his fingers.

Whoosh!

“Ah! My back hurts!” Suki Woods screamed and jumped up immediately. She looked around but didn’t find any suspicious people.

However, Zara Woods caught sight of Xaviera not far away.

She walked over slowly, pretending to be enthusiastic, “Xaviera? What a coincidence! Is Caleb not here?”

Suki Woods felt a sharp pain in her back. She then saw Zara Woods greeting Xaviera.

So this was Xaviera Evans!

Being in pain and irritated, she finally found a place to vent, “Sis! So this is the bumpkin who looks down on Xavier’s art exhibition!”

Suki Woods’ voice was harsh, attracting everyone’s attention.

Looking down on Xavier’s art exhibition? This woman is too arrogant!

Zara Woods stopped her, “Suki, don’t talk nonsense. Xaviera doesn’t want to go to Xavier’s art exhibition not because she looks down on it, but maybe because she doesn’t understand art.”

Xaviera was speechless.

At the same time, Mr. Uland turned his wrist again, and Zara Woods followed with a scream, her face full of shock.

Were it not for being in Libanan, he would have killed the two of them to take revenge for Xaviera a long time ago. Just pricking them with a needle was letting them off easy.

“Xaviera, let me take you to buy some gifts.”

Xaviera hooked her lips and nodded.

Zara Woods suddenly caught on to something, asking sarcastically, “Wait! Xaviera, you haven’t introduced this gentleman yet... Why does he want to buy you gifts? You and him... ‘

She looked at Xaviera meaningfully as the onlookers showed disdainful glances.

11

Suki Woods snorted coldly, “Tsk! She’s really shameless! Even at this age, she can still bring herself to do such things. All she sees is money, even seducing old men!”

Zara Woods shrugged helplessly, “Maybe they’re just relatives...”

Mr. Uland took Xaviera into the women's clothing store, bundled up all the clothes she liked, and the salesperson busily packed them, a touch of envy flashed across her face.

Although the old man was a bit old, he was very generous, spending so much money without even blinking an eye.

And it was evident that he had been handsome in his youth.

After packing the clothes, the cashier reminded them with a smile, "Mister, there are a total of fifteen sets of clothes, amounting to 320,000. Will you be scanning or using a card?"

Mr. Uland: "..."

What's there to scan? Where are the horses?

251 Chapter 251: How Long Are You Going to Keep Pretending?

Page Uland hesitated for a moment, but quickly decided that it didn't matter what kind of horse it was, as long as he could swipe his card.

He reached into his pocket, only to suddenly realize, with a frown, that his card was not there; he had given it to Xavier Hamer to hold on to!

The cashier's smile slowly faded, and Xaviera Evans took out her own card and handed it over.

At this moment, Suki Woods seized the opportunity to sarcastically remark, "Ha! So this old man doesn't have any money after all. And he still has the audacity to keep a mistress when moneyless? Xaviera, are you blind? Be careful not to end up with nothing in the end!"

Xaviera frowned.

Page Uland, indignant, said, "Those who babble nonsense will enter Hell of Tongue Pulling after death."

Hearing this, Suki Woods sneered disdainfully, "Old man! Are you from the mountains? Hell of Tongue Pulling? I don't believe it! You dress in ancient costumes, looking weird and strange. You must be a big liar!"

Xaviera took back her bank card, her expression turning cold.

She had initially not wanted to argue, but this woman dared to insult Master Uland?

Xaviera took out her phone, calmly signed a contract, and transferred the payment to the other party, while a trace of a smile appeared at the corner of her mouth.

“Qiqi, don’t speak like that, maybe he just forgot to bring his card.”

Immediately after, Zara Woods turned to Xaviera, apologizing with a guilty expression, “Xaviera, I was wrong about what happened before. I wanted to give you tickets to Xavier Hamer’s art exhibition, but you didn’t accept them. Or... I can buy you clothes instead. This time, I’ll pay. But since you’re already married to Caleb, you should... keep your distance from other men.”

Zara Woods slowly walked up to the cashier, softly saying, “Hi, I’ll pay for Miss Evans. Just swipe my card, please.”

The cashier instantly greeted her with a smile, “Great! Miss Woods is so generous!”

“Some people, if they don’t have the money, shouldn’t pretend to be rich! Since Miss Evans is married, it’s really fickle of her to go shopping with other men!”

The cashier handed Xaviera the bag of clothes and gave Page Uland a dirty look, “Psh, what a pretentious show-off.”

Xaviera looked at those shopping bags, her voice cold, “I don’t want the clothes.”

Zara Woods spoke gently, “Xaviera, don’t be polite to me. Consider it an apology, and I hope you won’t hold a grudge for what happened before.”

“I’m not being polite.”

Xaviera appeared nonchalant, “Do I need to pay for the clothes from my own store?”

Page Uland’s expression was filled with pride. Our little Xaviera is so domineering!

Zara Woods’ smile stiffened, and Suki Woods who was next to her couldn’t help but laugh out loud.

“I didn’t hear wrongly, right? You said this store is yours? Do you think I’m stupid? How could this store be yours?”

“Just now, I bought this store.”

Xaviera instructed the manager, “Everyone else, leave.”

The cashier trembled in fear, turning pale,

Suki Woods stared in disbelief at the scene. The shop’s owner had changed so quickly?

Zara Woods frowned, “Xaviera, are you saying you just bought this store now? Did you use Caleb’s money?”

Everyone looked at her with suspicion.

Zara Woods bit her lip, hesitating to speak, “As Caleb’s wife, there’s nothing wrong with you spending his money, but...”

“Isn’t it a bit too much to spend Caleb’s money just to save this man’s face?”

Suki Woods finally caught on and yelled, “Xaviera! You’re messing around outside with your husband’s money! He’ll kill you if he finds out!”

Seeing Xaviera remaining silent, Suki Woods pressed harder, “You not speaking means you admit it! Your father has already severed ties with you, and now your husband is supporting you. Instead of pleasing your husband, you dare to buy a store for an old man? You’re insane!”

Zara Woods spoke with sincerity, “Xaviera, let’s pretend I didn’t see anything this time. I won’t tell Caleb, but I hope you’ll cut ties with him soon, so as to not destroy the family because of this man.”

Slowly walking up, she gently advised, “Wake up, for Caleb’s sake, break up with him!”

Xaviera glanced at the man not far away, her voice ice-cold, “Zara Woods, how much longer are you going to keep pretending?”

Zara Woods’ eyes widened in shock, her face full of grievance.

Comment 0

Claiming My Possessive CEO Husband by Qiaoqiao Novel Chapter 252

252 Chapter 252: The Woman Under the Mountain is a Tiger

Suki Woods stormed over, yelling, “My sister was only trying to help you, to prevent you from going astray, and you accuse her of putting on airs? You’re already married and yet you go messing around with older men, pretending to be virtuous when you’re dirtier than anyone else!” 0

“I suspect you’ve been with more than one man? How many have you been with? Do you have some disease? My sister kindly advised you, and you took it as harm-”

“Ha! What talent the Woods family has.” The man’s voice came over with a sarcastic laugh/

Caleb Mamet’s eyes were deep, his face ice-cold as he walked towards them with long strides.

Page Uland watched the coldness on the man’s face, wondering if he had caused some trouble.

He initially only planned to send Xaviera a few clothes, who would’ve known he’d be mistaken for her lover. If Xaviera’s husband was jealous, that’d make things complicated.

Maybe he should head back to the mountains; city women really were vicious!

Page Uland was about to make a call to Xavier Hamer.

Suki Woods looked at the man approaching, antagonistically yelling, “I was talking, and you interrupted me? Who the hell do you think you are?”

Caleb Mamet radiated an imposing presence that made Suki Woods scared, but refusing to lose face, she defiantly yelled, “Xaviera, where did you pick up this outsider of a man...”

“Suki!” Zara Woods immediately stopped her, turning pale.

Being the young miss of the Woods family and enduring many battles, she forced a smile and gently said, “Caleb, you’re here too.”

Caleb Mamet gave her a cold glance and turned his face away in disgust.

Sean Price distantly interjected, “Miss Woods, only those close to the president are allowed to call him Caleb. You have nothing to do with him, so you should just call him Mr. Caleb Mamet.”

Zara Woods choked back a response, her heart pounding.

Hearing his name, Suki Woods went pale, trembling in fear, “Mr...Mr...Mr. Caleb Mamet?”

Was this the man in charge of the Mamet family, Caleb Mamet?

Suki Woods greatly regretted her previous outburst. She glanced at Zara whose face was still calm.

Caleb Mamet should not hold it against her; after all, they were doing this for him. It was Xaviera who had been messing around behind his back, and they were merely giving her advice!

Caleb Mamet stood beside Xaviera, leaning down slightly, his voice calm yet domineering, “Mrs. Mamet, you have my apologies for being wronged.”

Page Uland felt awkward. He was considering how to greet Mr. Mamet, but was scared Mr. Mamet might misunderstand his relationship with Xaviera.

Before Page Uland could open his mouth, Xaviera’s cold face suddenly crumbled.

“Caleb, I feel so wronged! Miss Woods claimed to be your friend, and even though she was doing it for my own good, she didn’t listen to my explanation and just lectured me. I didn’t want to clashing with her.”

“Moreover, if I said something unpleasant, it’d affect your friendship.”

Zara felt nauseous; Xaviera really knew how to play her part!

While claiming that she didn’t want to harm their friendship, she insinuated accusations with every word.

Caleb Mamet scowled, not bothering to look at Zara, “Sean Price.”

Sean Price understood, “Miss Woods, you merely know Mr. Mamet, you can’t exactly call that a friend. Even if Mrs. Mamet makes a mistake, it's none of your business to lecture her."

"Are you aware of the consequences of availing yourself of Mr. Mamet and keeping our Mrs. Mamet at bay? You're smart, no need for further elaboration. What do you think?"

Zara Woods had a gloomy look in her eyes, grinding her teeth in anger.

Is Caleb going to go against her for the sake of Xaviera?

They grew up together, were friends for more than twenty years, and because of Xaviera, he no longer needed friends?

Damned woman! How dare she complain!

Could it be that Caleb genuinely liked a woman like Xaviera?

Perhaps Caleb was only after freshness. It was no wonder she had been too reserved and conservative these years. What if she also tried to seduce Caleb like Xaviera, would the result be different?

Zara Woods sniffled, choking, "Alright, I was meddling in what I shouldn't have. It was not my place to interfere in...Mr. Mamet's affairs, I was wrong"

Comment 0

253 Chapter 253: Bypass trouble when you see the lady

Seeing her sister so wronged, Suki Woods was furious.

"Sis! What have you done wrong? Was it her..."

Suki Woods, seeing the satisfaction on Xaviera Evans' face, turned ashen with rage, indifferent to the consequences.

"Mr. Caleb Mamet, my sister is only thinking of your interests, so you wouldn't be cheated on without knowing it! Xaviera Evans and this older man are together, even buying a store to help him out, and it was your money she spent, Mr. Caleb Mamet, you..."

“Cheated on?” Caleb Mamet sneered, his low voice ominous.

Suki Woods took steps back in fear, her voice trembling: “Yes! She cheated on you, otherwise, why would she go shopping with an older man?”

“Miss Woods, don’t you have uncles?” Caleb asked coldly.

Suki Woods froze, unable to find her words.

“Seeing Xaviera with another man and you jump to conclusions. Is this a true reflection of the Woods family’s teachings? Are your thoughts always so depraved? What is wrong with Xaviera going shopping with an elder? How could such a bond be improper in your eyes?”

Caleb Mamet’s thin lips offer scornful words, “Mamet has had an enlightening day today.” Woods family’s teaching methods are extraordinary.”

le

Zara nearly collapsed to the ground, quickly trying to explain, “Caleb, I-”

At that moment, Sean Price interrupted her, “Miss Woods, our wife is simple-minded, gentle, our CEO does not wish for her to be bullied or corrupted by the Woods family.”

“Miss Woods, please keep your distance from our wife in the future.”

Zara staggered with the weak defense, “Caleb, it was a misunderstanding between me and Suki. But I was really only thinking of your well-being. I didn’t mean to bully Xaviera!”

Xaviera gently advised, “Honey, Miss Woods speaks correctly. She is kind-hearted and not intentionally claiming that I was unfaithful! She is still your friend, how could she ruin our marriage?”

“I believe it must have been the indecent deeds of the Woods family elders that led Miss Woods to have such a misunderstanding. It is not her fault, but the influence of her original family!”

Zara: “...”

Wretched woman! I’ll kill you!

A tight feeling constricted her chest, making her almost spit out blood. But still, she forcefully held on and gave a forced smile, "Caleb, since it is so... I shall take my leave."

Zara's tears cascaded down as she burst into tearful flight.

At this moment, a person ran up to her, "Zara?"

Zara cleaned the tears off with great difficulty.

The person in front of her was Caleb Mamet's close friend, Jake Lindsey. Seeing Zara crying so inconsolably, he was full of sympathy, "Who bullied you? I'll take revenge for you!"

Zara quickly denied it, "No, no one."

Jake Lindsey's gaze turned icy. Zara was the only girl among their group of friends, whom they all doted on as if a real sister. With their backing as children from noble families, who would dare bully her?

Zara was always optimistic, and this was the first time she had cried so pitifully. Jake Lindsey quietly asked, "Zara, don't be scared, tell me what happened?"

"Jake, I.. I'm fine..."

Suki Woods came chasing after, seeing the situation, she blurted out, "How come you're fine? After the way she treated you, why are you still holding back?!"

"Mr. Lindsey, do you know about Mr. Caleb Mamet's marriage? Mrs. Mamet is a ruthless character; she's bullied my sister and made Mr. Caleb Mamet cut ties with my sister!"

Zara quickly interjected, "Suki, stop!"

"Jake, sister-in-law... she's just jealous, realizing that I'm a woman, so she doesn't want me to keep in touch with Caleb. I understand her, so... you don't need to bother with this..."

Jake Lindsey was instantly furious, "I can't believe Caleb married such a woman, who dares to bully you? You are our sister; even if he's married now, you are still one of the most impor ople to us."

"All of us brothers have girlfriends or wives, but we get along well with you. Only Mrs. Mamet can't tolerate you?"

"We all grew up together. You and Caleb even shared a bed and a blanket. At that time, Mrs. Mamet didn't even know Caleb yet!"

"Who does she think she is to make Caleb cut you off?"

254 Chapter 254: Being a Whore, and Putting up an Archway

Zara Woods looked sad: "I don't want this either. I cherish our friendship, and I do my best to maintain it. But Xaviera just can't tolerate me. She thinks I'll steal Caleb from her. If I really liked Caleb, we would have been married a long time ago, and we might even have a child together. How could it be her turn?"

Jake Lindsey gently patted her shoulder: "Don't cry. I'll accompany you to the Lowen Clubhouse. What can she do to me? At that time, we'll watch movies all night with Caleb and sleep at the Lowen Clubhouse. That'll show her!"

Xaviera listened to their conversation, smiling meaningfully.

What a good friend!

They were already married, still wanted to sleep at home, and if she dared to oppose, then she would be seen as petty and jealous, trying to destroy their friendship.

Also, Xaviera had already predicted that as long as there was a first time, Zara would come countless more times, saying, 'We're just friends, don't misunderstand. Don't be so petty. Let me sleep with your husband for one night!'

So, wouldn't Zara have slept with everyone in the circle?

That's why all these men were her backups, supporting her.

How could there be such a shameless woman? Taking advantage of being friends with these men, naturally becoming a public lover.

Normal women would keep their distance knowing the other person is married, not stick to them like Zara Woods.

Zara had become a whore but still wanted to play innocent. Well, she would play with her then!

When they came out of the mall, Page Uland pulled Xaviera aside and whispered, "Xaviera, is he your husband?"

Xaviera felt a little guilty; after she left the mountain, she had quietly gotten married without telling the elders.

Just as she was thinking about how to explain, Page Uland seemed thoughtful and said, "I feel like he looks familiar, like he's been to the mountain before."

Xaviera widened her eyes, "Ah? He's been to the mountain?"

It was almost impossible for Caleb to have gone to their secret base in the mountains because outsiders were not allowed there.

It was possible that Master Uland had seen him before, but it was hard to believe Caleb had been to the mountains.

At this moment, Page Uland's face turned serious, "It's him! He went there twice. He's good-looking and has a powerful aura, so I remember him very clearly."

Page Uland had always been a homebody and didn't pay attention to the outside world. He knew Caleb had been there, but he didn't know why he went.

Everything on the mountain was decided by their elderly leader. After the elderly leader went missing, Master Uland took up the responsibility.

Xaviera racked her brain and could only think that perhaps he was the magnate that Albert had mentioned.

—

– That legendary fiancé.

But wasn't her former fiancé Boyd Drew? Boyd Drew was the heir of the Drew family and held control over the precious resources.

If that was the case, then under what identity did Caleb go to the mountain?

Could it be ...

Xaviera suddenly understood!

"Master Uland, I get it now! Did you know that Caleb's birth mother is Miss Winni Drew? Boyd Drew is not even Miss Drew's son!"

She

whispered, "Grandfather treated Miss Drew as his biological daughter. If he knew Caleb was Miss Drew's child, he would have allowed him to go to the mountain!"

Page Uland frowned.

Why didn't Xaviera consider that the Caleb in front of her was that legendary big shot? Her former fiancé?

But since Xaviera had said so, Page Uland was too embarrassed to refute, "You're right." "Master Uland, I have a question for you." Xaviera's expression became serious.

"Caleb and Miss

Drew... both were affected by the same poison. In the dark, they will go blind, and I have seen him suffer from the poison once. It was very painful. I could only use blood to temporarily suppress the poison."

Page Uland's eyes widened, his face full of shock, "You fed him your blood?"

Xaviera was really fearless of anything, daring to feed him her blood. Didn't Caleb know what she was thinking clearly then?

There was no need to pretend to be weak anymore. After all, he knew what was on her mind.

Xaviera looked puzzled: “Master Uland? Why are you reacting so strongly?”

255 Chapter 255: The Fragile Persona Collapses!

Xaviera Evans’s heart skipped a beat: “What are you talking about?”

1

At this moment, Page Uland really wanted to give Xaviera a good beating to make her remember this lesson.

She didn’t even know the side effects of doing this, yet she dared to use her blood to save someone. As soon as she did, the other person would be able to hear her thoughts.

Moreover, as time went on, the lives of the two would become tightly intertwined.

This foolish girl, even if she married Caleb Mamet, she couldn’t risk her life like this. If she regretted it later, there would be no turning back.

Page Uland’s face darkened, just as he was about to remind her, Xaviera suddenly spoke.

“Master Uland, I understand your concern. You’re worried that if Caleb finds out about this, he will imprison me and drink my blood for detoxification when he’s poisoned?”

Page Uland rolled his eyes.

“So

you still dare to detoxify him?

Do you understand Caleb? You dare to expose your secret to him. If he’s ruthless, you’ll be his antidote – and you can regenerate infinitely!”

Xaviera had already thought about this. If Caleb really was that kind of person, her future would definitely be painful.

But she believed he wouldn't do that.

When Page Uland thought about how his precious Xaviera might suffer, his face turned red with anger. "Do you understand him? Not only understand him? Not only did you elope, but you also..."

Xaviera calmly said, "Master Uland, I know him. I met him ten years ago."

Page Uland was choked, looking at her in disbelief.

Xaviera took a deep breath, "Master Uland, do you know I have a senior fellow?"

Page Uland nodded without hesitation.

Originally, there were only boys on the mountain. The old man took in four disciples, all boys. One day, however, he brought back a girl.

Albert Sullivan and Xavier Hamer found her cute and asked her to call them senior fellow, but she refused. Later, when they became friends, she said she had only one senior fellow: the hacker Mortimer. So she wouldn't call anyone else her senior fellow.

No one forced her after that. They just let her call them brothers, and everyone got to know the famous hacker Mortimer.

So Page Uland knew very well how much Xaviera cared about Mortimer. He just didn't expect Caleb to be Mortimer.

At this moment, Caleb walked over slowly, "Zara Woods and her sister have left, sorry to put Mrs. Mamet through this."

1/3

Xaviera lowered her eyes, pretending to be aggrieved, but her thoughts were ...

'If it weren't for maintaining my delicate image, I would have already dealt with them myself! They're not a match for me yet!'

When she looked up again, there was a slight redness in her eyes, “They’re so scary! They wouldn’t even listen to my explanation. I’m too weak to fight them.”

“...” Page Uland’s mouth was wide open.

Xaviera’s delicate act was too much!

When they were on the mountain, everyone knew her true nature. Even if she pretended to be weak, no one would believe it. But now, everyone thought Xaviera was too fragile to be self-reliant.

Unfortunately, she couldn’t fool Caleb! He could hear Xaviera’s inner voice.

At this moment, Xaviera must be cursing Zara Woods in her heart. Her delicate image has collapsed!

If Caleb found out she had two faces, he might dislike her.

Page

Uland was panicked, thinking about how to help her out, when Caleb said casually, “You are indeed too weak. They bullied you so much, yet you didn’t fight back. From now on, I won’t let the Woods family come to this shopping mall anymore. That way, you won’t run into them.”

Xaviera: “Caleb, you are so good to me!”

Page Uland: “...”

He even doubted himself. Was his memory wrong? Could it be that using blood for treatment wouldn’t have side effects like this?

If Caleb could hear her inner voice, how could he still think she was weak?

Moreover, she and Caleb had known each other for ten years! So Page Uland was su

> just didn’t expose her, letting her maintain her weak image.

□

“...” Should he tell Xaviera the truth?

The atmosphere suddenly became awkward.

-‘What is Master Uland’s expression? Is he hesitating to say something? Is he going to expose my delicate image?’

-

‘My dear master! You’ve been living with me for so long, of course you find it a bit strange. But Caleb likes me like this! You must not expose me!’

256 Chapter 256: The Family Commandment Token Appears in the World

While Xaviera was murmuring in her heart, Caleb Mamet suddenly coughed. 1

Page Uland knew that Caleb must have heard something, and Xaviera didn’t know about this secret; she didn’t know what nonsense she was thinking at the moment.

He looked up at Caleb and found that Caleb was also looking at him, and then the two turned their faces away at the same time.

Xaviera suddenly spoke, “Master Uland, you seemed to have something to say to me just now. What is it that I don’t know about?”

Page Uland hesitated for a moment. He wanted to tell Xaviera that saving people with her blood had side effects, and the other party could hear her inner thoughts.

But now...

Page Uland frowned.

It seemed that Caleb quite enjoyed this feeling. If he talked about it now, wouldn’t it ruin the fun between the couple?

So he cleared his throat and said, “I can’t remember.”

Xaviera sighed, “Ah, getting older, my memory is not as good as before.”

Page Uland: ““.

Little rascal!

As Page

Uland was leaving, he whispered: “Xaviera, this is not on the mountain, you should restrain yourself a little when you are outside, don’t...”

Don’t always mutter in your heart, there’s no need to pretend to be weak with a double-faced attitude.

But before he could finish, Xaviera looked puzzled and said, “What am I repressing? Caleb is very good to me!”

Page Uland: “...“You didn’t understand my meaning at all!

He looked meaningfully at Caleb, wanting to say something more, but then he saw a seemingly ordinary necklace hanging around Xaviera’s neck, and his whole body trembled.

Is this...

With a shocked look on his face, Page Uland looked up: “Mr. Caleb Mamet, did you give her this?”

Caleb Mamet looked indifferent, “It’s a small gift I gave her.”

Xaviera nodded: “Yeah, Master Uland, what’s so strange about it?”

It was just a necklace, and compared to the other gifts Caleb had given her, this was relatively cheap. However, the inside of the necklace was empty, and it could hold a few silver needles, which could be used as a hidden weapon when necessary.

Page Uland: “!!” This necklace is the family commandment token of the Mamet family! How could Xaviera not know?

Page Uland had heard of the family commandment token before, which was something that on ly the hostess of the Mamet family could have, and it had the power to command everyone in the Mamet family.

The Mamet family's property was co-owned by the family head and the wife who held the family commandment token. With the token, Xavier would own half of the family wealth.

However, it was said that the family commandment token had been lost, and no hostess had held it for the past hundred years.

Page Uland thought that the Mamet family had long abolished the family commandment token. Who would have thought that Caleb would actually give it to Xaviera?

The key point was ... she didn't even know!

Page Uland was speechless, "Mr. Caleb Mamet, this may not be appropriate."

With Xaviera holding the family commandment token, those with ulterior motives would definitely try their best to deal with her.

Caleb appeared calm, "There's nothing inappropriate."

As Page Uland was about to argue, Caleb suddenly said earnestly, "Since I gave it to her, it means I can protect her."

She is indeed the most qualified person to hold the family commandment token.

Page Uland took a deep breath, waved his hand for Xaviera to step aside, then lowered his head and asked, "Mr. Caleb, Xaviera has a stubborn nature, having grown up in the mountains and dislikes restrictions. Even the family commandment token and the blood pact cannot control her."

and

Caleb understood

Page Uland's feelings, so he promised: "Mr. Uland, I don't want to control her.

I think she deserves to hold the family commandment token, and I have the ability to protect her without any worries. As for the blood pact...

“1

Page Uland thought Caleb would promise not to hurt Xaviera because of her blood.

But Caleb became serious, “I won’t drink her blood anymore, and I won’t let her get hurt.”

It was because he had lost consciousness due to the poison outbreak that time that Xaviera had given her own blood to save him.

If his poison remained unsolved, he would have to keep drinking Xaviera’s blood, which might cause irreversible damage to her.

Caleb couldn’t bear to see her taking risks.

Page Uland’s heart trembled, he sighed and said, “Alright, take Xaviera home.”

The man Xaviera liked was indeed not bad; after all, they had known each other for ten years. He had courage and a sense of responsibility- a good man!

257 Chapter 257: Rejected at the Door

The next day. B

Xavier Hamer’s exhibition begins at 3 PM.

Xaviera Evans lost interest in his paintings long ago.

But Steve Price is Hamer’s die-hard fan, and it’s almost impossible to get tickets for the exhibition. Many wealthy families couldn’t even get tickets, let alone his assistant.

Additionally, Yigol Mamet had been clamoring to go, so Evans directly asked Hamer for two front-row tickets.

At 2 PM, Price and Mamet, both dressed in suits, were waiting at the entrance of the exhibition.

At 2:30 PM, people started to arrive.

Mamet looked around and saw Libanan's elite, as well as people from the political circles.

He couldn't help but exclaim, "My idol is so handsome! Xavier Hamer is the best!"

No matter how distinguished they were, everyone had to patiently wait in line to see his exhibition, which was the greatest recognition for him.

Normally, such high-end exhibitions were quiet and orderly, but the silence was suddenly broken by a harsh female voice.

"Look carefully, these are our tickets! Why aren't you letting us in?"

Price and Mamet followed the sound.

A middle-aged woman dressed in elaborate attire shouted with a dark expression. "Let me in... you don't, give me a reasonable explanation. I paid for these tickets!"

Everyone's eyes fell on her, making her extremely uncomfortable.

Mamet whispered, "Mrs. Woods? Why won't they let her in? Did she offend painter Hamer?"

At this moment, Mrs. Woods looked embarrassed and wished she could find a crack to hide in.

The Woods family had only managed to get two tickets, and she had come to the exhibition with her daughter.

However, they were stopped at the entrance, and the staff refused to let them in.

Mrs. Woods had never suffered such humiliation, “Give me a reason!”

The staff member helplessly smiled, “I’m sorry, but we received instructions from above not to let you in.”

Mrs. Woods was about to curse, but Zara Woods stopped her.

Zara gently asked, “We bought these tickets through official channels, so there shouldn’t be any problems. Can you please check if there’s any issue?”

Zara had a good reputation in their social circle, so others soon chimed in, “That’s right, how could Miss Woods and her mother possibly buy fake tickets? It must be your mistake.”

The staff member, left with no choice, turned around and made a phone call, then returned with an apologetic tone.

“I’m sorry, Miss Woods and Mrs. Woods. I’ve just talked to Mr. Hamer’s assistant. Mr. Hamer has cancelled the Woods family’s quota. As for the reason, I suggest you ask Mr. Hamer directly.”

Mrs. Woods was furious enough to spit blood!

It was hard enough for her daughter to get tickets, but now they couldn’t even enter the exhibition. And they were told that their quota had been canceled!

However, she couldn’t think of any reason why the Woods family would have offended Hamer.

Mrs. Woods snarled, “Shut up! The Woods family never offended painter Hamer! This must be your doing! Let us in immediately!”

Zara remained silent and did not stop her mother.

She also believed that painter Hamer wouldn’t do this and figured it must be the staff member who had an issue with the Woods family.

“This is outrageous! We paid for our tickets, why can’t we go in? You say this is the assistant’s doing? Then let him come out and explain!”

“Alright, I’ll give you an explanation.”

At this moment, a gentle voice came from afar.

Xavier Hamer arrived from the studio to make the final arrangements with the staff.

He said indifferently, “There’s no need to find the assistant. I’ll tell you personally.”

Everyone saw Hamer coming and flocked towards him, “Ah! Xavier Hamer is here!”

“Not only is Xavier Hamer talented, but he’s also so handsome!”

“I heard that Hamer is gentle and soft-spoken, so why would he make things difficult for the Woods family? The Woods family must have done something to anger him!”

Amidst the crowd’s chatter, Mrs. Woods gnashed her teeth and shouted, “We’ve never even met painter Hamer. How could we have offended him? Mister Hamer, it’s good that you’re here. I want to know why you’re not letting me in. Is it because your assistant is causing trouble?”

Hamer looked coldly at Mrs. Woods, then turned his eyes to Zara.

“Miss Woods, don’t you have anything to say?”

127

258 Chapter 258: Xavier Hamer Brother Slaps Face

Everyone’s eyes widened. Did Zara Woods anger Xavier Hamer?

Mrs. Woods blurted out, “What does this have to do with Zara? My daughter is beautiful and kind-hearted, how could she possibly offend you? If you don’t give me a reason, I won’t leave today!”

“If that’s the case, then let me personally tell Mrs. Woods.”

Xavier Hamer sneered, his eyes full of indifference.

To put Xaviera in a difficult situation is to offend him!

He heard that Zara Woods has a good reputation and has many men backing her up, so he wanted to see who would stand up for her today?

Whoever dares to bully their family's Xaviera is going against him!

Xavier Hamer said coldly: "Mrs. Woods, I canceled the Woods family's quota because the Woods family's elder generation is really shameless. The art exhibition is a pure place, so I don't allow the Woods family to enter."

"Mrs. Woods, instead of arguing with me, why not ask Miss Woods what she's done?"

Upon hearing Xavier Hamer's words, Mrs. Woods' face turned pale, and her lips trembled.

Was the Woods family's elder generation shameless?

Who exactly had offended Xavier Hamer?

Mrs. Woods felt uneasy under the heated gazes of the people around her. Unable to think further, she refuted directly: "Nonsense! What did the Woods family's elder generation do? What did my daughter do? You have to make it clear! Otherwise, I will sue you for slander!"

Yigol Mamet watched the farce and whispered to Steve Price: "Mrs. Woods' shrewish appearance has already shown that the Woods family's elder generation is disgraceful."

Steve Price nodded like crazy.

Xavier Hamer asked leisurely, "Mrs. Woods, do you really want me to say it?"

Zara Woods' face sank, and she felt uneasy in her heart. She hurriedly said, "Mr. Hamer..."

Xavier Hamer didn't pay her any attention and slowly said, "Yesterday, Miss Woods happened to meet my sister and uncle in the mall. Miss Woods mocked my sister for being kept by my uncle."

Everyone gasped.

Xavier Hamer said coldly, "My uncle only wanted to buy some clothes for my sister after not seeing her for a long time. In Miss Woods' eyes, it turned into an improper relationship between a man and woman. I think it's because the Woods family's elder generation keeps young girls, which is why Miss Woods thinks this way."

"This can't be blamed on Miss Woods, after all, it's the Woods family's elder generation who did the disgraceful thing first."

Having said that, Xavier Hamer looked around indifferently, "Mrs. Woods, didn't Miss Woods tell you about yesterday's incident?"

Everyone looked at the Woods mother and daughter with contempt.

However, it was not directed at them, but a dislike for the entire Woods family.

People in the industry knew that although Xavier Hamer was not good at socializing, he had a mild temper and did not fight with the world. This time, his public condemnation of the Woods family meant that they must have gone too far.

Moreover, Hamer said that Miss Woods had bullied his uncle and sister. Having his own family humiliated, he could not sit back and watch, right?

Not allowing the Woods family to participate in his exhibition was only reasonable.

"The Woods family still has the nerve to come here. They just insulted Xavier Hamer's relatives, and they still ask how they offended Xavier Hamer? What an angelic bitch!"

"I heard that Hamer's uncle is Page Uland!"

"Ah? Page Uland? The musical instrument master? And the Mr. Uland who is good at medicine?"

“The Woods family dares to insult Mr. Uland like this? They are really bold! Xavier Hamer has given them enough face, just not allowing them to attend the exhibition. If it were me, I would have slapped them both and told them to get lost. Do they still have the face to ask for an explanation here?”

Mrs. Woods trembled all over, looking at the scene before her in disbelief.

Zara Woods quickly supported the crumbling Mrs. Woods, her face extremely ugly, biting her lip, “I’m sorry,

Mr. Hamer, I didn’t mean it yesterday, I... I will apologize in person, I’m very sorry!” Although everyone didn’t know who Xavier Hamer’s sister was, just the identity of Page Uland alone was enough to infuriate them.

Mrs. Woods and Zara Woods left in disgrace, and the crowd entered the venue one after another.

Before long, Jake Lindsey rushed over, “Zara!”

Zara Woods’ tears fell pitter-patter, “Jake...”

“I heard that you and your aunt were kicked out. What happened?”

Zara Woods looked aggrieved: “Yesterday, I saw Xaviera and Xavier Hamer’s uncle shopping together in the mall, the two were very close, and the old man was even buying things for Xaviera. So I had some misunderstandings...”

Comment

259 Chapter 259: Time to Make a Move

“I didn’t do it on purpose, I just hadn’t seen that old man before, and I couldn’t understand why he would spend so much money on Xaviera for no reason, so I thought they had an inappropriate relationship.”@

“I did it for Caleb, so I advised Xaviera to break off contact with that man; I didn’t mean any harm. Who would’ve thought that it would offend Xavier Hamer.”

Zara Woods choked up, “I don’t mind being wronged, but my mother and I have suffered because of this.”

Upon hearing this, Jake Lindsey’s face filled with rage, “That Xaviera is such a troublemaker! She’s not even related to that man, yet she spends his money. It’s only normal for people to misunderstand.”

“Only blame her for having a bad reputation! If it were you, no one would ever think such a thing!”

Zara lowered her eyes, “I angered Xavier, and it might even involve my brother. I’m afraid.”

Jake gently reassured her, “Don’t worry, I’ll help you. In a couple of days, there’s an auction in Libanan, and Xavier once said that he really wanted one of the violins there to give to his sister. If we can get that violin and give it to him as an apology, maybe.”

When Zara heard the words ‘give it to his sister, she thought of Xaviera.

Could Xaviera be Xavier’s sister?

It’s absolutely impossible!

Xaviera doesn’t have a brother at all; it must be that Xavier, due to Page Uland’s reputation, was unwilling to say that his relationship with Xaviera was inappropriate, so he claimed her as his sister.

Zara nodded. Giving Xavier that violin would probably make him stop holding a grudge against the Woods family.

But on second thought, she furrowed her brow, “That handmade violin is worth...five million dollars. I don’t have that much money right now.”

Jake immediately understood her meaning and patted his chest, “It’s just five million dollars! I’ll help you out!”

“Jake, no, you can’t!”

“We’re good friends, and giving you a violin is nothing. It means nothing to give you five million dollars, as long as you’re happy! Zara, I’ve never given such an expensive gift to my girlfriend, but if it’s for you, I’d buy it no matter the cost.”

Zara blushed and whispered, “Jake, you’re so kind.”

Yigol Mamet hid in the shadows, listening to their conversation, his eyes filled with disappointment. That Jake Lindsey is a strange one!

If he’s so in love with Zara Woods, why would he look for other women? Wouldn’t it be better to be with Zara directly?

Claiming to be friends while being closer than lovers is just cheating, isn’t it?

Jake

held Zara gently and said, “Zara, there’s one more thing. I investigated Xavier and discovered that she never took the college entrance examination.”

Zara’s eyes lit up, “Really?”

“She didn’t take the college entrance examination, yet she got into Libanan University. It must be because she hooked up with some man or was someone’s sugar baby. That sugar daddy must have pulled some strings.”

Zara’s eyes darkened, and she feigned surprise, “How could a prestigious university like Libanan accept a teacher like her?”

tell At this time, Xaviera saw the message sent by Xavier Hamer. She was sure, “Master Uland, did you Xavier about this and advise him?”

Page Uland leaned back lazily in his chair, “You silly girl! Your brother Xavier can be ruthless enough to kill Zara Woods. It took a lot of persuading on my part to get him to agree to just kick her out.”

Xaviera nodded, that made sense.

At first glance, Xavier seemed harmless and gentle-natured, but he was actually the most dangerous when angered. When he acted, it could be deadly.

At this moment, Xaviera's phone rang. It was a call from the Evans Old Manor

Her expression turned puzzled. Why was the Evans family calling her?

"Xaviera," Page Uland saw her hesitation, "The Evans family has been asking your brother Albert for forgiveness these few days."

Xaviera expressed her surprise, "Albert didn't tell me about this!"

"He knew you hate the Evans family and didn't want to bother you. But even if the Evans family had the guts, they wouldn't dare to touch you now. It's time to take action. What do you think?" Page Uland raised an eyebrow.

Master Uland, being a cultured person, even his threatening words were so tactful. Xaviera understood his meaning in an instant.

It was indeed time to pay a visit to the Evans family!

Comment R

260 Chapter 260: Take the green coffee's path, leaving green coffee with no way out

Derek Evans called her, hoping she could beg Albert to spare them.

In this world, no one wanted the Evans family to be ruined more than Xaviera. How could she possibly plead on their behalf?

She answered the call. Derek took a deep breath, trying to calm his anger, his suppressed voice passing through, "Xaviera..."

Xaviera raised her eyebrows.

Derek played weak, "I'm sick. Can you come back and see me? I miss you."

Huh! Derek Evans is sick? He misses her? What a crock!

To trick her into going back, he even made up such a lie. Wasn't he afraid of bad luck?

However, Xaviera remained calm. Since he wanted her to come back, she would go back and accompany the Evans family to see what tricks they were up to.

Xaviera chuckled, "Alright, I'll come back to see you."

She was getting bored, and since the Evans family was delivering themselves to her doorstep, it was a perfect opportunity to have some fun!

At the Evans family home.

Derek looked anxious, "She agreed to come back, but I don't think she'll be easy to deal with. What about Mr. Sullivan's side?"

Two days ago, Albert Sullivan made a final call to the Evans family, clearly stating that if they couldn't obtain Xaviera's forgiveness, the Evans family would completely disappear from Libanan.

What on earth

had Xaviera done to make both the head of the Sullivan family and Miss Sullivan put pressure on them, blocking the Evans family's way out!

Now that the Evans family was forced into a corner, they could only beg Xaviera for forgiveness. Old Madame Evans had previously refused to apologize to this wild girl, and Derek couldn't bear to see Rose Campbell and Mag Evans bow their heads, so the matter dragged on until today. Later, Old Madame Evans came up with an idea, and only then did Derek call Xaviera over.

Derek asked nervously, "Will this work?"

Old

Madame Evans looked disdainful, "Why not! We are all her relatives, and we will apologize in front of those students. Add in a few more good words from you, what more can she want?" "Derek, tell Mag and Rose not to worry about face, just bow their heads for now. I'll also beg her a few times, and with those students persuading her, she will definitely forgive us."

If Xaviera still refused to forgive them even then, it wouldn't look good for her reputation when word got out. People would say she was cold-hearted.

Derek still felt uneasy, “What if Xaviera agrees now, but goes back on her word later?”

“Get someone to record it as evidence. If she dares to renege, we’ll post it online and let everyone see how she treats her own family, leaving her with no face to live!”

Finally, Derek felt a little relieved, asking Mag to invite the students from school to their house as guests. With so many people present, wouldn’t Xaviera have to forgive them?

On the other hand, Xaviera changed her clothes and slowly walked downstairs.

“Puff-” Page Uland glanced up and spurted out his coffee.

She wore a simple, elegant long skirt that emphasized her thin, frail body. She had a light makeup on her face, her lips pale, her eyes slightly reddened, and her long hair draped over her shoulders, eliciting strong protective instincts at first glance.

What was Xaviera up to now?

Caleb Mamet looked intrigued, his gaze fixed on her.

Xaviera smiled.

—

“That’s right! It’s this expression they should be shocked by, thinking I’m swaying like a willow in the breeze, pitifully adorable!”

-

‘Look at my flushed face, slightly reddened eyes, and one more drop of eye drops. People will definitely think I’ve suffered a great injustice!’

Page wiped the coffee off his lips, asking in shock, “Xaviera, did someone hit you?”

Caleb: “. ”

Xaviera arched her eyebrows.

—
“That’s the effect I want! My superb makeup skills are flawless and on par with special effects!”

Caleb spoke calmly, “It’s just makeup.”

Xaviera: ” ”

-‘Why did Caleb expose me? How could he tell I was wearing makeup when even straight men couldn’t?’

Caleb smiled slightly. Even if he couldn’t hear Mrs. Mamet’s thoughts, he knew she was faking it.

It was because Mrs. Mamet was best at playing weak. To deal with the Evans family, she took the route of playing the innocent victim, leaving the Evans with nowhere to go.

Xaviera grumbled internally-

-
‘Damn! I remember now! Caleb isn’t an ordinary man! Could he be...you know...bent?’