Chapter 1101

"You were supposed to protect them!" Anthony roared, his presence suffocating.

Ivan lowered his head. "I'm sorry, Mr. Marwood. This is my mistake."

He had not expected Bianca and Meredith to be famous to an extent that people would surround them like zombies.

"This will be the last time!"

"Yes, sir!"

Anthony turned and headed to the room next door to check on Charlie.

Charlie was sitting on his bed and staring at the bandage on his forehead through his reflection on a mirror, before declaring bravely, "It's not painful! I didn't have my knife just now, or I would have beaten them all!"

Chris and Chloe stayed close to him and cheered him on.

Bianca was about to head back into her room and just before she could close her door, a hand reached out and when Bianca turned around, the door flew open before her eyes.

“Ah!” Taking another blow to her injured hand, Bianca looked up at Anne viciously. “Anne Vallois, are you crazy?! Do you know how much my hands are worth? I have them insured. Are you sure you can afford to hurt me?”

Anne raised her hand and started beating Bianca with her cane.

“Ah!” Bianca darted away. “Anne Vallois, stop! Anne! Ugh!”

The second blow followed immediately and Anne did not stop until Bianca collapsed onto the ground.

Bianca’s wails echoed inside the room as Anne stood before her. “I know that you caused what happened today. You deserve this.”

Bianca struggled to get up and moved to slap Anne across the face, but Anne swiftly held the end of the cane against Bianca’s chest, efficiently stopping her from approaching.

She did not understand why Anthony would bother to take her home when he should be by Bianca's side.

Just because I regained consciousness?1 She thought. Anne had a feeling that she and Bianca had simply exchanged roles, but Bianca's relationship with Anthony had not changed at all.

'How ridiculous...!' She thought bitterly.

Anthony stared at her intently.

"After checking on the kids, I will go back to living in my mom's mansion. That should be fine, right?" Anne asked. She did not feel the need to discuss her decision with anyone, but decided to ask regardless. Anthony was still the father of her children and she had to make herself clear to prevent the situation from worsening for anyone.

"You know that I didn't move that simply because I couldn't see." She tried her best to remain composed. Anthony was in love with Bianca and Anne knew it, so there was no point for her to share Anthony's bed any longer.

"You live in the Royal Mansion because we are married. I thought you knew that," he said.

What good is it? I didn't even want to marry you. Oh, Bianca desperately wants it, though, so maybe you can give it to her instead," Anne said casually, not feeling upset at all. She would never accept what did not

Anne yanked her hand angrily, but Anthony's hand grip on hers like clamps, and she could not move.

Her strength did not affect him at all.

"We're legally married, and you should fulfill your obligations as a wife." Anthony's chiseled and handsome face inched closer to hers, and his thin lips pressed against her ear as he whispered, "For the rest of this life."

Anne gritted her teeth and recalled how he had never touched Bianca before, and she was baffled at how Anthony's mind worked.

Then again, who could truly see through Anthony's complex mind?

Nonetheless, at least Anne knew that Anthony had no feelings for her.

Anthony preyed on her only because of his paranoia.

The Rolls Royce stopped at the Royal Mansion's entrance.

Anne got out of the car and looked at the castle-like mansion.

She could see again.

It was not that Anne insisted on leaving, but it was just that she could not stay by Anthony's side.

Anne did not doubt Anthony's strength.

After all, she had experienced first-hand how strong he was.

Without saying anything, Anne turned and entered the hallway.

In the evening, Anne accompanied the children to take a bath. After that, they played on the bed, and she had no intention of leaving.

'Mama, are you sleeping with us?' Chloe was lying on Anne and playing with the bow on the neckline of Anne's pajamas, with two little feet up behind her.

'You have to sleep with us!' Charlie put his arms around Anne's neck. "You can't leave!"

Anne thought that Charlie's dominance was really similar to Anthony's.

Then again, Charlie was Anthony's son. Who else would he look like if not Anthony?

"Mama, can you?" Seeing that Anne was silent, Chris asked again.

"Okay. I'll sleep here." Anne complied with their request.

Just as she said that, the door was pushed open.

Anne did not need to look to know that it was Anthony because the servants of the Royal Mansion had to knock before they entered the room.

"Papa!" Charlie jumped off the bed and stood beside Anthony's long legs. Then, he looked at Anthony with his big eyes shining, saying, "Papa, Mama will sleep with us tonight!"

Anthony looked at Anne.

Anne played with Chloe's little finger, pretending not to hear.

The cheeky Chloe directly said, "Papa and Mama, sleep with us!"

Anne was stunned.

'Yes!' Charlie and Chris were happy.

Anne said, 'The bed is too small and can't fit all of us.'

She did not want to sleep like that.

The triplets looked at the bed, confused.

Was the bed too small?

Anthony walked to the edge of the bed and sat.

Anthony stopped in front of Anne. Initially, she wanted to stand still, but his powerful aura forced her to take a step back.

"So? What are you going to do if you don't hold back? Force me? You're good at that, right?" Anne asked, steadying her frantic heartbeat and voice.

Anthony grabbed her chin and stared at her intently. "Let's see if that stubborn mouth of yours can hold me."

Anne froze. Then, she angrily waved her hands and left, wanting to escape from the side.

She did not want to stay in the walk-in closet with him any longer.

If Anthony wanted to do something, could she really escape him?

Naturally, that was Chris.

When Anne heard that, she appeared even more uncomfortable.

Anthony's back was facing them, and Anne knew well why.

It was too obvious and a little frightening.

Anne saw the three little ones walking this way with doubts, and she hurriedly went to hold them back.

"Of course not!" Mia denied frantically, "T-This is prepared for you daily, Mrs. Marwood. Why would there be a problem with it? Mr. Marwood won't harm you."

'Then drink it.' Anne forced Mia to drink the beauty collagen drink.

Mia stared at the beauty collagen drink with fear, but she had no choice but to take it.

Then, she drank the beauty collagen drink bit by bit in front of Anne.

'Is it delicious?' Anne asked,

"Yes. Um...Mrs. Marwood, c-can you not tell Mr. Marwood about this? Otherwise, I'll be fired if he finds out I finish your food," Mia said anxiously.

'Don't worry. I won't tell Mr. Marwood. Also, I'll tell him there's no need to prepare beauty collagen drinks for me anymore.'

Mia turned and left with the empty bowl, looking worried. Nothing would have happened if she only ate the drugged beauty collagen drink once, right?

Anne sat on the sofa. Seeing that Mia had actually finished the beauty collagen drink, she wondered if there was actually something wrong with it.

If it were poisoned, it would be obvious.

Even though Mia lowered her head, she was still paying attention to the study.

It was obvious that Anne had upset Anthony.

When Mia saw Hayden bringing some tea to the study, she cleverly walked over and greeted, "Sir, let me do it!"

'It's fine. I noticed that Mr. Marwood is upset, so it's better that you don't get close to him."

"Sir, if Mr. Marwood is angry, isn't it better for a lady to send the tea over? That way, it'll only lift his mood, right?" Mia reasoned.

"Then be careful when you go in."

"Don't worry!"

Hayden did not worry much as Mia had worked in the Royal Mansion for several years and was quick-witted.

Later, Mia knocked on the door and only cautiously went in with the tea when she heard the deep voice allowing her to go in.

Once Anthony drove Anne away, would it be her turn?

Mia suddenly became even more ambitious. If she were to become Mrs. Marwood, would Bianca still dare to order her around?

Anne lay on her side, unable to sleep.

She wondered where Anthony had gone.

Was he at the study, or did he go out?

It was scary how she could feel so anxious about losing Anthony.

The more Anne forced herself to sleep, the more she could not fall asleep. She felt empty and bored with no one around her...

Was it because the night lights were still on?

Anne got up, turned off all the lights, and lay in darkness.

As soon as she lay down, Anne heard the sound of the door opening, and someone entered the bedroom. Then, she felt the bed behind her sink slightly and a strong and broad chest pressed against her back.
