Chapter 1311

Anne's strength was almost exhausted, and it was impossible for her to pull the heavy wooden door.

"Mmf!" Anne tried her utmost but still could not open the door.

Seeing this, the two monks continued to focus on killing Anthony.

"Who sent you?" Anthony's voice was hoarse and cold. "Do you know what's going to happen if you mess with me?"

Who dared to offend Anthony?

No one dared to speak loudly in front of him, yet they were so brazen to try to assassinate him.

Hence, they would pay the price for their assassination attempt!

"We only know that we're getting paid to kill you!" The monk said and rushed over, attacking Anthony with both fists and feet.

Anthony dodged and landed on the Jesus statue.

As Anne still could not open the door, she could only anxiously hit it, hoping that people outside could hear her.

Chapter 1312

Anne fell weakly to the ground.

Mia immediately went to pull, trying to pull her up. "Mrs. Marwood, we need to go a little further so that no one will notice us."

Anne sat on the ground. Even though she did not have the strength to get up, Mia, a woman, would not be able to pull her up without her cooperation,

"Mrs. Marwood, you'll be in danger." Seeing that Anne was unwilling to cooperate, Mia felt a little anxious. After all, she had sworn to Bianca to kill Anne this time.

Moreover, they were surrounded by mountains and forests. Coupled with the appearance of the villains, it was a great opportunity to kill Anne while taking advantage of the chaos!

"It's fine here." Anne sensed that Mia was ill-intentioned, but she pretended not to know. "Let me rest for a while before walking again. I was drugged."

However, she and Anthony did not eat anything, so how did they get drugged?

Then, she recalled the smoking candles in the church hall.

When Mia heard that Anne was just resting and not unwilling to walk, she held back her eagerness and let Anne rest.

Before three minutes even passed, Mia urged, "Mrs. Marwood, can we go now? Otherwise, we'll be unable to escape if the bad guys catch up. This road is not hidden. at all."

"It's fine. We'll be much safer if we find Ivan and save Anthony," Anne said.

Mia became unhappy. If they were safe, how would she kill Anne?

"Mrs. Marwood, let's go! You've rested enough!" Mia grabbed Anne's arm.

"Ah..." Anne's arm was in pain from Mia's pulling. "You..."

"Mrs. Marwood, I'm doing this for your own good. Mr. Marwood will blame me if something happens to you," Mia found an excuse impatiently, still tugging at Anne's hand, wishing to drag her away.

Anne's arm was pulled repeatedly, and she gritted her teeth in pain.

She was even more sure that Mia was up to no good.

Mia was too ambitious!

If Anne really followed Mia down the mountain, she might be pushed down.

The current road was fairly flat, and she could not be pushed.

If she were really dead, it would only be regarded as being killed by bad guys and had nothing to do with Mia.

Ivan found that Anthony's life was not in danger, and he was only frowning because of the pain. Hence, Ivan could only go and look for Anne.

After all, Anne was the most important person to Anthony.

Just as Anthony was about to move forward, he groaned and knelt on one knee as he felt his strength seemed to be exhausted and the drug's effect intensified.

Anthony was breathing heavily and trembling.

He gasped for air, trying to force himself to stand, and walked out step by step. Instead of Anne, they found Mia lying unconscious in the grass.

The bodyguard slapped Mia's face harder. "Wake up! Wake up!"

Ivan poured a bottle of cold mineral water directly on Mia's face.

"Hmm..." Mia woke up. When she saw the bodyguards, she immediately sat straight and looked around anxiously.

Anne looked at Tommy, and the hidden trauma in her resurfaced.
Due to the drug in her body, Anne did not even have the strength to clench her fists, and she trembled violently.
At that time, the closest she was to a successful escape was planned by Tommy. Yet, she still fell into Anthony's hands in the end, which was extremely miserable.
Even though Tommy helped her many times later, she still had trauma...
"Why are you looking at me like that?" Tommy sensed Anne's defensive gaze and guessed what she was thinking. "Did you recall what happened before?"
Anne did not deny it.
Anthony would immediately throw her into hell if it happened again, and she would never be reborn!
"Once is more than enough for such a thing," Tommy smirked.
Anne leaned against the seat, and her body trembled and relaxed. Then, she sighed weakly, "What kind

Tommy said calmly, "Anthony was checking on Lucas, and he found that Lucas was on the plane."
Now that Anthony was fine, Anne was nervous and afraid.
Under the sunlight, her face appeared pale.
"It won't be easy for him to find out," Tommy comforted Anne.
However, Anne was not that optimistic.
After all, Anthony was shrewd and unpredictable, so who could guess his thoughts?
The logistics company was more than an hour's journey away, but it took Tommy only half an hour.
The roads along the way were remote and tricky.
There was no monitoring, not even at the logistics company.
The driver was bribed in advance. He let Anne enter the car, squeezing into one of the boxes inside.
Before the lid was closed, Tommy caressed her head with one hand and said softly, "It takes about an hour and a half to arrive at the dock, but I'll ask the driver to drive as fast as possible. Bear with it, okay?"
"Aren't you going?" Anne asked.

Anne remembered that her phone was still in Anthony’s car, and all the videos and photos of the children were in it. However, it did not matter as she had the USB drive with her. Moreover, her whereabouts would be exposed earlier if she had brought her phone.

Anthony was looking for her now, and she felt she was still unsafe.

As long as she was in Luton, she would not be safe.

Anne secretly prayed that all the Gods would bless her.

She did not want to come back to Anthony again.

She could not bear it at all.

It would be a dead end for her if she was caught back.

Anne shuddered at the thought of it.

At this moment, Anthony's people were at the police station, and the entire detection system ran intensely and intensively.

They were all checking on Lucas and saw that Lucas's parents did go to the airport, and Lucas was with them.

This investigation would take time, but they still carried it out quickly despite the tight schedule.

Bianca was furious when she received Mia's call. "Why did it fail again? What the hell is up with Anne's life? Why is it so hard to kill her?"

"I almost killed her, but something unexpected happened, and a man took her away."

"Who was it?"

"I didn't see it clearly, but he seems quite tall."

"Could it be that the man took her away to kill her?" Bianca only wanted to think about the worst.

"It didn't look like it. He was quite gentle," Mia said.

"You're right. If he wanted to kill her, he would've done so immediately. Why would he take the extra step and carry her away?" Bianca was so angry that she was pacing back and forth. "Is Anthony still looking for her?"

"Yes. Mr. Marwood was drugged, but he didn't visit the hospital. Instead, he went directly to the police station."

Mia was secretly jealous. After all, Anne was already missing. Why must he find her back?

"Who knows what kind of man Anne has provoked, and it's best for her just to find her, she won't have it easy," Bianca said angrily, "Keep watching and call me if you have

The team stood before the door, and the bodyguard knocked.

They were ready to attack. If the person inside did not open the door, they would forcefully enter.

On the second knock, the door opened from the inside.

Lucas looked at the people outside, and doubts flashed in his eyes. However, the people outside pushed Lucas hard before he could speak.

Lucas took two steps back and looked at the uninvited guests. "Who are you? What are you doing?"

"Police. Looking for someone." The policemen showed their identification badges and let him see them clearly.

After entering the room, they started looking for Anne everywhere, ignoring Lucas.

Any hiding places in the room were checked, but they could not find Anne.

In the end, even after turning the entire cruise ship upside down, there was no sign of Anne at all. There were not even any clues at all.

When Ivan came to report to him, Anthony's expression was extremely fierce. The storm in his black eyes was frightening.

"I, too, really want to know where Anne has gone and why you would come to me.' Lucas' gaze under his glasses was sharp. "Anthony, this is not the first time you've hurt her, isn't it? You always do this every time. She will leave you one day."

Anthony's cold-blooded gaze turned to Lucas, and the imposing air exuding all over him was about to explode in the limited space of the room.

"My Pinnacle Academy is already ruined by you. Leaving Luton is my only way out now. Mr. Marwood, you're not going to deny me this, are you?" Lucas was standing tall. Even if he had been attacked by Anthony, his temperament was still elegant and steady.

It was as if he had never failed.

Ivan glanced at Lucas.

Since Mrs. Marwood could not be found, even if Lucas were to keep himself out of the way, he probably would not be spared either.

Just when Ivan thought Mr. Marwood would do something, he saw him holding himself back, turned around, and left.

"I'm here and I'll certainly protect you," said Lucas, "I won't be meeting you in a hurry after I arrive at Cambridge either. Just first stay in the place Tommy has arranged for you. We'll meet each other after Anthony's suspicions have completely disappeared."

He was eagerly wanting to meet Anne deep down, but he wanted, even more, to not fall at the last hurdle.

A person such as Anthony was extremely suspicious of everything, so he could not be brushed off so easily.

"I got it." Anne's tears streamed down her face.

She was already very lucky to be able to escape from Luton.

No, she still has not left Luton. She was still within the territory of Luton.

Therefore, she still could not let her guard down. 1

A cruise ship was slower than an airplane.

It took Lucas a few days to arrive at Cambridge and meet up with his parents.

They were staying at the mansion that they had bought there in the past.
