Chapter 1461

However, he was still staring at her all the time, and she felt as though his eyes were on her all the time.

He was especially focused on her lifestyle.

Even though it was not like how they were before, she also felt it was somehow. It was an indescribable feeling.

Anne tried to ignore him most of the time so that she could be in a relaxed state.

The kids were home with their mother for two days, but they still had to go to school after that.

Anne was wandering around alone.

She sat in the outdoor cafe by the street and enjoyed her coffee alone. She felt someone sitting down in front of her. She looked up and saw Tommy smiling at her. "You look great today, did you meet the kids?"

"Yes, I went to school."

"The kids must be happy," Tommy said.

Anne nodded. She was happy that the kids were happy.

"When are you leaving?" Tommy asked again.

Just when she looked out of the window, she felt the threat in the atmosphere.

Then, Anthony sat next to her and pressed right onto her.

“You... Uhm!” Anne felt suffocated, and he kissed her soft lips gently.

Her breath was filled with Anthony’s dominant breath, shooting right to her lungs.

Anne used her hands to push him. Her hands were on his chest. She could feel the warmth and the heat in her palm, and her arms were feeling weak.

“Anthony... Uhm...” She could barely manage a gasp in her mouth when she was kissed again.

It was a thorough kiss from the inside out.

Anthony sucked all the saliva from inside of her mouth, then only released her.

Anthony’s dark eyes looked at Anne, who was still zoning out. He felt his heart go soft, and he said hoarsely, “So sweet.” Almost as though as soon as Anne showed any signs of releasing, he would turn into a beast and pounce right onto her.

The person on the call was Lucia. She heard Anthony's cold voice and could not help but feel afraid of her behavior. "He said that the contract was over, and I did not understand that. Is it because I disturbed you on my birthday? I apologize. Please give me another opportunity. I will listen to you from now on."

"You crossed the line." Anthony was unbudged.

"But... But I am in love with you."

"You don't need to, I hope that this is the last time that you are calling me." Anthony hung

Lucia was utterly heartbroken.

For two years, she had already treated Anthony as her boyfriend.

Everyone at home knew that she had a powerful and wealthy boyfriend, but what now?

She was nothing without Anthony.

More importantly, she had already fallen for him.

She loved him.

At the dining table, the family of five was happily interacting with each other.

They were in a school, and she thought that it would not look great if they had a row right there.

So she obediently followed him into the car.

Anne entered the car, and Anthony followed. The Rolls Royce then exited the school.

Lucia, who was hiding in the dark, watched as the car disappeared, and it took her a long while to recover.

Was that... Anne Vallois?

Lucia did not dare to call Anthony and wanted to look into it thoroughly. Why did Anthony not want her anymore?

It was because of Anne!

However, she previously found out from other sources that Anne was dead! They even sent a team to retrieve her body from the sea.

It was such a tragic death that her remains could not even be found.

Was there something she did not know?

If Anne was dead, then who was that person?

Lucia thought about her own face and wondered if that woman also underwent plastic surgery to look like Anne.

“How many months are you pregnant now? Can you work?”

“Sure I can! A little over four months, I can work fine.”

Anne did not know why the company was still around, including most of the staff.

“Ms. Vallois, Mr. Marwood, should we go to the office? I will make coffee for you,” Summer suggested.

Anne nodded. “Okay.”

After going into the office, Summer quickly served two cups of coffee and placed it on the table.

She then exited the room.

Anne looked at her familiar office and asked, “This is what you wanted to show me?”

“You can still be like old times, manage this company, and do the things that you enjoyed.”

Anne did not say anything. She turned her head away and looked out the window.

This belonged to her. It was snatched away by Anthony.

It was also on the deck. The video panned across all five of their happy faces, including Anthony's.

They were laughing and chattering away. What a happy moment.

The videographer was great, and it was a good moment to cherish.

The video finished playing. Charlie swiped his finger, and another video was played.

That was when they were in the sea. The first half showed the kids, and the second half showed only her and Anthony.

She was swimming in between the coral and then into Anthony's arms. It was such a beautiful video that Anne got carried away watching it.

The triplets enjoyed watching it and did not realize it when Anthony joined them.

After that video, Anne played the next one. It was still one with Anthony and her in the sea.

Anne swiped passed it.

"Ah, Mama! We have not played that!" Chloe protested and used her tiny finger to swipe it back.

Anne could not reject her, but she could not stand watching that either. She looked up said, "Don't watch that anymore, see, there are dolphins in the ocean."

Under the starlight, the table was covered with dishes, and all five of the family were happily enjoying the dinner.

Of course, even though they were out cruising, there was still no seafood involved.

In fact, only Anne and the kids could not eat seafood, but Anthony could still take it. However, he did not touch a single bit of seafood whenever they were eating together.

It was as though he could not eat seafood as well.

"When did you learn to swim?" Anthony sounded as though he was making small talk.

That poked right at Anne's deepest secret.

She replied, "Last year."

Anthony knew well enough how much Anne feared water back then.

Why did she have to learn how to swim? Under what kind of circumstance?

Anne had no choice but to learn it when she was on the deserted island. She had no excuse, even if she was very phobic.

The man's arms tightened as though trying to fuse her body into his.

Anne would usually resist.

However, now she did not even move.

She was so shocked by that teardrop, so much so that she forgot the reality.

The fact that Anthony would cry was unrealistic itself.

Would he cry?

In her memory, Anthony was a ruthless man. He would only make others cry and bleed, and he has stronger willpower and mentality.

“Anne, I really miss you. You have been back for so many days already, but I still miss you so badly. What should I do...” Anthony did not seem to be satisfied by just watching her.

The person was right in front of him, and he felt a strong urge to take action and dominate her.

The urge was so strong that he almost lost control.

“Anthony, why are you always...” Anne said that he should not touch her a few times already, but he was always behaving this way.

“I know, I know.” Anthony’s voice was hoarse, and his eyes were red. “Please pretend that you are pitying me, can you?”

Anne did not ask anything as she sat opposite Anthony and had breakfast.

They had breakfast this late, and she wondered what time they would be having lunch then.

“We will go deep diving in the morning,” Anthony said.

Anne nodded.

Deep diving would consume a lot of energy, and they would definitely feel hungry by twelve in the afternoon.

Anthony looked at her face, and she seemed well-rested.

Meanwhile, he fell asleep late last night and woke up pretty early in the morning.

He could not fall asleep when his mind was full of Anne.

Plus, nowadays, Anne is very attentive. As soon as he entered the room, she would wake

Their cold tongues had some residual warmth. Anne could feel that the cold and the warmth were contrasting with each other and that the blood in their body was slowly warming back up.

Anne pushed away the presumptuous Anthony. Their lips were briefly apart before being forced together again. This time, Anthony kissed even harder, like a monster from the sea, swallowing her into its stomach.

When they returned to the deck and replayed the video footage, they saw the photos and videos of Anthony and Anne tangled together.

The cameraman prepared some lights in the sea. It was not dark but also not too bright. The light glare was so aesthetic, like a high-quality production.

“So beautiful!” Chloe widened her eyes and exclaimed.

“It would be even better if we could see your face! Mama is the most beautiful woman in the world!”
Charlie said defiantly.

“Yes!” Chris concurred.

Anne felt shy when being praised by her own sons.

Then, Anthony said from the side, “Yes, the most beautiful.”

Anne’s eyes glittered briefly. She pursed her lips and did not say anything more.

She watched as the kids continued to flip through the albums. To be frank, she was a little nervous. She prayed that there was nothing on Anthony and her kissing. Otherwise, that would not be appropriate for the children.

Luckily, there was none of that.

Anne reckoned the cameraman did not capture that.
