Chapter 1551

Anne woke up late the following day, and when she opened her eyes, she was right in Anthony's arms.

She was feeling sore all over, and she felt she had been doing strenuous exercise the whole night.

She looked up and saw that Anthony's eyes were still shut. Why was he not awake yet?

Was he tired?

Just when she was thinking if she should get up and if she would wake him up, her shoulders were wrapped up by an arm.

"You're awake?"

"Mm-hmm." Anthony's voice was deep but it did not sound laid-back like he had just woken up.

Which showed that he has already been awake for a long time. He just did not move.

"Did you have a good night's sleep?" Anthony kissed her forehead.

Anne was very speechless. She did not even have the strength to speak at all.

She pushed his arm away and got out of bed.

She was completely naked, so she hurriedly grabbed the pajamas at the side and put it on. Otherwise, Anthony's gaze was indeed too intense.

She went straight to the bathroom after she put the pajamas on.

Anne noticed someone coming down the stairs, so she closed the page on the screen and stood up.

She looked at Anthony and asked, "Are you going to have breakfast now?"

"Mm-hmm."

Both of them then went to the dining room for breakfast.

"Are you going to the office later?" asked Anne.

Anthony raised his black eyes. "Do you have something planned?"

"Me? No. I'm just asking," said Anne.

Anthony held her slender wrist and pulled her over by using just a little bit of force, which made her sit on his solid lap.

"What are you doing? I'm not done eating!" Anne felt helpless.

"I have no idea either." Lucas looked gloomy. "Ever since I came to Luton, I kept feeling that a force was driving all these behind the scenes. If the car accident was an accident at first, then what about the gossip online? Someone even mentioned your name. The person has a very strong purpose."

Anne lowered her gaze a little. "It's not Anthony..."

Lucas asked, "Why are you so certain? Have you found out who did it?"

"No...I'm not trusting Anthony blindly. I just felt that having this matter exposed would only bring harm and no benefits to him. Anthony won't do any losing business," said Anne.

A lady with the Vallois last name was mentioned online.

Her instinctual response was that it could not be Anthony's doing.

"It's beneficial and harmless for him to have me removed." Lucas' expression darkened.

"Anthony is no longer the same as before." Anne wanted to put in a good word for Anthony.

Anthony returned to the Royal Mansion after he handled the matters at the company.

In fact, the matters that he was handling at the company were all regarding Anne

He was still looking for clues about Tommy. That was much more important than the work of his company.

He would not be able to have peace of mind if Tommy was not dealt with.

The Rolls Royce was driven into the Royal Mansion, and Anthony came out of the car. His long legs were so eye-catching and also pressuring

After he entered the hallway, Anthony asked, “Where’s my wife?”

“She’s upstairs.”

“She has been upstairs the whole time?”

“Yes, she hasn’t come out of the room,” said Hayden, “maybe she’s taking an afternoon nap...”

Anthony went straight upstairs without saying a word.

The pressure in the air instantly dropped coldly.

She actually went to meet with Lucas behind his back!

He then thought of the clues he had noticed when he went upstairs that day.

Anne's face and hand were cold, which were things that made him suspect her. However, he was brushed off by Anne.

Was it useless no matter how he stopped her?

Anthony's expression looked very terrible, so nobody dared to go near him.

He stood downstairs for quite a while. Hayden, who was far away, saw him and felt that something must have happened. He was even sure that it had something to do with Mrs. Marwood.

Because nobody could make Mr. Marwood have such an easily angry expression on his face.

The bodyguard pulled Luas out of bed. He was slightly unsteady on his feet. Just as he stood up, he was struck with a punch. With a loud thump, the punch landed on Lucas' abdomen...

"Mmm!" Lucas was in so much pain that he let out a dull moan. It was as if his internal organs were all in the wrong places.

He was breaking out in cold sweat on his forehead. After his breathing was messed up, he lifted his shaking face, and his gaze was ice cold. "Other than these, what else have you got? Threw them all at me

"You're overthinking it. I won't kill you."

"Are you afraid that Anne would question you?" Lucas sneered.

"That's a business between us as a married couple, and you have no place to poke your nose into it. Take him away!" Anthony's voice suddenly became deep.

The bodyguards did not dare to slack off for even half a second, and they forcefully brought Lucas away.

Lucas certainly has no way to resist. He was still limping.

After they left the hospital, Lucas went to another hospital. He was arranged to stay in a ward with a higher level of privacy.

After that, the bodyguards left.

Lucas sat at the edge of the bed. He felt a dull pain coming from his leg and his face was even paler.

Even if Anthony did not say it, Lucas knew Anthony's intentions and also his worries.

He was simply preventing Anne from coming to look for him, was he not?

How would he let Anthony have his way?

Anne felt annoyed at his touch, so she turned around to let her back facing him. "Don't suspect me without a cause. I am only thinking from a friend's standpoint. I chose to believe you, but I also want to make some contribution. I owe him that much."

She has already made herself clear, so there was no need for them to hide anything anymore.

"It's just transferring to another hospital. You're overreacting." Anthony's voice was a little cold.

What he meant was that Anne was worrying too much about another man.

Anne knew Anthony's character too well. She has seen how terrible his personality was.

How could she truly believe Anthony would become gentle?

She walked out of the bedroom, sat down on the couch, and scrolled on her phone without any purpose.

On the other hand, because Anne was not in front of him, the air to Anthony, who was in the bedroom, instantly became scary. It was so ghastly and cold as if he had come out of hell.

In summary, no matter how angry Anne was, he would not allow her to see Lucas alone!

Both of them said nothing when they were both lying in bed at night.

Anne was sleeping on her side with her eyes closed as she was trying to make herself sleepy.

"We didn't find him. It's just that another person who has the same symptoms as that woman has appeared, and the person has already been restrained. Ivan is still conducting a thorough investigation on this."

Anne was slightly stunned. "Was he infected by that person in the past?"

"Both of them didn't know each other, much less have the need to be in contact." Anthony's black eyes darkened. "It doesn't seem like it's Tommy's doing. The man comes from a simple background."

"But if this has nothing to do with Tommy, then why would he have that kind of symptoms? It's not logical," Anne analyzed, "should we go over and have a look?"

"No need. Ivan will investigate."

Anne looked at him suspiciously. "You're not deliberately staying here to keep an eye on me, are you?"

Anthony looked at her calmly. "You're doubting Ivan's ability."

Anne was speechless. It would indeed be hurtful to others if she were to doubt their ability.

Ashlynn was so embarrassed that she became exasperated. "Shut up. I'll kick you off the bed..."

She even made some empty threats.

Corentin snickered, "I'll put my back into it then!"

"Ah!"

It was almost noon when Ashlynn woke up. She sat on the bed with her body feeling sore.

She did not even have a clue when Corentin left.

She was not even worked too hard by Corentin last night, so why was she able to sleep until noon?

She was truly getting weaker and weaker.

Ashlynn went to brush her teeth, but after just a few brushes, she felt nauseated.

It only felt better after resting for a while.

Has she caught a cold?

However, before she had even taken a couple of steps, she blacked out and her body collapsed.

Before she lost consciousness, she heard her mother shouting in a panic.

When Ashlyn came to, she was already at the hospital.

Ash, how are you feeling?" Beth asked with concern.

"Mom..." said Ashlynn. Her body was surprisingly not too weak. She turned her face and saw Jeremy sitting on the couch next to her. He was looking unhappy.

She could not help but feel scared. She could not have gotten some sickness, could she?

"Silly child. You're already pregnant yet you had no clue about it. You've truly frightened me," said Beth while smiling.

Ashlynn's mind was completely befuddled. "Pregnant? No. I can't possibly be pregnant."
