Chapter 1561

The way she put it sounded like she was considering the matter for the reputation of the wealthy families at every turn.

In fact, however, only she knew best why she did it.

Besides, it was all so obvious, so what was there for them to reject the idea?

She refused to believe Corentin was not thinking the same thing.

Beth and Jeremy could not make a decision there and then. They felt that no matter what, it would be hurting Ashlynn.

They had to keep the harm to a minimum...

"I didn't have an affair," Ashlynn said again.

"I believe you," said Corentin.

Ashlynn was slightly stunned as she looked at Corentin.

Jeremy became anxious. "Corentin, you already had a vasectomy but she got pregnant. This is the truth that will never change. Why are you still fooling yourself?"

"Call the doctor here," Corentin said to Evan, who was behind him.

Evan then went out to look for the doctor.

"I'm already pregnant, so what can I do?" Ashlynn was also very troubled.

She thought that she could let him finish inside her without feeling any stress anymore after he had a vasectomy. She did not expect that she would actually get pregnant.

Corentin was extremely overjoyed. He went forward and put her in his arms. "Let's have the child then! I'll certainly be a good husband and father."

Never would Ashlynn ever expect that her pregnancy was completely a plotted scheme.

After Corentin brought Ashlynn home, he was careful at all times, and he was almost carrying her all over the place.

He did not even go to his company anymore. He just kept Ashlynn accompanied at home every day, and he oversaw to make sure the cook would prepare different food for her to eat every day.

Because Ashlynn was still having morning sickness at that moment and would throw up if she ate too much, they did their best to ensure her food was plain but nutritious as they could not let Ashlynn throw up anymore.

Beth and Jeremy were serious and they took turns to come and visit her.

They even bought all sorts of baby supplies. Needless to say, clothes and shoes for the baby were also included.

Even the nursery was already done up.

Owen made his way to the room in the dark and gently pushed the door open.

He was wearing a wire and Paul was connected on the other end.

Therefore, both of them could clearly hear every movement happening on the other end.

The room only has simple furnishing, and a human size bulge was formed under the covers on the bed.

The person was asleep with his back facing the door.

While Owen approached the bed, he took out a knife.

He then stabbed the neck of the man on the bed.

With a slash, the knife was stabbed into the pillow. The man who was asleep at first dodged and avoided the knife.

Owen was shocked, then he quickly stabbed him once again.

Unexpectedly, the man on the bed reacted faster than Owen. The man was strong and agile, and his moves were clean and sharp.

He directly knocked Owen's knife to the ground.

Owen's wrist, on the other hand, became numbed after being struck, and he let out a dull moan in pain.

When Corentin got to the bar, Owen had already died because he lost too much blood and the resuscitation failed.

The atmosphere was unusually grave among the brotherhood of men who used to hang out together in the past.

It was impossible for Paul, who was the closest to Owen, to not feel saddened.

Corentin maintained a suppressed silence while looking at Owen's body.

Paul told him in detail about their mission at night, "...I asked Owen to retreat. He didn't and he fought with Ivan. If I had arrived slightly later, he would have been captured alive."

"I've long said that Owen's temper will have him killed one day." Corentin wore a gloomy expression on his face.

Paul had tried to talk some sense into Owen in private! However, Owen's character was simply hot - tempered. It was very easy for him to act on impulse.

"Mr. Lloyd, we have to avenge Owen!" One of the associates shouted.

The rest echoed, "Yes. If we don't take revenge, they won't take us seriously!"

Paul shot a glance at them with a serious gaze. "Don't act recklessly and end up following Owen's footsteps."

"Are we supposed to be afraid of that man? Mr. Lloyd is the most powerful man in Athetin!"

Corentin took over his phone, looked at the person on the screen, and pondered for a moment. Who's this person? Does he have something to do with what you're investigating?"

"Two people wanted to kill the victim last night, but they fell into my trap. I only managed to see one of the faces clearly. The other one had a mask on," said Ivan.

"You've already told Anthony?"

"Yes."

"Leave this matter to me. If he is still in Athetin, it'll be very easy for me to find him."

"You feel he might not be in Athetin?"

"It's hard to say. Some people would go into hiding after they committed a crime Like Tommy. I believe it'll be easy for us to find Tommy's tracks once we find this person."

Corentin deliberately implied that this person has something to do with Tommy.

Ivan stood up. "I'll leave this to you then. Thank you."

Then, he left.

Just as he got into the car, someone pulled the car door from the opposite side open and got into the car.

It was Ashlynn.

"She asked about Mrs. Marwood's situation."

"Is there a need for her to get into your car to ask about this?" Corentin found it suspicious.

"She suspects you have another woman out there." Ivan, himself, also had no idea how he thought of that. Perhaps he reacted that way because he had been influenced by Mr. Marwood after being by his side for a long time.

Corentin hung up the call without saying anything else.

Why would Ashlynn think that? Was she just sensitive because she was pregnant?

Ashlynn was lying on the bed but she could not sleep at all.

She wanted to take Corentin's side, but she did not dare to believe him so easily due to all his terrible actions in the past.

Could he have been two-faced at his core this whole time?

She would not let it show at all at that moment. Corentin would not admit it even if she asked either.

She could only question him after she looked into it and got the evidence.

Not long after Ivan entered the private room and sat down, a woman dressed in a sexy and alluring manner walked in.

"Hello, sir," she greeted him, and she sat down next to Ivan in a very experienced way and poured one out for him.

Ivan accepted the alcohol and downed it in a go.

"You can really hold your alcohol, sir," praised the woman.

This was their way to survive, which was also their trick.

Ivan did not care about it. He took out his wallet, pulled out a dozen of 100- dollar bills, and gave them to her. "There'll be more if you do a good job at serving me."

The woman's eyes instantly lit up. She had never seen such a generous customer. Even the rich were nothing of this sort. They were very stingy.

"Don't worry. As long as it's a request you make, I will cooperate."

A customer like him was already giving so much before she had done anything.

If she did do something, he would be giving her plenty more!

"Don't worry. It'll be none of your business once you get out of here." Ivan indeed would kill, but he would not kill the innocent.

He would leave once he had reached his goals.

"Alright. I'll tell you..." Just as the woman was about to open her mouth and tell him everything she knew.

Someone pushed the door to the private room open and in came Caine.

When he saw the woman had a gun pointed at her, he hurriedly tried to stop her. "Gosh, sir, calm down a little. What's the matter? This woman didn't serve you properly, did she? Idiot!"

As he said that, he immediately slapped the woman on her face.

The woman let out a scream when she was slapped, but she did not dare to make a sound as she covered her face.

"Get out of here now!" Caine cursed.

The woman rushed out frantically.

Caine immediately took out a cigarette and handed it to her with a big frivolous grin on his face. "Don't mind her. The women here have been spoiled by the customers, so they might be careless sometimes. Don't worry. I'll teach her a good lesson later."

Ivan did not accept the cigarette. He knew that he could no longer continue investigating once someone else entered.

He kept his gun and scanned the surroundings of the private room.

It has already been a long time since Ashlynn visited her family, so she mentioned it to Corentin at night.

Corentin said, "I'll go with you."

Ashlynn originally thought Corentin would go about his own business after dropping her off.

After all, there was no safer place than her family's mansion.

However, Corentin did not leave. He stayed to keep her accompanied.

Ashlynn asked, "Aren't you busy? I'm fine here."

Beth did not know the complexity of the matter, so she told Corentin, "I'm even more cautious than you with this child."

"Alright." Corentin got up, kissed Ashlynn's face, and said to Beth, "I'll come over for dinner tonight."

"Got it."

After Corentin left, Beth looked at Ashlynn's quiet expression and asked, "You guys didn't have a fight, did you?"

"I'm pregnant. How can I fight?" said Ashlynn.

Anne initially wanted to use a kiss as a means to achieve her goal, but she ended up being swooned by Anthony's hug and kiss.

If it were not for her last defense of sanity stopping her, she would surely be pinned down and devoured by Anthony.

"Will you say yes?" She bit her lips and asked, panting.

Anthony's deep black eyes were lit with a burning desire. 'You want me to say yes, but your attempt is a little insincere, no?'"

Anne blushed. He actually saw through her tactics.

She no longer decided to hide. "Are you going to let me go or not?" she asked while kissing the corner of Anthony's mouth seductively.

"That depends on your performance." Anthony held her face and pressed his lips against hers.

He had no willpower when he was faced with Anne's seduction.
