

"So you're using this against me? How despicable of you!" Anne's face was ugly.

"In what way? Didn't you push me first?" Bianca turned and left with a look of death in her eyes.

Anne could not let her go just like that.

She would be tortured to death by Anthony!

Seeing Bianca open the door, Anne hurried up to stop Bianca. "Don't go..."

A black shadow at the door arrived, and her words stopped abruptly.

Anthony looked at her coldly.

Anne's heartbeat almost stopped.

Seeing her savior, Bianca hurriedly threw herself into Anthony's arms. "Anthony, luckily you are here, I was almost... almost killed by her, and Sarah helped me run away...Look at my head, is it hurt? Anne grabbed my hair and slammed my head against the wall..." Bianca said with tears in her eyes.

Anne was angry at her lies. Seeing Anthony anxiously looking at the bruise on Bianca's forehead, her face turned gloomy.

His falcon-like sharp eyes glared at Anne.

Anne took a step back in fright. "It wasn't me. She hit the wall and framed me..."

Bianca asked, "I hit the wall myself? Couldn't you find a better lie? Because my affairs have affected your mother, I had good intentions to come to visit her, but I didn't expect to be treated