Chapter 240

She could not blame them...

Although there was no need to blame them, she hoped this would never happen again.

Anne reminded them, "Forget it, don't do this again, okay? Sending such a text message will cause misunderstandings, and it's very troublesome for me..."

"Mama, what's the misunderstanding?" Chloe's big eyes flashed.

'Do you have the nerve to ask? If I hadn't pretended to be unwell, I would've been unable to walk now!' Anne thought.

Anne said, "Bad guys will come for you. In short, don't do this anymore; do you hear me? Charlie and Chris, you are brothers, so watch over your sister."

"Okay!" Charlie and Chris said in unison.

Only then did Anne let them go.

They had breakfast.

As soon as Anne took a bite, she felt a stir in her stomach. She hurriedly covered her mouth, her face turning pale.

"What's wrong with Mama?" Charlie asked.

"...It's okay, let's eat." Anne swallowed nausea in her throat and smiled reluctantly.

Seeing that Mama did not eat, he asked, "Is Mama full?"

"Ah, yes, I'm full." Anne could not eat anymore.

Otherwise, she would have to vomit in front of the children.

"But you only ate a little." Chris was observant.
