Chapter 341

Back at the house, she sat weakly on the sofa, holding her face in her hands.

Her first father liked domestic violence, and her second father liked gambling.

She could not get a decent father.

She did not want to think about it anymore.

However, that did not mean she did not envy other people's fathers.

She even compared herself to Bianca....

If it were not for the relationship with Bianca, Sarah and

Nigel would now be married and become a normal family of three.

Did she feel that her happiness was taken away by Bianca?

No, what's wrong with a father loving his daughter? Besides, Nigel did not know about Sarah's pregnancy at the time.

She was just unfortunate.

The searches on the Internet were gone.

They never appeared again.

Nigel would sometimes call her, and they would finish chatting after a few words.

That was the sweet spot, just a few words.

Anne just wanted to take care of her children.

It seemed that as soon as she left her children, countless troubles rushed to her outside.

"Ah, what a mess! Mama, help..." Chloe took a pen and stuffed it in Mama's hand, and her soft little body was cradled into Mama's arms, and she acted like a spoiled child.

Anne hugged her in her arms and helped her draw on a drawing board.

"Mama, play a game with us!" Charlie climbed onto the sofa in the back and lay down with his little head resting on Mama's shoulders.

“You are sisters. As a sister, she should be more tolerant of you. Having a meal together will resolve everything,”

Nigel said.

Anne listened silently, all the cells in her body screaming at her to reject the invitation.

If she agreed to this invitation, there could only be one reason. She hoped anyone would no longer harass her.

Including the matter of her stopping at Luton.

Even if she knew who her father was, even if her father wanted her as his child, it would not matter.

In her heart, her children were more important than everything.

Anne did not tell Sarah about having dinner with the Faye family and told no one else either.

She went alone.

Entering the room, Anthony was present, which she did not expect.

Anthony’s black eyes looked at her deeply and sharply, and Anne lowered her gaze due to the pressure.

Anthony was Bianca’s fiancé.

There was no mention of the word 'abortion' but everyone thought of her abortion immediately.

Anne simply expressed her thoughts, "I want to leave Luton and go to other places to develop. But now the pressure is too great for me. I can't go." She raised her clear pupils to meet Anthony's hawk-like black eyes. You are my brother-in-law now. Can you help me with this?"

Anthony looked at her silently without saying a word.

Anne was under a lot of pressure.

Everyone's expressions were different.

11

Nigel did not expect her to mention this.

As a father, he did not want Anne to leave. He wanted her to stay by his side.

Eating together now was a good start.

Bianca spoke first, "It's great to be in Luton. There are family members to take care of you. If you leave, who will help you? Since Anthony is your brother-in-law and I am your sister, we hope you live a more comfortable life!"

"Yes, if you leave Luton, people might think I shooed you away!" Dorothy also said.

Anthony did not need to say anything, and her question was answered.

Anne did not understand what they were thinking; they saw her as a beast, but they insisted on her staying by their side.

Anne did not know what she was thinking. Knowing the truth, she began to feel injustice for Sarah at that moment.

She mourned for herself as well.

Her Mom and Dad were right in front of her, yet they were not family.

It was like the state of other people's parents who got divorced and remarried.

FOUR

She was forced to drift helplessly without a family.

If Sarah married someone in the future, it would be a real marriage then.

“Do you still have feelings for my mother?” Anne asked.

Nigel did not expect that she would ask this and was speechless for a while.

Anne looked at his expression and asked, “Did you remarry for Bianca’s sake?”

Nigel still did not speak.

Her words stopped abruptly.”

Anne stared stiffly at the dangerous man in front of him, those black eyes that were as terrifying as a falcon.

She backed away.

Anthony came in grandly and stood in front of her, towering over her.

Anne looked at him nervously. "Are... you here for something?"

She instantly thought of the fact that Anthony was going to be her brother-in-law and also thought of the conversation between Anthony and Nigel.

"You look very happy." Anthony's tone was unfathomable, and she could not tell what his emotions were.

Anne felt pressured by his presence, feeling as if she were hundreds of miles deep in the ocean and being crushed by the water pressure.

Anne's eyes flickered. What was that supposed to mean?

"You are not really that naive to think that with Nigel there, you're safe, are you?" Anthony grinned.

His number was not available to the public, and his calls usually meant something urgent was going on.

He answered but did not speak.

The person on the other end also stayed silent. Just as he frowned and became impatient, a voice came.

"Is there something wrong with the connection? Why isn't anyone speaking?"

"Is the phone broken?"

"But someone used it to make a call just now!"

Three voices spoke on the other end of the phone.

Anthony knew who they were almost instantly. He was surprised. "How do you know my cell phone number?"

"We stole it..." said one of the kids.

"You can't say that!" said another.

"Someone gave it to us," the third said,

"Who gave it to you?" Anthony asked.

"I won't tell you!" Charlie shouted.

Anthony stared out of the car window with dark eyes. "Is there anything you want with me?"

"I'm very busy. What do you want to talk about?" Anthony asked.

“Who is Bianca?”

“We do not like her!”

“She is fierce!”

Anthony frowned slightly. “How do you know her?”

“Once, when we went back home, she had a quarrel with the pretty girl on the fifth floor!” Charlie said.

“She was bullying her! Scary!” said Chloe.

“Are you going to marry her if she has anger issues?” Chris asked.

Anthony said nothing.

He did not know about that.

After a second thought, he asked, “Was she alone?”

“No, she came with her parents. The poor girl on the fifth floor though...” Chloe said.

The wind chimes on the glass door jingled.

Lucas, who pushed the door open, looked into the store and saw the only customer at the table at a glance.

Walking over, he confirmed that the triplets were wearing masks on their faces and then looked at Anthony, who looked indifferent. "Mr. Marwood, what is the meaning of this? This is equivalent to a kidnapping."

Anthony looked directly at the little kids in front of him. His voice was cold. "Principal Lucas really cares about the children. If I didn't know better, I'd have thought they were your children."

Lucas smiled. "Actually, Mr. Marwood, because I get along fine with the children, they prefer to call me Daddy.

The kids nodded hurriedly. "That girl on the fifth floor likes Daddy very much as well!"

"Daddy also likes the girl!"

"If you don't work harder, they might get married before you have the chance!"

Anthony's black eyes were sharp, and his expression was icy cold.

Lucas said, "Besides, if the children went missing, the school's reputation would be damaged. If Mr. Marwood likes children that much, I hope you and Bianca can have a child sooner. If you do, your child will be the heir of the Archduke group."

Anthony looked at him with a dark expression. "You don't need to worry about me." He stood up to look Lucas in the eye. "How could she fall in love with you, though?

Anne was so frightened that her brain was buzzing.

Anthony was unfathomable. Although she had been in contact with him since he was a child, she still could not understand what he was thinking.

He would not know the identity of the children.

Otherwise, he would not be so nice to her.

Why did Anthony go looking for the children?

Anne never knew that it was her kids who went to Anthony themselves.

Who would have thought they had his number?

However, the three little kids kept that a secret.

It was as if the phone call was never made.

"I didn't tell you beforehand because I was afraid you would be worried," Lucas said.

"I know that you are doing it for my good. When you went to pick up the children, Anthony didn't embarrass you, did he?"

"No. It was his fault for this matter."

"That's great."

The two of them talked about the children and ended the call without saying anything else.

Sarah sighed. "Silly child, people change. I ended up with nothing when I was nice to other people. After thinking about it, I think it's better to be selfish. At least I can protect myself."

Anne said, "Is that the case? I'm your daughter, and you can tell me anything. No matter what happens, I'm on your side."

Even though Anthony was too difficult to deal with, they should never give up.

Sarah looked at her and said, "I know what you want to know. When I was with Ron, Ron and his wife hadn't divorced. Ron told me that his wife was fierce and didn't know how to be gentle, and sooner or later, she would divorce him. To be honest, I thought of Nigel at the time, which made me feel contemptuous about him."

"Then why did you stay with him later?" Anne was puzzled.

Sarah said, "Because it just so happened that his wife died and Ron is a rich man, why should I give up such a good opportunity?"

"Has Anthony's mother talked to you?" Anne asked.

"She did. But I told her that it was a matter between her and Ron, and it had nothing to do with me. As long as I could control my man, other women meant nothing,"

Sarah recalled.

Anne asked in disapproval, "That's just provocation!"
