Chapter 431 "Aren't you busy?" Sarah asked.

"Not yet," Nigel said. Sarah turned away her camera and pointed it at the suite. "Do you see that? It's much better than my room."

"Indeed."

"I live alone, and I don't need such a big place."

"It's big and comfortable."

Sarah turned the camera back toward her face. "How can I thank you? I don't even know how long I'm going to stay here, or even what to do next....."

"Don't worry, you can stay as long as you want, and you don't need to thank me. I did this for Anne," Nigel said.

Sarah did not say anything else, chatted for a while about the service in the hotel, and ended the video call.

She would not keep chatting with Nigel like a little girl. He had to work.

She supposed this would be better for their relationship.

After Sarah settled down, she went to the streets to go shopping to buy clothes.

Chapter 432 "Anne's skin was wrinkled when she was born. At first, I thought, why did I give birth to such an ugly little thing? The larger she grew, the better she looked. Fortunately, I didn't throw her away," Sarah said with a smile, recalling Anne's face with a satisfied and happy look.

Next to her, Nigel listened with relish.

"I gave birth to her, but I didn't have the confidence to support her financially. I handed her over to my brother and sister-in-law and gave them living expenses in private. But later I found out that my brother was not a good father, and he bullied my sister-in-law, so I could only give more money, hoping they would treat Anne better..." Sarah seldom told people about her past. "You had your difficulties."

"I often ask myself, if I told you about the existence of my child, would my life be different?" Sarah laughed at herself. "Looking at her cute and tender face, I feel bad that she doesn't have a father who loves her. When she was treated badly by my brother, I really wanted to tell her that her real father was a very gentle man. He would smile at you and buy you candy and take you to kindergarten..."

Nigel did not say anything, and he could not blame her.

"Don't worry about the past, Anne still has a long way to go in the future, and we will always be by her side."

"Her future was ruined by Anthony. When my brother and sister-in-law had an accident, I took Anne back to the Marwood family and told Ron that she was my niece. Ron also loved her very much. But I didn't expect Anthony to notice her," Sarah said.

Chapter 433 Sarah walked toward the hotel.

Nigel's stiff body slowly relaxed.

The moon hanging in the sky and the stars strewn all over the sky were a sign that tomorrow's weather would be bright and clear. However, Nigel's mood was not. – He felt hesitant and distracted...

He could not tell Sarah that after breaking up with her, he could not get out of a rut for a long time, and he had to force himself to do many things.

The only time he felt that his sacrifice was worth it was when he saw his daughter. If it were not for her, he could not have married his ex-wife, which he no longer had any feelings of affection for.

The door slammed shut. Charlie held a water cup in his hand, sighed like an adult, and took a sip of water silently. Anne went downstairs quietly, and Nigel was standing at the corner of the stairs. The two looked at each other.

Nigel was surprised. "Aren't you going for a walk in the community? Why did you come downstairs from above?"

Anne would never have said that if she knew that her father was waiting for her on the stairs! She quickly adjusted her thoughts and said, "I did at first, but then I met a child on the sixth floor downstairs, and I brought him up. I got your call after that." Nigel had no doubts at all, but the word 'child' instantly touched his heart.

"I do. That's not a problem. As long as Lucas likes you, the relationship between the two of you will be fine. Dad will figure out the rest." Nigel's expression was serious.

Anne's face was stunned.

She did not know if that was right.

Although Anthony turned a blind eye to her now, it did not mean that he was not under control. She still had no ID.

"I'll let Anthony give me an answer. You don't have to worry about it here," Nigel comforted her.

Anne shook her head. "...It's my problem."

"What's the problem? You just need to be interested in Lucas," Nigel said.

Do you still remember your expression when Bianca was just born?" Dorothy praised Bianca. "What was it?" Nigel had to ask. "You were tearing up and holding her as cautiously as if holding a bomb." Dorothy laughed.

Nigel smiled, did not speak, and looked at Anne subconsciously.

Anne cut the beef from the plate, stuffed it in her mouth, and chewed it slowly.

"Anne, what else do you want to eat?" Nigel asked.

Anne raised her head and asked, "Huh?"

Seeing that the corners of her mouth were still smeared with black pepper sauce, Nigel laughed, took a wet towel, and wiped the corners of her mouth. Anne blushed, and she hurriedly took the wet towel and wiped it herself.

Dorothy said nothing.

No matter which man Anne married, no man was more powerful than Anthony.

She should stop worrying. It was just that Nigel's consideration for Anne made her feel very uncomfortable. Nigel could only have one daughter, and that was Bianca. Anne's mind was not on Dorothy and Bianca. Although her eyes were not looking at Anthony, all her attention was there.

As if her body and mind were bound to him.

Chapter 438 After they got out of the house, the two of them went up the stairs. Anne wondered why Lucas was there. Did he just come to see the kids?

She had just talked about him at the dinner with the Fayes today, and now she was seeing him in person. She felt a little uncomfortable that Lucas did not know about their plans.

"Have you gone out for dinner?" Lucas asked.

"Yes, with my dad," Anne said.

"I met Mr. Faye two days ago when he was having dinner with my uncle," Lucas said.

Anne was stunned that they had met already.

Did they meet just for business matters?

"My dad didn't say anything to you, did he?" Anne asked. "Are you worried?" Lucas turned his face with a playful look in his eyes. Anne's eyes flashed innocently. "I have nothing to worry about..." "Your father just asked me whether you and I knew each other." "Then what did you say?"

"What did you want me to say?" Lucas looked at her and stopped when she went down the steps. Anne stopped and turned her eyes to the side. "You know we can't be together. There's just too much to think about..."

"Really? But your father also said that he would bring you to have a meal with me next time." Lucas said, and then asked, "Will you refuse?"

Anne did not answer.

Chapter 439 Anne’s body was stiff, and the beating of her heart was heavy and uneasy. Just when she was about to suffocate, she heard the voice of Anthony, “Pour me a cup of coffee.”

Anne was stunned. Was he speaking to her? Ah yes, she and Anthony were the only ones in the office, and Anthony would never do such a thing himself. “I’m... not professional.”

“Then find a way to make it professional,” Anthony said ruthlessly. Anne turned around and left the office to pour him coffee.

She was no stranger to the pantry.

She had used it before.

There were water dispensers and a variety of tea, coffee, and coffee machines.

There were ground coffee beans in the refrigerator.

Anne had not made coffee herself, but she had seen her coworkers make coffee many times before.

Filtering the coffee, adding creamers and sugar, and finally stirring. She sniffed the edge of the cup with her nose. It was quite fragrant.

When she went to the office with coffee, Anne turned her head to the left and then to the right, but she did not see Xander.

Where was he taking his phone call?

Was he back?

She carefully placed the coffee in front of Anthony and stood aside. Watching Anthony take a sip, he heard him say, “Disgusting.” Anne pursed her lips. “Then I’ll find someone to make another cup

Lucas got out of the car and did not seem to avoid anyone deliberately. He was standing beside the car, and he looked at her with a smile.

Anne walked over. "Why are you here?"

"I was just passing by."

Anne smiled.

She doubted that, but she did not say anything.
