Chapter 461

Anne was afraid of his unpredictable temperament and was worried that he would see through her plans, so she said, "If it were not for you, I would not have fallen down from the bed. It is fine if you did not like what I said, but you threw me out. That was violent."

Anthony's face looked displeased.

Anne then said, "Can you give me some painkillers? It's unbearable..."

'Bear it."

"Is this something to be borne? My back is burning." Anne could not breathe evenly. She saw Anthony's cold face keeping quiet and pondered what she should do. "Are you really not going to send me away? There's no one that can enter this place. Who would take care of me? You?"

"I am on leave these two days."

Anne was taken aback. Did he really plan to take care of me?

Could she reject it?

Anthony coldly locked his gaze onto Anne's face. "Why? Any objection?"

"No." Anne did not dare to admit it.

Anthony placed his laptop down, stood up, and walked out.

Anne noticed that Anthony was limping slightly.

What happened? Did he get numb after sitting for so long?

Anne was stunned.

So, Anthony was not limping because he was numb, but it was because he was injured?

Was it because of her?

Anne tried to recall the scene.

She fell onto the floor. Anthony came down from the bed to carry her up, and he was indeed standing next to her. The floor was covered with glass pieces. It was likely for him to step on them...

However, would Anthony really care for her?

Anne bit her lips.

How would she not have known about this?

However, it was difficult to do it. She was already feeling bad enough to be the 'mistress'.

Plus, Anthony's unpredictable temperament made it hard for her to serve him.

After Kathryn left, Anne lay on the bed listening to the noises outside. It sounded like Anthony was talking to someone.

It hurt so much that beads of sweat started to form on Anne's forehead.

Soon, she felt cold from her back. After the cold, the pain on her back was relieved.

Then, it was a second wound.

Anne woke up from her sleep, and Anthony was no longer sleeping next to her. The wounds on her back were gently touched by something that felt like a cotton bud.

She could faintly smell the medicine in the air.

She did not need to turn around to know who the person was helping her with the medicine.

She did not expect Anthony to be waking up in the middle of his sleep to apply the anesthesia for her.

"Did I wake you up? I did not want to move around. It was too uncomfortable." Anne's face pressed into the pillow, making it deformed. Her lips pouted.

Anthony's face was still expressionless. "Good that you are aware of it."

"Anne, don't overstep your boundaries." Even if Anthony was lying down, he was still scarily intimidating.

Anne pursed her lips and acted innocent. "If I don't go, I will pee on the bed. What will happen if I pee in the bed? This is your bed."

"Then pee." Anthony was expressionless.

Anne's face was frozen for a while.

Was this something that humans would say?

Even if he permitted her, she could not bring herself to do it. Did he really think she was like her three little bunnies?

Chloe peed in her bed before. She was crying about it, making Anne feel amused but loving at the same time.

Anne fell silent when she thought about her three little bunnies.

She could only hold it in.

"How did you know that she went missing? Maybe she went to work." Anthony bluffed.

'Impossible! We have not seen her for a few days! We have always seen her before, but not now. Isn't she missing?' Chris said.

"Your inference is flawed," Anthony said.

"Then, where did the girl go? Could she be hidden by you?" Chloe asked.

Anne did not dare to breathe too heavily, but at the same time, feeling impressed by the kids' intelligence.

They got it correct!

'Who taught you this?' Anthony had always been sharp.

'We guessed it ourselves. Is it not you hiding her away?' Chloe said, then she started sobbing. to the question. "It's still early.

His big and strong palm grabbed her tiny waist, and his voice was deep. ' Just cooperate more, we do it more, soon you will be able to have a kid."

Anne shivered. "You want me to have a kid?"

Did this mean there was a possibility for Anthony to want her kids?

"If you really have it, just keep it. I will just need to raise one more child. What's the fuss?"

Such a dominant statement to make.

Anne bit her lips and did not say a word more.

She thought it would not be just one more child but three more children.

"If you really want it, work harder." Anthony's voice was like a demon trying to lure her in.

He was fascinated and thoughts of occupying her even germinated in him.

However, his rainbow was about to be snatched away by someone else. It was natural for him to want to snatch it back, right?

Lucas had no idea whether Anne was in trouble or was hidden away by Anthony.

Lucas did not stay at home for long.

He went out to get the kids after showering.

Anne was not around, and he was a little concerned when the kids were left home alone.

The three kids were naturally happy to stay with their Daddy Lucas.

He brought them back to his condo and let the nanny continue looking after them.

Lucas entered the room when the triplets were already in bed.

As soon as he sat down next to the bed, the triplets asked, "Daddy, is

The triplets were planning how to meet Anthony as soon as they got to school.

The thought of meeting Papa would lead them to find their Mama was growing in their minds.

If Papa hid Mama away, it would definitely not work if they just called him over the phone. They had to execute it unintentionally.

The triplets who tried to run away were blocked by the guard at the door.

The guard immediately contacted the caretaker, however it did not have any effects on them. Finally, he called the principal.

Lucas had already left after sending the three kids to school this morning. He was out to look for more hints about Anne.

"They went out?" Lucas was shocked.

"Yes, they said they would be able to find Mama if they could go out and meet Papa. They would make a fuss if we stopped them..." The caretaker was troubled.

All the kids here were privileged, especially these three.

They all knew that they were the principal's kids.

Anthony looked down at them and said, "What is so smart about it? Do you know that there are plenty of abductors out there?"

"There are a lot of good people out there too!" Chloe said.

The kids, in his impression, only knew how to make a fuss and did not have any ability to communicate.

Now, not only could the three kids communicate with him, but they could even debate with him.

Perhaps this was why Anne was close to them.

"You can call me if you are looking for me, not sneaking out like this." Anthony was stern.

"But if we have called you, we cannot find Big Sister then!" Chloe said innocently.

Anthony then realized that they were rummaging through his office to look for Anne.

"She's not here." Anthony sat down on the couch.

The triplets went forward and climbed up the couch and up his legs.

He knew it well enough what was the errand that Lucas was running.

It was none other than the search for Anne.

Anthony did not comment but hung up straight away.

When his gaze fell upon the rummaged documents, he greatly disagreed with Lucas's remarks.

Obedient? Did he misunderstand what the word meant?

Anthony did not go anywhere else because the kids were around.

Anne's lunch was delivered by Kathryn. She applied fresh medicines to Anne before she left.

At dusk, Lilian called Tommy. "Could it really be Anthony? If he really hid Anne away, he would not sit around all day and do nothing, would he?"

Tommy was unwilling to accept making a wrong judgment.

He thought Anthony would leave the Archduke Group office at some point.
