Chapter 541

Dorothy walked toward Nigel. "You're back? Your meal is ready. Do you want to eat now?"

She was about to pick up Nigel's briefcase, but Nigel handed it over to his housekeeper in advance. "Okay." After speaking, he turned around and went to the dining room.

Dorothy took a deep breath, suppressed the displeasure in her heart, and showed a forced smile. "I made your favorite dishes."

Bianca walked to the door of the dining room and said, "I won't eat here. You can eat together."

"What? Are you not eating? Where will you be going?" Dorothy asked.

Nigel said, "You can leave after eating. You don't need to be in a hurry."

"I'm going to the Royal Mansion to eat." Bianca had absolutely no intention of acting as if she loved her family.

She was tired of seeing them.

Besides, she asked Anthony to help order her father to return in hopes that the two of them could be reconciled as they were before.

'Yes, Principal, the children are gone."

"What's going on?" Lucas asked in shock.

'I took them out to play. We went to the toy store to buy something, and they disappeared as soon as I turned around. Principal, what should I do? Should I call the police?" Moona cried anxiously on the phone.

"How long have they gone missing?"

"It's... it's been half an hour."

"You should have called the police when you lost them!"

"We need to wait twenty-four hours before we can call the police!"

"This is not true. Once a child goes missing, you can call the police immediately!"

"Then...then I'll call the police now..."

"Don't worry about it. Send me your address!" After Lucas got the address, he drove there and called the police.

Anne had been back for two days and had not seen Anthony.

Why should she? She was in Anthony's control. Why should he hurry?

When the predator is not hungry, it toys with its prey for a while.

It would then swallow its prey in one mouthful when it was hungry.

Before going to bed at night, there was no call from Anthony.

Anne put her phone on silent.

If there were someone here, it would be suspicious if she did not pick up the call.

Anne noticed that older people did not have the habit of holding their mobile phones all the time.

Just as she was about to fall asleep, she felt an unusual atmosphere in the air, as if a bad guy was about to approach her.

Then her bed sank, and her body was covered.

"Argh..." Anne knew who it was without having to open her eyes.

'You don't need to worry about that," Anne said with a cold expression.

'Aren't you afraid that I will tell Anthony? If Anthony knew about it, he would never let you raise the kids, in case they become as uneducated as you are. Anthony would definitely prefer the children to be raised by me. The children are still young. If they live with me long enough, I doubt they'll remember you."

Anne was not afraid of threats. "If you really thought this through, you would have just done it instead of telling me this. '

"That's because...the children are missing." Bianca approached her with a poisonous look in her eyes, trying to take in every single ounce of Anne's expression.

Anne frowned. "What did you say?"

"Are you deaf? I say that your triplets are missing. Last night, the nanny took them out and accidentally lost them. I have yet to find them! Look how nice I am to you. I came here to tell you this piece of news!"

Anne shook her head in horror. "That's impossible!"

"Call the nanny then! I think she'll just tell you the kids are at school, though.

'Go away!" Anne pushed Bianca away.

Bianca did not expect her to do that, so she stepped back with a look of anger.

She turned her face and smiled. "Why are you so unwilling to accept the truth? I doubt you'll be able to find your kids. The best you could hope for is to see their corpses. There is one more thing I want to tell you. Do you know why your mom can return to Luton? Did you think it was because you told Anthony to do so? It was because your dad sacrificed himself and promised not to divorce Dorothy in exchange for letting your mom return to Luton. How do you feel about that? Hahaha!"

With a big laugh, she turned and walked toward the door of the ward.

As soon as the door opened, her laughter disappeared, and she put her poker face back on as if nothing had happened.

She was great at changing expressions quickly whenever she needed to.

Anne felt weak. She knocked over the table and fell to the ground hard.

"I don't dare to let you out of the hospital! I'll call Mr. Marwood first and ask him what he thinks, okay?" Dr. Brown said.

"You are the doctor. It's your call! Why do you have to ask him? Why should I listen to him!" Anne shouted hysterically.

"Anne, calm down."

"I don't want to be calm. How could I be calm?" Anne lifted the quilt and got out of bed. "Don't stop me. I must leave!"

Dr. Brown stopped her. "I can't let you go if you act like this."

"Go away! Let me go!" Anne pushed Dr. Brown.

"She vomited blood and is now in the emergency room. What did you say to her?" Anthony's volume increased.

"Is it that serious? I...I only told her that my father couldn't divorce my mother so her mother would be able to return to Luton and that my father had sacrificed a lot for her. It's not a big deal, is it? How easily angered she is!" Bianca felt a little amused. "I'll go back and apologize to her! She has rested for so long, and I don't want her to fall into a relapse again because of me."

"Did she mention some children?"

"...children? What children?" Bianca's tone sounded aggrieved. "Anthony, I didn't do anything. Anne doesn't like me and my mother because of her mother's matters. She was fine earlier. Why did she faint as soon as I turned my back on her? Was she trying to set me up?"

"That's enough." Anthony hung up the phone.

Bianca paced around in her office, feeling restless.

Anne mentioned her children? Why else would Anthony ask her about children?

Obviously, Anthony did not know what Anne meant.

Anne had probably entered the emergency room before she could finish her sentence.

Chris studied the door lock and said, "When he came in, he locked the door. He must have the keys!"

"What about the windows?" Chloe asked, "Can we jump out of the windows?"

The three little kids looked at the window, which was open, and could see the tops of the trees outside.

It did not seem possible.

"We can see the tips of the trees, which means that we are high above the ground! If we jump down from here, we might never see mama again!" Chloe was disappointed.

"Don't be afraid!" Charlie grabbed her small hand. "I'm going to steal the key!"

"Steal the key?" Chloe's little face was slightly stunned, but she was also slightly excited.

"Yes, if I steal the key to open the door, we can run out and escape!" Chris elaborated on his plan.

The three kids moved to the door of the room.

They opened the door quietly. Charlie took a peek and noticed that the person on the bed was sleeping with his back to them, and he was snoring. He must have fallen asleep!

Luke went back to sleep until it was noon.

When he woke up, he did not see the triplets. He looked around and found no one. "Stop playing hide-and-seek with me. If you don't come out, I'll hit you!"

Damn it, why did he have to do this?

How annoying the three children were!

Luke had yet to find them, but he noticed that the door was not closed.

When he touched his waist again, he found the key was gone.

He hurriedly called Moona, ' Mom, the children ran away!"

'What? Didn't I ask you to look after the children?"

"I locked them in the house, but they stole my key and opened the door! Are they really two-year-old children?" Luke could not believe that he was fooled by three kids!

"Ms. Vallois..." Moona answered, but there was no sound from the other end. "Ms. Vallois? Ms. Vallois, why aren't you speaking?"

Anthony was searching for this voice in his memory. According to his knowledge, this was the nanny who took care of the triplets and was close to Lucas.

So, two unfamiliar numbers for Lucas...

Lucas stepped forward and took the phone in his hand.

He had already guessed who was calling.

Anthony stared at the end call with dark eyes, looking extremely hostile.

In the end, it all came back to Anne.

"You still look for him behind my back. How can I punish you so that you can be completely obedient?"
His voice seemed to come from hell.
