Chapter 561

Anne did not think about Anthony anymore. She had enough on her mind thinking about the kids.

After having two bites, the door was banged open by someone.

Anne looked up and saw Tommy barraging in with an angry face.

Anne was not sure what annoyed him.

"Tommy, what are you doing here?" Sarah was not welcoming at all.

She did not want to see anyone from the Marwood family.

To be fair, she did not like to see them before this. She was only behaving politely because she was married into the family.

Tommy felt relieved to see Anne being energetic again, but his facial expression was still rather bothered.

Since Anne 'died' in the plane crash, he had been staying in Santa Nila and was unhappy.

He spent most nights in the bars, drunk.

One time he called Lucas to ask about Luton, but he said he did not have Anne's information as well.

"How did you know about the kids going missing?" Tommy asked.

"Bianca deliberately informed me about it." "She knew about it, but Anthony did not know about it. This was a little hard to imagine." Tommy snickered.

"Have you been in touch with Lucas? Are the kids found?" Anne asked desperately.

"We are checking the surveillance footage everywhere. Moona's son is staying somewhere secluded, and there are not many surveillance cameras around. It will take some time. Don't you worry."

"How can I not worry about them? They are only two years old, and they cannot even fight if they get caught..." Anne's eyes were watery again.

As long as the kids were safe, she could even die for them.

"Don't be pessimistic. Think of the bright side." As soon as Tommy finished his sentence, the phone in Sarah's bag rang.

As if Anne could sense something, she said hastily, "Get me the phone!"

"Your phone?" Tommy took out the phone and saw the string of digits on the caller. It looked somewhat familiar. "Lucas?"

Tommy grabbed her hand and pinched it forcefully. His cold face forced out a contrasting smile. "My arms are always open for you."

Anne was speechless, and she felt awkward. "No, thank you."

'You should not say this so early." Tommy released her hand and walked away.

Anne was dumbfounded. She better not be overthinking it.

She dismissed Tommy's behavior as flirting and did not care much.

Sarah entered, looked around, and asked, "He left?"

'Yes, he just asked about my condition."

Looking at Anthony's phone number, she fell into a dilemma.

What was Anthony doing now? Was he together with the kids?

The triplets were brought back to the Royal Mansion at dinnertime.

When Hayden got to know about the three kids' identities, he was so shocked that he could not say a word after a long time.

He was quite impressed by Anne. Not only had she secretly given birth to the triplets, but she even managed to hide them for so long in Luton.

That was way too shocking than surprising!

He immediately prepared the room for the precious three kids.

No wonder Oliver called to instruct the kitchen to prepare the kids' favorite dishes.

He thought they were merely little guests and even wondered why there would be little guests at the Royal Mansion.

It was almost eight, and Anthony was still spending time with the three kids.

Anthony took out his phone. It was from Anne.

He pressed the decline button right away, then put his phone on silent mode and passed it to Hayden, who was standing not too far away.

Hayden then placed his phone back on the table in the living room.

Charlie's big eyes were full of confusion, isn't that from Mama?"

"Work," Anthony said.

Anne felt that this was a bad sign for her first phone call to be declined. She called a second time, and there was no response. She knew that she had been ignored.

What should she do? She would not have to go to his place, would she?

She knew that it would not be helpful for her to keep calling him.

The kids washed up and were about to go to bed. They were wearing mini bathrobes, looking extra adorable.

Anthony stood by the bedside and watched them fall asleep before leaving.

I don't like to have the nurse around, so she is free when I don't need her," Anne said.

Bianca was wearing a weird smile. She said, "Did you really fall because the nurse was not around? Not because of something else, right?"

"Something else?" Nigel asked.

"Well, I could not tell. Dad, perhaps Anne had something that she could not tell us!" Bianca pretended to be understanding.

Nigel looked at Anne, confused. "You can tell Dad everything. Don't you hide it. This is not good for you."

"I'm fine, really. I just fell."

Nigel and Bianca conversed with Anne in the ward for a while, then left.

Halfway through, Bianca said, "Dad, I left my phone in the ward. I will go get it. You can go ahead. I drove here on my own anyway."

The door opened, and Anne saw Bianca coming back into the room.

"It was not convenient for me to say anything while Dad was here. In fact, I am here to tell you some good news. I heard that your three kids were kidnapped and trafficked out of Luton. That is tragic. Aren't you worried about them?"

However, when she went in today, she could feel that how the concierge staff looked at her was a little weird.

Anthony was working when she entered the office, and Oliver was present.

"Please go out first," Anthony said.

"Yes." Oliver went out.

Bianca smiled. "Am I interrupting?"

'No worries."

"I had been a little caught up lately, and so I did not get a chance to meet you. It's okay, isn't it?" Bianca asked gently.

"You have a career and are independent. I like you for it," Anthony looked at her and said.

I heard from Mr. Clayton that the kids found their way into the Archduke Group, and they looked exactly like Mr. Marwood. It was obvious at first sight. After that, the investigation proved it correct," Hayden said.

Bianca thought, 'There must be someone behind the kids to teach them to do so.'

No one else other than Anne would be capable of this!

However, the truth about the kids had been exposed, and it was impossible for her to do anything anymore.

Bianca covered her mouth and cried.

Hayden was shocked. ' Ms. Faye, are you okay?'

Bianca shook her head, but she was very depressed.

Hayden could understand why she felt that way.

She was Mr. Marwood's fiancée. They had not been officially married yet, but Mr. Marwood had already had three kids with some other woman.

Ms. Faye, herself, had not given birth to her own child but had become the stepmother to the kids.

From being in touch with the children until today, he also understood their temperament and personality.

Charlie was a little more aggressive, Chris was relatively stable, and Chloe was lively.

The three of them had good logical thinking.

They were indeed his children.

"Chloe, do you want Papa to feed you?" Anthony offered, very unfamiliar with saying things like this.

Chloe shook her head. Her big eyes were adorable. "I can feed myself!"

Anthony, who was rejected, silently continued to have his meal.

Hayden, who was not too far from them, was wearing a smile on his face. He did not expect Mr. Marwood to be in such a situation too.

"Papa, I would like to call Mama. Why did Mama not call US? I know it. It is because Mama did not know that we were here! She could not contact US and, therefore, could not reach US. Mama will be concerned," Charlie said.

The corridor outside was as quiet as a dead alley.

Anne was already yawning.

Half awake, she could faintly hear some footsteps outside of the door.

Anne immediately pretended to be sleeping.

The door was pushed open, and someone walked to the side of the bed. At that moment, Anne knew that it was not Anthony.

The atmosphere did not feel the same.

That must be Kathryn, then.

She was checking her situation. She found that Anne did not have much problem and then left.
