Chapter 601

The triplets looked at their gifts and glanced at Bianca.

They knew that she was going to be their father's wife and that they had to be polite with her, but they simply did not like her.

Knowing better than to let it show on their faces, the triplets said in unison, "Thank you, Aunty."

"You're welcome," Bianca said with a smile. She realized that she might have overthought everything, the triplets were still toddlers and could easily sway when gifts were involved.

Chloe held her doll up and said reluctantly, "I was wrong the last time. I shouldn't have drawn on the piano."

"Like your Papa had said, he will just buy me another one. He buys me whatever I want and there's no other woman who can get that kind of treatment," Bianca gloated.

"Papa must really like you, then," Chloe said.

Bianca smiled gently. "Yeah. I'm really happy."

"And that requires you to talk to Anthony in his room?" Bianca questioned darkly.

Anne had not imagined Bianca to know that she had been in Anthony's room as Anthony surely would not tell Bianca about it.

She suspected if it was Hayden for a moment, but immediately denied it as Hayden was smart enough to know what he should talk about, or he would not be the head butler of the Royal Mansion.

"Anne, I won't get mad now. Once everything is set and done, you will learn what it means to cross me!"

"What are you going to do?" Anne scowled and glared at her.

Bianca sneered in contempt, and left without answering her question.

'When all is set and done, huh?' Anne thought as she stared at the car disappearing into the distance. She knew what it meant to cross Bianca, as Bianca was capable of the most vicious act, but Anne had no choice if she wanted to see her children.

Xander welcomed her with open arms. "A plane crash is counted as a work injury, so we managed to put it under your hospitalization leaves. I'm glad to see you back."

'...' She looked at him dazedly.

It was off enough for her to be paid for her time away, but it was ridiculous that they described her injury as a work injury.

Naturally, she did not object as there was no reason for her to do so. Anthony was the one who caused everything, so she would simply consider it a compensation from him.

Sarah was not pleased when she heard that Anne had gone back to work, and lectured Anne for over an hour when she went over to Sarah's house for dinner.

Anne was so startled by the question that she dropped the pillow in her hand. "What did you say?"

Sarah held Anne's shoulders down lest she would fall off the couch in shock at her next sentence. 'Just think about it... If Anthony marries you, you can stay with the children forever, forming a complete family. Don't you agree?"

Anne did not know how Sarah came up with such an unrealistic idea. It was simply ridiculous! Marrying someone as terrifying as Anthony was just like jumping into a living hell!

"Anthony will never do that."

'So, it all depends on you!" Sarah taunted her, then asked, "When was the last time Anthony touched you?"

Anne instantly appeared uncomfortable.

"You have to tell me everything now. Otherwise, how can we solve the problem? Just by relying on you sulking all day? You can only do so much alone anyway!" Sarah was anxious for her.

Chapter 605

Anne remained quiet.

Sarah was right, and Anne knew well how her life was-aggrieved, exhausted, and tortured.

Did she really want her children to be like her in the future?

Thankfully, Cheyenne treated her very well, just like her own daughter.

Yet, what about Bianca? Even though she was the children's aunt by blood, she acted just like an enemy.

When Anne went to bed at night, she tossed and turned, finding it hard to fall asleep.

She asked herself, did she really want her children to call Bianca their Mama?

A voice in her head told her, "No! Don't! Absolutely not! That's my child!"

As Anne did not sleep well the night before, she appeared to be in a low mood the next day at work, and her colleagues showed concern.

Bianca was a little nervous, so she smiled to hide it. "I know you're very busy, so the wedding can be postponed for the time being. How about...getting the marriage certificate first? This way, it's perfectly justifiable for me to look after the triplets."

Anthony squinted and asked, "Get the marriage certificate first?"

"Yes, I've checked the dates, and this coming Friday seems like a good day. Why don't we... Bianca said tentatively but found that Anthony did not respond, as if he was in a trance.

"Anthony?"

"I'm listening." Anthony looked normal.

"I'm not forcing you to get the certificate, but people are wagging their tongues around me, and I can't help but have the wrong impression that..." Bianca was embarrassed.

"Wrong impression about what?"

"That...you like Anne."

Anthony widened his eyes slightly, but his face quickly turned cold. "You're thinking too much."

Chapter 607

Anne was dumbfounded.

They were about to get their marriage certificate, and it would be in a couple of days...

Suddenly, what Bianca said to her the other day came to mind-Let the dust settle.

Was she talking about this?

“Once Anthony gets married and has his own kids with Bianca, he’ll pay less attention to you,” Tommy said, “I’ve said before that Anthony has someone he likes, and if he gets married, the bride will only be Bianca. As for why he pesters you, it’s probably impulses. You know men—sometimes it’s hard for them to control their lower body.”

Even though Anne knew it was true, she still felt uncomfortable when she heard Tommy saying that.

“You’re the same too, right?” Anne mocked.

“Are you jealous?” Tommy smirked.

Anne almost rolled her eyes at him. She did not want to talk to him anymore, so she turned around, wanting to leave.

However, Tommy stopped her and asked, "Let's have dinner tonight?"

"No thanks."

However, it might unnecessarily be so in the eyes of outsiders.

Even the Finance Department knew Anne had given birth to Anthony's child, so there must have been a sudden realization throughout the Marwood Group that as if Tommy had nothing to do with her working in the Marwood Group, but it was actually Anthony.

The meeting went on for nearly two hours.

Damian saw Anthony getting up and walking toward the door, and he turned to look at Anne with a sly smile, saying, “Anne, were you in Tommy’s condo the night before?”

It took a while for Anne to react, and she noticed that everyone was looking at her. Even Anthony, who was about to leave, took a step back. Although he did not turn around, his stalwart figure was full of threats.

Anne looked at Tommy coldly and quickly calmed her pounding heart, replying, “Mr. Marwood, it must’ve been a misunderstanding. I was sleeping at home that night.”

“You don’t have to hide it. I saw the red wine for dinner on the table. Tommy said he was drinking with a man, which seemed unreasonable. So, I deliberately left and waited at the condo. Sure enough, I saw you coming out.” Damian was confident.

Anne’s expression changed, and she looked at Anthony. Then, just as she was about to explain, she saw Anthony walking out and disappearing.

Anne felt someone walking over behind her, and she turned to look, only to find that it was Tommy. In an instant, her face turned cold.

“What’s with that expression? Was I the one who said it?” Tommy did not look so good either.

“Can you stay away from me?” Anne did not want to investigate whether it was related to him. Her mind was a mess now.

Tommy got angry when he heard her tone, and he stepped forward and picked her up, pushing her against the wall-

“W-What are you doing? What if someone sees us?” Then, Anne started to push him, but to no avail, so she yelled angrily, “Let me go!”

“Why are you so afraid of Anthony? Do you care so much about him?”

Anne felt that Tommy was being ridiculous. She took a deep breath and asked, “Am I supposed to care about you instead?”

Tommy was shocked.

Anne shook off his hands in displeasure, walked to her desk, and picked up her bag.” Messing with Anthony won’t bring me any good, and it’s not that you aren’t aware that the children are in his hands.”

“Everything will be fine if you give up the children.”

“What?” Anne thought he was going too far. How could he say such a thing?

"Why are you still here?"

Anne pursed her lips. "...Mr. Clayton, can I ask for a favor?"

"What is it about?"

"Where is Anthony now? I...I want to find him," Anne said.

Anne could no longer locate Anthony as her previous phone was gone, and blindly running around to find him was definitely not a good idea. Moreover, she called the Royal Mansion, and Anthony was not there.

Was he with Bianca?
