Chapter 641

"We don't always want to have fun. We just haven't seen Mama for a long time!" Charlie said.

Anthony's expression was cold. "Go to sleep."

"You... you're being mean to us!" Charlie could not believe it, his big stubborn eyes stared at Anthony, and then he tugged at Chris and Chloe. "Let's go! We are going to find Mama or Daddy!"

Anthony's stern eyes became cold, and his whole body was shrouded in the terrifying darkness.

As soon as the three little kids left and walked into the hall, they were stopped by Hayden and the servants, who carried them back to the upstairs room.

Charlie stood on the bed, with two short hands on his waist, and shouted fiercely, "Why don't you let me run away from home? I don't want to stay here! I want to look for Mama! I think Papa is lying about Mama going on a business trip!"

"Liar!" Chloe agreed.

'How cute they were!' Hayden could not hold back his smile. "Your mum is really on a business trip. Your Papa loves you, don't worry. After a few days, Mama will come over."

"How many days exactly?" Chris asked.

There was a knock on the door, and Anne, who was lying on the bed, moved slowly, wondering if she was hallucinating.

She did not turn her head until the door of the room opened.

She stared blankly at Tommy, who appeared in her room carrying a bunch of keys in her hand.

He was still holding her backup keys!

Anne lay back on the bed, feeling depressed.

"Anne, you can't just be absent from work when you don't feel like it." Tommy leaned against the door frame and said coldly.

Anne said weakly, "I resign. I will call Mr. Clayton later."

"Okay."

After saying this, she fell silent, and then Anne heard Tommy saying, "Mr. Clayton, Anne wants to resign."

Anne turned around and looked at Tommy, who was on the phone.

Not knowing what Xander said, Tommy frowned. "What do you mean she needs to tell you in person? Don't I have the authority to tell you on her behalf?"

It seemed that their relationship was going in a good direction, but it suddenly took a sharp turn.

Did she screw it up...

Anne quickly ate the porridge one bite at a time.

Tommy, who was sitting across from her, was expressionless, "Is everything you do necessary? Just for the sake of the children?"

"You won't understand if you don't have children." Tommy would not understand.

"I really don't understand. But are you going to stand up against Anthony for the sake of your children all your life? He can afford it. How about you?" Tommy said.

"I'm only twenty years old. I could spend another ten years."

"Which man would want you when you turn thirty," Tommy said.

"I won't come to you even if I don't find a man, don't worry." Anne retorted.

Tommy's eyes sank. This woman was really unpleasant.

Seeing his cold face, Anne did not care.

When Bianca returned to the room, she could not calm down.

She wanted to trust Anthony, but Dorothy's words still affected her.

Anthony did not go to find Anne, did he?

The more Bianca thought about it, the more anxious she became, so she took out her mobile phone and called Anthony.

After a few rings, he answered, "Anthony, are you busy?"

“Is something wrong?”

“No, I haven’t heard from you these two days, so I wanted to make sure you were okay,” Bianca said.

“I’ve been busy lately. I will visit you when I’m free.”

“Don’t worry. Focus on your work. Remember to take good care of yourself.”

“Alright.”

After the call, Bianca carefully listened to the movement on the other end of the phone. It was very quiet.

"Noodles!" Chloe said.

Charlie said, "I eat whatever she eats!"

"Yeah!" Chris nodded.

"Although we are going to have dinner in an hour and a half, we can eat a small portion of noodles. I'll make some for you now," Hayden said.

"Let me do it!" Bianca walked over.

Seeing her, Hayden bent down slightly. "Ms. Faye is here. How can I trouble Ms. Faye with such a thing? I'll do it."

Bianca walked up to the triplets, looked at them, and thought, how nice it would be if these three children were hers? Nah, her babies would look much more adorable.

"After I marry Anthony, we will be a family, and I will treat them as my children. I should love them the way I would love my children." Bianca was being nice.

Before her fingers touched Chloe's little face, Chloe drew back.

The corner of Bianca's mouth froze, but she did not do anything. She got up and went to the kitchen to make noodles for them.

The three little kids sat down at the dining table, and after a while, the noodles were served.

Together with Charlie and Chris, they got into the car, hoping that they would not have allergy symptoms as well. Their symptoms might appear a little late. Who knew? Better safe than sorry.

Bianca stood at the door, watching the car drive through.

She now knew that Chloe and Anne were allergic to seafood.

She hoped that the car would get stuck in the traffic and Chloe would suffocate to death.

She had to act as if she cared about Chloe though.

She picked up her phone and called Anthony, getting her emotions ready.

He did not pick up the phone though.

Bianca sneered. If something happened to Chloe, she was not the one to be blamed then.

She drove the car to the hospital.

Bianca did not dare to speak anymore, was Anthony doubting her intentions?
What she said was the truth! She did not do it on purpose.
She was afraid that Anthony would become suspicious, which would be bad for her.
Even if he did, though, he had no evidence, and he could not do anything to her.
It would not affect the relationship between the two of them.
Chloe was moved to the VIP ward and woke up more than half an hour later.
"Mama..." Before she opened her eyes, she called her mother.

“Chloe?”

“Chloe!”

When Chloe opened her eyes, she saw her two brothers and her father next to her. When she saw Bianca standing on the other side, she pouted.

‘Why wasn’t Mama with her...’

Anthony immediately took the thermos cup next to him, put a straw in it, and held it to her mouth. “Come on, drink some water.”

Chloe felt uncomfortable, but she opened her small mouth aggrievedly and drank.

“Okay.” Anthony was pampering Chloe.

Even if Chloe wanted the stars in the sky at this moment, he would find a way to pluck them from the sky.

Except if she wanted Anne...

When Anthony thought of her, his eyes turned cold.

Next to him, Hayden noticed Anthony’s changing expression and had a plan in his heart.

At this moment, Anne did not know that her daughter was hospitalized due to her seafood allergy.

She was shopping with Tommy.

Anne was going crazy. “What is it with you and your shopping? You’re a man!”

“How ungrateful of you. I brought you out for some fresh air because I noticed you were in a bad mood.” Tommy took a sip of coffee. “Why don’t you drink your coffee?”

Anne held her phone in one hand and coffee in the other. Her thoughts were all on her phone, and she forgot to drink.

"Yes, Ms. Vallois, don't worry. The child had a seafood allergy, and her condition stabilized because she was sent to the hospital in time. Mr. Marwood also fed her some food just now, don't worry," Hayden said.

Anne's muscles weakened. If Tommy had not grabbed her, she would have fallen to the ground.

"But how did Ms. Vallois know about Chloe's condition?" Hayden asked.

"Bianca told me..." Anne's mind became much clearer after learning that Chloe was all right and asked, "Why did she eat seafood? Did she eat it alone? I did tell Anthony to refrain from giving them seafood!"

"Yes, it was my negligence. The children said that they wanted to eat noodles, and Ms. Bianca was there. She said that she would make the children noodles, and she made noodles with crab soup. All three children ate it. Only Charlie and Chris were fine. Ms. Chloe is allergic..."

"Bianca?" Anne was both angry and scared.

Was Bianca doing what she promised her? Was she going to torment her triplets?

"Ms. Vallois, are you here now? We are in the hospital," Hayden said.

"I..." As soon as Anne said the words, the call was cut off abruptly. Anne could not stop Tommy in time, so she grabbed the phone and said, "Tommy, are you crazy?"

"You can't go." Tommy put the phone in his pocket and turned to sit on the chair.

Anne could not grab the phone, so she turned around and left.

It was not like she could not go to the hospital by herself!

As soon as she walked to the side of the road, Tommy grabbed her wrist and pulled her back. Tommy threw off his hand in anger.

If he had left with Anne, all of this would not have happened

The person with all the power would have been him, not Anthony!

Anne walked and noticed there was no one beside her. She turned around and saw Tommy behind, standing motionless and looking at her.

Just as she was about to ask him what was wrong, she saw Tommy come over and gently embrace her. "I never said... I'm sorry. Anne, I'm sorry...."

Anne was stunned. She never expected that Tommy would use such a gentle voice to apologize to her.

She was a little moved.

She once had the idea of relying on Tommy, and she still had that feeling after returning from abroad until he betrayed her.

After thinking about it, he did not do anything to hurt her. He just helped her.

Anne pushed his hand away and turned around. "No need to apologize. This is the end of the matter. Stop thinking about the past. Anyway, no matter what you say, I won't leave now."

Tommy walked beside her. "So you resisted Anthony just for the sake of your children? You and I know that unless you kill Anthony, you won't be able to make much of a difference."

"I don't know, let's take one step at a time..." Anne looked at the towering skyscrapers, thinking about them as pillars of power that she was forced to comply with.
