Chapter 931

Anne just watched the triplets as they counted how much money they needed for four cups of drink with their short little fingers.

“Three dollars for one cup, six dollars for two cups...

fifteen dollars for five cups!” Charlie managed to count the amount of money needed.

Then Chloe took out the money from her cute little bag and counted the coins she had. She gave the exact amount of coins to the owner.

The owner took the money and counted it, and it was the right amount. He could not help being surprised by the high IQ of the young children.

However, he dared not take the money.

If some two-year-old children came to buy things from you without the presence of any parent, would you take their money?

Would the parents not get really mad when they came as they thought he deceived the children?

“Where... where are your parents? I can't collect the money without any adults,” the owner said.

“Did we not pay enough money?” Charlie asked.

“I have counted them already, fifteen dollars!” Chloe was not so happy about it.

However, the father did not seem friendly and approachable. He had a strong aura and a sense of oppression.

The slender figure makes the mother vulnerable, creating a completely contrasting beauty.

"Are they a family of five?"

"That's for sure! You see, the little boy's face is a mini version of his father, and the little girl's face is a mini version of his mother. It's clear at a glance!"

"God, how can they give birth to children that look so similar to themselves? I'm so envious..."

There were several girls in the shop, and they only dared to talk in a low voice.

Not only that, but after the family entered, the store, which was quite noisy before, became much quieter.

It was because anyone who saw the man would not dare to raise their voice.

Some people even left the shop after buying some desserts.

Those who were brave stayed in their seats and watched secretly. After all, it was a pretty sight.

After making their orders with the triplets, Anne could still feel that those people's eyes were still on them.

"Then how about we go shopping for clothes first and then play games?" Anne asked.

"Okay!" The triplets were happy.

"You don't need to do as they wish. They get to play quite often," Anthony said.

"It's different," Anne said.

"Yeah, it's different!"

"We want to play with Papa and Mama!"

After resting in the dessert shop for twenty minutes, they started to shop for clothes.

They went to a shop that sold luxury items for children.

They bought clothes for Chloe. Charlie and Chris got some clothes too.

Anne did not want to buy anything. There are too many clothes at home anyway.

They then went to the arcade.

“Mama? Where did Mama go?”

The bodyguard said, “Mr. Marwood took Mrs. Marwood somewhere else.”

“I knew it! I knew Papa took my Mama away! Bad Papa!!” Charlie stomped his feet in anger.

In the car, Anne looked at the beautiful street scene falling behind the car window. She asked, “Where are we going? Is it fine to leave the children there?” There was uncertainty in her tone.

“The bodyguards are there.” Anthony did not say where they were going.

Ten minutes later, the car stopped.

Anne got out of the car and saw a shop that sold watches in front of her.

She could not remember what brand it was, but she knew it was fancy.

There was a dazzling sense of luxury from the moment you entered.

The one who led them in seemed to be the owner, and the social status of the owner of such a high-end brand store should not be low. However, when he met the king of Luton, Anthony, arriving at his shop, he could only keep bowing.

If they are married, it should be normal for them to wear a wedding ring, right?

“Yes,” Anthony said concisely.

“Where’s yours?” Anne did not see any ring on Anthony’s finger.

Anthony gave her the men’s ring and said, “Put it on for me.”

Anne took the ring and placed it on Anthony’s ring finger.

Just like the watches, they were in a pair too.

Anne thought for a while and asked, “Do you want to change your watch?”

Anthony took off the watch on his wrist. He wanted Anne to help him with it.

Anne took out the men’s watch from the box and placed it on Anthony’s wrist.

Anthony held Anne’s right hand with his left hand and stared straight at Anne.

Anne was flustered, and she looked down at their hands.

Her hand looked so slender and weak in his palm. It was as if she would never be able to escape from him.

However, she was not disgusted and even felt a little happy in her heart.

She sensed the approach of Anthony’s black shadow, and she held her breath.

The thin lips pressed over and devoured her small mouth.

Anne grasped his black shirt with both of her small hands. Her mind was empty, and she lost her train of thought.

When she let go, she was weak and leaned against Anthony’s strong chest.

The powerful heartbeat shook her eardrums as if it was out of rhythm, just like hers.

After feeling a little soberer, she asked, “Will you never leave me for the rest of your life?”

“Yes,” Anthony said hoarsely.

There was no hesitation in his voice.

From the beginning to the end, he really had no intention of giving up on her. He wanted to keep her firmly by his side.

Anne put her arms around his neck and buried her face in his chest. “You will become a puppy if you lie.”

“Alright.”

She laughed after.

Anne went to the company in Anthony's car the next day.

After dropping her off at the office, Anthony left.

Anne did not remember anything she did at the company before, so Ken walked her through, including how she dealt with Mr. Walker of the sales department.

He also pulled up the reports from that time and showed them to her.

Anne thought that her former self must have been capable and decided to learn more.

She spent the whole morning learning about the company's operations and plans, especially the recent cooperation with the Lloyd Group.

As soon as Xander and Ken saw Anne, they noticed the decoration on her hands. It was clear what was going on.

It seemed that the person who would get the title of 'Mrs. Marwood' had been decided.

Xander rubbed the pen on his forehead twice and wondered if Mr. Marwood was taking advantage of Anne.

That was not Anne’s style.

She had always been pure and simple and did not like to wear jewelry on her body.

The ring was still on her ring finger. What was that supposed to mean?

“Let go!” Anne pulled back her hand forcefully. “Who are you? Why did you break into my office?”

Tommy noticed that she was wary of him and frowned. “You don’t know me?”

Anne was taken aback for a moment and then realized that this was someone she should know.

"That's not it! You want to run away from Anthony. Anthony was your nightmare, and you wanted to run away from him!" Tommy was almost yelling.

Anne was stunned by Tommy's suppressed anger. How could she believe anything Anthony said?

'What was he talking about? Was Anthony my nightmare? How was that possible?' she thought to herself.

In her flashing memories, she saw the beautiful scene of her and the children waiting for Anthony to come home. It did not look like a nightmare to her.

"Anne, do you believe..." The word 'me' in Tommy's mouth never made it out.

The closed office door was suddenly slammed open again. Anthony pushed it open with one hand and looked at the scene inside coldly, focusing on Tommy's intrusive presence.

Anne did not expect Anthony to come, but these two men did not seem very friendly. She thought they were cousins?

After getting into the Rolls Royce, the car drove out of the parking lot and onto the road.
"Are you bleeding?" Anne asked, worried as she looked at the blood on Anthony's back.
"It's not my blood," Anthony said, stretching the back of his hand without feeling any pain.
Anne found a towel in the compartment next to him and wiped the blood off the back of his hand.
After cleaning it, she realized that there was no wound. She looked up at him and saw that although Tommy had been badly beaten, Anthony was not hurt at all.
There were only bruises on his cheeks and the corners of his mouth.
"Does it hurt?" Anne gently touched his cheek with her fingers and asked.
Anthony looked at her with his dark eyes. "Do you have anything to ask me?"

Looking at Tommy going upstairs, Lilian thought he would be unhappy with her.
Apparently, that was not the case. He did not seem to oppose her actions completely.
Anyway, if Tommy could not do it, she could do it instead.
Anne finished her work in the company in the morning and went to the Archduke Group by car.
She took the elevator to the floor where Anthony was.
Getting out of the elevator, not far away stood Anthony and Bianca with their backs turned to her.
Then she saw Bianca fall into Anthony's arms.
