

Powerful 961

Chapter 961

Anne was nervous when she heard that.

The deceased was Bianca's mother, while Anne herself was the suspect. Would Bianca go easy on her?

She held Anthony's arm nervously, and tears rolled down her eyes. "Don't go, don't leave me alone here, I am scared..."

Anthony held her tiny hand. "Don't be scared. I will be right outside, and I will be right back."

"Don't go..." Anne shook her head.

"Not only will I not go away, but I must also bring you out of here today," Anthony said in a deep and heavy tone. Everyone in the interrogation room could hear him. He caressed Anne's pale face gently. "Just be good. I will be right back."

The words 'just be good' pierced right through Anne's heart like a curse.

Her hand on Anthony was taken away; her fingers wanted to get hold of his sleeves, but she found them stiff.

room, and then the door of hope was closed,

Would Anthony be back?

to see Bianca as soon as she so dispensable in want to see Anne! Where is she? I want to a scene. She then saw Anthony walking out and then went to him sadly. "Anthony, my mother is dead. Anne killed her.

"It was not her."

knew what had happened. "There were witnesses, and Anne's fingerprints were even found on the knife. Anthony, you cannot be so biased just because you married will update you regarding the situation," cannot believe it. I cannot believe that you would be so ruthless and so heartless toward she hopped into Anthony's arm

Time was ticking, and besides Marco's superior leaving the room, there at Anne, who was unnerved. He the evidence.

was he wanted to see what was going on outside, so he stood up

Chapter 962

Anne was shocked and held Anthony's hands firmly. "I don't want to stay here, Anthony. You have to believe me. I did not kill her, I did not..."

"I know."

"Then bring me home. I don't want to stay here, Anthony

"Just one night, I will arrange for it. Don't be scared, okay?"

Anne bit her lips, and her eyes were watery as her heart sank into a bottomless pit.

There was a knock on the door again. Marco and his people entered, and they urged, "Ms. Vallois, please follow us."

"No, I will not... Anthony, I don't want to..." Anne cried.

"Listen to me. Nothing will happen when you stay here."

Why did he always ask her to listen to him? So only if she listened, then would he want her?

Anne's wet lashes were trembling, and she did not say anything more. She stood up and followed Marco out of the room.

went out, Bianca saw her was deadly, and she wished Anne to be felt as though it was soaked in strong acid, and treat her this way? Just because Bianca showed up, said she

body jumped when saw a police officer standing not far away from the room. She did not even see a shadow that

Bianca, who had just lost her the bed. She was so terrified, and then she stood up really

some footsteps occasionally. Every time she did, she would immediately dash to the metal bars door, she was disappointed

she did not have hopes for it anymore. She sat a sense of security would side and looked at the clock on the wall outside the dared not fall asleep and though there would be monsters coming to hurt her she had gone through immense mental pressure fell

Chapter 963

There was no mercy at all.

The residential area was rather secluded. There was no surveillance camera, and they could not find another suspect.

Marco's years of experience told him that something did not add up. Nothing, in particular, was suspicious, but his gut feeling told him so.

Of course, he could not rely on his gut feelings to resolve the cases, but they had to have concrete evidence.

After all, he would continue to find out other suspicious points. Otherwise, Anne would be the accused as the murderer.

It was already two in the morning when he was back in the office. He did not prepare to go back to sleep.

His superior gave the order to get to the bottom of the case. Otherwise, they would all have to pack their bags and go home!

Marco did not expect that Anthony would back Anne.

This man would cause an economic catastrophe to the country if he just stomped his feet. Honestly, Marco felt stressed.

Then, Bianca came by.

on his computer, frowning, saw her when I provided my statement today, so I a seat.

her memory, she came to my place and wanted to stab me. She was stopped because Anthony appeared. Anthony will never testify because of jotted that

that she really lost her memory?"

"Why do you ask?"

her memory, the doctor said it is temporary. Perhaps a possibility for that too. However, he still said, "The lies to convict Anne. She is definitely there is no other go and

do you have to tell
not kill my
to the holding Anne was still asleep.
of the bed and thought that it
and not allowed
now, but what about

Chapter 964

“Don’t you be silly, he was only coaxing you. Not only will he not be here to bring you back tomorrow, but he also will not ever again.” Bianca did not mind telling her the harsh truth.

Anne was crushed and took a step back. “No... He will not “You killed my mother, and this pissed him off. How would he forgive you? Anthony loved me right from the start. He only married you because of the kids. What else can he do if you do not accept the reality?” Bianca said.

Beads of tears rolled down Anne’s eyes. She looked up from her blurred vision, and she could still see Bianca’s condescending face, clearly written with her consequence for being abandoned.

It hurt her deeply.

Bianca turned and looked at Marco and immediately looked gentle. “Inspector York, I have some personal matters to speak to her. Can you please...

“Be quick.” Marco walked out.

Bianca’s menacing eyes turned to the vulnerable Anne. You killed my mother. The evidence is concrete. It will definitely be a death sentence.”

Anne shook her head; she could not die, she could not die course, if I forgive you, you could be she knew well enough that Bianca was for a divorce with tears rolled

You could still come out of it eventually. It would be better than pondering about

want to die, but would it just be a

did not

that anymore. Who would believe you? I tell you, this is a rare opportunity . If you don't tell Anthony by tomorrow about this, then you could very well wait for your death sentence! I will tell you first now.

Anthony listens stood there, feeling anxious and to think about

was

few steps back fearfully. She laid her back closely on the wall and then squatted down, curling into a ball, as though her fear he would be there for

She should believe him.

should just persist

at the clock on

Chapter 965

'Where are you doing?'

"Dorothy's funeral," Anthony said and planted a kiss on Anne's lips.

When Anne looked up, Anthony was no longer to be found.

The metal door was closed, leaving her alone in the cell again.

Anne sat by the bed, soulless, her helpless tears streaming down.

It was just like what Bianca said, Anthony would not bring her away. He was even eager to attend Dorothy's funeral.

Even if she did not kill, he did not believe her either.

She was already very obedient. Why did he still treat her this way...

Just because he did not love her?

In the graveyard, Dorothy was buried with Bianca, Anthony, and their other friends were present.

their friends left. Bianca did not want to leave yet as please don't worry. The murderer was already his tone

Bianca turned and left.

“Anthony, can I hitch your ride? I don’t want to

The Rolls Loyce exited the graveyard handkerchief to wipe away her tears. She said, “When I knew that I was not biologically related to my dad, it had not felt like the walls crashing down on me. Now I don’t even have one single is only you,

...

turned and immediately felt jealous. She said, “I am so disappointed in Anne that she would do something like this! If I knew this would happen, I should have just let her stab me back then. Then her tears

it was her, she deserved and the evidence all led to her, and she even had a motive!” Bianca said. She was afraid that Anthony would you are unbiased, aren’t

“Yes.”

be satisfied when she obtained the

to see Anne

sent Bianca back to the mansion where she

Chapter 966

“She did not know about it does not mean that she had nothing to do with it.” Anthony’s eyes were dark.

The Rolls Loyce parked in front of the police station, and Anthony looked out of the window. He did not get out of the car for a long time and did not get the car to drive away either.

Ivan and the driver were quiet. They knew that he was debating with himself internally.

After all, it was not a good idea for him to show his care for Anne.

The real murderer would only show up when someone became the scapegoat.

“Let’s go.” Anthony’s voice was low.

The driver then drove away.

Anne was in the holding cell, but she was still free. She could still walk around, and there would be meals delivered to her.

Anne sat by the bed and looked at the food and drinks on her table.
That did not make her feel any better. If anything, that made her feel even more tormented.
again ever since he left in he would be there until dusk but not believe that she had trusted him to flow out again. She held them in, knowing see her!" Tommy was making had lost her memory and was feeling very flustered about it. He went out of the country, thinking that out of sight, out informed about Dorothy's murder when he was abroad. Even though they did not tell they were accusing Anne of being the
No one is allowed to Do you have evidence?" Tommy's cold face was full of and the deceased fell off the balcony of her residence. If it was Now,
about all
hope you do not make a scene here." have other means either.
to wondered, Anne ended up like this, but why was there
What was he doing?
his phone and called

Chapter 967

Tommy knew from a long time ago that Anthony liked Bianca, even if he was manipulating Anne.
However, did he not cancel his engagement with Bianca because of Anne?
"I feel guilty toward Bianca." Anthony held the teacup in his hand and took a sip, his dark eyes keeping his emotions tucked away. "I will pull my strings to make sure she is alive. She would, at most, be jailed for five years, and if she performed well, she would be released in a year or two. I will wait for her."

Tommy did not expect him to plan for this, and his expression went cold. "Do you really think she killed her? How would it be possible for Anne to kill someone?"

"She had threatened Bianca with a knife before. Did you know about that?" Anthony asked him.

Of course, Tommy did not know about it.

"If I did not show up that time, Bianca could have been killed by her. I had punished her before, but she repeated the offense! The witness and evidence are all leading up to her. There is no second possibility." Anthony's expression was cold.

"However, I think things are..." Tommy wanted to rebut but was interjected by Anthony.

"Don't say anything more. I have asked the police to look into this. You take care of yourself and don't mess things up," Anthony said, placed down his teacup, and then walked to the kids.

He kicked the ball.

triplets then ran to chase the flustered. He held his anger road, and he kept thinking that it kill someone? She lost her memory. Why would it was not her, then

the car to a halt

Tommy recalled someone, Lilian.

took out his phone and called Lilian, "Are you am home.

me the truth!" Tommy kept his voice hushed. Otherwise, he would be shouting me? Didn't they

be brave

neighbors around that area that Anne

"Did you go there?"

knew about it from the internet. I did not have any reason to kill Dorothy. It would be even less probable for me to frame Anne with this. Anthony is powerful, and it is Anthony is not intending to step

"Why?"

all,

Chapter 968

Was she nothing to Anthony compared to Bianca?

The man that she loved was loving another woman. This was even more agonizing than sending her to jail.

“Anne!”

When Anne was about to enter the car, someone called her.

She was stunned and turned around. She saw a car parked in the distance and saw a gentleman -looking man with glasses looking worried.

Apparently, Anne could not find any recollection of this man in her memory, and his expressions confused her.

Lucas came over but was stopped by the police.

“Anne, I will hire the best lawyer in Luton. Don’t you worry!” Lucas was almost shouting, he was afraid that she could not hear him, or perhaps he was trying to give her confidence and console her.

This was the first person that wanted to help her in the past few days of detention. She could not help but take a few more looks at this man.

She wondered, who was this...

much time to think about that either because the police officer next to her was urging one last look at Lucas and entered the detention center, she did not react much, as though she had lost her accurately, she environment inside looked more like a little one- bedroom, one bathroom, and one living room suite. It even had a small fridge and a television. It was rather

by the police all the way

sealed tightly,

her, but who was asleep, felt that she heard the door being shut. She opened her eyes in Lilian, who entered the room. She held her down as though she was she was skilled and had been able to make it into such when she realized that Lilian could enter her premises so quietly, she could not detention center and awaiting the death sentence. How do you feel?”

moment for Anne to be dead. However, she had killed my mom. It is too easy for her with just a death sentence!”

not capable of empathizing with really think she would be capable enough for mean?” Bianca was dumbfounded, then it dawned on her. “Was it... Was

Chapter 969

It was her lifetime wish to have Anne dead.

Only with Anne dead would Anthony return to her, then she would be Mrs. Marwood and live happily ever after.

After all, her mother was already dead, and she could not revive her. She might as well just... let Anne be the scapegoat.

Bianca tossed her phone and then looked at Lilian. She was still mad.

Lilian stood up and walked to her. “Now your biggest nemesis is gotten rid of. From now on, our relationship is even closer than ever.”

“Isn’t she your biggest nemesis as well?”

“Of course, she is,” Lilian said.

“Who is the love of your life?” Bianca asked.

She wondered who else did Anne seduce if she could bring that up in front of Anthony and make her look even more loathsome.

“There’s no need for you to know about this. Anyway...”

Lilian stop talking and look instincts were never wrong. Someone was approaching the house, and she looked you up? What are you talking was not a setup by Bianca, then it was Anthony who noticed went forward and dimmed

“What are you doing...”

speak. I am surrounded!” Lilian said in a hushed shocked.

was bugged, but her

and whispered

went outside of the mansion. Anthony was standing next to the car, with Marco next to the cops but there were also Anthony's the mansion from the front door, feeling their way said. He ordered someone to install wiretaps in Bianca's room and had already known when Lilian appeared,

if they noticed, they get hold of her. As for the hostage, do

Chapter 970

Marco noticed something was not right. His weathered experience brought his body to immediate reaction and knocked him right to his side. "Watch out, Mr. Marwood!"

Anthony was knocked over and fell backward. A few bullets swooshed past his ear and landed with a bang in the car that he was standing right next to.

Marco shouted into his mic immediately while running with his gun up. "It's the east! The west is the hostage! Chase her!"

The bodyguard approached. "Are you alright, Mr. Marwood?"

"If you can't get hold of her, you will be dead!" Anthony was ruthless.

"Yes, sir!"

Lilian used Bianca to distract most of the people, and then she tried to escape from another side.

She noticed Anthony by the car when she was hiding next to the window.

Anne was not really her target. In fact, she wanted Anthony's life.

Therefore, when she jumped out of the window, her gun was aimed at Anthony.

When she landed, she knew that her attempt was unsuccessful.

did not dare stay longer and immediately ran to the saw, then hid. No car could enter, she could only run on her two feet, and she really led his people

saw the shadow jumping down the shot

them, and they could not aim to follow suit

Lilian had arrived, and Marco entered the car outskirts, so there was no

now and then, it did not affect driving at the front while the cars behind

at the front

that desperately, and he only answered after a long while. "Tommy, Anthony's

Tommy, who was woken

"I... I killed Dorothy."

clean

did not

now? Figure your way out yourself." Tommy hung slammed her phone