

Predestined 1071

Chapter 1071

Alyssa was surprised that Clifford actually offered to have dinner with Wilfred?

She looked slightly awkward and glanced at Clifford again.

Clifford's eyes were drooping, his injuries were serious, and his chopsticks could not be held steady when picking up vegetables.

Wilfred instructed the maid behind him: "What are you doing, change the spoon."

The maid immediately took the spoon and wanted to take away the chopsticks in Clifford's hand.

Clifford seemed unwilling, and the maid used a bit of strength to remove the chopsticks in Clifford's hand.

Alyssa saw this scene clearly.

Clifford is a very proud person in his bones.

When dealing with Karl, he also showed great confidence.

What's more, in the face of the hateful Wilfred, he is even more unlikely to give up.

Right now, he not only offered to have dinner with Wilfred, but also asked Wilfred to change spoons for him.

This is completely throwing Clifford's face to the ground and stepping into the mud.

"I heard that you haven't eaten for several days, can you still hold the spoon?"

Don't!" Wilfred looked at Clifford with a look of concern: "Let me feed you?"

"No need."

Clifford finally said something.

The voice was so hoarse.

Wilfred just smiled.

Alyssa pretended not to hear, bowed her head to eat her own meal.

It's just the light from the corner of her eye, always looking at Clifford.

Her instinct told her that Clifford was weird.

Reminiscing about the movement behind the curtains in Clifford's room before, Alyssa guessed that Clifford probably wanted to do something to escape.

It didn't take long for a bodyguard to take his mobile phone in, and whispered something in Wilfred's ear.

Wilfred left the table with a gloomy expression.

Only Alyssa and Clifford were left on the table.

The two maids stood behind.

When Alyssa was picking up vegetables, Clifford also stretched out his spoon and bumped into Alyssa's chopsticks.

Alyssa paused and put her chopsticks back.

The spoon Clifford held was not good for scooping vegetables.

Alyssa frowned, picked up the chopsticks and put the vegetables into her bowl.

Clifford paused with the spoon in her hand, silently retracted it, and continued to eat.

Alyssa knew what Clifford was going to do, but didn't understand what he was going to do.

Suddenly, there was a "bang" from the other side.

Alyssa raised her head fiercely and saw the bowl and cup in front of Clifford fell to the ground.

The two maids looked bad and came over to clean up. At this moment, Alyssa saw Clifford's lips move and said two words silently.

Alyssa looked at his mouth and repeated: Help me.

Clifford nodded.

Clifford asked her to help?

What help?

The two maids were cleaning, and took their things and left.

Only Alyssa and Clifford were left in the restaurant.

There was a dining table between the two, and Clifford whispered: "I know you saw it. I need you to help me."

"Daisy?"

At this critical juncture, Alyssa couldn't think of anyone else who could still come to rescue Clifford.

Daisy is good at breaking through the encirclement and sneaking into Clifford's room without being discovered. She should be able to do it.

Besides, Daisy likes Clifford.

Women are emotional, even for women like Daisy.

She can give her life to save Clifford.

"It is her."

Clifford didn't even hesitate, so he confessed directly: "You help me hold Wilfred and the bodyguard at night."

"Why do you think I will help you?"

"you will."

Chapter 1072

As soon as Clifford's voice fell, the two cleaning servants returned.

Alyssa had to swallow back what she wanted to say.

Clifford returned to the way he was before, as if the words he and Alyssa had just said were just Alyssa's illusion.

The servant replaced Clifford with new tableware, and Wilfred also returned to the restaurant.

Alyssa and Clifford had no chance to speak again.

Until returning to the room, Alyssa was still thinking about what Clifford had said before.

The maid closed the door and retired.

Alyssa opened the bathroom door in a wheelchair and went in.

As a result, the whole person was stunned as soon as she entered.

The bathroom is not very big, so you can see everything inside at a glance.

Daisy was facing the corner of the bathroom door, and seemed to be here to wait for Alyssa to come in.

And, she has been waiting for a long time.

Alyssa probably knew the purpose of Daisy's approach to her.

Otherwise, she could hide directly behind the door and attack her when Alyssa pushed the door in.

Alyssa and Daisy looked at each other before closing the door with backhands.

Daisy was still the same, with a firm expression and a cold face, always ready to go.

Alyssa and Daisy looked at each other, and understood in her heart that she probably couldn't wait until Daisy took the initiative to speak.

So Alyssa took the initiative to say, "Clifford asked you to come?"

"Yes."

Daisy nodded, her expression changed slightly: "Did he tell you?"

Alyssa hugged her arms and looked at Daisy in time: "Did you sneak into my room while we were eating?"

Daisy nodded again.

After a pause, Daisy said aloud, "Sir said, you will definitely agree to help him."

"He has beautiful thoughts."

Alyssa lifted her chin slightly, noncommittal.

Daisy's expression was a bit anxious: "Alyssa, if I have done something that makes you unhappy, please come to me, sir, although he has his own ideas in doing things, but he has never thought about hurting you."

The last words Daisy said, Clifford also said before.

Clifford said that he never thought of hurting Alyssa.

In fact, why doesn't Alyssa understand it?

If Clifford had no compassion for her, she would have died eight hundred times a long time ago, and would never have a chance to live until now.

Alyssa smiled and looked at Daisy thoughtfully: "Clifford still doesn't know if you like him?"

Daisy's complexion changed slightly, and she shook her head stiffly.

If Alyssa asked such questions in normal times, she would be ignored.

But today, Daisy asked Alyssa and answered honestly: "Mister is just a gentleman, there is no possibility between us."

"What if?"

Alyssa said this deliberately.

A smart person like Clifford would definitely be able to detect what Daisy thought of him.

It's just that Daisy hides this feeling and is loyal to Clifford, so Clifford will not pierce the window paper.

Alyssa was a little curious, what would Clifford do if Daisy pierced this layer of window paper.

Is it to hold Daisy and continue to let Daisy use her, or simply refuse Daisy?

Thinking about it this way, she really wants to know more and more.

Hearing this, Daisy's eyes flashed, as if a little agitated, then she couldn't believe it, and finally returned to silence.

She said in a low voice: "Nothing in case."

Alyssa's sudden interest gradually faded. She understood the feeling of loving someone.

But she has never had this feeling of loving someone who is impossible to be together with you, but she can still imagine it.

Chapter 1073

Alyssa was a little soft-hearted and couldn't bear to be a woman trapped by love.

Why should women embarrass women?

Although Daisy worked for Clifford, to Alyssa, it was just a woman who was trapped by love.

Alyssa turned around and asked Daisy: "When do you plan to take Clifford away?"

Speaking of business affairs, Daisy looked straight, raised her wrist and looked at the time, and said, "At nine o'clock, there are twenty minutes left. Then you will make a movement in the room and draw them over and hold them back. I will take advantage of it. Take him away this time."

"OK."

Alyssa responded directly.

After Alyssa finished speaking, she looked straight at Daisy, who also looked at her.

She raised her eyebrows and said, "Are you still going?"

"The patrol outside is very tight, I will leave when the time is up."

Daisy stood in the corner and didn't move.

Hearing this, Alyssa didn't bother to talk to her anymore.

She turned the wheel of the wheelchair by herself, slid to the sink, and began to wash.

Daisy stood in the corner looking at Alyssa.

She also grew up under Wilfred's hands. She experienced inhuman training since she was a child and stood out among many little girls. Later, Wilfred assigned her to Clifford.

Over the years, she has done a lot for Clifford.

Do everything that can be seen or not.

She has seen many people.

Men and women of all ages, exquisite and beautiful are countless.

But it is rare to see a woman like Alyssa.

The face is bright and beautiful, looking weak and fragile, but inside is extremely tough.

It seems that it cannot be defeated no matter what.

Her heart is far more tenacious than outside.

Alyssa knew that Daisy had been watching her.

She looked unpredictable and didn't know what she was thinking.

Alyssa was not interested and would not ask, and Daisy would not necessarily say if she asked.

She and Daisy did not have much intersection before, and may not have much intersection in the future.

Alyssa thought for a while, this statement was wrong.

After Clifford rises from this hell, it is very likely that he will still fight against Karl. At that time, Daisy will definitely still be fighting for Clifford.

Alyssa raised her eyes to look in the mirror.

In the mirror, Daisy stood in the corner behind her, not moving, raising her wrist to see the time.

Time should be coming soon, her expression is a bit solemn.

“Daisy.”

Alyssa called her out.

Hearing this, Daisy raised her eyes and looked towards Alyssa.

Alyssa looked at her in the mirror: “I have a request.”

Daisy’s expression was a little surprised, but she still didn’t say a word, waiting for Alyssa to finish the following words.

“In the future, Clifford and Karl will confront each other. When you do things for him, no matter what the circumstances, no matter what the time, you can’t hurt my daughter.”

Alyssa’s eyes were firm, with a hint of sharpness.

Alyssa didn’t even use the word “if”. She was quite sure that as long as Clifford lived for one day, there would definitely be a confrontation with Karl.

Clifford has become like this. Although there is something about Wilfred’s crimes, Clifford is already like this, and it is very difficult to change.

He couldn’t let go of the hurdle in his heart.

Daisy pondered for a moment, then replied, “Okay.”

Alyssa smiled slightly.

Daisy raised her foot to walk outside.

“and something more.”

She was stopped by Alyssa again, and Daisy was already impatient in her expression.

When she turned her head, she saw that Alyssa had already turned her head to look at her.

Alyssa’s eyes fell on her waist: “I want that.”

Daisy subconsciously reached out and touched the dagger pinned in her clothes on her waist.

Chapter 1074

Daisy looked at Alyssa suspiciously.

She usually does missions from time to time, and naturally has weapons on her body.

After thinking about it, Alyssa could guess.

Without saying a word, Daisy directly took out the dagger pinned to her waist and handed it to Alyssa.

Alyssa took it, lifted her chin, and signaled her to take off the watch as well: "Give me this too."

The corners of Daisy's lips pressed into a straight line, and she took off the watch without expression and gave Alyssa.

Alyssa took the watch, curled her lips and smiled, "Give me the phone too."

Daisy looked at Alyssa incredulously: "Youâ€¦!" Alyssa simply stretched out her hand to Daisy, and curled up her fingers hurriedly: "Get it now, or the time is coming, you have to save it. What about Clifford."

Daisy gritted her teeth and took out the phone, putting it heavily on Alyssa's hand.

Alyssa immediately tightened her hand, as if she was afraid that she would regret it, and held the phone in her hand: "Okay, don't be angry, I know you must be more than this phone, a mature woman like you, Surely everything is well prepared, right?"

Daisy opened her mouth and didn't know what to say for a while.

As Alyssa said, she did prepare more than two hands.

Several sets of weapons and communication tools are prepared, large and small, with different functions. Anyway, there is always a back hand.

Butâ€¦! Alyssa was too much.

It is reasonable to want this and that.

"Don't be angry, I don't want anything else, go quickly."

Alyssa patted Daisy's arm comfortingly.

Daisy was searched for three things by Alyssa, and she shrank her arms unsullenly to prevent Alyssa from touching: "There is nothing more for you."

Alyssa leaned on the back of the chair and said happily, "Thank you."

Daisy: "â€¦!" She took a deep breath: "I'm leaving.

After a pause, she added: "Be careful yourself."

After she finished speaking, she left the bathroom.

As soon as Daisy left, the smile on Alyssa's face disappeared for a second. She looked down at her mobile phone and wondered where to hide it.

Looking around in the bathroom, Alyssa hid the phone in the paper box next to the toilet.

This location is inconspicuous and should not be so easy to spot.

After hiding the phone, Alyssa came out of the bathroom and looked around.

There was no one, and Daisy was gone.

She also didn't hear the sound of Daisy opening the door and going out.

The window was open.

Alyssa sat in a wheelchair and took a look at the window. There was only a deep night outside. Under the dim street light, a few bodyguards on patrol happened to pass by.

Alyssa put the dagger under the pillow.

After thinking about it, she feels that this place is too easy to be found and not safe.

After changing several places, Alyssa hid the dagger on her body.

The dagger is very small, but one inch long, very small, and easy to hide.

The watch is more convenient, just hide it in the wheelchair.

There isn't even a clock in this villa, Alyssa doesn't even know what month and what day, this watch is very useful to her.

After doing this, she picked up the lamp from the bedside and looked down at the window.

When the bodyguard on patrol came over, she kept the lamp on.

What Alyssa didn't expect was that the lamp would really hit people after dropping it.

But the floor here is not high, only the third floor, and she can't kill anyone.

These bodyguards are stronger than the other, and they are not so easy to die.

A bodyguard looked up and shouted: "Who is it!"

Alyssa took another table lamp in her hand, and threw it down at the bodyguard who said she would let it go.

Chapter 1075

"You-Mom is crazy!"

"Damn, almost hit me!" "Are you okay?"

"!" There was a curse from below.

Alyssa continued to look for something to throw away in the room.

While throwing things down, she pretended to be crazy and laughed.

Soon, there was a string of footsteps outside the corridor.

Many people came in a hurry.

This trick seems quite useful.

Alyssa didn't hear it, and continued to move around the room looking for things to throw down through the window.

There are always one or two unlucky ghosts who are hit by her on patrols.

No one dared to patrol at this moment, but they were all standing not far from her window, staring at her window.

When Wilfred opened the door and came in with someone, Alyssa was dragging the cotton down the window.

Seeing people coming in, she didn't seem to have seen them, muttering in her mouth, and couldn't hear what she was saying.

After muttering for a while, she burst into laughter again.

Almost half of the things in the room were thrown out by Alyssa, and the room was messy.

Wilfred's eyebrows frowned into a knot, and he turned his head and yelled at the maid's and the bodyguard who followed him: "What are you doing?"

Not yet over!"

In fact, the maids and bodyguards behind him are all waiting for Wilfred's orders.

When Wilfred lost his temper, he immediately rushed forward.

Alyssa was still a patient, and the maids here were all skilled, and Alyssa was restrained in a few strokes.

But Alyssa is now a "lunatic" and has to act more realistically.

After all, she also writes scripts, which is not difficult for her.

Although Alyssa was restrained by the maid, she still struggled, tilting her head to bite the hand of the maid on her shoulder, and the strands of hair were mixed in her mouth.

Biting in the mouth, struggling with the hands.

"Don't hurt her."

Wilfred's complexion was extremely ugly, but he still cared about Alyssa's safety.

Even if she is crazy, it is still his experiment.

His experiment is not over yet, Alyssa is still very useful.

Therefore, when Alyssa is still working, he must not let her make a mistake.

Alyssa couldn't move no matter how hard she struggled, so she burst into tears.

While crying, she called Wilfred: "Dad, save me!"

The servants and bodyguards who held her down looked at each other.

Wilfred's expression also became weird.

Alyssa cried more and more vigorously, crying like a child.

One of the maids couldn't help but yelled: "Mr. Mann!" Wilfred frowned, stared at Alyssa suspiciously for a moment, then raised his foot and walked towards her.

Seeing him approaching, Alyssa's cries gradually ceased, like a child who had been so wronged and finally saw his relatives, her mouth narrowed: "Dad!" Wilfred squinted slightly and waved his hand to signal those who were pressing her to let go of her.

As soon as the maid and the bodyguard let go, Alyssa turned her wheelchair and threw herself on Wilfred.

Wilfred was very alert. When Alyssa slid past, he stepped back slightly, leaning over and reaching out to hold Alyssa's shoulders.

Seeing this, Alyssa slumped and started crying again.

Wilfred is always on top, and there are countless sons and daughters under his hand. How can he see Alyssa crying without any image?

Had it not been for Alyssa's use, he had already let people throw her out.

He froze for a while, and was about to put his hand back, but Alyssa grabbed his sleeve first and dragged him to wipe her nose.

Chapter 1076

A crack appeared on Wilfred's calm face all the year round: "You! you let me go!"

Wilfred's voice changed, and the forbearance on his face burst.

Although she didn't see much of what he did, he himself was a very sophisticated person.

From clothing, food, shelter, to behavior, Wilfred is full of the temperament that a gentleman should have.

Alyssa pulled his sleeve and wiped her nose, which directly caused his mentality to collapse.

He had never met Alyssa.

"Dad, don't you like Alyssa?"

Alyssa was secretly surprised, but she couldn't let go of pretending to be crazy and stupid.

Wilfred should have a cleanliness addiction, right?

Otherwise, it is impossible to lose sight of the disguise, and the mentality will collapse.

Wilfred pressed his lips tightly, his arms were already on the verge of breaking out.

Alyssa blinked, a look of aggrieved expression in her innocent eyes, she timidly loosened Wilfred's sleeve, and she shrank into the wheelchair, looking pitiful.

She was originally giving a weak look, with such a look, even more innocent.

The bodyguards and maids beside, all looked at her with pity.

But Wilfred was not an ordinary person. He took off his jacket and threw it on the ground with a look of disgust, gave Alyssa a cold glance, and walked outside.

He walked two steps out and heard the sound of a wheelchair behind him.

Wilfred turned his head back and saw Alyssa sitting in a wheelchair, not far behind him, looking at him bafflingly.

For a moment, Wilfred really had the illusion that he was her father.

As for whether it is true madness or fake madness, Wilfred has some ways to test it out.

It's just a matter of urgency, he has to go back to the room to take a shower and change clothes.

When he thought of the scene where Alyssa used his sleeve to wipe her nose, he felt that his scalp was numb, sticky and nauseous.

There was wind under Wilfred's feet, and he walked to his room in two to three steps.

His room is on the fourth floor and he needs to take the elevator.

After entering the elevator, seeing Alyssa coming over, he frantically pressed the button to close the elevator door.

When Alyssa came over, the elevator door was already closed.

Wilfred sighed in relief while sitting in the slowly rising elevator.

Alyssa watched the elevator reach the fourth floor and reached out and pressed the upward key.

A full set is required for the play.

She is now a madwoman who is confused about her father, and of course she has to chase "Dad".

The elevator came down quickly, and Alyssa entered the elevator.

When she reached the fourth floor, the elevator door opened, and Alyssa was taken aback while looking at the situation outside.

Faced with a group of bodyguards who were tightly blocked, Alyssa Heating yelled, "I'm looking for Dad!"

These bodyguards were the people patrolling in the yard downstairs. They didn't know what was going on there, they just received Wilfred's instructions to block her here.

The fourth floor was Wilfred's site, and Wilfred lived alone.

Alyssa yelled to find "Dad" and naturally knew that the "Dad" she was talking about was Wilfred.

But isn't Wilfred with only one son?

When did he have another daughter?

"I'm looking for Dad!" Alyssa raised her head and began to cry.

The bodyguards outside looked at each other and began to talk.

"This!" "What's the matter?"

Crazy?"

"She is crazy, otherwise she won't throw things away, and she still calls Mr. Mann Dad."

"Looks pretty, it's a pity!" "What's the point if your brain is not good enough?"

"Hahahaha, so to speak!"

Chapter 1077

These bodyguards said something inconsistent, but they didn't dare to really treat Alyssa.

After all, Wilfred still values Alyssa very much, and Alyssa is also very useful to Wilfred.

She was blocked by the group of bodyguards in the elevator for a while, and then a maid came up and forced Alyssa away.

Alyssa, who was taken back to the room, naturally made a lot of noise.

Finally tired from the noise, Alyssa fell asleep.

Compared with ordinary people, her body is still much worse.

After such a riot, she was already tired.

She didn't know if Clifford and Daisy had escaped, nor did she know when Wilfred finished the bath.

When she woke up, it was already the next morning.

Alyssa took out the mobile phone she had asked for from Daisy and pressed a mobile phone number that she knew well.

When the number was dialed, Alyssa felt a little nervous.

Don't know if it can get through.

Even if she got through the phone, Karl might not answer it.

Because Karl's private number is set to not accept calls from unfamiliar numbers.

The warmth of Alyssa is like a year.

Suddenly, there was a beep on the phone.

Alyssa looked at the phone in disbelief.

Was it connected?

Her heart fell back to where she was, and Karl probably thought that she might call back, so he reset it purposely, right?

Karl was always like this, he was very careful in matters related to her.

The phone rang a few times before being connected.

Alyssa was so nervous that she held her breath, listening intently to Karl's movement.

Karl did not speak immediately, there was silence on both sides.

Alyssa, who held her breath, could even hear Karl's slight breathing.

Both were silent for a while, and Alyssa heard a familiar voice from the phone: "Alyssa."

Karl's voice was a little muffled, his tone was the same as usual, but he listened carefully and was cautious.

He is worried, isn't she making this call?

Alyssa involuntarily squeezed the phone and said, "It's me."

"Alyssa."

Karl called her name shortly again, as if to be sure of something.

Alyssa was about to speak when she heard a slight movement outside.

She was worried that people from outside would come in, so she could only make a long story short: "Listen to me, don't know where I am. Wilfred needs me very much now. Even if you don't help him, he won't hurt me.

You don't need to worry about me, I'm fine now. Just do whatever you want. Daisy comes to rescue Clifford. I helped them. They must have already gone out!" When she said this, Alyssa heard the door. There was a movement, and she whispered to the phone: "Someone is here, I will contact you when I have time. "

She hung up the phone, hid the phone, and lay on the bed staring blankly at the ceiling.

Yesterday, pretending to be crazy and stupid, she got through with Wilfred, probably because it happened suddenly and Wilfred didn't think so much.

After one night, Wilfred had calmed down, maybe he could see that she was acting.

Alyssa had no bottom in her heart, so she could only continue to pretend.

Hearing someone turning the doorknob outside the door, Alyssa closed her eyes and pretended that she was still sleeping.

She pulled the quilt up, covering the lower half of her face, listening to the movement outside.

Alyssa guessed that it should be the maid who usually takes care of her.

Because the person walked to her bed, looked for a while and went out again, and whispered to the person outside: "Still sleeping."

Chapter 1078

The people outside the door did not make a sound, and then the door was closed again.

But soon someone came again.

Many people came this time.

They walked directly in.

Because there are many people, it seems to be very dynamic.

Naturally, Alyssa could no longer pretend to sleep anymore, as a person with normal hearing would definitely be awakened.

Alyssa rubbed her eyes sleepily, and then opened her eyes to see the situation in the room.

What came in was a group of people in white coats.

Everyone wears a mask, can't see their face, and their exposed eyes have no emotions, and they all look very cold.

Alyssa's heart shuddered, is he going to do an experiment again?

That's right, she must be arrested for research as she pretended to be crazy yesterday.

But she has to continue to pretend to be crazy.

"Who are you?"

"Where is my father?"

After Alyssa said these two sentences, she began to cry again.

Howling and crying like a child.

The person in the white coat was unmoved, and directly pushed a stretcher cart to the bed, and the two men raised Alyssa's arms and legs respectively, and lifted her onto the stretcher cart.

Despite Alyssa crying and making noises like a madwoman, none of these people spoke, and no one took care of her.

When Alyssa saw this, the noise was even worse.

Then, she felt a pain in her stamina, and slowly lost consciousness.

She tilted her head and looked back, just in time to see a person throwing away the anesthesia needle blankly.

The last time she was taken out for an experiment, she didn't feel at all. She must have been anesthetized while she was sleeping.

After that, Alyssa was totally unconscious.

As for what happened after she lost consciousness, she has no impression at all.

When she woke up again, it was in the laboratory.

She opened her eyes and heard Wilfred's gloomy voice.

"Woke up?"

Alyssa was a little surprised, Wilfred was by her bedside?

She tilted her head and saw Wilfred sitting on the chair beside the bed with no expression on his face.

His expression was terrible, indicating that he was in a bad mood at the moment.

Wilfred is not an emotional person, he will show this expression, something must have happened.

Maybe Clifford really escaped, or maybe Karl did something.

Anyway, something must be out of his control to make him so angry.

He looked at Alyssa, and Alyssa also looked at him with fearless eyes.

Wilfred said gloomily, "You don't call me Dad?"

Alyssa opened her eyes wide, and looked at him very seriously. She had a pair of cat eyes originally, and when they were wide open, she seemed even more innocent.

She slowly said, "I don't have an ugly father like you."

Wilfred suddenly laughed loudly when he heard the words, his expression a bit hideous.

"Father?"

Wilfred stared at Alyssa sternly: "You pretended to be crazy and behaved to help Clifford escape. I underestimated you, underestimated you, and underestimated thing about Clifford!"

He gritted his teeth, as if wishing to eat Clifford's meat and drink his blood.

"He is the most powerful tool in my hand and the most advantageous weapon. I made him! But he betrayed me!"

Wilfred's chest shook violently, no longer concealing his emotions under the hypocritical face.

He took a long breath, tried his best to calm his emotions, and said quietly: "And now, he has teamed up with my experimental body and escaped under my nose."

Chapter 1079

Seeing Wilfred like this, Alyssa knew that she had no need to pretend to be crazy and be stupid.

The issue is still old and hot, she can't fool Wilfred.

Wilfred was shocked by Alyssa because of a sudden incident, so Alyssa flickered him over.

Now that Clifford had successfully escaped, Wilfred was connected before and after, and naturally understood what was going on.

Wilfred was too cunning and shrewd to fool him.

Alyssa felt that her little tricks were actually not enough for Wilfred.

Alyssa simply stopped pretending and looked at him blankly.

Wilfred looked at her face, but suddenly said, "What is the look in your eyes?

Are you pitying me?"

Alyssa twitched at the corner of her mouth, too lazy to pay attention to Wilfred.

Who pities him?

Wilfred's brain is abnormal and he doesn't know what he has been thinking all day.

Alyssa glanced at Wilfred, then turned her head.

"Do you think that you can get rid of me and defeat me?"

Wilfred sneered, eyes filled with shocking darkness.

Alyssa's heart sinks slightly, what is Wilfred doing?

Fortunately, Wilfred went out soon.

Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief.

She had called Karl before and told him that Clifford had escaped.

Karl acted cautiously, he probably already knew that Clifford had escaped.

He is very likely to find Clifford to understand the situation here.

What Alyssa could think of, Wilfred could certainly think of too.

Therefore, Wilfred would never sit back and wait for Karl to come.

Wilfred will definitely take action.

But while he took action, Karl couldn't do anything, and Karl would definitely take action.

Two extremely smart people competed, it is hard to guess who is the final winner.

The only thing to be thankful for is that Alyssa is still safe now. She is still useful to Wilfred and will not be life-threatening.

â€ In the next few days, there were more people in the laboratory.

Alyssa was given a lot of medicine by them.

Alyssa was confused, and didn't know what medicine they used for her, especially when she was awake.

Almost every time she woke up, someone in a white coat and a mask was staring at her by the bed.

Sometimes they will discuss.

The atmosphere is serious and tense.

Alyssa was in low spirits, and it was difficult to stay awake at all.

In the future, she couldn't even open her eyes, but she was slightly conscious.

don't know how long it has been. When Alyssa woke up completely, she felt that the place she was in was shaking.

After opening her eyes, she found herself on the pushchair again.

She subconsciously remembered to get up, only when she moved she realized that she couldn't get it at all.

In recent days, she has been locked up in the laboratory. They used a lot of drugs on her body, relying on nutrients to maintain her life, and she managed to maintain a little body before but was mostly destroyed.

Alyssa lay weakly on the pushchair, eyes open and stared at the person pushing the pushchair at the end of the bed.

It seems that he is also from Wilfred's laboratory, wearing a white trigram, wearing a mask, with his eyes down, expressionless.

"Where are you taking me?"

Alyssa opened her mouth to speak, only to realize that her voice was terribly hoarse.

It is full of strong sand, rough and dumb.

The man ignored her at all.

Dingâ€”â€”The sound of the elevator sounded, and Alyssa was pushed into the elevator.

Chapter 1080

Alyssa lay on the pushchair, leaning her head backwards, and saw the constantly changing numbers on the elevator wall.

As the floors continue to rise, the numbers continue to change and increase.

Alyssa lay on her back, looking a little hard.

She stared for a moment before realizing that the floor they were going to was the top floor of this building.

With a trance, the elevator has reached the top floor.

Alyssa was pushed out of the elevator again.

They pushed her towards the stairs.

This is already the top floor. Without the elevator, you can go up to the rooftop.

A bad premonition grew in Alyssa's heart: "What are you going to do?"

Where are you taking me?"

The two people who pushed her up released the cart, holding Alyssa's two arms to the left and the right, dragging her up from the cart chair, holding her and walking up the stairs.

They want to take her to the rooftop.

Alyssa struggled: "What are you going to do, let me go!"

For nothing, what do you take her to the rooftop?

She had seen it in the elevator just now. This building is not too high, only on the eighth floor.

Although it was only on the eighth floor, he would still be killed if she fell.

Alyssa didn't think they just took her to the rooftop to see the scenery.

The two people firmly clamped Alyssa, one left and the other were like iron tongs, and Alyssa's struggle was just futile.

Alyssa was still taken to the rooftop by them.

As soon as they exited the security door, she was dazzled by the shining sunlight.

She has stayed indoors almost all this time without seeing the sun.

The weather today is exceptionally good and the sun is shining.

When she saw the sun, at first sight, Alyssa only felt that her eyes were stabbed in pain. She closed her eyes subconsciously and stretched out her hand to block her eyes.

"Mr. Mann."

The sound in her ears made Alyssa open her eyes suddenly.

When she was brought up just now, she was dazzled by the sun as soon as she came out, and she was a little confused when she saw things. After a while, she discovered that there were many people on the rooftop.

The one sitting at the front of the crowd was Wilfred.

Perceiving Alyssa's gaze, Wilfred also looked at Alyssa.

"Miss Alyssa."

When Wilfred spoke, he smiled, as if there was something particularly happy.

Alyssa looked at Wilfred with a vigilant face and did not speak.

Wilfred didn't care about Alyssa's attitude. He still smiled, and gently ordered his subordinates: "Prepare a chair for Miss Alyssa. She is the protagonist today. Don't let her get tired."

Although he was giving orders, his eyes fell on Alyssa's body without blinking.

Soon, his men pushed the wheelchair over and put them behind Alyssa. The two who supported Alyssa immediately let go and pushed her onto the wheelchair, pushing her to Wilfred's side.

Alyssa was like a string puppet, let them arrange, and the whole process was quiet and silent.

Wilfred seems to be in a particularly good mood, and he chats with Alyssa very leisurely: "You haven't been in the sun for a long time, right?"

how do you feel?

Is it very warm?"

Alyssa glanced at him: "Yes."

Hearing her answer, Wilfred raised his eyes, and changed his posture to look at her: "You don't ask me what I am trying to bring you up here for?"

Alyssa still had that expression, calm and stable.

Wilfred stared at her and said, "Aren't you curious?"

"Love to talk or not."

Alyssa closed her eyes and leaned back in her chair.