Chapter 1181

Alyssa understood Karl's thoughts and felt that he was right.

Based on Karl's physical considerations, Alyssa still did not agree to let him return to work.

However, she still made a concession: "Go to the company once a week, and there is an emergency document that can be sent to the house by Smith."

Karl didn't raise any objection to this, and he was very obedient: "I will do as you say."

The more he was so obedient, Alyssa felt a little uncomfortable in her heart, making her seem more overbearing, neither let him do this nor let him do that.

Smith came home the next day to deliver documents.

He called Karl before he came, and only took four documents back with a sense of measure.

Alyssa noticed that when Karl saw only four documents, he raised his eyebrows slightly, which was a sign of dissatisfaction.

Alyssa went out and ordered the servants to make tea. When she turned to the door, she just heard Karl ask Smith: "Is there any news about Trevor?"

She paused at the door, then opened the door and walked in.

Seeing her come in, the expressions of Karl and Smith did not change.

There is no need to avoid Alyssa in this matter.

There was a slight pause at Smith's side: "Not yet."

The main reason is that this matter was ordered by the people below to investigate. Recently, he was also busy with Adams' affairs and couldn't get away. So I am not sure if Trevor hid it too well, or the people below didn't try to find it.

"That's it!" Karl leaned on the back of the chair, and gently tapped the desk with his fingers on the desk thoughtfully.

Alyssa listened quietly, thinking of something, "We can go to the mental hospital tomorrow to see your aunt."

Hearing this, Karl looked at her and quickly understood what she meant, showing a clear smile, teasing her: "So smart, are you considering coming to Adams as CEO?"

Alyssa chuckled, and then pretended to be serious: "Don't forget that Adams' big boss is me now. You are just a man who eats soft food now, and I am your sponsor. Your priority now is to please me, obediently."

Smith took two steps back silently.

He just came to deliver a document.

Karl noticed Smith's small movements, and said, "There is nothing else, you can go back. Thanks for your hard work."

Smith just showed a very shallow smile: "Then I will go first."

"Don't mind our talk." Alyssa felt a little embarrassed. In front of Smith, what did she and Karl say?

When Smith went out, as soon as the door was closed, Karl continued the previous topic, looking at Alyssa with a smile but a meaningful smile: "I don't worry, Lord, I will definitely make you satisfied."

Alyssa thought that this was all over, but he said this again.

Alyssa gave him an angry look.

The mental hospital where Lina lived was in the posh area, but it was not very far from where Alyssa and Karl lived, less than an hour's drive away.

When getting out of the car, Alyssa looked around for a while: "The environment is pretty good."

Karl stood beside her without answering the conversation.

At this time, the dean came out of the hospital with someone, and screamed, "Mr. Adams."

Then turned to look at Alyssa who was aside: "This is?"

Karl explained with patience, "My wife."

"Mrs. Adams." A hint of surprise flashed across the dean's face. When Karl was about to marry Miana, the scandal of Miana was exposed at the wedding. The wedding was naturally canceled, but he never heard of Karl later. Has he married again?

Chapter 1182

"Mr. Dean." Alyssa nodded slightly towards the Dean.

After that, she went to the hospital with Karl.

As for the dean's doubts, no one will explain to him.

Along the way, Alyssa found that the hospital's various environmental facilities were very good.

Lina followed them back from Westberg. Although she was in a nursing home in Rostenvel City before, it was not this one.

"This is the ward." The doctor led them to a ward.

When the ward door opened, Alyssa saw Lina sitting in a wheelchair blankly.

There was no response from Lina when they came in.

Alyssa glanced inside, then turned to the dean and said, "We're fine Mr. dean."

The meaning is obvious, the dean can go.

The dean didn't stay here, and left soon.

The two of them walked in, Alyssa closed the door and took out the phone. She turned on the camera of the phone and said to Karl, "Go over."

When Karl walked to Lina's side, Alyssa held up the phone, and after Karl and Lina were both on the screen, she took a few pictures in a row.

Karl walked up to Lina. Lina didn't react at all. He raised his hand expressionlessly and pushed Lina out of the wheelchair.

Seeing this, Alyssa asked, "Do you want to go out?"

Karl raised his eyes to look at her: "It's more logical to take pictures outdoors."

Alyssa thought for a moment: "Yes."

The reason she came to see Lina with Karl was to take two photos to make news.

As a nephew, Karl had nothing wrong with seeing his aunt, but Trevor would never think the same way. He might think that Karl wanted to attack Lina.

Trevor was utterly conscientious, but he still felt hard to let go of Lina.

Therefore, once Trevor saw this news, he would definitely be tempted to see Lina or show his feet, and then he could find Luther.

Although Luther is the son of Lina and others, Trevor should think that Lina's face won't hurt his life, but he may suffer some physical pain.

Karl pushed Lina outside, and Alyssa took a few photos from a sneak shot angle. Although it was from a sneak shot angle, the faces were very clear.

Sending Lina back to the ward, and Karl left with Alyssa.

In the car going back, Alyssa flipped through the photos and asked hesitantly: "Is it okay to take a face-up?"

Karl glanced at the photo on her mobile phone and was very satisfied: "This is more credible, isn't it?"

Alyssa nodded, feeling reasonable.

"Which media outlet did you send the photos to?"

"Send it to Peter. He knows how to do it. AdamPic Media has an entertainment newspaper."

Alyssa sent the photo to Peter on WeChat, and then explained to him the purpose of the photo, which was to create news to attract Trevor.

Karl turned his head to watch her send a message, thinking of something, he also took out his mobile phone and sent a message to Peter: "The relationship between Lina and Gerald also needs to be noted in the report."

Peter replied in seconds: "What do you mean? Are you trying to copy the old bottom of Adams' family?"

Karl replied: "Just mention it first."

If Trevor doesn't come out, just continue to the back.

He always cared about Luther's mood in the past, so he didn't let the scandals of the Adams' family leak a trace of the wind, and Trevor knew this, so he was always confident.

Chapter 1183

The next day, a piece of news about "Karl visiting a mentally ill aunt" made headlines.

Following gossip has always been a national activity, especially a controversial figure like Karl who came from a top wealthy family, and it can arouse everyone's curiosity.

Not only that, but there are several trending searches related to Karl:

"Karl, Gerald."

"Lina, Karl."

"Gerald."

"â€¦â€¦"

During breakfast, Alyssa and Karl, who had read trending searches and news, mentioned this matter.

"Isn't it enough to take a few photos in the same frame as your aunt? Why do you still write about Gerald's peace?"

Even after so long, when the name is mentioned again, Alyssa's heart still has a lingering fear.

Back then, only a little bit, the family of three would be separated forever.

"There are only a few people that Trevor cares about. Of course, we must give full play to their role, otherwise how could he come out?" There is no warmth in Karl's voice.

For that man named Trevor, he has no feelings and expectations.

Alyssa thought of those things before, sighed in her heart, and only nodded without saying much.

Karl was able to say these things frankly now, which also showed that he had really come out.

Alyssa was happy for him.

The next thing is to wait for Trevor to calm down and take the initiative to come out to look for them, don't worry.

After eating, Alyssa received a call from Mattie.

Something happened to Alyssa, and the phone number was changed several times. Mattie had to find Alyssa's new number after going through it many times, so she was a little uncertain when she was connected.

“Alyssa?”

Alyssa had her number, and smiled and called out her name: “Mattie?”

“It’s me.” Mattie’s tone was a touch of excitement: “It’s really you, can you still hear my voice?”

Alyssa didn’t explain too much, and asked directly: “What’s the matter with you?”

Mattie wouldn’t be able to call her if nothing happened. There must be something to call her.

“I haven’t seen you for so long, can’t just make a phone call and chat?” Mattie sighed pretendingly, “You’re really cold.”

Alyssa was still smiling and silent, waiting for her to say business.

She and Mattie are not friends, they are just in a cooperative relationship. Keeping a pure partnership will make getting along with each other much easier.

Sure enough, Mattie quickly began to talk about business: “The launch conference of “Lost City 2” is next Wednesday, can you come sometimes?”

“Lost City 2 is about to start?” Alyssa was startled for a moment before turning to the calendar.

She turned over and found that it was already early November.

“Screenwriter Alyssa, what are you busy with every day? When the broadcast time was set before, I told you immediately. At that time, I said that you must come to the launch conference, or I wouldn’t give it. Make this call, don’t you remember it?”

Alyssa thought about it carefully, as if it was indeed the case.

When the broadcast time of “Lost City 2” was set before, Mattie also specially asked her to come.

It seems to start broadcasting in December.

Alyssa said frankly: “Sorry, many things have happened recently.”

“Then you come to attend on time.”

“Ok.”

After hanging up the phone, Alyssa turned around and was startled by Karl standing behind him.

Chapter 1184

Alyssa lightly stroked her heart, then asked him aloud, “Why are you here? Weren’t you in the study?”

Karl said that there was a video conference, so he went to the study, and didn’t know when he came out to look for her. She didn’t hear anything.

Karl asked instead: “The launch conference of “Lost City 2”?”

Alyssa nodded: “Yeah.”

Karl didn’t know what he thought of, and suddenly said, “You can take your family.”

Alyssa was stunned for a moment, before reacting, "Do you want to go?"

"Don't you plan to take me there?" Karl frowned, his tone a little dangerous.

To be honest, Alyssa really didn't plan to take Karl.

But in this situation, it is definitely impossible to tell the truth to him.

Alyssa thought about it and smiled and said, "If you want to, then of course you can, but there will be many reporters. We may be filmed by then!"

Karl sneered: "What's wrong with being photographed? We are together upright and open, and it's not a shameless love."

If you listen carefully, you can still hear the unconscious grievance in the tone.

Alyssa was a little bit dumbfounded: "I didn't say to let you go."

"Oh." Karl replied calmly, turned around to go back to the study, and turned around to help her confirm: "Isn't it next Wednesday?"

Alyssa nodded, "Yes."

It's Wednesday soon.

The launch conference of "Lost City 2" was live.

Alyssa and Karl went over together. She greeted Mattie in advance, so she and Karl were placed in the corner. When they came out, she also prepared a mask and baseball cap for Karl.

When she adjusted Karl's hat, Karl was very dissatisfied: "Why did it happen like this? Am I shameful?"

Alyssa patiently calmed him: "It's better to be careful. After all, there are many people at the press conference. We deliberately let people report the news before. Four days have passed, and that person should not be able to sink. He's angry, he's likely to appear today."

"Oh." Karl raised his eyebrows, but said nothing more.

The current Karl sticks to her tightly, but it is not easy to get angry, but there will be a lot of small tempers, but it is still pretty good.

When approaching the scene, Alyssa sent a message to Mattie.

Mattie waited for them outside the door.

Seeing Karl and Alyssa coming together, her face flashed in surprise, but soon she showed another expression like this: "Mr. Adams!"

When looking at Alyssa, Mattie called out tentatively: "Mrs. Adams?"

A lot of things happened in the past six months. Karl and Alyssa had successive car accidents. Karl gave Adams' to Alyssa. These were all sensational news. Now that they are together again, they are not obtrusive, and everything should be like this.

Alyssa laughed when she heard the words: "Long time no see."

Alyssa's reaction was undoubtedly telling Mattie that she was not wrong.

"Yes." Mattie turned to look at Karl again: "When I sent the invitation letter to Mr. Adams, I thought that Mr. Adams would not come."

"Invitation letter?" What do you do with the invitation letter to Karl?

Mattie smiled: "Mr. Adams is the financier of the project of "Lost City 2"."

After her reminder, Alyssa remembered that Karl had indeed invested in "Lost City 2".

But this is not a good memory.

At that time, she and Karl were separated, and Karl was playing fiercely with Miana. Although everything was a play, it still made her feel irritable in retrospect.

Chapter 1185

After the "Lost City" fire, "Lost City 2" has also been attracting attention.

Whether it is investors from all walks of life, sponsors, and major platforms, they all come to their door and want to cooperate.

The attention of the launch of the press conference is also exceptionally high.

In addition to the starring and staff of "Lost City 2", there were also many media reporters.

"Lost City 2" is very popular, and reporters who can enter the scene are naturally not the general ones, and their noses are better than each other. Although Alyssa and Karl are already very low-key, they are quickly recognized.

Alyssa could feel that someone kept looking at her again.

She is also a person who has been on trending search. These are small scenes, but she is worried that Karl will be annoying.

When she turned to look at Karl, she found that Karl was looking around with great interest. He held her hand in his hand, like a toy, squeezing her from time to time.

He didn't seem to be bothered, so she was relieved.

â€¦

The launch conference is over, and there will be a dinner in the evening.

Alyssa and Karl hadn't planned to go, but after Peter called them and said they wanted to join in the fun, they followed again.

The crew of "Lost City 2" is not short of money, and the organizer is also very generous. The dinner party was held on Best Day.

Peter arrived earlier than them. When they passed by, he had already strolled around the banquet hall.

Seeing Alyssa and Karl approaching, he hurriedly walked towards them: "Waiting for you."

Karl and Peter talked, Alyssa just smiled.

When they came in, almost everyone was watching them, curious and inquiring.

Mattie also came over: "You are here, have fun, you can call me whenever you have anything."

Alyssa and Karl were able to attend the launch conference and dinner, which made Mattie also very cordial, and spoke very politely.

She was very foresighted, and did not rely on Alyssa's two dramas to build a relationship, and left after speaking. Others did not dare to go through the business easily when they saw it.

"Why are you suddenly coming to the dinner party?" Alyssa asked Peter.

Peter held a glass of wine and said with a smile, "Come over and talk about cooperation."

"You are too unkind, are you coming over to discuss cooperation at other companies' dinner parties?" Alyssa felt that Peter was a little shameless.

Peter straightened his expression and said, "I mentioned it to you before."

Only then did Alyssa remember that Peter had indeed mentioned buying "Lost City" to make a movie, but then something else happened and it was shelved.

Alyssa responded solemnly: "Okay, Mr. Grant."

Peter scratched his head: "As for the contract, you don't have to worry about it. I will definitely not cheat you."

He didn't dare to pit it.

Alyssa nodded: "Yeah."

In fact, she wanted to say that it would be fine even if "Lost City" was given to Peter for free. Whether it was before or now, Peter had always been heartbroken to Karl.

But Peter usually doesn't look good, but he is also a very thoughtful person. It would definitely not work if he didn't need his money.

At this moment, the crowd was in a commotion, and somebody yelled: "It's on fire."

The banquet hall suddenly became messy.

"What's the matter?" Peter's expression changed, and after a glance, he said, "Let's go out first."

As soon as Alyssa followed them out, she heard the sound of Bossen, but could not tell where the fire was.

Chapter 1186

The floor of the banquet hall is not low. It is currently uncertain which floor is on fire. Naturally, the elevator cannot be used. Everyone can only walk downstairs.

Karl looked around for a while, then turned around and said to Peter: "You go and see the situation first, don't worry about us, I will take Alyssa out first."

"Ok."

At present, Best Day is still under the charge of Peter. He is now the person in charge here. If something goes wrong here, he naturally wants to check the situation and can't just run out with the guests.

Alyssa didn't know how many stairs she had taken, and when she got out of the golden pot, she was already sweating on her forehead.

She regained her senses, and pulled Karl up and down to look up and down, "Is it all right?"

With so many people crowded together just now, she worried that Karl was left behind.

"It's okay." Karl took her hand and walked to the side of the road.

The driver drove the car to the side of the road ahead of time. Karl opened the door and let Alyssa sit in: "I'll go to Peter to see the situation."

He is the real boss of Best Day. Although he has been a hand-off shopkeeper, he can't really care about everything.

Alyssa frowned, "I will go with you."

Karl went back alone, and she was worried.

"It's okay, you wait for me here, don't run around." Karl said in a soothing tone, closed the car door, turned and left.

Because of the fire, all guests in Best Day were evacuated. All the guests came out. There were too many people at the door. Karl quickly disappeared from the crowd under the night. Alyssa wanted to talk to him. , His figure has long since disappeared.

The golden tripod in the night was magnificent. Alyssa observed carefully for a while, but there was no obvious fire or smoke, but the alarm kept beating.

Humâ€"â€"

The phone in the bag vibrated.

Alyssa couldn't help but curl her lips, she didn't need to look at the electric display, she also knew who was calling.

Tina's end was a little noisy: "I heard that Best Day is on fire. Are you okay with the dinner party in Best Day?"

"It's okay, I have already come out. Peter and Karl are still inside, but the situation shouldn't be serious." Alyssa glanced out of the car again: "The news spread quite quickly."

She, the talent on the scene, came out of Best Day and Tina recorded the show thousands of miles away, and she had already called her to ask about it.

Tina laughed: "I don't even look at where it is. If something happens, the news will spread quickly!"

At this time, the driver in the front row suddenly yelled, "Who!"

Alyssa was on the phone with Tina, and her reaction was not faster than usual. She first glanced at the driver, and then turned to look out the window. But just a few seconds after her reaction slowed down, someone had already opened the door. Pressed the dagger on her neck.

The cold touch made Alyssa subconsciously stunned, but she was not afraid. She turned her head calmly and saw a haggard and gloomy face.

She was not surprised to see the person who came.

After all, she thought before she came that she would see this person.

Trevor, who was holding a dagger, warned her: "Don't make a noise!"

Alyssa smiled disdainfully: "What if I made a noise?"

"Then I will kill you!" Trevor pressed the dagger against her neck.

The disdain on Alyssa's face was even worse, she didn't put his words in her eyes at all, her expression was calm, and her tone was still a little smile: "Kill me? Do you dare to do it?"

Chapter 1187

The driver in the front row took advantage of Alyssa's confrontation with Trevor, and reached out to touch the handle of the car door, trying to open the door and get out of the car to rescue Alyssa when Trevor was not paying attention.

But Trevor discovered the driver's intention and said gloomily, "Sit down, don't move!"

While talking, he closed the car door with his backhand and sat down next to Alyssa. The hand holding the dagger did not relax for a moment, and he sternly said to the driver: "If you don't want this woman to die, drive!"

Alyssa was in Trevor's hands, and the driver dared not act rashly. He gave Alyssa a solemn look and started the car.

Trevor knew what Karl was, and knew that the people under Karl's hands were not good stubbles, so he didn't dare to take it lightly and stared at the driver.

Alyssa kept sitting in the car, and calmly glanced at the mobile phone in his hand.

When Trevor got in the car, she was still on the phone with Tina, and now, Tina hasn't hung up the phone, so Tina should have heard all the conversation she just said with Trevor.

Tina would definitely contact Karl.

Alyssa didn't hang up the phone, she moved her cell phone back into her pocket with extreme care, and slowly spoke to Trevor: "You did the fire in the Best Day. The purpose is to create chaos. If I or Karl place the order, you can arrest people and threaten to use it."

Trevor sneered: "As expected, Karl's woman, she has a bit of a brain."

Alyssa asked calmly, "Where is Luther?"

"You haven't moved for so long, I thought you didn't care about that kid anymore."

Although Trevor's voice sounded very calm, Alyssa heard it, and he seemed to be relieved.

Trevor knew that to Karl, Luther was a very important person.

That's why he took Luther away. His intention was to threaten Karl, but during this time Karl did not look for Luther with much fanfare. This made Trevor have a kind of belief that Karl doesn't particularly care about him. Luther's feeling began to become a little bit bottomless in his heart.

Now when Alyssa asked about Luther, he felt that they still care about Luther.

Alyssa didn't care, and smiled and said, "He is not Karl's brother. Karl can take care of him, and don't care if he doesn't, but Luther's mother will definitely not ignore him."

When she heard about Lina, Trevor's face changed: "What have you done to her? She is Karl's aunt!"

"Aunt?" Alyssa sneered, her eyes sharp with a deep chill: "Where is Karl's mother? She had been with you for more than ten years, what is she in your eyes?"

Trevor's complexion was even more ugly: "Shut up!"

"Afraid? You should be afraid. After all, you murdered her and Lina was an accomplice. You two killed her together. Lina was also very scared when she saw her."

Alyssa's voice was faint, and it sounded strangely strange in the closed and narrow car.

Trevor Adams trembled with anger: "What did you say? You took her to see Sandra's body! She can't stand the stimulation! She is innocent!"

"Wasn't Karl's mother innocent? You are selfish and weak, and dare to be a scumbag!" The last two words, Alyssa said, are very heavy.

Trevor was irritated by Alyssa: "I will kill you!"

Alyssa had a fearless look on her face: "As long as you kill me, the dead Gerald will be pulled out, and you and Lina will be scolded by thousands of people, and you still don't do it? Man? What's the difference between a rat in the sewer?"

Chapter 1188

"You don't force me!" Trevor's mood was very unstable, and the hands holding the dagger were shaking, leaving irregular blood marks on Alyssa's neck.

Alyssa sneered: "I'm just telling you the facts. What kind of temper Karl has? You should know what he can't do?"

Trevor gritted his teeth with hatred, but his hand holding the dagger was loose.

Although he didn't want to admit it, what Alyssa said was the truth, and there was nothing Karl couldn't do.

In the past, when Mr. Adams was still alive, he was particularly fond of Karl. He knew better than anyone that Karl was smarter than him, and he was not as smart as his own son.

Karl was too smart. If Karl hadn't investigated the kidnapping case that year, perhaps he and Karl would not have come this far.

After a long silence, Trevor said in a compromising manner: "You take me to see Lina. I want to go abroad with her. I will naturally let you and Luther go."

Alyssa sneered, "Why do you think Lina will go with you? How important do you think you are in her heart?"

"Shut up!" Trevor looked savage, as if he was going to be mad at any time.

When he was young, Trevor was also a vigorous and enviable man from the Adams family. He was envied by the graceful and glorious, and everything was at his fingertips. Even if he did dirty things, he could cover it up with the power of his hand. When Karl grew up, he began to investigate the truth and began to take revenge, but Trevor couldn't beat Karl.

Over the years, Trevor has lived under such a gap. Both his mental state and his physical state have become extremely poor, and it is difficult to calm down after being stimulated.

Therefore, he did not realize that the car was driving slower and slower, and the driver had been paying attention to the situation in the back row.

Alyssa glanced at the driver, and continued to talk to stimulate Trevor to make him unable to calm down.

"Why did you make me shut up? Because you know what I'm telling you is the truth, right? Would Lina be grateful for all this you did? If Gerald hadn't known his own life experience back then, he would have made those things? Is it something? And you took Luther away for a personal grudge. Women know women better. If I were her, not only would I not appreciate you, but I would hate you!"

Alyssa spoke calmly, Trevor was on the verge of losing control, and the car had already stopped. Taking advantage of Trevor's unsteadiness, the driver took the opportunity to quickly explore the gap between the front seats. When he came, a hand knife slashed on Trevor's wrist, Trevor let go of his hand in pain, and the dagger fell to the ground.

The driver was a strong trainer and easily subdued Trevor.

And Alyssa knew that the driver would do this for a long time. As early as when the driver started to knock off the dagger, she quickly moved to the side of the car door, opened the door and got out of the car, letting the driver and Trevor fight together.

After Alyssa got out of the car, she wanted to take out her mobile phone to make a call to Karl, only to realize that her mobile phone had no power and turned it off.

Tina knew that something was wrong with her, and she must have called Karl to inform him that she had to contact Karl first.

Alyssa leaned over and took a look in the car. The driver had already stopped Trevor, and she asked him aloud, "Where is your phone? Give it to me."

The driver quickly took out his mobile phone and handed it to Alyssa.

Chapter 1189

Alyssa took the phone, and before she even dialed a call, she heard the sound of horns ringing one after another behind her.

Beep—

It's like a traffic jam.

Alyssa turned her head and heard someone calling her before seeing the situation clearly.

"Alyssa!"

There was a car parked in the middle of the road, causing the car coming from behind to be forced to stop. The door opened and the people in the car got off and ran towards her in strides.

It is Karl.

He moved fast, and soon arrived in front of her.

"Karl!"

Before she had time to call out Karl's name completely, she saw his face change, his eyes fixed on her neck with a few bloodstains, and his tone was as sinking as if he was fished from the bottom of the water: "Neck what happened?"

"Skin trauma, it's okay." Alyssa touched her neck, and the blood had frozen.

Karl breathed a sigh of relief when he heard this, and took her hand and turned and walked to his car.

"In the car!" Alyssa wanted to say that Trevor was in the car.

But Karl didn't listen to what she said, he squeezed her into the car and drove away.

Alyssa turned her head and looked out of the car window, and found that Peter had taken people to the car he had taken before and pulled Trevor off.

Not long after Karl's car drove out, he saw an outpatient clinic.

He took Alyssa in to bandage the wound. Although Alyssa felt that some fuss had been made, she did not refuse.

She knew that Karl was also worried.

Alyssa's wound was so shallow that the doctor frowned, but the doctor was still very ethical and carefully bandaged. When he left, he also told Alyssa: "Don't touch the water."

Although the wound is very shallow, it will heal faster without touching the water.

After coming out of the clinic, Peter called.

Karl turned on the speakerphone.

"I called the police, and I'm going to the police station with them. How's the situation on your side?"

Karl was driving, and Alyssa responded: "It's okay."

When Peter heard Alyssa's voice, he couldn't help but smile: "It's okay."

Alyssa was fine, that is, Karl was fine.

When Alyssa and Karl arrived at the police station, Peter had already finished giving notes.

Alyssa and Karl went over and took notes according to the procedure.

They made a transcript that could not leave Trevor.

The fire was caused by Trevor. Although it was not serious, the plot was terrible. Trevor also kidnapped Luther and held Alyssa with a dagger. These crimes added up to at least five years.

And Trevor's health is not good. Although Karl broke up with him, he was still allowed to live in the Adams' old house, so he has not suffered much. If he stays in prison for five years, he will not. It must be hard for him to stay alive.

When Trevor was taken away by the police, he was still cursing: "Karl! You bastard!"

Karl didn't even look at him, and walked out with Alyssa.

As Alyssa walked out, she turned her head to look at Karl's expression.

Karl's expression was very calm, Alyssa wanted to say something, so she saw Peter not far away.

"You go back and rest early, I'll take care of the follow-up." Peter greeted him. Eyes fell on Alyssa's neck: "Really all right?"

After all, it was a wounded neck. Although the wound was very shallow, it was still a little lame when wrapped in gauze.

"It's okay." Alyssa had to explain it again.

Chapter 1190

When she was about to get home, Alyssa called the servant at home: "Is Grace asleep?"

"Not yet."

"Got it." Alyssa hung up when she got the answer.

After hanging up the phone, she raised her collar high, and then pulled her hair to the front, and took a photo with her mobile phone screen, but her vision in the car was blurred. She turned her head and asked Karl not at ease: "Can I still see the gauze on my neck like this?"

Karl had actually been around for a long time. After listening to Alyssa's words, he stretched out his hand expressionlessly, and then plucked her hair to completely cover the gauze on her neck for Alyssa, and said, "It's fine now."

The voice is a bit dumb compared to before.

Alyssa asked with a worried look: "Is it a cold? Is something uncomfortable?"

At this time, the car stopped right in front of the house.

"Sir, young lady, here it is."

When the driver finished speaking, he got out of the car and opened the door for them.

The two got out of the car, and Karl led her in.

As Alyssa walked, she pulled her hair twice uneasy and whispered: "Can't let Grace see that I am injured again!"

Karl gave only a faint "um".

His daughter is very ghostly, and Alyssa is the person Grace is most familiar with. There is something unusual about Alyssa, Grace can also follow the clues to detect something.

But he felt that it would be better not to say this to Alyssa, lest her daughter would feel frustrated if she is too smart.

Grace had changed into her pajamas and was sitting on the sofa in the hall watching TV with a doll in her arms.

As soon as Alyssa entered the door, she smiled and called her: "Grace."

"Mom!" Grace turned to look around, and called out again, "Dad."

"Waiting for us." Alyssa walked to her and sat down, and subconsciously stretched out her hand to cover her neck.

Grace stopped watching TV, and turned her attention to Alyssa. She nodded first, and her eyes rolled: "Mom, why don't you hug me?"

Usually Alyssa would kiss Grace or hug her when she came back.

No way, my daughter is too cute.

Alyssa was also cautious, so she didn't embrace Grace.

Alyssa explained: "Because you have already taken a shower, mother came back from outside, there is dust on my body."

Karl came over to relieve her: "You go up first, I will accompany Grace for a while."

“Okay.” Karl wants to accompany Grace, and Alyssa is of course happy to see it happen.

As soon as Alyssa left, Grace and Karl, the father and daughter, were left with big eyes and small eyes.

Grace spoke first: “The place you went to caught fire, I saw it in the news.”

Alyssa had told her that she was going to Best Day at night, and Grace was often taken to Best Day for dinner, so she was familiar with Best Day and had an impression.

“Well, it didn’t burn.” Karl did not deny either.

Grace blinked and asked: “Then are you injured?”

Karl said, “I don’t have one.”

Grace frowned again and asked nervously, “Mom is injured?”

“Small wound, it’s okay.” Karl didn’t hide it.

Grace: “Oh.”

“What does ‘oh’ mean?” Karl thought it was interesting that his daughter talked to him like an adult.

Grace pouted: “You are not worried, it means that mom is surely okay. If mom has something, you will be nervous.”

Karl was startled, and then reached out his hand and gently touched her head: “Well, go to sleep.”

“Hug.” Grace opened her small arms to him, letting Karl hug her up.

Karl leaned slightly, holding Grace upstairs to sleep.
