Chapter 1201

Peter heard Alyssa's words, and the smile on his face deepened: "Alyssa is too deliberate."

Alyssa just laughed.

Peter stretched out his hand towards Karl: "Give me things, let me carry them for you."

"It's not for you, want you to mention it?" Karl let out a cold snort, and took Alyssa to the elevator.

Karl felt that Tina had left Alyssa's concern, so he was a little unhappy, but he also knew how good Tina and Alyssa's relationship was.

But with Peter's pride, Karl couldn't bear it. Alyssa did it for Tina, not for Peter. He was proud of something.

Peter lags behind, a little confused, how does he feel that Karl seems to be targeting him again?

The elevator came down soon.

The group of three walked in, and when the elevator door was about to close, the voice of a young girl came from outside.

"Wait!"

Alyssa was closer to the elevator door, so she reached out and held the elevator.

Soon, a girl in a leather jacket ran over.

"Thank you." She thanked her and raised her foot to come in, but after seeing the people in the elevator, a hint of surprise flashed on her face.

She stretched out her hand and twitched the hair around her ears, her tone was softer: "Mr. Grant, Mr. Adams."

Karl had been on the news recently, and it was normal to know him.

However, she didn't know if she had deliberately ignored Alyssa, she just glanced at Alyssa, and then looked at Karl with curiosity.

Alyssa hadn't seen a girl who dared to look at Karl blatantly for a long time, so she looked at the girl more, but with this look, she could see something was wrong.

Karl frowned and stood on Alyssa's side, without even giving the girl a look.

Peter also noticed Karl's displeasure, and said aloud: "The artists in the company are young and not very sensible."

A short sentence, but it was kind of protective.

AdamPic was created by Karl, but after it got on the right track, it was handed over to Peter to take care of it. Later, AdamPic was given to Peter, partly because of his friendship and partly because he was serious about his work.

Peter is also good to AdamPic's employees and artists, which is also known to many in the industry.

Karl had a bad temper with others. Peter was afraid that he would be angry. It was only a trivial matter to say a few words to protect his artist.

onlyâ€¦!â€¦!

Karl didn't mean to speak, Alyssa smiled slightly and said, "She is pretty, what's her name?"

The girl glanced at Alyssa, her eyes filled with inquiry, and did not immediately answer the question.

At this time, even Peter couldn't help but frowned: "What about you, did you hear it?"

The girl said: "My name is Cathy."

Cathy?

The name is a bit familiar.

At this moment, the elevator door opened, and Karl directly pulled Alyssa out, and Alyssa had to look back and smile apologetically at Cathy.

Peter seemed to have something to say to Cathy, and stayed behind.

Alyssa turned her head and whispered to Karl, "Cathy's name is a bit familiar."

Karl looked at the front and whispered: "Had a scandal with Peter before."

Alyssa had a bad memory. When he reminded her, she also remembered this person: "It turns out it was her."

When she was in Westberg before, Tina and Peter quarreled, and they mentioned the name Cathy. At that time, she also searched the Internet about the scandals between Peter and Cathy.

Chapter 1202

Alyssa turned her head and looked at Cathy and Peter.

Maybe this is because at the company, Peter's expression looks a bit more serious than usual, but Cathy's expression does not look like a person being scolded by the boss, and there is a somewhat coquettish posture in her expression.

Alyssa looked at it for a moment, then turned back to ask Karl, "Do you think it looks like it?"

At first glance, her words sounded like words without beginning and end, but Karl and she had a unique tacit understanding between them, and they knew what she meant with a clear heart.

Karl seemed to ponder it for a while, and said earnestly: "It doesn't look like it."

Alyssa looked curious: "How do you say?"

At this moment they had already reached the door of Peter's office. Karl was familiar with this place, and directly took Alyssa and opened the door and walked in.

After closing the door, Karl continued to say, "It's just that they look similar, but I can't bear to take a closer look. Tina is Tina, she is her, it's incomparable."

When Alyssa first saw Cathy in the elevator, she felt a little familiar.

After thinking about it carefully, she realized that Cathy and Tina are somewhat similar.

But Karl's words made Alyssa's lips curled up: "Are you exaggerating Tina?"

Karl would not look at other women more often, but he could say "Tina is Tina, she is her, it's not better", it shows that his impression of Miss Tina is quite good.

Karl raised his eyebrows and glanced at her: "Jealous?"

Alyssa let out a sigh of relief, "I thought I was the same as you? I'm not as careful as you."

This man is jealous at every turn, thinking she is the same as him, really!

Karl collapsed, and looked at her without blinking: "Who is careful?"

Seeing this, Alyssa quickly changed the subject: "What do you think Peter thinks about Cathy? I just saw him treat her pretty well."

When Cathy was taught by Peter, he was not afraid of Peter. Although Peter had a good opponent, he still had prestige. When he was being taught to others, some people were still afraid of him.

But Cathy doesn't seem to be afraid of him, which shows that he should be good to Cathy in normal times.

The scandals of Cathy and Peter that she had searched on the Internet before, Tina also said, but Alyssa didn't think there was anything at the time. After all, Peter was about Tina, and those who knew them were obvious to all.

But when she saw Cathy today, Alyssa realized that the relationship between Cathy and Peter was a bit delicate.

Besides, people's hearts will change.

"What are your thoughts?" Karl's expression was straightforward: "What do you think Peter would think of that woman?"

"Where do I know your man's mind, I am not a man." Alyssa said, turning her head aside.

At this time, her cell phone rang.

Alyssa glanced at the phone, her eyes lit up: "It's Tina, she should have come to the company."

Alyssa answered the phone: "Tina."

"Are you here already? I'm downstairs in the company right now, and I will come up soon." Tina walked a little eagerly, her voice still a little panting.

"It's okay, you come slowly, we are waiting for you."

After hanging up the phone, Alyssa thought of Peter and Cathy talking outside, worried that Tina would bump into him when she came up, so she was ready to get up to see the situation.

Chapter 1203

However, as soon as Alyssa got up, Peter pushed the door in from outside.

Alyssa just glanced at Peter, then sat back quietly.

Peter smiled on her face: "Alyssa, I'm sorry about this today. Cathy is young and her temper is relatively straightforward."

Alyssa knew that Peter was referring to Cathy's attitude towards Alyssa.

Cathy called Peter and Karl before, but deliberately ignored Alyssa on the side. After that, Alyssa talked to her and asked her what her name was. She also didn't want to talk to Alyssa.

"It's okay, she has nothing to do with me. We didn't know each other, and I naturally didn't care about her attitude." Alyssa's tone was slow, with a smile on her face.

Karl heard a hint of anger from it.

Alyssa was indeed a little angry, angry for Tina.

The matter between Tina and Peter is too complicated. Tina has always treated Peter coldly. Even if Peter changes his mind and finds another woman, it's okay, but he puts a person with a similar appearance to Tina. What is he doing around?

Moreover, this Cathy is still a prosperous artist.

Isn't this intentional that should be cold?

Peter didn't hear Alyssa's faint anger at all, because Alyssa's temperament was relatively gentle among them. She said it was okay, so she didn't think much.

He said cheerfully, "Is it time to be here?"

Alyssa didn't want to talk to him.

Karl raised his eyes slightly and said, "Yes," "Tina called here just now."

The office door was pushed open again.

Tina walked in from the outside, wearing a long windbreaker with a tightly fastened belt, and a graceful waist. Her long hair was draped over her shoulders and her makeup was bright. Even though she was wearing a pair of very casual sneakers on her feet, the whole person looked it looks rusty and beautiful.

When she saw Alyssa, she smiled: "Alyssa."

"Come and sit down." Alyssa was also very happy to see her.

As if she hadn't seen Peter, Tina walked directly to Alyssa. When she passed by Karl, she smiled and cried, "Mr. Adams."

Karl nodded at her, "Yes."

Peter sat aside and didn't mention how depressed, the woman even greeted Karl, but ignored him.

He raised his foot and walked over and sat down opposite Tina.

Alyssa had already taken apart the food she had brought, and Tina was so touched that she said: "Alyssa, you are the best, I love you to death."

Peter raised his eyebrows sourly and thought she fell in love with Alyssa who cooked her a meal. How bad is he to her?

"You're going to take a plane later, eat something first." Alyssa handed the tableware to Tina.

Tina quickly took the chopsticks over: "Knowing that you are going to bring me food, I didn't eat anything before I came, so let the assistant go out to eat first."

After taking two bites, she remembered something and asked Alyssa, "Have you eaten?"

Alyssa smiled: "I only came after eating."

Because Karl's health is not good, Alyssa strictly controls the three meals at home, eating on time, and having a balanced nutrition.

Peter finally couldn't help it: "Tina, is it a bit conscience? Why don't you ask me if I ate or not?"

When Tina looked at Peter, the smile on her face disappeared suddenly, "Then have you eaten?"

Peter was involuntarily sitting up straight when she saw him this way, as if a little guilty: "I have eaten."

Tina stunned him unceremoniously: "Then you still let her ask? Can you support yourself after eating?"

Peter was silent for a moment, and said quietly, "It's a little bracing."

Tina: "€!"

Chapter 1204

Because Tina was leaving, Alyssa naturally accompanied her to speak, and was not in a hurry to discuss the contract.

Peter naturally thinks like this.

Knowing that Tina didn't want to see him, he stopped talking too much.

Tina was eating and Alyssa chatted with her.

Until Tina's agent called.

"Tina, it's time to go."

Tina hung up the phone and said to Alyssa, "I should go."

"I'll see you off." Alyssa stood up.

Karl knew that Alyssa had something to say to Tina, so he didn't mean to go with them. He just looked at Tina and said politely, "Go slow."

Tina nodded slightly towards Karl.

Peter moved, obviously wanting to send Tina, and kept winking at Karl.

But Karl seemed to have not seen it, sitting motionless, but drinking water very leisurely.

When Alyssa and Tina left, Peter snorted, "You are not enough buddies!"

Karl glanced at him, "I want to chase my wife after being so courageous?"

"If you were me, you would have to be like this! Do you know how much Tina doesn't want to see me now?" Peter had already clearly felt that Tina really didn't want to talk to him.

It's not that she don't want to care about him because of quarrels and conflicts before, but she doesn't want to care about him in a real sense.

He is not a delicate person, but he can feel the cool thoughts strangely.

"But I am not you. I have never done anything to apologize to Alyssa." Karl said confidently.

Peter has nothing to say.

But thinking about it, he felt unwilling: "Even though I was wrong when I fled the country, why can't she calm down after so many years? Does this matter make her angry for so long?"

Karl said indifferently, "This is not the case, there is something else."

"What else can I do? I checked it all, there really is nothing else." Peter stretched out his hand and pressed his forehead, feeling that he was going crazy.

Karl felt that his good brother could do anything else, that is, he became a fool when he encountered an emotional matter, so he had to remind him: "If it is something that can be found casually, it is not worth sinking. Tina has been angry with you for so long, and still can't let it go."

Peter seemed to see a life-saving straw: he approached Karl and sat down: "Do you know something? Did Alyssa tell you something?"

"I don't know. Even if Alyssa knows what it is, it is impossible to tell me." He didn't ask, but Alyssa was strict about Tina's affairs. He respected her and Tina's feelings and never asked.

Peter asked him: "Then how do you know this?"

Karl pointed his finger at his head, eyes with disgust.

â€

Alyssa entered the elevator with her cold arm.

Originally talking about other things, Alyssa suddenly said with a serious face: "I saw Cathy."

“Cathy?” Tina didn’t seem to remember this person. After thinking about it, she smiled and said, “I didn’t expect you to remember this person.”

She had a quarrel with Peter at the time, but she didn’t expect Alyssa to still remember the name.

Alyssa barely curled the corners of her lips: “Very young.”

“Yes, she is just turned 20.” There was not much emotion in the calm expression, but it seemed to be sighing.

Alyssa couldn’t see through the depression.

She called Tina, “Tina.”

“I know what you want to say, I’m fine.” There was no reluctance in her cold eyes, this was her true heart.

Chapter 1205

Tina raised her head and smiled reluctantly: “If Peter can really be with Cathy, it would be a bad thing. He can finally start again and no longer has to waste time on me.”

Alyssa was shocked: “Tina, are you telling the truth?”

Although Tina had said similar things before, and seemed to be very unsympathetic to Peter, she had never seen Tina talk about Peter in such a compromising and relieved tone. It was like, she really decided to cut off Peter and the entanglement between them.

“Yes, my life is too short. I will be 30 years old after two years. My youth is short. I have been focusing on filming in the past few years. I also want to stop and think about starting a new relationship. Brian that I said last time is actually is not bad.”

Tina smiled and turned to look at Alyssa: “When I have time, I will show you Brian, let you see him and help me refer to him.”

Alyssa couldn’t laugh.

She couldn’t say why, but she didn’t think Tina would do it.

The elevator door opened at this moment, and Alyssa walked out with her: “Have you ever thought about telling Peter about it?”

“No need.” Tina shook her head in a very light tone: “Alyssa, Peter has actually loved me very much since he was a child. Although he seems to be unreliable, I know that he actually divides all his feelings clearly in his heart, otherwise he would have left in a hurry so many years before coming back, and telling him about it now will only make him feel sorry and guilty and want to make up for other than me. It only adds to the troubles of two people.”

Alyssa fell silent, and after a while, she asked her aloud, “Do you think he doesn’t love you?”

“No.” Tina shook her head: “If you only consider love and non-love, things are easier.”

Alyssa raised her eyes and saw Tina's agent looking at the door with a probe. She also raised her hand to check his watch from time to time, obviously a little anxious.

Alyssa held Tina's hand: "Come back this time, let's have a good chat, okay?"

She felt that Tina had kept those things in her heart for so many years, and over the years, the knots grew bigger and bigger, which led to Tina becoming more and more pessimistic about the relationship between herself and Peter, self-blaming, and avoiding.

Tina nodded, looking rare and well-behaved: "Okay."

Alyssa curled her lips and showed a big smile: "No matter how busy you are at work, you must pay attention to your body."

"I see, all mothers all over the world are just as wordy, and so are you." Tina complained about her, but there was still a smile on her face.

Alyssa watched Tina get into the car, and then turned and walked inside after watching her car leave.

The elevator door just opened, and the person who walked out was Cathy by accident.

Alyssa noticed that there were two girls who looked like assistants behind Cathy. They were not well-known, but they were put on the stage first.

Cathy also saw Alyssa, stretched out her hand to hook down the sunglasses and glanced at it, put on the sunglasses again, walked past Alyssa proudly, and deliberately squeezed her.

Alyssa wasn't angry, but just thought it was a little funny. Cathy's attitude towards Peter and Karl was gentle and lovely. If Cathy knew that Adams' current boss is her, would she treat her well? a little?

However, Cathy looked down on her, and she could also look down on Cathy.

Back at the office, Alyssa began to talk to Peter about signing the contract.

Alyssa smiled gently, but her tone was very firm: "I have two conditions."

Peter naturally nodded: "You say it, I will agree to any conditions."

Chapter 1206

Alyssa said, "The first condition is to let Tina be the heroine."

The lead female of "Lost City" is good. As this kind of suspense drama, almost all the male protagonists are more popular, but the male and female protagonists of "Lost City" are equally divided, and the female lead setting is also very pleasing.

Peter took "Lost City" to make a movie. Naturally, it was a big production, and it would go to the theaters at that time. Although "Lost City" was a web drama before, it was very hot and the audience has a deep foundation. As long as the movie version is "Lost City" filmed with all heart, you will definitely make a lot of money.

Such a hot movie with hardcore content is a very sought-after resource. With so many artists in AdamPic, there must be a lot of people who want to participate in this movie. Although Peter is 100% eccentric, he will give the heroine post to Tina, but with Tina's current relationship with Peter, he is likely to refuse this one.

In the previous short conversation, Alyssa could see a cool attitude, and she didn't want to get too involved with Peter.

But this matter was brought up by Alyssa, so it was naturally different. The script was written by her. This was also an agreement she and Tina had made. Tina would naturally not refuse.

Therefore, Alyssa spoke about this matter, which is also the optimal solution for this matter.

"Of course, you don't need to mention these little things, I will definitely do the same." Peter smiled.

Alyssa nodded: "Then I have to trouble you, and I added this condition to the contract."

Peter sat up abruptly, with an expression of disbelief: "No, Alyssa, don't you worry about me?"

"Of course not. I just want to look back and show Tina to let her know how much I love her." Alyssa said jokingly.

Of course, what she said was only for Peter.

Tina has been in the entertainment industry very steadily in recent years and has a certain fan base, but it is not very popular, and the project "Lost City" is too eye-catching, it is hard to guarantee that no one will be jealous of her and say that she is thought to have what ulterior ties to the company's senior management to get this opportunity.

Therefore, Alyssa asked Peter to add this clause to the contract just to be on the safe side.

Alyssa and Tina have a very good relationship, and Peter will naturally not doubt Alyssa's statement: "I will add it."

After moving out of Tina, Peter naturally only agreed.

"The second condition is that Cathy cannot be allowed to participate in the filming of this movie." Alyssa finished speaking and looked up to see Peter.

Seeing that Peter had a slight look, she added: "I mean, not even a passerby is allowed."

Peter's face narrowed slightly: "What's wrong? Did she offend you?"

When Alyssa heard what he said, she knew that Peter actually wanted to arrange a role for Cathy, and said in a serious tone: "There is nothing to offend, but she just thinks that her acting skills are too bad, looking at her eyes."

Peter is actually very optimistic about Cathy, and has already thought about arranging a role in "Lost City" to make Cathy show her face.

And Alyssa's words made him doubt his own vision: "Is it that bad?"

"It's pretty bad." Karl added in due course.

Peter's expression became stiff; "That's OK, this can also be promised!"

Even Karl felt that her acting skills were poor, and he had nothing to say, falling into deep self-doubt.

Alyssa turned her head in surprise and looked at Karl, who just smiled at her.

Chapter 1207

This is how the contract matters.

When Tina was free at night, when Alyssa chatted with her on WeChat, she took a picture of the content of the designated Tina actor and actress that she added in the contract for Tina to see.

After posting the picture, Alyssa asked her: "Satisfied with what you saw?"

Tina: "What is this!!!"

"I signed "Lost City" with Peter. I added it to the contract." Alyssa also added a smile behind.

Tina: "If I don't want to repay, I can only agree with my body."

Alyssa couldn't help but smile. It would be nice to be cool and happy. Since love is not going well, then the career must be well.

Speaking of which, she has to think about a new script.

â€¦

The weather is getting colder every day.

When Alyssa came out lazily, she studied recipes at home, cooking various meals for Karl in a variety of ways every day.

Karl was also brought some meat for her, and the whole person looked much better, and he was not as thin as before.

In the evening, Alyssa reached out and touched his arm: "You're a little fatter."

Karl just glanced at his arm, but didn't say anything.

However, when Alyssa got up the next morning, her side was empty.

Recently, she and Karl both had their schedules in sync, getting up and going to sleep together. This was the first time that Karl got up first.

Alyssa put on her clothes and came out of the room, ready to find Karl.

Before looking for Karl, she went to Grace's room to see her.

Grace is going to have winter vacation in a week. Recently, the weather has been cold, and she has been a little bit more in bed.

But Alyssa went to Grace's room and found that Grace was not in the room either.

Where did the father and daughter go this early morning?

There was already a maid cleaning in the hall downstairs. Seeing Alyssa coming down, she stopped her work: "Madam, early."

Alyssa asked her, "Did you see Grace and her father?"

The maid replied: "Boss took the young lady out before."

"Did he say where to go?" Alyssa asked suspiciously.

"Boss was wearing sportswear, as if he is going out to do sports." The maid said.

Why did he suddenly start to get up early to exercise?

Seeing that the servant was still waiting for her instructions, Alyssa said with a smile: "It's okay, you get busy with it, I'll go out and see."

The villa is on the hillside and the environment is very good.

It was cold outside in the winter morning, and Alyssa pulled the zipper of the down jacket to the neckline before continuing to walk outside.

As soon as she arrived at the door of the villa, Alyssa heard Grace's voice not far away.

"Well then, I promise you."

Alyssa followed the voice and saw Karl walking towards this side holding Grace.

Both father and daughter are wearing sportswear, which is the parent-child sportswear that Alyssa bought before.

Hearing Grace's words, it seemed that Karl had asked something.

Alyssa didn't make a sound and watched them come quietly, but Karl suddenly raised his eyes and found her.

Grace also followed Karl's sight and looked towards Alyssa: "Mom!"

Karl quickened his pace and quickly walked to the front.

Grace got down from Karl, looked up at Alyssa, and said invitingly, "I went for a run with Dad."

Alyssa patted her on the head: "Awesome."

"After running for five minutes, she stopped running on the ground, where is the stick?" Karl glanced at Grace.

Grace's eyebrows were frowning again, and she glanced at Karl dissatisfiedly, and felt ashamed. She stretched out his hand to cover his face, and said with annoyance: "I'm still a child, and I get tired easily!"

Chapter 1208

Seeing Grace like this, Alyssa couldn't help but stretched out her hand and brushed her hair: "It's okay, Grace is right. Children are easy to get tired."

After she finished speaking, she raised her head to look at Karl: "You too, how old is Grace, why did you take her up for a run so early."

Karl coughed lightly and said solemnly: "It's not that I have to take her to run, but she herself said that she wants to run. I got up so early to run with her."

As Alyssa's gaze, Karl's voice gradually became quieter, and when she looked closely, she could still see a trace of guilty conscience in his eyes.

Last night, Grace was put to sleep by Alyssa. After that, she went back to the bedroom, chatted with Karl for a while and went to bed.

Where did Grace have time to go to Karl and say he should get up early for a run, unless she is sleepwalking.

Alyssa was a little bit dumbfounded, isn't it just getting up early for a run? Is it necessary to hide and tuck it like this?

"Okay, let's go back to have breakfast. Grace is going to kindergarten today." Alyssa didn't expose him, but pulled him into the villa.

Alyssa took Grace back to the room to wash and change clothes. Karl had changed clothes and sat at the dining table.

Halfway through breakfast, Alyssa remembered about Clayton, and asked Karl, "Is there any news about Helen?"

Karl stretched out his hand to wipe off the ketchup on Grace's lips, and said, "He found her, but lost her again. I'm still looking for her."

Alyssa asked with some doubts: "She found you and is at large?"

"The backer behind Helen has a certain amount of power. He knows that based on my friendship with Clayton, I will definitely intervene in this matter and help him find Helen, so they have to take precautions in advance."

Because of this, it was difficult to find Helen.

"Listening to you, how do I feel that the person behind Helen seems to be..." Alyssa turned her head to meet Grace's large and innocent eyes, then paused for a while and didn't say any further.

She saw Grace's empty milk cup, and praised: "It's all finished, Grace is also great."

"Hehe." Grace smiled so that her eyes were bent into crescents.

Alyssa didn't continue the topic that she had talked with Karl before. That topic was too serious. Although Grace might not understand it, it was not suitable for talking in front of her.

After breakfast, the two sent Grace to the kindergarten.

On the way back, Alyssa continued the topic at breakfast.

"Is that person here for you?" Alyssa looked at Karl with a solemn expression.

Karl and Clayton have a deep friendship, this is not known to everyone, so the backer behind Helen should have checked Clayton, if Helen really wants to be with Clayton, there is no need after Clayton decides to get married, she has to disappear suddenly.

As soon as they were connected, it seemed deliberate, as if to deliberately attract Karl's attention.

"It's not important." Karl just curled his lips, smiling a bit evil.

Whether or not she came to him, he has a way to deal with them.

Alyssa naturally believed in Karl's ability, but she was still uncontrollable worry in her heart.

"No matter what, I just hope you can do well."

She and Karl had such a peaceful life after a great deal of difficulty. She only hoped that Karl would be able to live in peace. She only hoped that their family of three could live together in calm and peace, and have no more troubles.

Chapter 1209

"You don't worry." Karl drove the car and stretched out a hand towards Alyssa.

Alyssa put her hand in Karl's hand: "Not just talking, but also in heart."

Karl knew that Alyssa was worried, and his voice was gentle: "I know."

Alyssa's complexion only relaxed a bit.

The relaxation eased, and she thought of other things.

"Why are you suddenly getting up early for a run?"

Karl drove the car without squinting, and his tone sounded very casual: "I just want to exercise."

Alyssa turned her head to follow him: "That's it?"

"Yeah." Karl's tone returned to his usual high coldness.

Alyssa held back a smile, and did not hesitate to expose him: "Isn't it because I said you were a little fatter last night?"

Karl laughed, his tone of disdain and disdain: "How is it possible!"

Hard mouth!

Alyssa smiled and said empathetically: "That's good. It's so cold in the morning, so you don't need to get up for a run. If you get fatter, it won't be ugly. It's not that you can't afford to change into large clothes, right?"

Karl ignored her with a solemn face.

Alyssa knew that he was going to be angry, so she said with a serious face: "I just said casually, what are you nervous about, and ah, you are not fat at all now, even if you are fat, you are a fat handsome guy. I won't despise you. Large clothes and small clothes cost the same price, but large clothes are!"

Karl listened to her with a dark face and whispered about clothes, and he became more determined to keep in shape.

That night, he went to the gym at home for two hours.

Alyssa also followed him to practice with him, but she had poor physical strength and did not practice for long, so she went to rest.

She stared at Karl for a while, and as soon as she took out her mobile phone, she received a WeChat message from Mattie.

“Tomorrow “Lost City 2” will start, remember to post it on Twitter.”

Mattie didn’t talk nonsense, and went straight up to talk business.

Alyssa replied: “OK.”

She actually remembers that “Lost City 2” will be broadcast tomorrow.

Mattie probably felt that she was too careless, so she specially reminded her, which made Alyssa a little ashamed.

She opened Twitter and logged in to her account.

Every time she logs on to Twitter, there will be a lot of private messages and “@”, and she will refresh the message when the phone is calm again.

She had followed the official Twitter of “Lost City” before, and clicked directly on the homepage. The latest Tweet on the official Twitter was about tomorrow’s broadcast. She directly retweets it and added a few words: I hope everyone will support.

The person who runs the official WeChat account of “Lost City” was in contact with Alyssa in the crew before, and after discovering that Alyssa had retweeted the post, he took the tweet that Alyssa had forwarded and pinned it. One reply: “The screenwriter is great.”

Alyssa replied with a smile to her.

Karl didn’t know when he walked to her side: “It will start tomorrow?”

“Yeah.” Alyssa’s eyes were still on the phone screen, and she continued to scan Twitter.

Alyssa herself has some fans. During her usage, she was reminded of new notifications from time to time. She felt a little annoying, so she blocked the new notifications reminder.

Twitter is really addictive, she flicked it everywhere, until she got a trending search.

What the hell?

Have you eaten melons on your head?

Alyssa turned to look at the man beside her.

Karl noticed Alyssa’s gaze and turned to look at her: “What?”

Chapter 1210

Alyssa asked him, "What did you do?"

Karl: "Nothing."

Alyssa turned her head and clicked on the trending search for "Adams' Propaganda "Lost City 2", and found that Adams' official Twitter retweet the Twitter about the launch of "Lost City 2" that she had just retweet.

She directly handed the phone to Karl, motioning him to look at it himself.

"What's this not doing?"

"I invested in "Lost City 2", what's wrong with retweeting it?"

"â€¦"

It is justified and undisputed.

This man has always been so awkward.

Alyssa simply read the comments on Adams' official Twitter page, she wanted to see how netizens reacted.

"I am not wrong, right?"

"Who can tell me what's going on? This official account also accepts advertisements?"

"As far as I know, "Lost City 2" was shot by Adams' investment, so it's normal for the official Twitter to repost it."

"â€¦"

Karl, who was on the side, also saw this Tweet, and said with disdain: "Do you have any brains! Adams has more money-making projects than "Lost City 2", shouldn't it be forwarded one by one!"

Alyssa said quietly, "If I remember correctly, you said the same just now."

Karl choked, moved his lips, and simply said, "That's because this is your play, so I let Smith give "Lost City 2" some heat."

This man is as cold as sitting on an iceberg in front of outsiders, and obediently like a big dog in front of her.

Alyssa couldn't help reaching out and touching his head: "I know, as a thank you, I will invite you to dinner."

She doesn't seem to have spent the money she made for Karl yet, thinking about it, she still looks forward to it.

When Karl heard the words, his eyes lit up: "Without Grace?"

"â€¦ No." Alyssa could hardly refuse Karl with bright eyes.

Karl was happy, and smiled, "Okay."

Alyssa could only helplessly say sorry to Grace.

She continued to scan the comments, and sure enough, smart netizens guessed Adams' intention to forward this Tweet.

"I don't think this situation is right, Mr. Adams wants to remarry the screenwriter of "Lost City 2"?"

"It's not that he can't find a woman, how could Karl remarry with Alyssa."

"It's just a post on Twitter, can you still make up so much?"

"â€¦"

Alyssa quietly withdrew from the comment area.

Not only do they have to remarry, but even their children are so old and they have been living together.

â€¦

The next morning, on the way to send Grace to kindergarten, Alyssa said to Grace after repeated deliberations, "Your father and I have something and we will eat out tonight. You go home and listen to what auntie says. Go downstairs to rest, okay?"

Grace blinked her big eyes: "What's the matter?"

"A date." Karl said abruptly.

Alyssa who was about to explain: "â€¦"

Grace frowned again, "You don't take me?"

Karl: "What do we take you on a date for?"

Alyssa: "Youâ€¦"

Grace hugged a small hand and snorted angrily: "This is what the adults said, 'Parents are true love, children are accidents.'"

Karl: "Just understand."

Alyssa, who couldn't speak at all: "â€¦"

Grace sighed, "Fortunately, Aunt Tina said that she will give birth to a younger brother as she will have a husband in the future, so that someone will accompany me."

Karl and Alyssa were stunned.

After a while, Karl's expression was so solemn that he discussed with her: "If you want to be accompanied, how about having a dog?"
