

Predestined 1491

Chapter 1491

Peter is tall, if Tom came to help him, it would definitely be a lot easier.

However, Peter should not agree, he doesn't love to let others touch him.

Tina was about to refuse, but she heard Peter's quick voice: "Come on."

Tina was stunned and turned to look at him.

Peter only slowly pulled his hand out of Tina's arm, stood swayingly, and stretched out his hand towards Tom.

Tom didn't hesitate, walked over, and supported him.

Tina moved aside to make room for Tom, and then watched him help Peter into the elevator.

Tina turned her head and asked Stephanie on the side: "Your cousin is drunk and has even gotten rid of the stinking problem?"

Stephanie murmured, "Maybe he is really dizzy."

Stephanie also knew about Peter's particular problems, so she was surprised to see that he was willing to let Tom help him.

"Let's go."

The elevator door was about to close, and Tina pulled Stephanie into it.

In the elevator, Tina and Stephanie have been staring at Peter curiously.

He squinted his eyes slightly and unceremoniously pressed most of his body's weight on Tom's body.

He is already drunk and delirious, but there is still some subconsciousness, but the reaction has become a lot slower, he subconsciously feels that it is too hard for Tina to support him.

He was also reluctant to be tired and cold.

Although he and Tom are unfamiliar, they have cooperated recently, and maybe they can be close in the future.

When the elevator reached the first floor, a group of people came out of the elevator. Tina saw a group of people not far away, and they formed a noisy circle, as if they were surrounding something.

It's like watching the excitement.

When a waiter happened to pass by, Stephanie stopped and asked, "What happened there?"

The waiter was embarrassed: "A customer is drunk, but please rest assured, we will send him home as soon as possible."

The guests got drunk and started making trouble in the lobby. This matter should indeed be handled by the prosperous people, no wonder the waiter was embarrassed.

When the waiter left, Stephanie said with a look of excitement: "There are so many people drinking today? I'll go and see."

Although it is said to be surrounded by a group of people to watch the excitement, in fact the number of people is not large. After all, people who come to Best Day for consumption are people with a good face. Even if they are curious, they will rarely really stay and watch the fun. Feel that watching the excitement drop shares.

Stephanie walked away from the crowd and ran back after seeing it: "Laughing to death, the man said that he is a fish and he has no legs to swim, and he has to breathe with his cheeks hahaha!"

Tina heard that, as she passed by, she couldn't help but look over there. She just heard someone yelling: "The fish has no feet, what about my fish tail? Who stole my fish tail?"

The voice sounded familiar.

She stopped, squeezed in, and saw Cody lying on the floor learning to swim.

A waiter was about to come over to pull him up, Cody rolled back and rolled further: "You vicious fishermen, don't dare to catch me!"

Then, he "swims" desperately again, trying to escape the restraint of the waiter.

Tina turned her head and glanced at Peter with a dull expression. She now feels that Peter is not a drunk at all.

Cody is.

Cody is afraid that after he wakes up, he won't want to go out for ten and a half months.

Chapter 1492

If it had to be miserable, Cody would be even more miserable.

Cody's friends, friends and dogs probably also felt that Cody was ashamed, and no one cared about him, so they left him lying here alone.

And those waiters can't help it. The guests who come to Best Day are either rich and influential. Whether they are injured or offended, they are not good.

So it created a situation like this.

Peter, who had always looked sluggish, suddenly tilted his head: "I seem to hear the voice of Cody."

Tina pointed at Cody who was "swimming" on the ground with his chin in an angry expression: "You did a good job, Mr. Scott is still swimming there now."

"When did Karl carry me in the Jindingxiu swimming pool?" Peter thought very seriously, with big doubts in his small eyes.

Tina ignored him, turned his head and said to Tom: "Just laughed, Mr. Allison."

CEO Allison pulled the corner of his lips, saying that this was not a very small matter, and he was still used as a walking stick by Peter.

A group of people walked out and reached the door when Peter suddenly stopped leaving.

Everyone turned their heads to look at him and saw Peter's eyes lit up: "Cody was the ugliest when he was swimming, I want to make a video to laugh at him!"

Tina pursed his lips as if he hadn't heard Peter's nonsense.

It's been long enough tonight, and Peter can't let Peter go home anymore.

Stephanie and Tom obviously had the same idea as Tina, and they all walked out quickly, for fear that Peter would make another moth.

Peter didn't take it seriously, so he fumbled around for the phone.

After searching for a long time, he found that the phone was gone, so he stopped: "Ms. Weber, the phone is gone!"

Stephanie turned her head to look at Tina, "Is my cousin calling you?"

Tina sniffed a little uncomfortably, and said to Peter out of breath, "Buy a phone if it is gone."

"Oh."

Peter seemed to have thought of something: "It will cost money."

Tina: "I'll buy it for you!"

Peter: "But Mom said that you can't spend a woman's money."

Tina: "She is wrong, so shut up."

Peter: "Oh."

Finally, Tom carried Peter into the car.

They all drank, and they all added taxis.

After Tina and Peter left, Stephanie was also ready to leave, and turned to bid farewell to Tom: "Mr. Allison, I'll go first."

Tom was sorting out his clothes. Just now he almost carried Peter out, and his clothes were a little wrinkled.

Hearing this, he raised his eyes, frowning his brows slightly: "I will drop you."

"You're drunk, you can't drive." Stephanie didn't know why Tom was so persistent to send her home, so she had to remind him that he was drinking in the bar just now.

Tom lowered his eyes: "I can't drive, can I still take a car?"

The voice was mild as usual, but Stephanie felt that his words were a bit aggressive, and she heard a hint of anger inexplicably.

Good point, why are you angry?

Did she offend him just now?

"I!" Stephanie opened her mouth to "I" for a long time, and didn't know what to say, so she lowered her head and turned to stop the car.

Forget it.

She and Tom talked a bit congenial today, but that doesn't mean anything. For a person like Tom, he can chat with anyone if he wants to.

Besides, he has a fiancée.

Not only that, but he also likes Ms. Tina.

A lively sc*m man.

The more Stephanie thought about it, the more she didn't care about him.

Chapter 1493

At this point in time, Best Day's door was still a good stop.

Stephanie quickly stopped a taxi.

The taxi driver stopped the car, and Stephanie thought for a while, still felt that out of politeness, she should also say "goodbye" to Tom.

Thinking about this, she turned her head and looked at Tom: "Mr. Allison, I will first!"

Only halfway through her words, Tom suddenly raised his foot, she walked over and opened the taxi door first, and stepped up with his long legs.

Stephanie:???

What is Tom doing?

She obviously stopped the car. Does he want to grab her car?

Stephanie originally wanted to talk to him nicely, but now she couldn't calm down.

She increased her tone and stared at Tom: "CEO Allison, I stopped this car."

Tom raised his eyes slightly: "Get in the car."

These four short words convey a pressure that cannot be ignored.

This reminded her of Peter when he was angry.

Peter is a few years older than her, and she has stayed with Peter. He is in charge of her most of the time. He usually talks well, but it's not like that all the time. She doesn't dare to make any trouble.

Stephanie suddenly understood that Tom was going to take her home by taxi.

She thought that Tom had dispelled this idea, but she didn't expect him to still insist on sending her home.

This isâ€¦ surprising.

She felt hesitant, but forced by Tom's sharp eyes, she climbed into the car silently.

The cabin was extremely quiet, and the atmosphere was unbelievably weird.

The taxi driver hit the meter, started the car, and glanced in the rearview mirror.

Tom didn't have any expression on his face, but he sat upright and looked cold. At first glance, he was a rich and influential person. It seemed that he was not easy to provoke or talk to.

Stephanie, who was on the side, looked a little easier to talk to.

The driver said aloud to the direction where Stephanie was sitting: "Where are you going?"

Stephanie heard this and turned to look at Tom.

Tom felt Stephanie's gaze and glanced at her: "I don't know where you live?"

Hearing this tone, as if she owed him money.

Stephanie pouted her lips and reported her address to the driver.

After listening, the driver didn't look back anymore, and stepped on the accelerator to move the car forward.

Stephanie's place is not very far away, and they arrived in half an hour.

"I'm here." Stephanie put one hand on the door handle of the car, ready to get off directly, signaling Tom to leave the car without getting off.

Tom didn't speak, and directly opened the door on the other side.

Stephanie opened her mouth slightly in surprise, and got out of the car after paying the fare.

When she got out of the car, the taxi flew out like an arrow from the string.

Stephanie turned her face away, avoided the dust raised by the car, and asked Tom: "What are you doing why you got off the car? In our community it is not easy to get a taxi."

Peter has always been willing to spend money on people close to him. Stephanie had no money when she escaped from marriage. This house was also rented to her by Peter. It was in a prime location and a high-end community. The rent was hundreds of thousands a year.

Just because it is a high-end community, it is not easy to take a taxi.

Tom didn't seem to hear Stephanie's words, and asked in a serious manner: "I took you back, don't you plan to invite me to drink a glass of water?"

Stephanie was stunned, and she hesitated and said: "It's not so good! It's midnight, otherwise! I'll invite you to dinner another day?"

Chapter 1494

Stephanie regretted after saying this.

She didn't even want Tom to drop her off, now she is fine, and she has to invite him to eat for nothing.

Her rent was paid by Peter, and her living expenses were subsidized by him too, but she was too embarrassed to ask Peter all the time. After paying her salary a few days ago, she let Peter not have to pay her living expenses.

Unexpectedly, the wages in hand hadn't been calculated enough, and they would be used to invite Tom to dinner.

A boss like Tom can't be too shabby if she invites him to a meal.

"I didn't see it, Miss Stephanie is still a rich little woman, who can afford the rent here, and still have enough money to buy me a dinner."

Tom laughed, gentle and harmless.

But Stephanie always felt that he was mocking her.

"Actually, it's okay!" Stephanie was too lazy to explain to Tom in detail, always finding it strange that the explanation was too clear.

Tom did not intend to let her go like this.

Tom's smile deepened, and he said: "Miss Stephanie, although you are Miss Weber's agent now, you are still in the internship period. As far as I know, the salary during the internship period should not be enough to pay one month's rent here."

Stephanie looked at Tom incredulously: "Are you investigating me?"

If it weren't for investigating her, how could Tom, a big boss, know her salary.

Tom said lightly: "This does not require investigation, it is just a matter of common sense."

Stephanie felt that she was despised again.

She became more and more confused about what Tom was thinking, and she simply pointed out the words.

"Mr. Allison, I don't know why you have to take a taxi with me to take me home, but I know that we are not in a relationship of 'dropping each other home'. You are also a person with a fiancée, and you should respect yourself. Right."

Stephanie's tone was extremely serious.

She felt that if she were to be taken in a mirror at this time, she would be able to see her solemn look like an old cadre in the mirror.

This is the first time she has tried to persuade people so seriously.

Before, she was persuaded by others.

Self-respect?

This little girl persuades him to respect himself?

Tom contemplated briefly for a while, then let out a low laugh.

If she changes to another woman, she won't refuse or pierce, half-pushing and half-pushing.

She's better, just let him respect himself.

This little girl is indeed innocent, no wonder parents like her, even if she has run away, they still have to let her come to see them.

"I was abrupt today, Miss Stephanie, forgive me." Tom looked at Stephanie's eyes with a very sincere attitude.

Stephanie felt that she couldn't hate Tom again.

The attitude of apologizing is too sincere.

She pursed her lips: "Then— Let's go, I'm going up, how do you go?"

"I'll let the driver come and pick you up, so go up first." It's getting late, it's time to go back and rest.

Stephanie nodded, walked into the community, and after a few steps, she looked back at Tom quietly.

Tom stood under the street lamp, tall and slender, with the smell of wine near the speed breaker.

It's a pity that there is a fiancée.

Stephanie sighed again and hurried into the community.

Back home, she called Tina.

"Ms. Tina, are you home yet?"

Tina and Peter had just arrived home, and Peter fell asleep on the way back. She had to find a security guard to bring Peter up. At the moment, she was wiping Peter's face.

"Just arrived." Tina turned on the phone and put it aside, and continued to wipe Peter's face, and asked, "Tom sent you home?"

Chapter 1495

Stephanie choked and said in a low voice, "How did you know Mr. Allison was going to send me home?"

Tina laughed: "Guess, Mr. Allison is such a gentleman."

Stephanie and Tina have a good relationship. Naturally, she didn't intend to hide and tuck her in. She directly expressed her thoughts: "I think Mr. Allison is very contradictory. He seems to be very shrewd and gentleman, but He has a fiancée and insists on sending me home. Feels like he is sc*mbag!"

Tina was silent after hearing this.

Stephanie thought Tina was thinking about whether Tom was a sc*m.

As a result, after a while, she heard Tina asking unclearly, "Mr. Allison insists on sending you home?"

"Yeah, but that's not the point. Ms. Tina, will you catch the point?" Stephanie was a little tired. She felt that Tina was not on the same channel as her, and she felt unclear.

"Why didn't I grasp the point, what do you think of Tom?" Tina asked her.

"Smart, capable, and good-looking" Stephanie came back to his senses again: "But what does this have to do with me? He has a fiancée, and he also sent me home. Does he want to step on his feet? Two boats?"

The more Stephanie thinks about it, the more she feels something is wrong. Tom seems to like Tina. Peter, who was asleep on the bed, frowned uncomfortably and kicked the quilt. It was probably noisy by Stephanie's voice.

Tina turned off the hands-free and put the phone to his ear: "I'll talk about it tomorrow, if you have something, it's late today, go to bed early."

"I" Stephanie actually has something to say, but Tina has hung up the phone.

â€

Peter was very drunk this time, and his sleep went straight from night before to the evening of the next day.

When Tina went out in the morning, she ordered breakfast and put it on the dining table. She also left a note for him to heat it up in the microwave when he woke up.

Tina went out in the morning because there was a charity event that needed her to participate, so she went out early in the morning.

Busy till two or three o'clock in the afternoon, it was dusk when she got home.

As soon as she opened the door, she felt that the room was quiet.

"Peter?"

Tina closed the door with her backhand, and called Peter's name in the room.

No, respond.

When she changed her shoes and walked in, she found that the breakfast on the table was left unsealed. It shouldn't.

If Peter wakes up, he will definitely see the breakfast, and he must also guess that she bought it for him. Even if he has to go out in a hurry, he will eat the breakfast she bought before leaving.

Tina walked to the door of the bedroom and opened the door gently, only to find that the bed was still falling.

Tina froze for a moment, then sighed helplessly, it turned out that he hadn't woken up yet.

Tina went to the bed and sat down, thinking about whether to wake him up, he pulled the quilt down by himself, looking as if he just woke up.

"Awake?" Tina asked him.

Peter stared at Tina for a few seconds, and then suddenly reached out and rubbed his eyes vigorously: "I am not awake, I am just dreaming."

If it were not a dream, how could it be possible to see Tina as soon as he woke up.

Tina heard his tone and felt quite normal.

This time it should be completely sober.

She unceremoniously opened the quilt, and in Peter's sluggish expression, she pointed to the bathroom and said, "Go to the bathroom and wash out immediately. Let's chat."

The word "chat" was accented.

Tina left after speaking.

Peter rubbed his temples. What did he do yesterday?

Chapter 1496

Women have more or less choice difficulties.

Tina came out of the bedroom and half-leaned on the sofa to order takeaway.

It's just that she picked it for a long time and didn't want to order any takeaway.

It was tangled until Peter got out of the shower and put on clothes.

Peter took a bath and became sober a lot. He vaguely remembered that he had a drink with Cody last night and drank Cody's to drowning.

Then he went downstairs very smartly to find Tina on the bar floor.

The memory was broken when he left Cody, and he couldn't remember the following things even if he wanted to break his head.

"What are you doing?" Peter smiled and walked to the side of Tina to sit down, and looked at her mobile phone.

Tina was watching the takeaway, so she calmly handed the phone to him and let him see it for himself.

"Order takeaway? Will it taste too strong in the morning?" Peter saw the shops Tina browsed, full of fish and shrimps.

Tina didn't speak, and pressed the phone's power button to lock the screen without saying a word, and then pressed the screen again to let Peter see the time.

Peter took a closer look and found that it was almost six o'clock in the evening.

"f*ck!" Peter widened his eyes: "I slept for so long?"

Tina was not in a hurry to watch the takeaway. She was still not very hungry, and Peter didn't seem to be too hungry with such spirit.

She put the phone aside, wrapped her arms, and said blankly: "Peter, can you fight with people without moving? Are you harming others? Or are you short-lived?"

Peter let out a slow "Ah", realizing that Tina was very serious at the moment, and couldn't help but straighten up slowly.

"That'sâ€¦ if I don't drink, I can't give Cody a mealâ€¦!" Peter felt that there was nothing wrong with doing this, but Tina looked unhappy, and her momentum weakened.

She was a little helpless.

In fact, a drink is nothing.

She got up, took something from her bag, and handed it to him.

He looked down and found that it was a medical examination report. He looked at Tina inquiringly.

"Yours, in the morning, Rubin couldn't find you, so he called me and gave me this by the way." Tina explained.

Peter looks tall and thin, and is also exercising, but in fact, he is not particularly healthy.

Often staying up late, smoking and drinking a lot, this is the lifestyle of young people.

And Peter is in his early thirties.

It's no longer a teenager to be a vigorous teenager.

At a certain age, one has to learn to admit defeat.

Peter flipped through the physical examination records, coughed lightly, and forcibly explained: "I was in a bad condition during the physical examination days, which is not usually the case."

Tina suddenly changed the subject: "I thought about it. Let's find a time to make it public."

What she said before was not to account for Peter.

However, this medical report made her realize that she and Peter had missed too much time that they should have been together.

The past can no longer be returned.

But they, at least can live up to the present and every day in the future.

"Public?" Peter blinked, with a dull expression, and asked her uncertainly, "Is that what you meant?"

Tina answered decisively: "Yes."

Happiness came too suddenly, leaving Peter at a loss for a while.

He sat for a while before digesting what Tina had said in his mind.

"Then I will now think about the public plan, how to minimize the impact on you." Tina's publicizing her love actually has no effect on her, but she is in love with him.

Chapter 1497

Peter said as he touched his pocket. After a while without touching the phone, he stood up and walked to the bedroom.

"What are you going to do?" Tina asked him.

Peter stopped, and answered her solemnly: "I'll get the phone."

He didn't know that his phone had been lost, and he didn't touch it in his pocket, so he thought it was in there.

Tina felt that his awkward look was funny, and she didn't tell him that the phone had actually been lost, only a faint "Oh".

Peter didn't doubt he was there, so he lifted his foot into the bedroom.

He looked around in the bedroom, even the carpet was lifted up, but he couldn't find the phone, so he went out again and went to the living room.

"My phone is gone." Peter scratched his head and walked out with a puzzled expression on his face, looking a little dumb.

Tina laughed at him: "Are you still drunk? You lost your cell phone."

Peter was stunned for a moment, not knowing what he thought of, went to sit down beside Tina, did not speak, just laughed.

Tina glanced at him: "What is your expression?"

"I vaguely remember that someone said to buy a mobile phone for me." Peter was a real fragment, he just vaguely remembered Tina as if he had said, whether it was real or he had fabricated it out of imagination, he didn't know.

Tina glared at him, "You remember this kind of thing clearly."

Peter hadn't eaten anything for a day. Tina was afraid that he would be hungry, so she no longer entangled with him. She threw the phone to him: "Look up what you want to eat."

Peter picked up the phone and smiled flatteringly: "I am really hungry if I haven't eaten for a day."

"I bought breakfast for you and put it on the table. Who do you blame for getting up late?" Tina took a pillow and turned on the TV.

Coincidentally, it happened to be broadcasting "My Life and Me" on TV.

What's more coincidental is that Peter's somber plot happened to be on screen.

He also heard his own voice.

He raised his head and looked at the TV screen.

When this episode was recorded, he and Cathy were still in a so-called "couple" relationship, so they were close together and looked very intimate.

Peter himself was a bit distracting. He turned his head, glanced at his sullen expression carefully, and said, "I heard that there was a period drama that is pretty good recently. I heard Karl say that Alyssa is there. Chasing this drama."

"You made the variety show invested by the boss like this. Does he still care about you? Also, haven't you watched Alyssa's Moments? She has been so busy recently that she has no time to chase after a drama."

Tina exposed Peter mercilessly.

Peter pursed his lips, looking like nothing to say.

This is indeed the case.

Karl and Alyssa have been busy recently, but they don't know what they are doing.

Anyway, there is no time to care about him.

It's also possible that Karl really didn't want to talk to him.

"Okay, hurry up and order. I'm starving to death." Tina changed the channel and didn't continue the topic.

Peter ordered the food very quickly, anyway, just order what Tina likes. There is no need to think about anything else. There is no difficulty at all, and there is nothing to entangle.

After ordering dinner, Peter found that there was still breakfast on the table that Tina had bought for him. He had to heat it up and eat it, but he couldn't stop it.

In the end, Peter not only ate the breakfast that had been left for the whole day, but also ate dinner with Tina.

Finally, he was able to walk back and forth in the room to digest the food.

Chapter 1498

Tina watched Peter walk back and forth in the room with a serious face, and smiled dully while covering her lips.

Then, she asked Peter about Stephanie and Tom.

"Tom is the fianc  who is full of arrangements for her parents?"

Peter's footsteps stopped for a while, and he seemed to think about it carefully, and then said, "It should be."

Tina smashed a pillow and said, "What should it be? Be more precise."

"Yes, yes." Peter quickly changed his words, holding the pillow that Tina had hit just now, and continued walking back and forth.

Talking about Tom while walking.

"I don't know Tom very well. He didn't live in Rostenvel when he was a child. I also went home last time. Hearing my dad mentioned it, I knew that the full fiancée was a mutual friend, and she was considered young. Why, the means are also available."

Tina asked, "Then you knew from the beginning that Tom was full of fiances?"

Peter nodded.

"You know, didn't you tell Stephanie?" Tina raised a pillow, and slammed Peter's body again.

Peter threw the pillow in his arms and surrendered: "It wasn't intentional. It wasn't that Stephanie wanted to get Tom to get along with him without knowing that Tom was her fiancée, and see if he could develop a relationship."

Tina put down the pillow in her hand: "I don't think it's fair, does Tom know that Stephanie is his fiancée?"

Looking at Tom's attitude towards Stephanie, we can see that Tom should know her.

However, Stephanie knew nothing about Tom's identity, and she was completely in the dark.

"If Tom wants to know, he will just check it out." Peter said: "Their marriage contract was actually made by the adults of both sides. I have never seen him before. I have grown up with her, even if it is a business marriage. You can't just find a second generation ancestor."

"Do the girls from the Grant family still need a business marriage?" Tina looked at Peter with a smile.

Grant's family in Rostenvel stock market can be regarded as a big tree with deep roots. The number of paths it takes is different from that of Adams' family, but the foundation is fairly solid.

"You know, my grandfather started in the dark. After my dad and my mom got married, they washed their hands in the golden basin and spent more than ten years cleaning the Grant family's property. In fact, the Grant family is not as stable as imagined."

Peter's tone became heavier, and he walked over to Tina and sat down.

Tina pursed the corners of her lips: "Why do you want girls to get married? Why don't you men get married?"

Tina's heart was a bit full of injustice for Grant.

Stephanie is careless and simple, but she actually lives very clearly.

She told Tina before that she thought that fiancée was older and that she didn't like the old man. In fact, it was just a fake excuse.

The fundamental reason for Stephanie's escape from marriage should be her dislike of commercial marriages.

She didn't dislike the other person's age, she just didn't want her marriage to be just a transaction.

Judging from Peter's attitude, he doesn't seem to think there is any problem with commercial marriage.

Peter really looked down and thought.

Tina slowly sat up straight, does this dog man really want to engage in business marriage.

At this time, Peter turned his head and looked at her with a deep expression and a startling expression: "If I were a woman, I would marry Karl. What else is Alyssa?"

Tina kicked him: "You can break or bend him if you are a man!"

Chapter 1499

Peter "hehe" smiled: "Isn't there you? Without you, Alyssa would have no chance."

As Peter said, he also slapped her hair very irritably.

"Then I really delayed you." Tina "cut".

Peter leaned over again facelessly, and was pushed away by Tina, "You can go, go back to your own house and eat, don't bother me here."

"OK." Peter stood up and walked directly to the door.

When he arrived at the door, Peter turned his head and smiled at Tina, "We will have breakfast tomorrow morning?"

There was a hint of expectation in his tone.

Tina nodded, and Peter left happily.

Looking at the closed door, Tina still couldn't react.

Peter really left like this?

So obedient?

She thought that Peter would still be scornful, so she had to stay.

â€!

The next morning, he came down early to find her.

Tina yawned, opened the door and let him in: "So early?"

"Of course, I should make breakfast as soon as possible." Peter said, and also showed her the breakfast ingredients in his hand.

Before Tina finished yawning, she was immediately scared back: "Make breakfast?"

Peter nodded.

Tina asked uncertainly: "You?"

"Of course." Peter said and patted her on the head: "Mr. Peter's cooking skills are absolutely amazing!"

He squeezed past Tina, who was still stunned.

What did she hear?

Peter is going to make breakfast.

He can cook?

Impossible!

She didn't believe this Sir Grant would cook breakfast.

She moved to the door of the kitchen, looked inside, and saw that Peter was picking up the ingredients, she tentatively said, "Actually, I want to eat steamed dumplings!"

Actually, she didn't want to eat steamed dumplings. The main reason was that she found that the ingredients that Peter brought could not make steamed dumplings. Since they couldn't make steamed dumplings, she must go out to eat them.

When you go out to eat, you don't need to eat Peter's dark dishes.

Peter is a man who has cooked up the kitchen.

She dare not bet!

"Eat the steamed dumplings at noon." Peter refused without looking back.

Tina was not good at attacking Peter's enthusiasm.

Although the two are used to hurting each other, she can see that he really wants to make breakfast this time.

Tina left the kitchen, returned to the room, and sent WeChat to Alyssa.

"Alyssa, I would like to ask you a question."

Alyssa's work and rest have always been standard, and she must have woken up at this point in time.

Sure enough, not long after the WeChat message was sent, she received a reply.

Alyssa: "What's the problem?"

Tina: "If a boyfriend who doesn't know how to cook will cook if he is gentle and does not spoil his feelings?"

Alyssa: "Did you make a boyfriend?"

Tina remembered that she hadn't told Alyssa before that she planned to start again with Peter.

Alyssa sent another voice message over.

After a little bit of cool play, Alyssa asked, "Are you and Peter done?"

Tina felt a little guilty and embarrassed.

Then a little bunny's expression was returned: "[um.jpg]"

She waited for Alyssa to continue asking about her and Peter, but she didn't expect Alyssa to reply to her: "Since it's your brother Peter, then you don't have to worry about his cooking skills."

Brother Peterâ€¦

After all, Alyssa had failed to learn from the boss of Adams' University, so she teased her like this.

Chapter 1500

But there is another problem.

Why would Alyssa let her rest assured of Peter's cooking skills?

Tina: "?????"

After returning a few question marks, Tina felt that it was still not enough to express her inner shock.

She quickly typed and edited a message: "Alyssa, you don't know anything about Peter's cooking skills. He is a man who can even burn the kitchen. Can I eat what he makes?"

"Forget it, I don't expect the things he made can be eaten, at least not to be poisoned? So Alyssa, don't you love me? Are you trying to let me be poisoned to death by Peter?"

"So, love will disappear right?"

Alyssa knew that Tina was deliberately talking nonsense, and smiled back to her: "Peter's learning from me."

Tina was shocked.

Peter went to Alyssa to learn how to cook.

Tina directly dialed a video call to her.

Alyssa picked it up quickly.

"Tina." Alyssa's background was in the garden. Karl passed by behind with water, and after putting down the water glass, he said hello to Tina.

Tina waved her hands to Karl, "Mr. Adams is early."

Karl nodded slightly and left.

As soon as Karl left, Tina asked Alyssa anxiously, "Peter really asked you to learn how to cook?"

"Yes, I'm still learning fast. Smart people learn everything very quickly." Alyssa said with a smile.

Tina: "You still praise him."

Alyssa's smile deepened: "Yeah, is he your boyfriend after all? Would he like to make breakfast for you? Does he make lunch too? He has learned your favorite dishes."

Tina was startled: "When did you learn it?"

She didn't even know.

Peter is actually very busy at work, there is still time to learn these things.

For those who know how to cook, learning new dishes is easy.

But Peter had never been in the kitchen since he was a child, and he was a real Sir who did not touch the sun and water.

It was really hard for her to imagine that Peter wore an apron and immersed his head in the kitchen to deal with those meaty bones and meat!

She can't imagine it.

"That's right, when Cathy didn't reveal the pregnancy." Alyssa thought about it carefully and determined it was this time: "It should be right then, so did he make lunch and dinner for you?"

Why do you ask about lunch again?

Tina reacted fiercely, Alyssa had something to say.

"Alyssa, you are not innocent anymore. If you want to ask if Peter and I live together, you can ask directly, and deliberately ask if he makes lunch for me!"

Tina shook her head, showing a very disappointed expression.

Alyssa was dismantled, but instead smiled and asked, "Is there?"

"Nothing." Tina curled her lips and smiled: "However, I plan to make it public with him."

A second ago, Alyssa's face was still smiling, but after listening to Tina's words, the smile on her face suddenly faded a lot.

After a few seconds, Alyssa slowly said, "It's open now, okay?"

When Alyssa asked, it meant that she felt it was bad.

Peter has caused so many things. Although he is a prosperous young and promising CEO in his career, his relationships with women is a mess.

Moreover, Cathy's incident has not passed long.

As soon as the wind passed, he announced his relationship with Tina, which was obviously not good for Tina.

Tina has been in the entertainment industry over the years, and there is no black material.

As for Peter, it is possible that he will become a desolate black material.
