

Predestined 151

Chapter 151

Luther is young and loves to play. It is natural to come to the dinner party.

But he forgot that he had secretly returned to the country before. Seeing his uncle later, he would definitely have to cross-examine.

Luther was so annoyed that he wanted to grab his hair, but when he thought that he had just done a styling, he put his hand back abruptly.

Alyssa explained for Luther: "Luther has been back for a while and has been living with us. His family also knows."

Powell is a subordinate who knows how to measure, and naturally doesn't overwhelm him.

He took Alyssa and Luther to the lounge to see Trevor.

â€¦

Trevor was the same as when Alyssa saw him last time, still calm and peaceful.

Karl looked very similar to Trevor, but there was a gloomy aura on Karl's body, and there was always a haze in his eyes.

When Trevor saw Alyssa, he was also slightly stunned: "Alyssa?"

"Dad." Alyssa walked up to him and called out obediently.

Trevor hadn't seen Alyssa return to her original appearance, and was surprised and normal.

After all, he is not an ordinary person. After a brief surprise, he quickly returned to his normal expression: "Where is Karl?"

"Heâ€¦ didn't feel well, so he didn't come." The lie opened her mouth and Alyssa didn't even feel too guilty, she felt extremely surprised.

Fortunately, Trevor didn't seem to care whether Karl would come.

He nodded: "Yeah."

Trevor glanced at Luther, who was standing behind Alyssa, and said, "You're also here. Let's talk and chat with you young people."

Powell had already told him about Luther, and he didn't ask much.

Luther smiled quietly and obediently: "Uncle, let's go first."

After leaving the lounge, Luther gave Alyssa a thumbs up: "Sister Alyssa, you are so amazing, you dare to lie in front of your uncle!"

"It's not a lie, it's an excuse." Alyssa shook her head and said, "You think he doesn't know that Karl is unwilling to come. It's just that he asked. I'll find an excuse to prevaricate. You won't lose face, nothing more."

"It turned out to be like this, you adults are so complicated." The last word "oh", Luther's final sound dragged the old man.

Alyssa glared at him with a smile, and heard Gerald's gentle voice behind: "Luther, Alyssa."

Although Luther had previously said that Gerald was also here, Alyssa didn't take it seriously, as a result, she ran into him when she went out.

It's embarrassing!

Alyssa turned her face and smiled stiffly: "Big Brother."

Luther also called out, "Brother."

"You just arrived?" Without waiting for them to answer, Luther glanced behind Alyssa's body again: "Karl is not here again."

"He is uncomfortable!" The excuse that she had just said smoothly in front of Trevor, when he arrived at Gerald's place, Alyssa felt a little uncomfortable.

Gerald showed a clear look and changed the subject and said, "I'll take you around."

After he finished speaking, he turned and walked ahead first.

Luther was obviously a brother-in-law, he touched Alyssa with his arm: "My brother is handsome, right?"

"Yeah." Alyssa nodded: "The acting is also great."

Gerald is a handsome actor with acting skills, but not many movies have been made in the past two years.

Luther was not satisfied with her answer: "Why do you answer so perfunctorily? Do you think he is more handsome than my cousin?"

Alyssa thought about it seriously before saying, "Karl."

Although Gerald looks good, the most attractive thing about him is his gentle temperament.

Karl and Gerald are two completely opposite types of people. There is always a lingering gloomy aura on Karl, but if someone looks at it, he must be the first to be attracted by his face.

"What's your vision?" Luther turned his head and stared at her eyes: "Are your eyes broken?"

Alyssa glared at him: "Your eyes are broken!"

After that, she felt that she was arguing with a child like Luther about this kind of thing, and it seemed very shameless, so she snorted and speeded up to move forward.

Luther followed and said quietly to her: "My eyes may be really broken. I often think that my cousin looks better than my brother, but I think my brother is better."

Alyssa was a little bit dumbfounded.

But she also felt a little emotional.

Gerald entered the entertainment industry early and didn't spend much time with Luther. Luther and Karl lived together when they were young, and he and Karl might have been closer to each other.

Sometimes, blood relationship is not the only measure of distance.

â€

There were a lot of people at the banquet, most of whom were well-known figures in Rostenvel.

Alyssa walked down with Trevor in a circle, laughing so that the corners of her mouth were stiff, and her legs seemed to be cramping.

Fortunately, Trevor was going to meet someone, so he temporarily left the banquet hall and did not let Alyssa follow.

Luther didn't know where he went to play. Alyssa looked around and didn't see anyone else, so she found a corner and sat down to rest.

The corner she was in was not very noticeable, and soon two women came over with wine glasses and sat down not far away.

The sound of their dialogue reached Alyssa's ears clearly.

"Isn't that the third lady in Adams' family is ugly and stupid? It doesn't look like it!"

"Everyone knows that this banquet held by Adams' family today was to introduce the new young female to everyone. They don't want face, it must have gone to find a woman elsewhere to make up the numberâ€"

"I think so too, look at the makeup she wore with that dress, like a lady in KTVâ€"

Alyssa glanced down at her V-neck red dress.

There is no chest or back, only a section of the arm is exposed. The length of the skirt covers the knees. How does this look like Miss KTV wears?

But is there a lady in KTV now?

This was not over yet, Alyssa heard the two people next to her start talking about her again.

"I think her breasts are fake too!"

"That must be fake, have you ever seen a woman with such a thin waist and big breast?"

"Aren't those stars?"

“Are there few celebrities who have plastic surgery? When we see her later, we will pretend to bump into her chest. You can see her reaction and you will know that she has realâ€!”

puff–

Alyssa squirted out the water from the mouth.

Is there something wrong with these two women?

Even if she had plastic surgery and cut their flesh, still it cost them money?

Alyssa put the water glass in her hand heavily on the small table in front of her. Since the small table was made of glass, it immediately made a “crispy” sound.

The voice caught the attention of the two women.

Seeing them looking over, Alyssa stood up and walked towards them.

Chapter 152

After the two women saw that it was Alyssa, their expressions were panicked, and then they pretended to be calm and called her: “Mrs. Adams.”

“What are the two young ladies talking about? I’ll join in the fun too, do you have any comments?”

Alyssa sat directly between the two women, with her head upright, her hands on the skirts, and her two straight legs overlapped, posing a standard, beautiful and very ladylike sitting posture.

She took etiquette classes when she was in college, otherwise she would definitely suffer stage fright if she came to this kind of banquet.

The two women were embarrassed, knowing that Alyssa had already heard their conversation.

People with a little bit of face feel embarrassed when they are caught talking about others behind their backs.

“Ms. Alyssa, she is joking, you are willing to chat with us, of course we can’t ask for it.” One of the women said quickly to please.

Another woman immediately followed suit: “Yes, Miss Adams, your skin is so good, how do you maintain it?”

Alyssa’s skin is pale, and she looks really envious.

“Maintenance?” Alyssa turned to look at her, her cat eyes widened slightly, showing a very surprised expression: “I never take care of it, I am born with it.”

After Alyssa had finished speaking, she glanced at the woman’s face with a sensible look, and then leaned over to look curiously: “Your jaw is so beautiful, natural?”

The woman was very proud: “Of course.”

“Oh? Then you should be okay with a poke?” Alyssa showed an expression of eagerness.

The most indispensable thing in the film academy is natural beauties. You can tell if you have a knife on your face.

The woman's face changed slightly when she heard the words: "This is my chin; finally got a little knock, Miss Adams, please act lightly!"

Alyssa smiled: "Okay."

Her smile made women hairy.

Only after Alyssa stretched out her hand, the woman stretched out her hand nervously to cover her face, but she unexpectedly hit her chin with her palm because she was too nervous.

"Ah-my jaw!" The woman screamed, got up and ran away.

When the other woman saw this, her eyes widened: "She does her chin do?"

"Yes." Alyssa blinked at her, and leaned in mysteriously: "Quietly tell you, her breasts have also been done."

The woman's eyes widened: "bltch, what a natural beauty, leaning on a plastic face, grabbing my man, damn it!"

After speaking, the woman got up and left aggressively.

Alyssa: "!"

She was just upset that the two women said her face was fake, and wanted to come over to find a place, but she didn't expect these two women to tear up first.

"After looking for you for a long time, I didn't expect you to be here."

Gerald's voice suddenly came. Alyssa looked up and saw that Gerald had already walked to her.

His face was reddish, and he seemed to have drunk a lot of alcohol.

Alyssa moved aside, giving up her seat for Gerald to sit.

"Big brother, have you seen Luther?" She was going to go back, but she was fine now anyway.

Gerald smiled and shook his head: "I didn't see him, I don't know where he is going, please call him later."

"Also."

At this time, a waiter was passing by, and Alyssa called the waiter: "Thank you to pour a cup of hot water."

The Waiter Yz quickly poured a cup of hot water over, and Alyssa took it and handed it to Gerald: "Brother, you drank a lot of bars."

Gerald was taken aback, and then said, "Not much."

After he finished speaking, he reached out to pick up the water glass in Alyssa's hand, but he just held it in Alyssa's hand holding the cup.

Alyssa felt the unfamiliar temperature in her hand, and she was shocked to let go, but Gerald's hand happened to hold her, and she was holding the cup again, and she couldn't let it go.

Alyssa was a little disgusted by being touched by someone else's, but she thought Gerald was drunk and dazzled, so she frowned and said patiently: "Big brother, you are drunk, you are holding my hand, not the cup."

However, Gerald seemed to have not heard it, and squeezed her hand tighter and tighter, without any intention to loosen it.

Alyssa struggled, but did not break away.

She frowned and was about to stand up, when a familiar figure suddenly jumped out, stretched out her hand and chopped a knife on Gerald's wrist, but Gerald did not let go.

Alyssa raised her head and saw Karl's gloomy face.

Seeing that Gerald did not let go, he directly pulled Alyssa out with force.

Gerald squeezed tightly. When Alyssa's hand was pulled out abruptly, the entire back of her fingers was red, a bit painful, and all the water in the cup spilled out. Due to inertia, a large part of it spilled on her body.

"Lisa!"

A large area of the red dress was soaked, it was originally very thin, and it was very indecent after soaking.

Karl took off his suit and put it on Alyssa, and then ordered: "Send Big Brother back."

At this time, Alyssa realized that Smith was also behind Karl.

"you!"

Alyssa wanted to ask him how he came, but only when she spoke, she was brutally dragged by Karl to the back door of the banquet hall.

They were now located just not far from the back door of the banquet hall. Karl walked quickly in three steps and two steps, as if he didn't want to listen to Alyssa at all.

Alyssa was pulled out by him forcibly. After walking at the banquet in high heels for so long, she had leg soreness at first, but she couldn't keep up with Karl's footsteps at all. She just walked out of the back door of the banquet hall. Wicked feet.

Alyssa took a breath of air in pain, while Karl was in anger. He didn't notice her condition at all and pulled her to the elevator.

Alyssa stunned again unexpectedly.

She was so painful that her tears were coming out, and she yelled at Karl unbearably, "Let me go!"

Karl stopped now, and when he turned his head to look at her, his face was still gloomy.

It's just that when he saw Alyssa's tearful eyes, his complexion suddenly changed. He looked down and asked, "Did I get your feet?"

Alyssa sneered, "Thanks to you."

Karl squatted down to look at her feet, Alyssa took a step back with the pain, bends down, took off her shoes and threw them directly on him, and walked barefoot.

A hotel waiter passed by, looking at her curiously.

Alyssa glanced at the waiter coldly: "What are you looking at? Haven't seen anyone walking barefoot?"

The waiter at the seven-star hotel is well-trained and quickly bent over and said, "Sorry, do you need me to call a doctor for you?"

Alyssa turned her head and glanced at Karl, who was still standing there, looking unpredictable.

She showed him a mocking smile, and a waiter was more caring than him.

Chapter 153

Her feet hurt so badly that Alyssa limped while walking.

She could feel the sharp gaze behind her, she bit her lip, and entered the elevator without stopping.

When she pressed the close button, she did not see Karl catching up.

Her heart felt a little cold, and her complexion turned pale.

The elevator slowly descended, and Alyssa felt that her heart was also falling.

â€¦

After getting out of the elevator, she saw Luther.

Luther saw Alyssa walking out barefoot with red-eye frames, and looked surprised, walked over to support her, and whispered, "Sister Alyssa."

"Why are you here?" Alyssa's feet hurt so badly that her crippled foot couldn't touch the ground at all, she could only rely on Luther to support her.

Luther glanced at her secretly, and then said vaguely: "My brotherâ€¦heâ€¦he didn't mean itâ€¦"

"Yeah," Alyssa replied, carelessly.

Now, it doesn't matter to her whether Gerald intentionally.

What matters is Karl's attitude.

It was him who asked her to come to the dinner, and it was he who suddenly ran over to get angry.

Even if Gerald shook her hand, let alone whether he was intentional or unintentional, could this be the reason why Karl was so angry and angry that he didn't care about her feelings?

Luther keenly felt that Alyssa's current mood was very bad, and he stopped talking, just carefully supporting her.

When Karl came later, Luther was the first to see him, and then he saw Luther pulling Alyssa out. The two seemed to quarrel, and then Alyssa entered the elevator.

After Alyssa entered the elevator, Karl was still standing there. Luther looked anxious, but he also felt that Karl was not easy to provoke at that time, so he retreated and went down from the elevator on the other side to wait for him to warm.

Luther was thinking about the matter, and suddenly heard Alyssa next to him quietly asking him: "Who is Lisa?"

"Who are you talking about?" Luther turned his head fiercely, a flash of shock in his eyes.

Alyssa let go of his hand, fixedly looking at Luther, and repeated: "Lisa."

In the banquet hall before, she heard Gerald call this name.

When Luther heard the name, a trace of sadness appeared on his immature face: "How do you know her?"

Although Luther is now in a period of voice change, and his voice is a bit rough, Alyssa can still hear the hoarseness in his voice.

This is enough to explain a lot of problems.

Gerald knew "Lisa" and had a good relationship with her, and Luther also knew her and had a good relationship.

Perhaps Karl also knew "Lisa".

Alyssa suddenly remembered the last time when she went to Gerald's house to talk about endorsements, Gerald looked at her as if looking at another person through her.

"Do I look like her?"

After Alyssa finished speaking, she realized that she had already said what she thought of.

Luther nodded subconsciously, and then suddenly shook his head: "No!"

"Be honest." Alyssa increased her tone.

Luther lowered his head and whispered, "Like."

"Well, I see." Alyssa let go of his hand: "I will go back first."

Looking at the reactions of Gerald and Luther, Alyssa knew that "Lisa" was a very important person to them.

In this way, she would feel that Gerald's kindness to her and Luther's closeness to her seemed like she had stolen something from someone else.

It's all like she stole it.

Gerald is a young Superstar, even if he is not an actor, his family background is not high enough for ordinary people, but he is so gentle and close to her.

Luther is the youngest, good-looking, smart, and temperamental. He is also a favored boy in Adams' family. How could he be so close to her?

But because she looks like that "Lisa".

What about Karl?

Alyssa had an inexplicable premonition, she felt that Karl also knew the woman named "Lisa".

Was it because she and "Lisa" looked similar, so he was so interested in her from the beginning?

Alyssa laughed at herself and looked back at Luther who was following her not too far away: "Don't follow me."

Alyssa stood at the door of the hotel with a cold face, her face was white, and her whole body showed a bit of abruptness, not at all like Alyssa who always smiled at him.

Luther felt a little uncomfortable, wanted to say something, but didn't know what to say, and was afraid that he would say something wrong.

Finally, he asked tentatively: "Then you will go back to your cousin, right?"

He has been with Alyssa for so long, and he knows a little about Alyssa's temper.

Alyssa looked at him cautiously, even the small curly hair that usually looked very foreign, at this time, looked wrong.

"do not know."

At this time, a hotel waiter brought shoes for Alyssa.

Alyssa thanked him, put it on and went out.

She did nothing wrong and didn't need to torture herself.

She even regretted that the strength of smashing Karl with the shoes was too weak, and it would definitely not hurt at all to hit him.

She regrets it.

In the deep winter weather, Alyssa stopped outside and her whole body was shivering with cold.

However, there were no taxis at the entrance of this seven-star hotel, and Alyssa had to limp to continue walking.

When she finally got to the car, the phone rang suddenly.

Her heart jumped abruptly, bit her lip a little nervously, and when she picked it up, she realized that it wasn't Karl's call, it was Tina.

Alyssa couldn't tell how she felt in her heart, as if she was relieved, and she seemed to sink.

She answered the phone: "Tina."

The calm voice was still as energetic as ever.

"Did you go to Adams' dinner tonight? I saw your picture in a WeChat group! It's just overwhelming the audience!"

Alyssa smiled, her voice lacking vitality: "No, there are many beautiful women at the party."

"How can they be compared to you!" Tina finished speaking, and realized that Alyssa was a little bit wrong: "What's wrong with you? Your voice doesn't sound like much strength. Did something happen at the banquet?"

Alyssa did not answer, but instead asked her: "Are you at home?"

Tina replied: "Yeah."

"Then I'll come to find you." Alyssa hung up after speaking and reported Tina's address to the driver.

When the driver heard this address, he asked Alyssa: "Your friend is a celebrity?"

Tina lives in a high-end residential area, where many celebrities live, which is not a secret in Rostenvel.

Alyssa nodded: "Yeah."

When getting of the car, the taxi driver handed his jacket to Alyssa: "It's strange to wear such a skirt in winter. You can wait for a friend to pick you up and wait a while. Put your clothes on, don't freeze. You might have a cold."

Chapter 154

Alyssa looked at the gray cotton-padded coat in the driver's hand, and tears burst into her eyes.

She couldn't tell why, but she suddenly felt sad.

The driver is an uncle, and when he saw Alyssa crying, he scratched his head anxiously: "Don't cry, others will take it another way!"

Alyssa burst into laughter: "Thank you, I'm not afraid of the cold. You have to drive late, right? My physique is so cold that it will be fine for a while.

She is really not cold now, and her heart is warm.

The uncle driver thought that Alyssa thought his coat was not good-looking, so he didn't say much.

Alyssa got out of the car, and only after watching the taxi go far, did she take out her mobile phone to call Tina.

Only after the call was made, she heard a familiar ringtone ringing nearby.

Then, she heard a cool voice not far away: "Hey, are you there yet?"

Alyssa hung up the phone and waved to Tina, "I am here."

Tina ran over, wrapped like a rice dumpling, with a coat in her hand.

“f*ck, beautiful Frozen, this temperature is almost ten degrees below zero, so you came from the banquet in this way?” Although Tina said that, the movement of her hands is not at all. Unambiguously, she directly put on the coat in her hands to help Alyssa.

Alyssa sniffed: “Yes, everyone is watching me along the way, and I feel like I’m amazing.”

â€¦

The two returned to the Tina’s home together.

She doesn’t spend much time at home, so the house is a little messy.

The heating in the room was sufficient, and she poured a cup of hot water as soon as the door was cold.

Before Tina at the gate of the community, she didn’t pay attention to it. Now the light in the room is bright, and Tina found that Alyssa’s eyes were red.

Tina frowned and sat down beside her: “What’s the matter with you?”

“Ah? It’s okay. When I got off the bus before, the uncle driver saw me wearing this kind of clothes and he wanted to give me his jacket. I was so touched.”

Seeing that she didn’t seem to be joking, Tina nodded, “Of course there are still many nice people in this world.”

After she finished speaking, she felt as if she thought of something, and said with feeling: “A stranger’s small actions can make people particularly moving, and the small mistakes of the people around them will be infinitely magnified, no matter what they are right before. How nice you are, it’s useless.”

Alyssa asked, “Are you talking about Peter?”

“Who is talking about that smelly man?” Tina sneered, “Heh, man!”

Alyssa leaned back gently, without speaking.

“If you’re not happy, just have a drink. It’s been a long time since the two of us have a drink together.” Tina said, and went to get the wine.

Alyssa: “â€¦”

They went to the bar for a drink last timeâ€¦

â€¦

Tina loves to drink, but that doesn’t mean she is drinking too much.

Drink it when it’s time to drink, never drink it when she works, and don’t drink it if she’s not close to her.

Alyssa learned to drink while being pulled by Tina.

After drinking half a bottle of red wine, the two were already a little drunk.

Leaning on her head, she fell on the sofa to talk.

“I think Peter is a b!tch!”

“Well, so is Karl.”

“Peter has scandals constantly, and he said he is innocent and he is blind as an old lady!”

“Well, Karl doesn’t seem to be.”

“Peter”

The phone’s ringtone interrupted Tina’s words.

She squinted at the caller ID, a string of strange numbers.

Tina answered the phone: “Why? Sell insurance? I don’t buy it!”

A low male voice rang on the other end of the phone: “I am Karl.”

Karl?

Tina was full of excitement, and most of her drunkenness disappeared.

As she was about to speak, Karl on the other end of the phone said, “Don’t say anything, I will ask you to answer. Say yes or no.”

Tina subconsciously responded, “Oh.”

Then she was a little confused, why did she listen to Karl’s words.

As if he knew what she was thinking, Karl said faintly, “Peter wants to be your agent.”

Tina exploded at once: “He is dreaming!”

“Ok.”

Only then did Tina remember that Karl was her boss!

“Where is Alyssa?”

Tina glanced at Alyssa, who was drinking, and said, “Yes.”

“She took a taxi by herself?”

“Otherwise, you sent her here?” Speaking of this, she was a little angry.

Alyssa has already told Tina about the banquet and her guess. Tina has a straightforward temperament, and now listening to Karl’s question, she wants to frustrate him.

As if he hadn’t heard the bad tone in her tone, Karl said directly: “Don’t let her drink, let her go to bed early.”

“Haha, I have already drunk half a bottle, I still have a cabinet of wine!”

Alyssa squinted and leaned over: “Who are you calling?”

She feels very good, and there are no outsiders, Alyssa is quite free.

She leaned against Tina and said, "I remember, although Karl has no scandal, there is white moonlight in his heart! He, man!"

There was deathly silence on the other side of the phone.

Tina shuddered, and quickly reached out and pushed Alyssa to the other side: "Stop talking."

Alyssa could speak energetically, and continued to move towards her: "I tell you, it is really not easy for a man like Karl to marry a wife. It's like an untimely bomb, than a woman's menop@use It's scaryâ€¦"

Tina quietly lighted a piece of wax for Alyssa in her heart. Just about to hang up, she heard Karl's low voice ringing quietly: "Don't hang up, let her continue."

Tina: "â€¦"

On one side is the big boss who can kill her with a finger, and on the other side is the good sister who has fought over the wall together with her. What will she do?

Finally, before Tina had figured out where to stand, Karl came to the door.

Tina stood at the door with the expression on her face like seeing a ghost: "Boss, when did you come?"

Karl did not speak, but looked over her and looked inside.

Tina stepped aside, and Karl's eyes widened, just in time to see Alyssa, who was wearing loose house clothes, curled up on the sofa, drinking with a wine glass.

His complexion darkened.

Tina swallowed nervously, intending to excuse herself.

As a result, Karl seemed to have forgotten what he said before that Alyssa should not drink, but instead bowed his head and asked her, "Should I take off my shoes?"

Tina nodded in surprise: "I want toâ€¦"

Hearing this, Karl bent over and took off his shoes, and walked in towards Alyssa.

Tina looked at the high-end custom-made leather shoes at the door, blinking her eyes blankly.

The big boss came into her house and even asked if she wanted him to take off his shoes!

In this way, it seems that he is not so hateful!

Being so polite is not overbearing at all! But Tina felt that she was going to become a fan!

Chapter 155

Now, who still likes the kind of bossy and unreasonable boss, just like the calm, restrained and self-cultivation!

Tina walked to the corner and looked at Karl and Alyssa.

After a few seconds, she realized that this is her home!

This is her home, why should she sneak like a thief!

Thinking about this, she cleared her throat and walked over.

Karl stood in front of Alyssa and called her name.

“Alyssa.”

Alyssa was just a little drunk. Hearing this familiar voice, her whole body was agitated, and her mind was more than half awake.

Karl stood tall in front of her, facing the light, his handsome face looked a little gloomy.

Alyssa grabbed a pillow and hugged it in her arms, only to feel a little bit of security.

“What are you doing here?” Alyssa asked him indifferently, tilting her head.

“Take you to the doctor.”

As Karl said, his gaze shifted down, and landed on her ankle, which was already swollen like a big steamed bun.

Alyssa looked down along with his sight. She hadn’t noticed just now while chatting and drinking with Tina. Now she was really swollen a bit terribly.

“I have my own hands and feet, I will go to see a doctor myself.” Alyssa said impatiently: “You are a big man, what is it that you run into someone’s unmarried girl’s house in the middle of the night? Besides, Miss Tina is still a star!”

Karl responded indifferently, “Yes.”

His gentle reaction made Alyssa feel a little strange.

In the next moment, Karl suddenly bent over and hugged her.

“You are right, we will leave right away,” Karl said as he walked towards the door holding her.

After passing through Tina, Karl said very politely: “Excuse me.”

Tina nodded blankly: “No, nothing!”

“I won’t go back! I’ll see the doctor by myself! You let me down!”

Alyssa couldn’t assume that nothing had happened before, so she just followed Karl back.

Karl completely ignored her words and had no plans to put her down at all.

Tina walked to the door and watched Alyssa struggling to scold Karl, but Karl held her steady as a mountain and entered the elevator.

Tina held the door frame and murmured: “Dominant BOSS, it’s still very exciting!”

“!”

In the car.

Karl put Alyssa into the position of the co-pilot, buckled the seat belt, and went around to drive on the other side.

Alyssa heard the sound of a safety lock.

She glanced at Karl: "Why do you lock the door? Do you think I can jump off the car just to fight with you?"

"I don't think so." Karl looked at the front blankly.

Alyssa snorted, and then heard Karl say something lightly: "But what if your brain gets flooded and you want to jump down?"

Alyssa: "â€¦!"

She felt that it was a miracle that Karl could still have friends.

â€¦!

When he arrived at the hospital, Karl took a coat from behind and wrapped Alyssa, holding her in to see the doctor.

She noticed that the clothes Karl wrapped around her were her own coat.

When she went to the banquet, she brought only a shawl.

So, Karl would go to the banquet before, was it to give her clothes?

It was late at night and there were not many people in the hospital.

However, when Karl came in holding Alyssa, it still attracted the attention of many people.

Alyssa had a thin face, and whispered to Karl, "Let me down, I can walk by myself."

"OK."

Karl answered simply, but Alyssa was somewhat confused in her heart.

Karl put her on the ground, let go, and looked at her with arms around her: "Let's go."

Alyssa's feet hurt so badly now that she moved, she couldn't get off the ground at all.

Thinking she can't leave like this?

Alyssa bent her legs and leaned on the wall to go to the clinic.

At this time, she was somewhat thankful that she was in good health.

Karl's complexion suddenly turned black, and an old lady happened to pass by.

The old lady glanced at Karl, and said to the person next to her: "The man is not considerate to his girlfriend at all. The girl's feet are so swollen that she feels distressed when I look at itâ€¦!"

Karl's complexion darkened, but she corrected herself: "It's not a girlfriend, it's a wife."

“This is even more chilling, this kind of man, divorce early.”

The old lady was very energetic and her voice was loud, even Alyssa, who had already jumped to the front, heard it.

She chuckled.

The old lady Belinda smiled and said: “Little girl, I have a grandson who is a manager of AdamPic Media. He works well and looks good. You divorced your husband. Consider my grandson!”

“â€¦” Alyssa couldn’t laugh.

Karl walked forward with a calm face: “We won’t get a divorce!”

His complexion was too gloomy, the old lady seemed to be frightened, and did not dare to speak anymore, but looked at Alyssa with a worried look and turned away.

Alyssa smiled apologetically at the old lady.

This old lady’s thinking is weird and trendy, and most old people persuade them to join in but not to leave.

“What to look at! Let’s go!” Karl said impatiently.

â€¦

Alyssa looked at her feet, it was already one or two in the morning.

The winter in Rostenvel is very cold, and the temperature at night is more than ten degrees below zero.

This time Karl hugged her out, and she did not resist it anymore.

The two went straight back home.

When Karl held Alyssa upstairs, Luther appeared at the top of the stairs, squinting his eyes with a messy little curly hair.

When he saw that person Karl was holding was Alyssa, his eyes widened: “Sister Alyssa! You are back!”

“Why are you not sleeping yet?”

Luther scratched his hair and said, “I got up to go to the bathroomâ€¦”

Squinting his eyes was obviously too sleepy, and his face didn’t look like he woke up at midnight, obviously he didn’t sleep.

When the two returned to the room, Karl went to the bathroom to drain water.

Alyssa lay on the bed with a headache.

Went to a dinner party, and it was a little annoying that so many things happened in a circle.

It didn’t take long for Karl to come out: “The water is ready, take a bath.”

Alyssa jumped into the bathroom, but Karl did not go out.

She turned her head and said impatiently: "Why do you stand here?"
The next words were interrupted by Karl's sudden kiss.

Karl's arm was tightly wrapped around her waist, with great strength, and the kiss was heavy.

Taking off her high heels, Alyssa could only hold her head up and accept his kiss without the height advantage.

Alyssa was pushed against the wall by him, with a cold wall on one side and a hot-hot chest on the other. This feeling was not at all uncomfortable.

But Karl didn't give her a chance to resist.

Chapter 156

Karl is now very skillful in taking off her clothes.

Alyssa didn't want to do such a thing with Karl in this situation, but her body had already softened, and she finally let Karl succeed.

When he did this kind of thing, he was not gentle at all, just like his usual style, but he didn't touch her swollen ankle as if paying special attention.

This bath took a long time.

When Karl was wrapped in a bath towel and carried her out, Alyssa couldn't lift her eyelids and fell asleep directly.

€

Early the next morning.

When she woke up, she heard the very faint sound of walking in the room.

Although the people walking back and forth had deliberately slowed down, the room was too quiet, Alyssa could still hear it.

She opened her eyes and saw Karl coming out of the cloakroom in a formal suit.

As soon as he came out, he moved his gaze to the bed, matching Alyssa's sleepy and hazy eyes.

Karl paused, then walked over: "You woke up."

Alyssa snorted: "I can't see if I have eyes?"

After speaking, she turned her back to Karl.

When she came back last night, she was unhappy at first, but Karl still €

The more she thinks about it, the more she gets angry.

Karl looked at the back of Alyssa's head with an unpredictable expression.

In the end, he just said faintly: "I have something to do, but I will be back soon."

Alyssa responded coldly and warmly, "Oh."

Karl was dissatisfied with her lukewarm attitude, frowned slightly, his palms were slightly squeezed, and then suddenly loosened, he abruptly got up and pulled her shoulders, kissed randomly, and felt a little more relaxed.

"Karl, you are endless, hurry up when you have things to do!" Alyssa finally couldn't help but erupt.

She turned over and sat up, shouting at Karl.

Just after waking up from sleep, Alyssa's hair was messy, and the bangs on her forehead were even more messy. With a face, she looked a little childish.

Karl was not only not angry, but thought she was a little cute like this, so he curled his lips and smiled.

Alyssa felt that he looked like a mentally ill person.

For a shameless person like Karl, she could not be more shameless than him anyway.

She just missed him, she would ignore his head office!

Alyssa got out of bed, forgetting that she had a broken foot, and stepped on it, making her forehead sweat.

Karl curled his eyebrows and came to help her: "Are you a pig?"

"Am I a pig, don't you know as my husband?" Alyssa sneered.

Although she was a bit stupid when she stepped on her sore feet, it was impossible to be scolded obediently.

Karl raised his eyebrows and didn't say much, but he didn't leave immediately. Instead, he stood at the bathroom door and stared at Alyssa washing, as if he was afraid that she would step on that crooked foot again.

After Alyssa washed up, she saw Karl throwing a suit of sportswear onto the bed.

"What are you doing?"

"Wear this."

"Don't care what I wear!" Alyssa felt that the man was very long-winded. Half an hour ago he said that he had something to go out for. He still went out to get her clothes even now.

Karl didn't speak, but took a deep look at her, Alyssa's eyes were deep, making her a little frustrated.

Thinking about it this way, she felt that she was very presumptuous in front of Karl this morning, and had been harassing him, but he was not angry.

Is it because of yesterday's incident, he felt guilty, so he indulged her so much?

Just as she was thinking, suddenly there was the sound of the door opening.

Alyssa looked up, just in time to see Karl's back disappearing outside the door.

Finally gone!

!

Alyssa finally wore the sports suit that Karl gave her.

The sportswear was originally loose, but it was a winter model. It looked very bloated and not beautiful at all, but she could only wear this.

When she went downstairs, the hall was empty.

It's just that, soon a bodyguard came out: "Young lady, what do you want to eat?"

"Whatever." Alyssa was stunned for a moment, this mysterious style really resembles Karl.

Alyssa was sitting at the dining table, while she was able to eat while calling Tina.

"You just let me be taken away by Karl last night? What about being a sister for a lifetime?"

"Being a sister for a lifetime, then you have to guarantee a small life first! Karl is now my big boss, if I dare to defy him, can he just pinch me to death?"

!" She and Tina maybe plastic sisters.

The two hummed for a while, then hung up.

There are new message reminders on WeChat.

Alyssa opened it and found that someone had added her.

The avatar is a picture of the sea, and the nickname is a simple "GR".

Alyssa paused with her fingers, and hesitated back and forth between ignoring and doubling.

She probably guessed who it was.

What happened last night made Alyssa a little bit separated from the two men Gerald and Karl.

After hesitating for a while, Alyssa still added him.

As soon as she added a friend, "GR" quickly sent her a message.

[Alyssa, this is Gerald.]

Alyssa didn't reply to him immediately, so Gerald continued to message her.

[What happened last night, I'm sorry, there will be no next time.]

[How are you and Karl?]

He sent three messages in a row, but Alyssa did not respond.

She actually didn't know how to reply.

After a while, Alyssa replied: [Hmm.]

She understood why Karl liked to use the word “um” to answer questions, which was simple and convenient, and could avoid unnecessary embarrassment.

Gerald: [That’s good.]

[I want to find time to invite you and Karl to have a meal.]

This time, Alyssa said without even thinking: [You can ask Karl about this.]

Alyssa stared at the phone in a daze.

“Sister Alyssa.”

Luther’s voice came from behind.

Alyssa looked back at him: “Have you eaten?”

Luther yawned and sat down opposite her: “I have eaten.”

He came down to eat in the morning, and then went back to sleep.

“You haven’t answered me yesterday’s question,” Alyssa spoke suddenly, and Luther didn’t react for a while.

“What is the problem?”

Alyssa said quietly: “About Lisa.”

This question is most appropriate to ask Luther.

Luther was stunned for a moment, and the expression on his little face narrowed: “She was our neighbor. She often comes to our house to play. She is very nice.”

Alyssa had already guessed that this “Lisa” had a good relationship with them, and she was not surprised to hear Luther say this.

She asked a question she most wanted to know: “Does Karl know her too?”

“Well, my cousin knew her too. At that time, my cousin, my brother, and here, they hang out together”

After Luther finished speaking, he realized that he seemed to have said something that shouldn’t be said.

Chapter 157

Luther looked up and looked carefully at Alyssa’s face.

Finding Alyssa’s face as usual, she continued: “Sister Lisa was a photographer. Once she went to take a snow scene and encountered an avalanche. The search and rescue team never found her”

Speaking of the back, Luther’s voice became quieter.

Alyssa was taken aback for a moment, not knowing what to say for a while.

“When did that happen?” Alyssa asked him, raising her head.

Luther said: “Five years ago.”

“Your brother and her?”

Luther pursed his lips and looked a little sad with the corner of his eyes hanging down: “She was my brother’s fiancée.”

Alyssa opened her mouth, feeling a little dumb for a moment.

She lowered her head and glanced at the message that her cell phone friend Gerald had sent her, and moved her finger to reply: “Okay, I will talk to Karl.”

In the avalanche, the search and rescue team did not find anyone. To a large extent, they had already lost their lives. They were buried in the snow and could not be found.

Alyssa felt a little congested in her heart, all the previous emotions were gone.

Long ago, Alyssa had vaguely felt that Karl seemed to dislike her too much contact with Gerald.

Thinking about it now, that’s probably the reason.

Alyssa asked Luther again: “I really look a lot like her?”

Seeing Alyssa’s face as usual, Luther said truthfully, “I think you look alike.”

Alyssa fell silent and stopped talking.

“”

Before eating lunch, Karl came back.

The lunch was made by bodyguards, and Alyssa is now a wounded woman, so it is naturally impossible for her to cook.

Karl put down his chopsticks without eating much, and Alyssa didn’t eat much, only Luther ate the most vigorously.

Luther had eaten in two and then went out.

Karl and Alyssa were still sitting face to face, and Karl suddenly said, “What do you want to say?”

Alyssa looked up in surprise, she didn’t even speak, he knew she had something to tell him?

Karl could see her thoughts from her expression: “You are writing all over your face, you have something to tell me, you have a question to ask me.”

“” Alyssa touched her face, is it so obvious?

Alyssa cleared her throat: “Can I ask anything?”

Karl picked it up slightly. When he was going out in the morning, when the woman was talking to him, she wanted to bite him. Now that she was hesitant to talk, he was even more suspicious.

Karl curled his lips and looked at her with a smile, "Since you know that you can't ask, then don't ask."

"Only you are allowed to investigate me, I can't ask you questions?" Alyssa also smiled with her lips curled, and stared at him with bright eyes: "You also think I look like Lisa, don't I?"

Karl's originally laid-back expression on his face suddenly constricted, and his expression became a little gloomy: "Luther told you?"

"If it is something that I really want to know, even if others don't tell me, I can still find it!"

After Karl heard this, he had determined that Luther had told her about this. He narrowed his eyes and said, "He told you that you are very similar to Lisa?"

Lisa?

It's so kind.

Karl always called her "Alyssa", and when she wanted her to attend the dinner, he called her "wife".

Alyssa felt that she was ridiculous, and she was jealous of a woman who was most likely not in this world.

Alyssa pursed her lips, her face stretched without speaking.

Karl suddenly said, "I don't think you are alike at all."

He dropped these words, got up and left.

â€¦

Because of the mention of Lisa, Alyssa and Karl hadn't eased the relationship, and they became more stalemate.

Staying with Karl, Alyssa felt that everything was not right. At night, she simply hugged her pillow and went to sleep in the room she had previously lived in.

She just lay down on the bed, and Karl found her.

He stood at the door, embracing his arms and looking at her blankly: "Alyssa, are you going to sleep in a separate room without me?"

Karl's expressionless expression made Alyssa a little embarrassed.

She hesitated for a while, and found an excuse to say: "I have a foot injury, I am afraid you will not pay attention to touching my foot at night."

Karl heard the words, and the corners of his lips curled up in a mocking arc: "You fainted in the bathroom last night. I didn't even touch your feet. Can I touch them after I sleep?"

"â€¦" Alyssa's face flushed, her lips opened, but she couldn't find what she wanted to say.

She threw the small pillow next to Karl, "You go out!"

Karl avoided lightly, his tone lightened slightly: "Stop making trouble, go to the room to sleep."

Obviously she had been making faces for him all day, although he usually didn't have any expressions, but today is very different, with fewer words, colder expressions, and occasionally walks away.

He was fine when he came back, and since she mentioned Lisa to him, he was not right.

Do you really think she can't tell?

He could check her out and everything that happened to her since childhood, but she just asked him about his cousin's fiancée, and he was so abnormal.

Because other women are so abnormal, can't she express dissatisfaction and unhappy?

Does this seem to be nonsense in his eyes?

What he does is right, she expresses her dissatisfaction is just a fool?

fck him-fcking bullsh!t!

Alyssa thought more and more angry: "Don't go back!"

And what happened at the banquet that day was also Alyssa's heart knot.

"At the dinner that day, the eldest brother just held my hand, why are you reacting so strongly? What are you suspicious of! What are you angry about? Even if you are angry, you can go and fight with your elder brother! You toss me What kind of act is that?"

The more Alyssa thought about it, the more she felt wronged and unwilling, her voice was sharp and a little aggressive.

Very few people and events can affect Karl's emotions, and his series of inexplicable reactions are all related to Lisa.

"Your reaction is so big because you think I look like Lisa a long time ago, right? And Gerald also thinks I look like Lisa, so he held me in a loss when he drank alcohol. Didn't let go of my hand, you just know this and you get angry!"

"Karl, ask yourself whether you are angry that Gerald shook my hand or that Gerald shook Lisa's hand!"

"You said that you don't think I and Lisa look alike, it's a lie at all, you are lying to me!"

Alyssa finished speaking in one breath, feeling a little agitated, and she felt a little panting.

Karl stood at the door with his face sinking like water, and only after a while said aloud, "Do you think so?"

"It doesn't matter what I think, the key is what you think in your heart!" Alyssa smiled sourly: "When I first married into Adams' family, although you acted like you disliked me, you always teased me because of my looks like Lisa, right?"

This time, the gloominess on Karl's face gradually cracked, revealing a hint of panic: "Alyssa, don't talk nonsense!"

Chapter 158

Alyssa held the corner of her mouth with a cold smile: "You dare not answer, because you know very well in your heart that you will approach me only because I look like Lisa Palmer."

Luther said that Lisa's surname was Palmer.

Karl was kind to her, and special to her, never because she was Alyssa, but because she looked like a woman named Lisa Palmer.

He kept showing her, then looked at another woman.

His kindness to her was also passed on to her by his longing for another woman.

She hadn't owned anything, all of this belonged to the woman named Lisa Palmer.

Even though Alyssa had already understood all this in her heart, she still hoped to get a negative answer from Karl in her heart.

She hoped to hear the word "no" in his mouth.

However, Karl did not.

He turned around and slammed the door out, hurriedly back.

Alyssa leaned her head back against the bed and looked at the ceiling with her eyes wide open.

Looking up, the tears won't fall as expected.

â€¦

on Monday.

Alyssa went to work with a cane.

Because Mr. Hunt came back to take charge of the overall situation, the entire company was reorganizing and everyone was very busy.

Alyssa injured her foot and was still assigned to work, but it was relatively easier.

Busy time is always fast. When the busy time is over, it is already seven o'clock in the evening.

Other colleagues next to her are discussing where to go for dinner.

Seeing that Alyssa was still there, they asked whether they were polite or sincere: "Alyssa, do you want to go together?"

"Okay." Alyssa said with a smile.

They froze for a moment, seeming to feel a little surprised.

In the end, Alyssa could not go to dinner with them, because Tina called her and asked her to help Tina send a set of clothes.

When Alyssa heard this, she felt that it was not easy: "What happened to you?"

"It's a long story. Anyway, I'm stuck in the locker room, and someone may come in at any time."

Tina's voice still sounded very calm, and Alyssa felt a chuckle in her heart: "Send me the address, and I'll be there soon."

She suddenly remembered that when Tina first entered the circle, she often complained to Alyssa, how those people rectified new people, how shameless.

Tina even said: "Leave the circle and forget it, anyway, I can live a leisurely life without doing anything while lying at home."

As a result, she got up early the next morning and went to make an announcement.

Because she likes acting.

A person who has no desires can live his life very simple.

However, if you have what you want and have extravagant desires, you are destined to embark on a difficult journey.

Just like when she decided to accept Karl, she has embarked on a road that was destined to be uneven.

Even if she gets hurt, falls down, and gets abandoned, that's her own choice.

If she decides to leave now, will she be able to return to the original point and everything will be the same?

Without thinking about it, Alyssa took a taxi to the mall, and quickly bought a set of clothes for Tina inside and out.

â€

The place where Tina shot the advertisement was in a temporary studio, and even the dressing room was temporarily constructed, which was not safe.

After Alyssa got in, it took a while to find the locker room.

She whispered all the way: "Tina?"

Tina was finally found in the small dressing room in the corner.

"Alyssa, are you here?" The calm voice sounded a little hoarse.

When Alyssa first came in, she felt it was cold in the dressing room, and those people even turned off the heating. This is a change of tricks and wanting to die!

Alyssa passed the clothes in.

After a while, she heard Tina's voice: "Damn, my hands are frozen and I can't put on clothesâ€" â€" Alyssa suddenly felt that her worries were unnecessary.

Alyssa had to go in and help her get dressed.

After getting dressed, Tina said with a grin: "If you were a man, I would marry you."

"I am beautiful." Alyssa snorted, "If I were a man, I must find a woman like me."

Tina: “â€¦”

When the two were about to go out, they heard the sound of dialogue outside.

“Which locker room is Tina in?”

“Look for them one by one. The room is so cold, where can she hide without clothes?”

“These women’s methods of punishing people are really the same every dayâ€¦”

“I’ve seen Tina movies, and she has a good bodyâ€¦”

When Tina heard this, she couldn’t help it anymore, raising her foot and rushing out.

Alyssa stopped her and said in a low voice, “Wait for them to find it, then beat them and send them to the police station. You will scare them away if you go out now.”

Tina then retreated angrily.

Soon the two men found the locker room where Tina and Alyssa were.

Two men walked up one after another, and the man behind was still holding a camera.

Tina had long been unable to hold it back anymore, and greeted the man directly with a punch. The man with the camera behind him saw that the situation was wrong and wanted to run away.

Alyssa jumped over with a cane and hit him hard on the head.

Tina solved the two men two or three times, carrying one in her hand and stepping on one under her feet: “The person who hired you to take pictures of me must be a fool? Isn’t it just taking a picture? It costs such a big time.”

Hearing what Tina said, Alyssa felt lingering fears.

Fortunately, the person who wanted to harm Tina was a fool.

â€¦

Tina and Alyssa called the police and went to the police station together.

The police looked at Alyssa and Tina, who were intact, and at the two men who were already black and swollen and wanted to take a sneak shot. Their expressions were a little weird.

The little girls nowadays, their fighting power really cannot be underestimated.

Karl and Peter arrived before the two of them finished the transcript.

Peter seemed to have rushed over, with messy hair and a coat on him. The collar of the turtleneck sweater inside rolled in and turned out.

He ran over to Tina and asked nervously, “Tina, are you all right!”

Tina pinched her throat and said softly: “It’s okayâ€¦ I just feel terribleâ€¦”

Alyssa trembled all over, although she had just heard Tina speak in this tone, she still felt goosebumps all over her body.

But Peter believed that it was true: "Don't be afraid, I will kill them for you!"

The police said: "This is the police station."

Tina turned her head to look at the policeman, sniffed, and said softly, "I really didn't beat them, but they fell."

The dramatist who talked nonsense with his eyes open said that it was so cold.

"Yes, how could we two girls beat them like that, besides, my feet still look like this!" Alyssa said with a serious face, the police actually believed it.

Chapter 159

The transcript was a young policeman with little experience. Alyssa and Tina pretended to be innocent and pitiful. They were dubious. They couldn't believe that their two girls with slender and weak hair would beat the two men bruise them and leave swollen.

Although the police had doubts in their hearts, even if they knew in their hearts that Alyssa and Tina were responsible for this kind of thing, they would not be clear about it. After all, they also hate such criminals.

There are many things that can be explained without reason, and it is also good to be able to make some malicious people remember.

The two men who were beaten were naturally unwilling.

One of them said aloud: "Police, she really beat me! I swear to God!"

The policeman made a serious face and asked seriously, "Is there any evidence?"

This question is a bit tricky.

There was surveillance at the entrance of the dressing room, but not inside. The person who hired them to take the videos had taken everything away to be on the safe side. Where could they go to find evidence?

The man dissatisfied: "Of course the evidence is for your police to investigate!"

Alyssa looked at the man in a cool tone, and said in a serious tone: "You can choose to sue us."

The man glared at Alyssa and stopped talking.

To prosecute such small cases, it hurts the wealth, not to mention, in the end, even if they are dying, they don't have a lot of money, and they just take money to do things and don't want to get involved.

In the end, the two people who came to sneak a photo of Tina were not only beaten up by Tina and Alyssa, but they were also detained in the police station for half a month.

â€¦

Karl came with Peter. When Peter was speaking, he kept silent.

When going out, Alyssa passed in front of him, and he caught her arm unpredictably.

Alyssa tried to pull her arm out, but she didn't succeed. She was impatient to look up at him, and when she was about to speak, she heard Karl's indifferent voice: "Nothing?"

Last night the two broke up unhappily, and Alyssa didn't have a good face: "What do you want me to do? Let go!"

The man that annoys the most is to drag her not to let go.

When you see a person pleasing to the eye, you will feel that his nose picking is particularly good-looking, but when he is not pleasing to the eye, you will find him an eyesore.

Karl's pupils shrank suddenly, and the emotions in his eyes were complicated and difficult to distinguish.

Two seconds later, he released Alyssa.

Alyssa walked directly past him.

When she arrived at the police station lobby, she saw Tina surrounded by two policewomen, several people talking and laughing.

Alyssa came closer and heard their conversation.

"Don't worry, we will help you entertain those two people!"

"I hate the people who use this kind of abuse!"

"Your new movie will be released next month, right?"

"Take a photo."

Alyssa smiled and stood still and did not move forward.

The two policewomen had other jobs, so they hurriedly took photos with Tina and left.

"It's good to be a celebrity. You can meet fans everywhere, and they have to help you out." Alyssa walked over and teased her aloud.

"Yes." Tina hooked Alyssa's shoulders and asked her: "Then when will you jump out of the Hunt's fire pit and write the script?"

Having said that, Tina knocked on her head and said, "Look at my memory. Last time I showed one of your scripts to a director. He seemed to like it, but seeing you are a newcomer, he will definitely lower the price. ."

"Really?" Alyssa heard this, with a touch of joy in her eyes: "The price can be negotiated."

When Alyssa was in school, she also wrote some scripts to make money, but most of them were not high in price, enough for pocket money.

She has written about micro movies, small web dramas, online movies, and writing customized themes.

In recent years, suspense dramas have come rapidly, and Gerald has always been an actor acting in suspense dramas. She herself likes this category, so she started to write suspense scripts.

It took her a lot of thought to read the book and check the information, and she wrote it off and on for half a year, but she hadn't finished it yet.

"A lot of directors in the circle now speak out and say that they all want suspenseful scripts. I will help you ask a few more. You can pick them out. If you don't talk about it, you won't sell them!"

Tina breathed a lot, Alyssa sounded funny.

Peter, who had not said anything, suddenly said at this moment: "Alyssa, what script you wrote, can bring it to me, and I will ask the director of the company to help you see it."

Peter was kind, but his immediate boss was Karl.

Alyssa shook her head, and said slightly alienated, "No, thank you."

Speaking of Karl, Alyssa realized that Karl didn't seem to keep up.

At this time, a new message alert sounded on Alyssa's mobile phone.

Alyssa took it out and found that it was Karl who had sent her a message: "There is something wrong, you can wait for me in the car."

Whatever happens, why does he message her?

Who is waiting for him?

Alyssa handed the text message directly to Peter: "Karl asked you to wait for him in the car."

Peter also discovered at this time that Alyssa's tone didn't sound right.

Before he was in the company, he received a call saying that something happened to Tina in the studio. The person who called him did not know Alyssa, but he also said that Tina was with friends. He knew it was Alyssa when he thought about it. warm.

So he called Karl to come together.

He was very anxious at the time, and Karl was not much better than him. After hearing this, he picked up his coat and rushed over with him.

As soon as he went in, he was busy caring about Tina, and only then realized that after Karl had come, he didn't seem to have talked much with Alyssa.

What's the matter, quarrel again?

Tina kicked Peter calmly.

Peter went out very interestingly.

Tina helped Alyssa walk out slowly, and asked her, "You two have not reconciled yet? Is it because of the banquet?"

“No.” Alyssa shook her head: “It’s because of other things.”

Seeing Alyssa’s expression a little dignified, Tina also frowned, but said carefully, “I think the big boss is still pretty good.”

Alyssa didn’t know why Tina felt that way, she smiled and said in a serious tone: “I think Peter is pretty good.”

“Heâ€¦” Tina shook her head, and stopped talking.

Alyssa sighed and stopped, her tone was never envied: “Although Peter looks a little unreliable, he is sincere to you, and anyone with eyes can tell. You are the only woman in his heart that is cold and can not tolerate others. But, look at Karl, can you see that he has me in his heart?”

Tina was stopped by Alyssa.

She thinks Karl treats Alyssa well, and she thinks Karl is a good person.

However, she really did not feel how deep Karl’s affection for Alyssa was.

Chapter 160

Tina was speechless for a while, and Alyssa patted her arm and said, “Peter really has you in his heart, although I don’t know what happened to you, if you also have him in your heart, you can try to talk together.”

“I know.” The expression on Tina’s face was a rare sadness: “But we can’t.”

Alyssa was slightly startled, she had never seen Tina show such an expression.

When the two of them walked outside, they were shivered by the night wind blowing on them.

And Peter, who had already come out before, was standing outside the car, looking like he was waiting for someone.

When he saw Tina coming out, he hurriedly opened the car door and said with a smile: “Tina, it’s so cold, get in the car.”

Alyssa turned to look at Tina and found that the expression on her face was getting more and more wrong.

Alyssa was a little uneasy, pulling Tina’s hand, whispering to her: “Tina.”

Tina looked at Peter fixedly, and then walked towards him.

“Why are you as slow as when you were a child? Get in the car quickly, lest youâ€¦” Peter urged her to get in the car without knowing it.

Tina suddenly interrupted him: “Peter! That’s enough! I’ll tell you today, we won’t be possible, let alone start again, no matter what you do, the result will be the same!”

Peter’s whole body suddenly froze there, as if the pause button was pressed on the phone that was playing, just as motionless as he was about to pull the cold hand.

The distance between his hand and Tina's hand was less than three centimeters.

"Tina, can you justify a little bit? Even if you want to sentence me to death, you have to let me die! Tell me why?"

Peter's voice was very calm at first, but at the back, he almost yelled: "Don't tell me that you like the nonsense that other people don't like me. My mother has known you for 24 years! You lied. Can't stop me!"

Tina only faintly said three words, which caused Peter to collapse across the board.

"I hate you."

It was obviously a very light three words, but it was so loud that Peter was shocked, a tall and strong man like Peter felt it harshly.

A childhood sweethearts are meant to have thorough understanding of each other.

Peter desperately wanted to find traces of lying on Tina's face.

However, no matter how he searched, he couldn't find a trace of lying.

Before the word "why" was asked, Tina turned around, strode to the side of the road, stopped a car and left.

Peter raised his foot slightly and took a step forward, but the next moment, he slowly retraced his footsteps.

Alyssa was very annoyed at her crippled feet at this time. She was like this, it was not convenient to chase Tina.

"I let Smith follow her."

The familiar low voice came from behind.

Alyssa turned her head and realized that Karl had come out without knowing when she was standing not far behind her.

The man standing next to him is Terren.

Before Alyssa accompanied Luther to the police station, Terren was in charge, so Alyssa remembered him.

Out of courtesy, Alyssa called out: "Terren."

Terren gave Alyssa the impression of a man with a bit fierce and serious face.

But this time Terren smiled at her and said: "I remember you, did you cause trouble again?"

Alyssa: "!"

She was at the police station that accompanied Luther last time. Why did she cause trouble again?

Alyssa glanced angrily at Karl who was standing next to Terren. Karl was also looking at her, with a slight smile in his eyes.

Alyssa immediately turned her eyes away.

Upon seeing this, Terren whispered to Karl: "Your wife is pretty, so please coax her off, don't always put a face."

Karl has never been someone who can hear other people's words, but at this time it is rare for him to obediently respond, "Yes."

Terren looked at the young man with a cold and gloomy breath, sighed slightly, shook his head and said, "Go back, it's cold at night. Although your mother's case has been closed in terms of procedures, it's not here with me. I will always keep checking until I die.",

Speaking of his mother, Karl's complexion changed slightly, and then returned to normal.

â€¦

On the way back, Alyssa sent a message to Tina, and after receiving a response, she relaxed, and then looked out the car window in a daze.

Many times you feel confused and puzzled about feelings, but you are just deceiving yourself.

Only you can see your feelings most clearly.

When you are uncertain and doubtful about a relationship, don't worry, it must be that the other person does not love you, or you do not love the other person.

Two people who are sure of their feelings are not so confused.

Because you are not sure whether the other person is as determined and serious as you are, you will doubt, be upset, and feel sadâ€¦

Just like her at this time.

Because you care, you will go to the bottom and guess the weight of yourself in heart.

Tina and Peter grew up together since they were young, and their deep feelings have actually reached this stage.

And Karl did not have idea about the deep feelings between Tina and Peter. To Karl, she was just a woman who looked like Lisa Palmer.

She has always been the neglected person.

However, she also has her own pride.

Alyssa stretched out her hand and gently pressed the position of her heart, slightly pursing her lips, she wouldn't feel sad or embarrassed if she didn't care.

Alyssa turned around and asked him, "Do you know Terren?"

At this time, Alyssa realized that the speed of the car was particularly slow.

Although Karl had been driving the car intently, but he always watched her intentionally or unconsciously, and the speed naturally slowed down.

Hearing Alyssa taking the initiative to speak to him, an accident flashed across Karl's eyes: "Yes."

"Oh."

Alyssa just asked casually, and didn't really want to know how he met Terren.

In fact, it is normal for people like Karl to know a criminal policeman, but the two seem to be very familiar.

Alyssa broke up with him last night, and he never thought that Alyssa would take the initiative to talk to him so soon, after all, she is a stubborn person.

The look in her eyes last night was clearly sad and hurt.

It was obviously the same expression and tone, but Karl felt that Alyssa was different.

He couldn't tell exactly where it was.

Alyssa hadn't eaten yet, and it was early to return home. The bodyguards warmed up the food and brought them to the table. Alyssa and Karl sat face to face to eat.

She figured out the matter and had a great appetite. When she saw the dish she liked, she put it in a bowl, eating so much that she was in a good mood.

Karl curled his eyebrows severely, put down his chopsticks, and suddenly asked her, "What happened?"

What happened to make her change so much in such a short period of time?