Chapter 171

Alyssa is a bit embarrassed, but still feels more cautious and safer.

She slammed the car door and got into the car first.

Because it was Gerald driving, sitting in the back seat would feel like Gerald as a driver. It was not polite, so Alyssa took the seat of the co-pilot.

The car moved forward steadily, and she took out her mobile phone and called Tina back.

After the call was made, no one answered it, it automatically hung up.

Alyssa felt a little uneasy in her heart, wouldn't it be something that happened to Tina?

Thinking like this, Tina called her.

Alyssa quickly answered the phone: "Tina."

"Alyssa, where are you? How did the phone turn off before?" The calm tone was a little serious.

Did something happen again?

Alyssa felt a little nervous: "On the plane before, what happened?"

"You didn't see the news?" Tina stopped here suddenly, as if she didn't know how to speak.

"What news?" Alyssa had a bad feeling in her heart.

"It's Theresa!" Tina didn't know how to talk about it, and said annoyed: "I'll send you the picture, you can see it yourself."

The phone was hung up, and soon Alyssa received a WeChat message reminder.

She clicked on the WeChat and found that Tina had sent her several pictures, and they were all long pictures. It was vaguely visible that they were screenshots of some news and Twitter.

After Alyssa clicked on the picture and enlarged it, she finally saw the content on it.

"Private meeting between a certain second-tier actress and a certain family boss in a mansion!"

The content of the news is all speculation, and there is no substantive content, but in the picture below, Alyssa recognizes the figure of the woman and the villa behind her.

She had seen Theresa several times, and she was a little bit deeply impressed with her. At a glance, she recognized that the woman wearing sunglasses was Theresa.

And the villa behind Theresa is exactly Karl's villa!

Alyssa suddenly remembered that when Theresa went to the Adams' family to find her, she not only apologized to her uncharacteristically, but also bought such a big-name item as a gift.

She also felt that Theresa had another purpose at the time, but she didn't think about Karl's body. She felt that she had just rejected Theresa. She didn't expect Theresa to find Karl's villa.

It was exactly the same as she thought, even in the eyes of outsiders, Karl was an "ugly and impotent" waste person, just Adams' family elder identity, enough to let a woman take the initiative to take it to the door.

Alyssa felt a little complicated for a while.

Karl said before that he would not come to pick her up temporarily, so this is what he said?

In the following screenshots of Twitter, the content is to analyze Theresa's identity and the owner of the villa.

The analysis of the entire long Tweet is well-organized and well-founded. If it weren't for Karl's arrogant temperament, Alyssa would have to believe in the Tweet "Although it's not good, but good-s3xuality, No one refuses to come".

When Karl was in bed, he was indeed like a wolf.

As for those who do not refuse?

What kind of woman does Karl want?

Alyssa refuted the blogger's words one by one in her heart, Tina was not idle, and kept sending her messages.

"I thought that Isabel and Theresa would not do anything good when they hook up together. That woman is really ambitious!"

"I knew, I should have killed her directly before and let her get out of the entertainment circle!"

"Alyssa? Have you seen the news about me? I think, even if the big boss really intends to cheat, he won't find Theresa, at least he will find a national flower, young, beautiful and famous. Right?"

Alyssa couldn't laugh or cry, could she comfort people like this?

Gerald on the side saw Alyssa's complexion constantly changing, and asked with concern: "What's wrong?"

"Nothing." Alyssa raised her head and glanced at Gerald, and his subordinates were not idle, and edited a message and sent it to Tina.

The message she sent was: "These news and Tweets have been withdrawn, right?"

Tina second replied: "Retired early."

That's good.

"I'm still on my way home, wait until I go home and ask about Karl's situation." Alyssa returned this message to Tina, and put down the phone.

"How is Luther?" I really miss him, I haven't seen Luther these days.

“Invited an aunt to cook for him, all day at home, either playing games or watching movies, and told me a few days ago that he wanted to go back to Karl.” Gerald said this, and smiled helplessly: “I think My brother is quite incompetent.”

Although Luther had been telling him that Karl was fierce and cold, and he did not give him pocket money, but within a few days of going to his house, he shouted to go back to Karl’s house.

For a while he wants to eat Alyssa’s dishes, and for a while he forgot to bring some textbooks!

After all, Luther still prefers to live with Karl.

Alyssa didn’t let Gerald take her home, so she got out of the car in the city center, and then took a taxi back to the villa.

“OK, lady young!”

When she got out of the car, the guard at the door greeted her immediately, and then came forward to pick up her luggage.

Alyssa asked aloud as he walked inside, “Where is your boss?”

The bodyguard said honestly: “Boss left early in the morning.”

When she arrived at the entrance of the hall, Aunt Tami greeted her: “I heard them calling you inside, right? You didn’t have any meals in the morning. You didn’t eat much after making porridge. Heat a bowl for you.”

“Thank you Aunt Tami.”

Alyssa thanked her and went upstairs to change clothes.

As soon as she changed her clothes and opened the door, she was caught in a warm and generous embrace.

The familiar breath burst into her nose, and Alyssa reached out and hugged it back.

Karl lowered his head and kissed gently on the top of her hair: “Why did you come back? Smith said he didn’t pick you up at the airport.”

Alyssa did not conceal: “I met eldest brother at the airport. He took me for a ride and I took a taxi from the city center.”

She obviously felt that Karl’s breath had changed a little, as if he was dissatisfied.

“The last time I was at the banquet, the eldest brother didn’t mean it. I happened to meet him at the airport. He said he wanted to take me for a ride, so I couldn’t refuse.”

Alyssa explained to him patiently, but what she couldn’t deny was that there was a sense of blocking the air.

Karl had made it clear that he was going to pick her up at the airport. She thought she would be able to see Karl when she got off the plane, but she couldn’t tell him directly.

“Yeah.” Karl replied in an unclear mood, then lowered his head to kiss Alyssa.

Alyssa quickly pushed him away: “Aunt Tami is still waiting for me to go down to eat. I didn’t have time to eat breakfast and I am very hungry.”

Karl heard this, although he was still a little unwilling, but he did nothing more.

Chapter 172

In the restaurant.

Alyssa sat and ate, Karl wrapped his arms like that, sitting opposite her and staring at her.

His face has a habit of indifferent expression, but his eyes are exceptionally focused, as if he hadn’t seen her in years.

Alyssa felt that Karl was too slimy like this, and he saw her as a villa.

So she asked Karl aloud: “Theresa—what’s the matter with her?”

She naturally believed in Karl, but she still had to figure out what was going on.

How did Theresa find Karl’s villa? What was the news?

Karl asked instead: “Have you seen the news?”

“Well, I’ve seen it.” Alyssa stuffed another spoonful of porridge into her mouth, and narrowed her eyes slightly with satisfaction.

Aunt Tami’s craftsmanship is really good.

Although she can cook, it is far worse than Aunt Tami’s craftsmanship.

Karl carefully observed her expression and found that apart from a satisfied face, there was no trace of anger at all.

He raised his eyebrows and asked, “Not angry?”

“It’s not true anyway, what’s so angry.” It’s just a little bit of a response.

Karl’s name was linked with other women, and she was not very happy.

Thinking about this, she took the spoon and poked it twice in the bowl, and she was really angry now.

Karl stared at her tightly, without letting go of any of her eyes and movements: “Believe me so?”

“Why don’t you believe? Theresa’s kind of people sticks you up, you might as well go find Isabel.”

Isabel was purely a metaphor, but Karl’s expression suddenly sank.

Alyssa glanced at him carefully, and found that his complexion was ugly, and she was a little puzzled. What did she say to him?

“Alyssa, you can hear me clearly.”

“Huh?” Is this trying to scold her?

“Don’t say let me go find another woman.”

“Ah?” Alyssa was already thinking in her heart. If Karl wanted to scold her, how would she go back, but Karl said this.

She was a little helpless, she felt that this man was sometimes more stubborn than her.

“I’m just making an analogy.”

“It’s not possible to make an analogy.”

“â€¦Okay.” Alyssa’s arrogance suddenly weakened.

Karl had a straight look now, and talked about business with Alyssa.

He twisted his eyebrows slightly and said, “Theresa may already be suspicious of my identity.”

Alyssa had almost eaten at this time, and after hearing this, she put down her spoon and looked at him:

“What should I do?”

Karl groaned for a moment, and said, “Let it take its course.”

“How to go with the flow?” Alyssa couldn’t keep up with Karl’s thinking.

Just letting things go means that Karl will begin to appear in the public’s sight?

Then, the rumors of Mr. Adams’ disfigurement will disappear.

And the one who followed it might beâ€¦ Countless women would want to get in front of Karl.

Alyssa felt a little subtle in her heart.

It is as if she hid a baby, and only she herself can see it all the time, and only she herself knows how good this baby is. But one day, this baby appeared in the public eye and was coveted by more people.

This feelingâ€¦ not very pleasant.

“I am full?”

Karl asked coldly, Alyssa nodded, “Yes.”

Then Alyssa was pulled back to the bedroom by Karl, and when she entered the door, it was an overwhelming kiss.

The subtle emotions in Alyssa’s heart were also washed away by this intimate kiss.

In the past, she heard people say that one day is like three autumns, Alyssa always felt too exaggerated.

But after the past few days, she also felt this way.

Her obedience and cooperation made Karl even more excited.

When the love was strong, Karl lifted her leg and squeezed it in, coaxing her with a dumb voice: "Call me husband."

"Husband! ah!"

Karl increased his strength, and Alyssa screamed out of control.

Alyssa was on the morning flight, and after returning home, she only drank a bowl of porridge. She was locked into the room for a few times. Finally, she fell asleep directly, and Karl let her go.

When she woke up, it was already night.

The headlights in the room were not turned on, only a faint light was on, on one side.

Alyssa turned her head and saw Karl sitting on the sofa not far from the bed reading documents, the floor lamp beside her glowing yellow.

Karl had already taken a shower, with his hair lying on his forehead, and his body was covered in soft-soft home furnishing clothes. The aura of his body was diminished by the warm yellow light, and the whole person looked unexpectedly very gentle.

Alyssa stared at him for a while, couldn't help but grinned, and rolled over very lightly.

This small movement caught Karl's attention.

He raised his eyes and looked over here, and there was a bit of genuine tenderness in his eyes, which had always been indistinguishable from the emotions of thick ink.

The voice is still low: "Are you hungry?"

"Hungry." Alyssa opened her mouth to realize that her voice was abnormally hoarse, and then nodded.

Karl put down the documents in his hand, got up and walked over, sat down by the bed, leaned over and kissed her on the forehead.

When she was about to leave, she found Alyssa staring at him with her beautiful cat eyes open.

He likes her eyes the most. They are too beautiful. When she looks at him, he always feels that they are seducing him.

He couldn't help but leaned over and kissed again.

Alyssa was a little out of breath, struggling twice, reached out and pushed him away: "I'm very hungry!"

Karl's breath was slightly disturbed: "Go downstairs to eat or serve?"

"Go downstairs to eat!" If it was served, wouldn't Aunt Tami know what she and Karl did in the room this afternoon!

Karl saw her thoughts and grinned deeply, his laughter was pleasant and somewhat proud.

Alyssa felt that he was a little bit awkward in this way, and reached out and punched him twice in the chest.

â€¦

The next day.

Alyssa was woken up by the phone.

She reached out to find the phone, but Karl on the side found her phone one step ahead of her and helped her hang up the phone.

As soon as he closed his long arms, he brought her back into his arms: "It's still early. Sleep a little longer."

She stared at it as she was about to go back to sleep, when she remembered her phone again.

Alyssa had already been woken up, and when she had another crop, she woke up completely. Seeing that she was woken up, Karl looked bad and turned off the phone as soon as she took it over.

"Don't turn off the phone, give me the phone." Alyssa took the phone from Karl to connect.

A cold voice came from the other end of the phone, looking excited and angry: "Are you still sleeping? Get up quickly, let's go to the hotel to catch someone red handed!"

"Ah? Who to catch?" Alyssa looked confused, who in the early morning?

Tina's tone became even more anxious: "Of course it is your husband Karl!"

Alyssa glanced at Karl who was about to kiss her: "â€¦"

Chapter 173

Early in the morning, Tina called to the hotel to catch someone red handed, but Karl was caught.

And Karl himself was next to her, and when he came back at noon yesterday, the two had never gone out.

This is a bit weird in every way.

"What's the matter?" Alyssa turned over and sat up, leaning on the bedside: "Karl is right next to me now."

"Huh?" Tina was obviously also very surprised.

When Karl heard Alyssa mentioned him, he raised his eyes and glanced at her, stretched out his hand to take the mobile phone, flicked his finger on the screen for a while, and finally handed it to Alyssa.

The above is a new headline news, with a striking headline and full of gimmicks.

"The heir of the Adams' family who hasn't appeared in more than ten years really reveals the secretâ€¦ and several womenâ€¦"

These keywords were added together and hit Alyssa's eye masks, and her mind suddenly became sober.

She murmured: "Tina, Karl is next to me now, and I'll talk about it later."

After hanging up the phone, Alyssa took Karl's mobile phone and clicked on the news to read it.

There are not only pictures of Karl himself, but also pictures of his other women entering and leaving the hotel together.

The latest news even said that Karl had found a few women to spend the night in the hotel last night.

Karl has never been seen in front of everyone. This news not only exposed Karl's identity, but also his appearance. Tina would believe that it was normal.

The Karl on the side suddenly reached out and took the phone out of her hand, with a low voice: "Don't look at it, it's a composite photo."

Alyssa let him take the phone away and asked him aloud, "What's the matter?"

"My identity will be announced sooner or later, and Theresa has already known it anyway, so I might as well announce it." Karl's tone was light, obviously he had planned it early.

Alyssa thought of what he said yesterday, "Let's go with the flow", which was what he meant.

"But why did it happen like this?" Alyssa's eyes fell on the photos in the news on the phone.

The picture shows Karl and other women getting in and out of the hotel as a couple.

Although Karl said it was synthetic, it was always dazzling.

"Originally, I was going to make use of Theresa's case to disclose identity, so I could only follow the trend."

After Karl explained, seeing Alyssa still sullen her face, he curled her lips and leaned over to kiss her.

He just wanted to kiss her.

Alyssa turned her head to one side: "I didn't brush my teeth."

"I don't dislike you." Karl tilted his head again, and chased after her again.

Alyssa stretched out her hand to cover her lips: "I despise you."

After speaking, she lifted the quilt and got out of bed.

Karl maintained a posture of holding one arm sideways to kiss her, and watched her enter the bathroom.

Alyssa closed the bathroom door and stood in front of the mirror.

The nightgown on her body was worn by Karl who pestered her for a long time last night, and finally made her whole body sticky. Then he took her to the bath and helped her change it.

From the neck to the neckline, a series of h!ckies extended to the inside of the clothes, all evidence of Karl's domineering and presumptuous.

She knew in her heart that Karl would announce his identity in this way, which was also the most convenient and natural way at present, but she was still a little uncomfortable looking at the photos on the news.

Alyssa washed out slowly, and found that Karl had changed his clothes. He was meticulously dressed in a straight suit, creating a sense of distance.

Holding a tie in his hand, when he saw Alyssa come out, he raised his eyes to look at her, and said in a low voice, "Come here."

Alyssa walked over, and he put the tie directly on her hand: "Wait for me to come out and tie your tie."

Then he turned around and went into the bathroom.

Alyssa looked at the tie in her hand, somewhat dumbfounded.

This man is really

Only after Alyssa came back from a business trip with Douglas, it happened to be Friday again, and she was specially approved to take one extra day off.

After Karl went out, Alyssa planned to hold the computer to write a manuscript.

Although the director Tina introduced to her last time messed up, she still had to copy her script. She didn't believe that her script could not be sold!

As soon as she was about to walk upstairs, the phone rang.

After taking a look, she found that Isabel was calling.

Alyssa knew why Isabel would call her and hung up directly.

Karl's identity was announced to the public, and of course Isabel was the most surprised.

Isabel had looked at Karl who was still "Luther" before, not to mention that she now knew that "Luther" was Karl, and she would definitely not stop like that.

Isabel made several calls in a row, but Alyssa did not shut down, but patiently hung up one by one.

She could imagine Isabel's expression with her nose crooked with anger at this moment.

Isabel played a dozen consecutively with great perseverance, and finally stopped.

Not long after, Rachel also called, and then Colin

But Alyssa didn't answer any of them.

Alyssa couldn't understand their virtues.

She would not think that they were calling to care about her.

When she returned to the room and took out the computer, the phone rang again. This time it was a call from Luther.

"Sister Alyssa, Sister Tina and I are shopping outside, do you want to come out and play together."

Luther and Tina?

When did this kid make an appointment with Tina to play together?

Alyssa didn't have the intention to write a manuscript, so she agreed.

She took the car to the address that Luther had sent her, and only found out that it was a playground when she arrived.

Tina and Luther, both wrapped tightly, holding ice cream and cotton candy in their hands.

Tina is naturally fully armed, and most people simply cannot recognize her.

"You are finally here!" Tina handed Alyssa the cotton candy that she hadn't touched before.

Alyssa took it, and said quietly: "You seem to be very free lately."

Artists like Tina who are on the rise should have many announcements, and most of their schedules should be very full.

"I'm still worried about you." Tina rolled her eyes: "Let's play together first."

The three people played crazy in the playground for an afternoon, during which Karl called Alyssa, but she did not receive it either.

They found a restaurant for dinner, and Karl called again.

As soon as the call was answered, Karl's anger was implied: "Where? Why don't you answer the phone?"

"Playing outside, I didn't hear it." Alyssa answered the phone while reading the menu, but did not notice the anger in Karl's tone.

Suddenly, there was a sharp female voice in the restaurant.

"Alyssa!"

Alyssa raised her head when she heard the sound, and she saw Isabel approaching her aggressively from the door of the restaurant.

Isabel looked at her eyes fiercely as if she was looking at killing her father's enemy.

Chapter 174

Alyssa knew that Isabel would not give up and she hadn't answered Isabel's call all day, and Isabel's current anger might have reached its peak.

"There is something, I won't tell you anymore."

Karl also heard Isabel's voice, and asked her in a deep voice, "Where are you?"

Alyssa didn't say much, and hung up the phone.

Isabel originally came to her because of Karl, she didn't want Karl to come over and be taken advantage of by Isabel.

Well, even if Isabel looked at Karl more, she still felt that Isabel took advantage of him.

Isabel looked at Alyssa, her eyes seemed to burst into flames: "Alyssa! I've been looking for you all day, and you are fine, and you still want to hide here to eat!"

Really interesting, does she need to hide to eat?

"Why didn't I have the heart to eat? And I didn't hide, I just didn't want to pay attention to you." Alyssa glanced at Isabel, her expression indifferent, without putting her in her eyes at all.

If not in public, Isabel really wanted to jump up and tear Alyssa's face.

Isabel gritted her teeth and said, "You knew that 'Luther' was Karl, right? But you didn't say anything and kept us all in the dark! You are really sinister!"

In the beginning, the person who forced her to marry into Adams' family changed the way, but now she is sinister!

Snapped!

Without waiting for Alyssa to speak, Tina stretched out her hand and patted on the dining table and stood up: "Isabel, you are endless. At first, you forced Alyssa to help you dislike Karl, so you let Alyssa to marry into Adams house. Now that you know that Karl is a normal person and handsome, you ran over to find Alyssa trouble when you regretted it. You didn't show your face when you went out, right?"

Isabel knew Tina.

When she bullied Alyssa before, she had encountered Tina and knew that Alyssa had a good relationship with her.

Tina was also held up at home and grew up. There was a kind of arrogance of a wealthy daughter on her body. She looked at Isabel with cold eyes at this time, and the loud sound of the table just now made Isabel a little angry.

Isabel raised the volume to make her aura appear fuller: "This is a matter between Alyssa and me, it has nothing to do with you!"

Tina raised her eyebrows, a rogue expression on her face: "What does it have to do with you when you scold me?"

"Youâ€¦!" Isabel didn't know what to say for a while.

Alyssa has already called the manager of the restaurant over: "Take this woman out, please. She is here to affect my mood of dining."

The manager quickly called two waiters over and pointed to Isabel and said, "Please get this lady out."

Isabel's face turned green with anger: "What are you doing, I'm here to eat!"

Tina always spends money, eating must be a high-end restaurant, even the manager has gone abroad to receive special catering and hotel management training.

The noise made by Isabel just now has already aroused dissatisfaction among other guests. The manager didn't care what she said, and directly gave the two waiters a hand sign to tell them to get Isabel out quickly.

As soon as Isabel left, the dining room became quiet again.

Tina leaned back on the sofa and said, "This restaurant also charges a service fee, but the efficiency is also acceptable."

Luther sat aside and watched the whole farce silently like an invisible man, and then he slowly said: "Excuse me, what does the auntie just say, 'Luther is Karl'?"

Only then did Alyssa remember, and Luther was also there.

Seeing Alyssa raising her head to look at him, he continued to ask: "Sister Alyssa was forced to marry my cousin?"

The child's problem is he's really direct.

Before Alyssa thought about what to say, she found that Tina raised her chin and pointed behind her.

When she turned her head, she saw Karl walking towards this side.

He is tall, tall, and has an outstanding temperament. He attracted the attention of others as soon as he entered the restaurant.

Especially female guests.

Alyssa squinted at Luther.

Luther must have told Karl the address.

Luther touched his nose and turned to look to one side to pretend to be innocent.

Tina smiled like a sun flower, and got up with a pleasing expression to let go of Alyssa's side: "Boss, you sit here!"

Alyssa had already explained Tina on the news before, so now Karl is the powerful boss and reliable good man in Tina's heart.

"Thank you." Karl nodded slightly and sat down beside Alyssa.

Tina and Luther, who were opposite the two, got together to look at the menu in a tacit understanding, but they didn't look at Alyssa.

Karl squeezed her hand and asked her softly, "Did Isabel come to you?"

"Already gone." Alyssa nodded. Luther should have heard the voice on the phone before, and there is nothing to hide.

"You can ignore it if you don't want to, or leave it to me." Karl's voice is always low and cold, but there is a seemingly indifference and spoiling.

The points were not very real, but it made Alyssa's heart warm, and it rose slightly, as if something was about to overflow from the bottom of her heart.

But when she thought that Isabel had already coveted Karl, she gritted her teeth and said, "I'll take care of this by myself. Don't interfere and you are not allowed to see Isabel!"

Karl smelled the strong sourness in his tone.

He made a fist with his empty hand, coughed slightly between his lips to hide his smile, and then replied very solemnly: "Yeah."

Alyssa raised her eyes and saw that he was looking at her with burning eyes, knowing that her little thought could not escape his eyes, and she was a little embarrassed, she pressed her lips and pinched him with the hand he was holding.

His palms are dry and warm, and they won't hurt even when pinched.

But Karl deliberately teased her and leaned forward, acting as if to kiss her.

Recently, Karl had to kiss her when he caught her from time to time, and he didn't know what was wrong.

Alyssa quickly backed away, but Karl held her shoulders and said in a deep voice, "The hair is knotted here, what are you hiding?"

"â€¦!â€¦!" Ha ha.

Luther secretly raised his eyes to see Alyssa and Karl, Tina quickly pressed his head down, and whispered, "Adults are in love, children, don't peek."

Luther pouted: "There are also people in our class who are in love."

"Then do you have an object?"

"No!â€¦!â€¦!"

Tina mocked him: "Oh, single dog."

Luther: "â€¦!"

All of them went home after eating.

When Alyssa and Karl returned home, they saw Aunt Tami greet them with a sad face.

"Sir, young lady, you are back."

"Aunt Tami." Alyssa noticed that Aunt Tami's expression was different.

Aunt Tami smiled, but she said to Karl: "Just now I got called from the old house and you have been told to go back tomorrow."

Chapter 175

Old house?

Alyssa turned to look at Karl, and found that his expression had become very gloomy.

Alyssa found that as long as it was related to the Adams' family, Karl's face could be changed.

He seems to dislike Adams' family in particular.

She stretched out her hand to hold Karl's hand, almost immediately, Karl held her hand instead.

Immediately, Karl said indifferently, "I see."

Alyssa could tell that Karl didn't want to return to Adams' Old House.

She didn't know much about the Adams' family. She only knew that the Adams' family was a big family. She had heard from Luther before that the family has a large population, and there are many cousins of the same generation, and only the relationship between the two brothers and Karl is better.

Karl's identity was announced, and it was normal for Karl's people to let Karl go back after such a big incident.

The two returned to the room, Alyssa asked him, "Do you want to go back tomorrow?"

Karl raised his head and saw the cautious expression on Alyssa's face. He curled his lips, his smile was not obvious, but the whole person was obviously softened.

He took Alyssa into his arms, with a rare hint of teasing in his tone: "Of course I have to go back, and show him the old man his grandson."

Alyssa looked up at him: "Who?"

Karl looked at her with a smile, "Grandpa."

The rulers of the Adams' family for generations are all legends, not to mention Mr. Adams who has maintained the family's prosperity for decades.

Alyssa was a little nervous.

The next day.

Alyssa got up early and walked around in the cloakroom picking clothes.

This color is too plain, that style is not dignified!

Picking around is not good enough, Alyssa is a little discouraged.

Suddenly, she noticed the slight movement behind her, and turned her head coldly, and saw that Karl had walked in without knowing when she was leaning against the wall, looking at her with a little smile in her eyes.

Such smiling eyes are simply fascinating-a foul!

She found that Karl liked to laugh a lot these days, and watched her laugh at every turn, as if she was caught in an evil spirit.

Alyssa threw the clothes in her hand, curled her lips, and said, "You help me pick clothes."

When the time comes, if the Adams' family picks her thorns, the clothes are not dignified, and the shoes don't look good, she can still push them off to Karl.

"OK."

Karl said, and walked over without any hesitation.

He directly took a down jacket and handed it to Alyssa.

Alyssa: "â€¦!"

She didn't want to take over the down jacket at all, and even wanted to drive Karl out.

Sure enough, he couldn't expect anything from a "Karl who thought she was cold".

It was the first time that Karl went back to see his parents. She wanted to dress better!

Alyssa looked at him disgustingly: "AdamPic has so many beautiful female stars, can't you establish a minimum aesthetic in wearing them?"

"Beautiful female celebrity?" Karl repeated, turning around and hanging back the down jacket that Alyssa disliked, and said casually, "A little worse than you."

Alyssa was slightly stunned.

Is he complimenting her for her beauty?

Karl found a thick dark gray furry coat and handed it to her: "This one?"

He raised his eyes and saw Alyssa staring straight at him with those beautiful cat eyes open, her eyes were a little excited and a little bit of joy was in them.

Karl raised his eyebrows and uttered a monosyllable sound from his throat: "Huh?"

Alyssa regained consciousness, without seeing what clothes he was holding, nodded hurriedly: "It looks good."

Karl glanced at her unpredictably, and reached out to touch her forehead.

The temperature is normal, not sickâ€¦!

Karl did not directly praise her for being beautiful either, that sentence was implicit and euphemistic, but Alyssa had automatically transformed the phrase "a little worse than you" into "those female stars are not as beautiful as you."

Although it's a bit exaggerated, who doesn't like being praised for being beautiful!

It wasn't until Karl watched Alyssa go out holding clothes that he had an afterthought. Alyssa's expression just now was because of what he saidâ€¦!

As for being so happy?

What he said is the truth.

â€¦

The two had eaten breakfast, and came to take them to the old house at night.

The old house of the Adams' family is really old. The one-hundred-year old house handed down from the ancestors of the Qing Dynasty was estimated by experts at nearly 10 billion.

However, in order to make it more convenient to live in, it has undergone several repairs, but it still maintains the charm of the ancient house.

The Adams' Old House is famous, and there are often tourists from far away, even those who are far away want to take a look at it.

"Sir, young lady, here it is."

Smith's voice came, and Alyssa's uneasy mood along the way miraculously calmed down at this time.

She turned her head and looked out of the car window, and saw outside the door of the retro House, a line of bodyguards and servants stood neatly on both sides of the door to greet them.

Alyssa has never seen this kind of show, just like filming.

She stretched out her hand to go to the car door, when Karl suddenly held her hand: "Don't move."

She turned her head and looked at Karl in confusion.

But Karl didn't speak. Smith had already got out of the car and walked over to open the door for Karl.

After Karl got out of the car, he still stood on the side holding the car door. He slightly leaned over and put one hand on the top of the car door to prevent her from meeting her head. The other hand reached Alyssa and smiled at her: "Get out of the car."

The handsome man laughed more and more fascinated, not to mention the posture of such a gentleman asking her to get out of the car.

Alyssa thought she was not a particularly romantic person, and she did not eat this set, but looking at Karl's face, she felt that her cheeks were hotâ€¦

She blushed and put her hand in Karl's hand. When Karl saw it, the smile deepened in her eyes, and she took Alyssa to get out of the car and walked towards the gate with her hand.

The servants and bodyguards at the door all bent over and respectfully said: "Welcome Sir, and young lady home!"

Although Alyssa has been married to Karl for a while, they have always lived in a villa halfway up the mountain. Karl didn't show up in front of her. He eats everything she chooses. Not picky.

Therefore, she knows that she is married to a top rich, but she has no special feelings.

Only at this moment, when she stood at the door of Adams' Old House and was greeted by the crowds of servants and bodyguards, did she really have a sense of reality of marrying herself into a top rich family.

Karl felt that Alyssa's hands were slightly stiff, so he squeezed her palm, looked at her sideways, and calmed her down, "Don't be nervous, just follow me."

Alyssa pursed her lips and nodded: "Yeah."

There is not much difference between the layout of the old house of this house and the modern villa, but the garden design is more subtle and has a lot of heritage.

Chapter 176

Along the way, wherever he went, there were servants and bodyguards, and they would stop to say hello to Alyssa and Karl.

Even the arc of bending is the same, neatly arranged in a row, clearly well-trained.

Alyssa was secretly frightened, and her complexion became a little serious.

The Adams' Old House is very large, and the two passed through the front yard, walked through the hall to the back yard.

When Mr. Adams was old and not working, he moved to live in a quiet backyard.

When he arrived at the door of Mr. Adams, Karl asked the servant who was standing at the door: "Grandpa is inside?"

"Yes." The servant saw Karl, with a hint of joy on his face, gently pushed the door in, and said carefully: "Old gentleman, Sir is back."

The opening of the door was very small, just enough to accommodate the servant standing there. Alyssa could not see inside, only heard a slightly older voice sounding: "Let them in."

The servant turned his head and nodded slightly at Karl.

Karl held Alyssa's hand tightly: "Let's go in."

Alyssa was taken into the room by Karl.

The heating in the room is sufficient, there is a smell of ink and tea, and the furnishings in the room are simple, with a row of bookshelves, a desk, and some tea sets.

Elder Adams is dressed in a Chinese tunic suit, holding the fault in his hand, and standing in front of the desk writing calligraphy. Although he is over seventy, he is vigorous and standing upright, revealing an air of calmness.

Karl shouted, "Grandpa."

Elder Adams raised his head and met Alyssa's eyes, who had been staring at him. He didn't say a word, but he was not angry.

Alyssa lowered her eyes slightly, and Karl silently pulled Alyssa behind him.

Karl's protective gesture fell in the eyes of Elder Adams, causing him to snort, "Who is this little girl?"

Karl raised his eyebrows: "The person you want to meet."

His tone can be said to be a bit aggressive, making the old man blow his beard and stare, throwing the brush in his hand: "Who are you again?"

Alyssa: "â€¦!"

Does this old man have Alzheimer's?

The thought in her heart just came out, and the old man over there looked at her nonchalantly, and said: "Who scolds for dementia?"

Alyssa was taken aback by what he said.

This man has the ability to interpret people's hearts.

However, the look of Elder Adams staring at her was not so intimidating, but rather inexplicably intimacy.

Alyssa smiled: "No, I just think Grandpa is very energetic."

These words are very useful to Mr. Adams. He squinted at Alyssa for a few seconds: "Come here."

Alyssa turned her head and looked at Karl. Karl gave a relieved look and gave her a light push on her back to signal her to pass.

Although the conversation between Karl and Elder Hunt just now was a bit inexplicable, she could also feel that the relationship between Karl and Elder man was good, and it could even be said to be close.

Alyssa walked over obediently, corrected her expression, and said seriously: "Grandpa, I am Karl's wife, Alyssa."

Elder Adams didn't speak immediately, but looked at her calmly, and Alyssa was a little nervous when he looked at her.

Mr. Adams seemed to be aware of her anxiety, with a smile on his face similar to the success of a child's mischief, and said with a smile: "Well, she looks pretty, sit down."

Alyssa was stunned for a moment, and then wanted to turn her head to look at Karl, but was glared by Elder Adams: "Look at what that stinky kid is doing, let you sit down!"

"â€¦!" Well, she sits down.

However, hearing Karl's name "Stinky Kid", she actually felt very happy.

Alyssa sat down beside Mr. Adams.

When Karl saw this, he also came over and was about to sit down next to Alyssa, only to be kicked on his leg by Elder man: "Who told you to sit!"

The kick of the Elder Adams was fast and steady, and the strength was obviously not light.

Alyssa felt pain when she looked at it, but Karl's eyebrows frowned slightly, obviously because of the pain.

"Grandpa!" Karl's tone was helpless: "The first time I brought your granddaughter-in-law home, can't you give me some face?"

"I give you face, who gives me face?" Elder Adams was obviously more angry than him: "You count yourself, do you remember the last time you came back to the old house to see me?"

Karl fell silent after hearing this.

There was a suffocating silence in the room.

Alyssa vaguely understood what the conversation between Karl and Mr. Adams just now meant.

Karl suspected that Adams' family was involved in the case of his mother, so he rejected Adams' family.

Today was the first time that she was brought to the old house by Karl. She shouldn't be talking about these two grandparents.

At this moment, the door was pushed open again.

The person who came in was Karl's father, Trevor.

Trevor first called Mr. Adams: "Dad."

Then, he turned his head to look at Karl: "Someone called me before that Karl was back. I still don't believe. Why didn't you tell me in advance when you came back? you will eat at home today and live at home tonight. Well, your room has always been cleaned by a servant, so you can live directly."

Elder Adams immediately snorted coldly, "Keep him here! Let him go!"

In the end, Karl and Alyssa stayed.

During the meal, several people sat at the huge dining table with a row of servants guarding them, which made Alyssa very uncomfortable.

After dinner, Trevor left beforehand, and Alyssa and Karl accompanied Mr. Adams back to the room.

The servant boiled water and handed tea to him. Father Adams took out a red packet and handed it to Alyssa.

Alyssa didn't take it over immediately.

Elder man stared at her: "What? Do you dare not accept the meeting gift given by your father?"

Alyssa knew where Karl's arrogant temperament came from.

"Thank you, grandpa." After Alyssa took it, she felt that the red envelope was very thin, and she guessed it might be something like a check.

No matter what was in it, Alyssa felt a little surprised.

Before coming, she always thought that she would be embarrassed by the old man, but she didn't expect that Elder Adams would accept her so easily.

After drinking tea with Elder man for a while, Alyssa was sent back to the room to rest.

The room was used by Karl when he was a teenager. After the events of that year, he went abroad. After returning, he didn't return to the old house, but directly lived in the villa halfway up the mountain.

The furnishings in the room still have traces of the life of a teenager, posters of basketball stars, robots, books, game consolesâ€

Chapter 177

Alyssa looked here and there in his room, looking very curious.

In the corner of the desk, she saw a picture of a woman and a child.

The photo was taken in summer. The little boy in the photo is very beautiful, wearing a school uniform with short-sleeved shorts, looking at the camera with a grin, and smiling very brightly.

And the woman next to him, in a white dress that fits snugly, smiles gently, and there is a bit of dust in her calmness.

"My mother."

Karl's slightly hoarse voice came from behind.

Immediately afterwards, his arms were wrapped around her waist, and his solid and warm chest was pressed against her back, and she was wrapped in the unique cold breath of Karl's body.

With the free hand, he reached out to touch the woman in the photo, and slowly explained the source of the photo to her.

"On Children's Day that year, she came to my school to participate in parent-child activities and took this photo after it was over."

Alyssa glanced back at him, then set her gaze on the little boy in the photo.

The little boy in the photo smiled brightly, without a trace of haze under his eyes. It was hard to imagine that Karl would be like this in more than ten years.

He is handsome and extraordinary, but there is always a haze that ordinary people can't understand, and his temper is uncertain. When he encounters something related to his mother, he becomes vicious and determined.

If possible, everyone wants to live happily.

However, Karl was also forced to become like this.

How bad can the human heart be?

Alyssa couldn't imagine how Karl, who was only eleven years old at the time, looked at his own mother who was being abused and humiliated in front of his eyes to save him.

It is even harder to imagine how long it took him to come out later.

Although Karl's temperament is unpredictable and he is not a kind person, Alyssa knew that he would never become the same as those who abused and insulted his mother.

If his mother's case was really related to some people in the Adams' family

Alyssa couldn't help but shudder.

Karl felt the subtle reaction of the person in his arms and asked her aloud, "The heating is too low? It's cold?"

"No." Alyssa shook her head, because of Karl's affairs, her mood became a little depressed: "How many people are there in your family?"

Although she and Karl came in today, and only saw servants and bodyguards along the way, and then Elder man and Trevor, this house is so big that there should be others living there.

Karl shook his head: "don't know, there are countless people living in old houses, resettled elsewhere, domestically, overseas too many."

Karl lowered his eyes, looked at the solemn expression on her face, and calmly changed the subject: "The red envelope the old man gave you, won't you open it?"

Sure enough, Alyssa was immediately distracted by him. She took out the red envelope and said with a smile: "I think it might be a check."

Karl also smiled: "The old man is a generous person."

What he meant is, is he generous to give a check?

Alyssa really couldn't understand the rich world.

Don't all the rich people in TV series like to sign checks?

"Take a look." Karl pulled her to the bed and sat down, staring at her with heavy eyes.

Alyssa opened the red envelope and pulled out a thin card from it.

After just one glance, Alyssa's eyes widened in shock.

She knew this card, it was the black card that once shocked Isabel and Norris!

Without waiting for her to speak, Karl raised his eyebrows and said, "It's still a bit sincere, the old man."

"It is said that this is your Adams global limited edition black card?" After Isabel and the others defrauded the black card last time, Alyssa went to the Internet to check it, but it was only a sporadic statement, which was not accurate.

"Well, only people from the Adams' family have it, but not everyone has it." Karl took the black card over and took a look, and found it was a newly made card, and couldn't help but laugh.

It seems that Grandpa had prepared the meeting ceremony early in the morning, and he already knew Alyssa.

Alyssa asked again: "Then how much money is there?"

Karl replied lightly, "don't know."

"I do not know what that means?"

"I have swiped this card since I was young, bought a car, bought a villa, and started a company, but I haven't spent all of it."

Alyssa: "â€¦!"

â€¦!

Alyssa and Karl stayed in Adams' Old House for one night.

When Alyssa woke up early the next morning, Karl was no longer nearby.

Alyssa guessed that he might have gone to see Mr. Adams.

Karl's room was very close to where Elder Hunt lived. After Alyssa finished washing, she went downstairs to look for him.

Halfway there, she collided with a woman who was coming.

Alyssa saw a woman walking towards her from a distance, and she let the woman pass by, but the woman seemed to have no eyes, as if she hadn't seen Alyssa, and she meant to move away. Nothing, but directly hit Alyssa's shoulder.

The woman raised her head, her delicate face was cold, and she glanced at Alyssa with disgust: "Are you a new servant? Do you know Adams rules?"

The woman in front of her was exquisite and well-dressed, and she knew which eldest lady from Adams' family was.

Alyssa retorted with a cold face: "don't know what the Adams' family rules, I only know that you hit me first."

There is no such servant in the Adams' family who dared to confront the lady.

After hearing Alyssa's words, the woman looked up at Alyssa.

When she saw Alyssa, a flash of surprise flashed in her eyes. She was just walking and she didn't realize that Alyssa was so beautiful.

But Alyssa looked at the woman in front of her at this time and found that she was a little familiar.

After searching her mind, she remembered that the woman in front of her was Anya Adams, the host of a popular variety show recently.

Anya came out suddenly. There was no news before. There have been speculations about her background on the Internet, and some speculation that she is from the Adams' family, but it has not been confirmed.

"It's not a servant at home, so don't run around. The guest should have the self-consciousness that a guest should have. Don't think that when you are brought back to this house, you can climb on the branch and become a phoenix." A flash of disdain flashed in Anya's eyes. , Turned around and left.

There are many men in Adams' family, and occasionally they will bring women back home overnight. Anya is not surprised, and directly regards Alyssa as that kind of woman.

Alyssa naturally heard her voice.

She rolled her eyes and found that not all the people in the Adams' family were as smart and thoughtful as Karl, but mostly self-righteous people who couldn't figure out the facts.

Karl came out of the backyard and was about to ask Alyssa to have a meal, but he didn't expect she had already found him.

Seeing that her expression wasn't too right, he couldn't help asking: "What's the matter?"

"It's okay." Alyssa shrugged.

Karl raised his head and glanced at the other end. Just now Anya came to find the old man, and she was very likely to meet Alyssa when she came out.

Chapter 178

Alyssa and Karl had breakfast with the old man, and planned to leave.

Before leaving, Elder Adams stopped Alyssa: "You stay, I have something to say to you."

After getting along this day, Alyssa felt that Mr. Adams was actually a nice person, maybe a bit weird, but it was not a problem.

Therefore, when she heard that he had something to tell her, she didn't hesitate to follow him.

Unexpectedly, after two steps, he was held back by Karl.

Seeing that Mr. Adams' complexion changed, Alyssa quickly winked at Karl, and said to him with her lips: "Let go."

Elder man sighed with hatred for iron and steel, "I just need to say a few words to her, can I eat her?"

"Oh." Karl replied unexpectedly and released Alyssa.

Elder Hunt glared at him, as if wishing to run over and beat him up.

Alyssa hurriedly walked over and helped Elder man into the room inside.

After entering, the Elder Adams changed his irritable appearance before, and his face became calm.

"I know, you weren't willing to marry Karl at the beginning." When he spoke, Alyssa was extremely frightened.

She didn't answer immediately, waiting for him to continue.

"You are a clever child. Naturally, I can see that Karl cares about you. Since you are married to him, you will be the young wife of the Adams' family in peace. Our Adams' family will not treat your family badly."

Although Mr. Adams was expressing his position, he was also threatening Alyssa.

If she had a double heart for Karl, he would not let her go without waiting for Karl to take action.

It can be seen that Mr. Adams really loves Karl.

It's no wonder that Karl was so disgusted with Adams' family, he was willing to come back when he knew that Elder man had called him back to the house.

Alyssa was not disgusted with the threats made by Mr. Adams. Instead, she smiled and said, "Grandpa, feelings are mutual. Between me and Karl, and you and Karl are the same."

Elder Adams was kind to Karl, and Karl naturally listened to him.

Karl treats her well, and she naturally has no other thoughts.

When Mr. Adams heard the words, he was stunned for a moment, and then burst into laughter: "The little girl is pretty good at bluffing people, all right, go, don't let the stinky boy wait for a long time, or he will be anxious when you turn around."

"Then I will go first, and sometimes I will see you."

Alyssa went out, but did not see Karl's figure.

When she got outside, she saw Karl and Anya standing together talking.

Adams' family's genes are really good, Anya looks exquisite, and Karl is the best among men. Standing together, the two are very pleasing to the eye.

Alyssa was planning to go over after the two of them had spoken, but Karl turned his head suddenly and looked in her direction as if eyes grew from the back of his head.

Alyssa had to walk over.

Anya also followed Karl's gaze and looked over. When she saw Alyssa, she frowned slightly, a flash of surprise in her eyes: "She!"

Karl didn't mean to introduce Alyssa to Anya, so he took her by the shoulder and walked out: "Let's go."

Anya subconsciously called to stop him: "Brother."

Among the younger generations of the Adams' family, Gerald is the eldest, followed by Karl's twin sister. According to the ranking, Karl ranks third.

The family members younger than Karl, and they called him the third brother.

Karl left without looking back, but Alyssa looked back at Anya with a smile.

Anya remembered what she had said to Alyssa before, and her face flushed.

She had a good time with Karl when she was a child. Later, when Karl's mother had an accident, he left the old house and the two of them became strangers. Later, she heard that Karl had been disfigured and had problems with his body. Karl has not been contacted.

Even when she went to a TV station as a host, she didn't reveal that she was a member of the Adams' family. She felt ashamed they would shame her about Karl after others know about it.

After Karl's true face was exposed a few days ago, her mind became active, thinking about finding time to meet him.

After all, Karl is the only orthodox heir of the family, and he will be in charge of the Adams' family in the future, and their elder brothers and sisters will have his light.

Before she had time to act, she heard that Karl took his newlyweds back to the old house, so she came back and met.

But she didn't expect that the woman she thought was brought back by her cousin for the night, turned out to be Karl's new wife!

don't know if that woman would chew her tongue in front of Karl!

Anya felt that she had to look for a chance to find Karl again, and try to get in touch with him!

In the car, Alyssa sat in the back row, leaning on the back of the seat, staring at the roof with her eyes open.

Karl reached out and touched her head: "Tired?"

"Somewhat."

It's not just a little bit, she feels tired.

Although Karl asked her not to have a psychological burden and just let her be herself, how could she not have a psychological burden.

No matter how much Karl resented the Adams' family, he couldn't break away from it. Although she was living with Karl, she still wanted to behave better and not trouble him.

Be cautious, afraid of making mistakes, she also has to be careful to deal with Father Adams question.

Karl fished her into his arms, and a low voice rang above her head: "I won't go back to the old house if I'm fine in the future."

"You won't go back to see Grandpa? I think he wants you to go back to see him often." Alyssa leaned on his chest, her voice muffled.

Karl's voice suddenly added a hint of coldness: "Even if I don't go back to see him, he will still eat and sleep."

Alyssa straightened up and found that Karl's complexion had indeed changed.

“What’s wrong?” Wasn’t it all right before?

Karl didn’t speak, but just turned his head and kissed her.

Alyssa pushed him, there was still some time driving ahead!

But Karl didn’t care, held her head and kissed it.

Sit tightly at night without squinting.

Who can understand the mood of a divorced young man at this moment?

When the kiss ended, both of them panted a little.

Karl hugged her and did not speak, but he was a little lost.

In the morning, he went to see his grandfather in advance, just to ask some details of the mother’s case.

What did Grandpa say at the time?

“This has passed. People should look forward. If your mother is alive in the sky, I hope you can live your life well and look forward.”

What Elder man meant was to stop him from investigating his mother’s case back then.

Why not let him check?

Is he afraid that he will find out something terrible?

However, he wants to check.

Chapter 179

Karl’s incident was exposed, and it had an impact on Alyssa.

She used to be in the Hunt’s, and those colleagues could find a sense of balance more or less because Karl was a “waste person”, so they would also talk to Alyssa.

But now that Karl’s incident was exposed, the eyes of those colleagues looking at Alyssa also changed, both flattering and contemptuous.

Maybe they think Alyssa deceived them.

Alyssa could guess a little of their thoughts in her heart, so she didn’t care too much.

“That Alyssa is so pitiful in fashion, but we are so good to her. As a result, Karl is a normal and healthy person. Maybe she laughs at us secretly!”

“Don’t say that, maybe she knows it herself!”

“Come on, can she not know?”

“Forget it! Eh, look at this trending search, Gerald Cain!”

Several women walked out while talking, and their voices quickly disappeared.

Alyssa was standing in the bathroom cubicle, hearing the voice of a group of people drifting away, and then opened the door and walked out.

There are always some people in the world who will speculate on others with full malice.

However, she did conceal Karl's situation.

Everyone is not a frank person, and the relationship is average, just let them say.

Alyssa turned on the faucet, washed her hands, and was wiping her hands with a tissue, when she heard a string of impatient high-heeled shoes hit the ground.

The sound is closer, and the sound is louder than the other, and they are coming towards the bathroom.

Alyssa threw the tissues into the trash can, walked outside the bathroom door, walked to the door, and she saw the aggressive Isabel.

With a sullen face, Isabel stretched out her hand to push Alyssa back into the bathroom, and then closed the bathroom door with her backhand.

"Alyssa, I really underestimated you before, you are so brave, you have been concealing Karl's situation, and even hooked up with Gerald!"

This sentence, Isabel almost squeezed out word by word from the gap between her teeth, her eyes were so sharp that she could burst out fire in the next second.

Alyssa was a little surprised when she heard the words "Gerald".

Isabel looked very angry, so it's not all right to look for trouble.

When Isabel saw Alyssa not speaking, she felt that Alyssa not only acquiesced to her, but also despised her.

She raised her hand and was about to slap Alyssa's face.

And Alyssa had been fighting Isabel for so long, and she had already figured out Isabel's temper.

When Isabel raised her hand, Alyssa expected Isabel's movements, and she immediately caught her hand.

Her skill is not cool, but it is more than enough to deal with a Isabel.

Alyssa curled her lips, her cat-like eyes were cold, and her words were sharp and mocking: "Except for slapping people at every turn, what else can you do? Find someone to play group P? It's unreasonable?"

"Shut up! What right do you have to call me!" Isabel struggled for a while, and she became even more anxious and frustrated when she failed to pull her hand out of Alyssa's.

"What qualifications do you have to make me shut up? You are my mother?" Alyssa sneered, "Even if my mother comes, do you think I will listen to her?"

Alyssa remembered that when the women went out, she heard them mention Gerald's trending search.

Her eyes caught a glimpse of the mobile phone in Isabel's other hand. As soon as Alyssa stretched out her hand, she pulled her mobile phone over.

The screen hasn't turned off yet, and the page happens to stay on a trending search page on Twitter. trending search titles are very eye-catching.

Mysterious Girlfriend Exposure

Seeing this trending search, Alyssa felt her scalp tightened.

Scrolling down again, she saw that the photo from Post below was taken when she came back from a business trip that day and met Gerald at the airport.

The quality of the photo is not very high, and the face cannot be seen clearly, but those who are familiar with two people can still recognize her at a glance.

In the photo, Gerald walked in front with his suitcase, and Alyssa walked behind with his head down.

Another one was taken in the parking lot.

Although the two people in the photo did not act ambiguously, they had an inexplicable sense of harmony and CP.

Alyssa's complexion changed slightly, she stuffed her mobile phone to Isabel, pushed her away and walked out.

"Alyssa, stop for me and explain it clearly to me!" Isabel was startled by Alyssa's series of capable and neat movements for a moment, then reacted and chased after her.

Alyssa sent a WeChat message to Gerald while walking.

Gerald may be busy, so he did not return to her.

Gerald must come forward to solve this problem better.

Not long after, Gerald returned a message to her and sent her an address saying: "Come and meet."

At this time, Isabel chased over: "Where are you running, tell me clearly!"

Where did Alyssa care about Isabel, she took her bag and went out.

After leaving the office, Alyssa took a taxi to the address mentioned by Gerald, and found that it was a very high-end tea house.

Before she got out of the car, she just took the money and handed it to the driver. While waiting for the driver to find the change, she saw Gerald walking out of it.

It's just that Gerald's expression looked a little wrong, his face pale, and he even looked a little lost.

"Miss, collect the change."

The driver's voice pulled back Alyssa's thoughts.

“Thank you, Sir.” When Alyssa received the change and pulled the door to get out of the car, Gerald was gone.

Alyssa searched around, but did not see him.

She sent a WeChat message to Gerald: “I’m here, where are you?”

Did not reply to her.

Alyssa took out her mobile phone to call Gerald again, but no one answered.

Thinking of Gerald’s complexion just now, Alyssa called Karl.

The phone connected and rang twice, and a familiar low voice came from the other end: “Are you in the company?”

Karl’s voice sounded more magnetic on the phone, and it sounded very reassuring.

Alyssa asked him first: “Have you seen the trending searches on the Internet?”

“What trending search?” Karl had just finished a meeting, and Gerald’s trending search only came out, he didn’t know about it yet.

At this moment, Peter opened the door and walked in: “Karl, something has happened! Our actor and your wife are on trending search!”

“â€¦”

Peter’s voice was loud, and Alyssa on the other end of the phone could also hear it.

Originally, she and Gerald were innocent, but when these words came out of Peter’s mouth, how did they change their taste?

Karl was silent for a moment, then said quietly, “Now I know.”

Alyssa was inexplicably guilty and explained: “It was at the airport that day. He and I might have been secretly photographed.”

Chapter 180

“Yeah.” Karl’s voice was nonchalant: “You just called me to talk about this?”

“Not allâ€¦”

“Then what else do you want to tell me?”

Karl’s voice was still careless, but Alyssa heard something unusual from it.

“Noâ€¦” She suddenly didn’t dare to mention Gerald.

“Where, I’ll look for you.” Karl spoke, picking up the car key and going out.

“Where are you going?” Peter saw Karl walking outside with the car key, and said with a look of shock: “You are not going to fight with King Gerald, right? He is not in the companyâ€¦”

Karl ignored his nonsense and left directly.

Karl said that he wanted to come to her, so Alyssa had to find a restaurant near the tea house and wait for Karl.

She chose a position by the window and looked out the window from time to time, so that when Karl came over, she could see him.

Karl came quickly, Alyssa called him, and he stopped the car and walked towards the restaurant.

Alyssa smiled flatteringly: "What do you want to drink? I ordered for you a cup of lemon tea."

lemon tea?

Woman drinking something.

Karl raised his eyebrows, but didn't say much.

As soon as he sat down, he said directly: "You should be in the company right now."

In other words, Alyssa appears here, it must be because something happened or someone asked her.

Alyssa knew that she had exposed her stuff, and Karl's brain was too smart to hide anything from him.

She had no choice but to tell Karl the whole story.

Karl did not speak immediately after hearing it, but stared at her calmly for a while.

It wasn't until Alyssa was stared at him that his back was hairy, and he slowly said, "So, after knowing that you and Gerald have been on the trending search, the first person you find is Gerald."

Alyssa heard the smell of gunpowder from these words.

As long as she said something wrong, she could ignite the gunpowder on Karl's body.

She thought about it, thinking about something nice to calm down the smell of gunpowder on his body. After a glimpse, she actually saw Trevor and Archer Adams.

Archer is the name of Elder Adams.

The two of them were coming out of the tea house, and they were walking in tandem.

The distance was a little far apart, so Alyssa couldn't see the expressions of the two of them, but could feel that the atmosphere between the two seemed not so good.

Alyssa pointed to where the two of them were, and said to Karl: "Why are your father and grandpa there?"

Karl looked back and saw Trevor and Archer.

He stared slightly, not knowing what he had thought of, and said lightly: "This tea house is owned by the Adams' family. People from the family often drink tea here and talk about things."

Alyssa nodded: "Meâ€¦!"

She couldn't help sighing in her heart that there are so many industries under the Adams' family.

"With the black card given to you by the old man, all the hotel restaurant brand shops and entertainment venues operated by the Adams' family can be used unimpeded."

Karl said to Alyssa, but his eyes still looked out the window.

At this moment, Archer had already walked to the front of the car, and the bodyguard on the side opened the door for him, and he slid into the car.

Before the car drove away, he beckoned Trevor to the window again. After a few words, the car drove.

Trevor watched Archer's car go away before turning back to his car.

It's just that the two father and son have a tea together, there is nothing special, just

"You said, when the eldest brother walked out from there before, he was completely lost in his soul?" Karl retracted his gaze and looked at Alyssa.

What Alyssa said before she shocked Karl.

She felt that Anya didn't wrong her at all when she said that she climbed up to be a phoenix.

The gift of Mr. Adams is really heavy.

"Yes, then I sent him a WeChat call, but he ignored me." Alyssa's expression became serious when she said about the cheese Gerald.

"I feel that a gentle person like the big brother is just a trending search. It certainly won't make him like that. Maybe something else happened. This matter may be to him"

Alyssa paused, and added: "It's a big hit."

Wouldn't it be a huge blow to show such a desperate look?

"Moreover, when he asked me to come over, it was quite normal. It must have happened to him in the one I came over, but what can happen to him in such a short time?"

Alyssa made a sound analysis, but couldn't think of a reason.

She suddenly raised her head and saw Karl's eyes locked tightly on her body.

"What's the matter? Am I wrong?" Alyssa asked him with some doubts while holding the water glass in front of him.

"You have his phone number, and his WeChat, you have a good relationship." Karl looked at her with a smile, his voice was soft and slow, it sounded a bit gloomy.

Alyssa: "

She said so much, this is what Karl's concern is!

She was about to explain something, and Karl said quietly, "You didn't add my WeChat."

This sounded like a weird sense of grievance.

Alyssa quickly took out her mobile phone: "I add you, I will add your WeChat now."

The main reason is that Karl likes to text her or something, she even thinks that Karl, the eldest man, may not use WeChat.

"No." After Karl said indifferently, he turned his head to the side.

But his phone is still on the dining table.

Duplicate man!

Alyssa quickly took his mobile phone and added a WeChat friend to herself.

Then she kindly sent a call back to his phone: "I have already added it."

Karl glanced at her and took the phone after two seconds in a very high attitude.

When he saw the note above, he frowned: "What is this note?"

Alyssa said, "Your name."

Karl glanced at her, moved his long finger on the phone screen twice, threw the phone in front of her, and then fixedly stared at her.

Alyssa leaned over and took a look, and found that the remarks he had given her changed to "wife".

Obviously, he meant to ask her to change him in the list of her friends to the corresponding note.

She pretended not to understand, but Karl kept staring at her, so she had to change it reluctantly.

She felt that Karl was more serious, as stubborn as a child.

"Now, it's changed now!" After the change, she handed the phone to Karl.

Karl showed a satisfied look in his eyes, and stood up: "Will you go back to the company? I will see you off."

"Ok."

Alyssa stood up and was about to reach out for her bag, but Karl took a step ahead of her and took her handbag.
