

Predestined 19-20

Chapter 19

Alyssa didn't look at him when she saw him, thinking he hadn't seen her close contact with "Luther", she went to the kitchen as if she fled.

Watching her enter the kitchen, Karl sat down on the sofa.

Seeing this at night, Smith lifted his foot and left.

He really doesn't understand what the boss is thinking.

â€¦

In the kitchen, Alyssa opened the refrigerator and saw that there were vegetables and meat in it, and they were all fresh. After thinking about it, she took them out.

Suddenly, she thought that Karl had cooked breakfast that morning, which meant he would cook?

Although she doesn't understand why he, a rich young master, can cook since he can cook, why should she cook for him?

Hehe, when she is so bullied?

Alyssa gave a sneer and stuffed the dishes one by one back into the refrigerator.

She walked into the hall and glanced at "Luther" who was sitting on the sofa looking down at his mobile phone. After looking around for a while, he walked upstairs with his cat.

She felt that because she was too easy to compromise, "Luther" could threaten her so easily.

"Luther" can live in Karl's house, which means that the two brothers must have a very good relationship.

Since the relationship is good, how could "Luther" tell Karl that she seduced him, causing unnecessary suspicion between cousins?

The more she thought about it, the more Alyssa felt that the possibility of "Luther" threatening her was very small.

Simply conceited, he ran upstairs and returned to the room.

She has eaten dinner anyway.

Karl waited in the living room for a long time but did not wait for Alyssa to come to him.

He glanced in the direction of the kitchen, suddenly as if thinking of something, he got up and strode towards the kitchen.

Where is the ugly woman Alyssa in the empty kitchen!

Oh, what a great skill.

â€¦

All night, Alyssa was immersed in the joy of bringing the “Luther” army together, imagining that he was too angry and couldn’t trouble her. She had a beautiful dream.

The next morning, she was woken up by the ringing of her mobile phone.

She took it over and found that she was a good friend Tina Weber who had gone abroad to film for three months and had not returned.

There was a layer of joy in Alyssa’s voice: “Miss Tina, are you coming back?”

The calm tone on the other end was very irritable: “I will come back and chop you!”

Alyssa held the phone and stretched out her hand, holding the phone far away to avoid being pierced by the cool magic sound.

After Tina scolded indiscriminately, she asked weakly, “What happened?”

“Go to Twitter by yourself, I went away just for three months, and you became an ugly woman who uses all means to marry a rich family man!”

The cold voice sounded very excited.

Alyssa was dumbfounded, and the expression on her face faded little by little, but she still calmed Tina first: “Don’t be angry, let me see what’s going on.”

“Your mother is already at the airport!”

“â€¦” Alyssa was a little surprised at Tina’s execution.

After hanging up the phone, Alyssa went to Twitter.

The headline topic on Twitter is “Ugly people make trouble.”

She clicked in to see the first Tweet that was highlighted.

The innuendo on that Twitter was about the Adams family.

It means that in order to marry into the Adams family, she used improper means to replace her sister Isabel.

Several accounts are deliberately guiding Isabel to be a kind-hearted sister who loves her younger sister, but her fiancÃ© was hooked by her younger sister.

Chapter 20

Alyssa teased all the news on Twitter, thinking a little bit of amusement. Fortunately, she does not have a Twitter account, otherwise, she must have been scolded by those angry netizens as a dirty pig.

It is impossible to say not to be angry when seeing those vicious abuses.

Alyssa still couldn’t hold back, took out her mobile phone and called Isabel.

It took a long time for the phone to get through before being connected by Isabel.

“Why did you think of calling me? What’s the matter?” Isabel’s voice was soft and calm as if she didn’t know anything about the online storm.

Alyssa sneered with her lips, but restrained the anger in her heart and made her voice sound normal.

“Hot searches on Twitter, news on the Internet, what’s going on?” She has just read it on the Internet. Not only did she see hot searches on Twitter, but also news from various media outlets.

Many people are happy to watch this kind of riches’ grievances, and the entertainment media will certainly not let it go.

Isabel’s voice sounded a little more inattentive: “What news? I am very busy at work. Before my brother comes back from studying abroad, I have to help my dad manage the company for him, but I’m not as idle as you to read entertainment News.”

The tone of understatement shows her superiority everywhere.

After graduating from university, Isabel joined Hunt’s management.

And Alyssa graduated, let alone management, even she took the initiative to tell Rachel that she wanted to go to the grassroots of the Adams family business to start, Rachel directly denied her: “You are not as strong as your sister, and you can’t help when you go to the company. Go outside and find a job.”

Colin didn’t care about her study and work.

Thinking of this, Alyssa’s anger jumped even higher.

She had a cold voice and sharp words: “Don’t pretend, I know you did it. I don’t know what you want to do, but what I know is that it’s useless even if you pour dirty water on me. Now I’m not Hunt’s daughter, and the Adams family no longer will allow anyone to ruin my reputation at will.”

Isabel on the other end of the phone heard Alyssa’s words, her expression suddenly changed.

In her impression, Alyssa has always been a stupid woman, but after she married into Adams’ house, she became less stupid somehow.

Although she doesn’t know why Alyssa became a little smarter, to Isabel, this smartness is nothing.

Because! She has Alyssa’s lifeline in her hand.

She cocked her mouth, her voice soft and confident: “Where is Rachel? Don’t you care?”

In the past, every time she ordered Alyssa to do something, as long as Rachel said a word, Alyssa would do it like a dog.

So she knew that what Alyssa cared most was Rachel.

Alyssa heard Rachel’s voice, and the hand holding the phone tightened little by little. She pressed her lips tightly, and said lightly: “Where is she? Do whatever you want.”

After she finished speaking, she hung up.

As soon as she put down the phone, she felt someone watching her.

As soon as she looked up, she saw that the door of the room was opened without knowing when, and the man leaning on the door frame with his arms around her, who was not “Luther”?

“Youâ€¦ how did you come in!” Alyssa was so scared that her face was pale. When she slept, she obviously locked the door!

Karl shook the key in his hand, raised his brow slightly, and said casually, “What do you think?”

Alyssa heating blushed: “You go out!”

The ghost knows how this man has the key to her room!
